Durrant, the Murderer of Blanche Lamont, Has But a Day to Live.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 10.—William Henry Theodore Durrant was taken before Judge Bahrs to-day for the purpose of having the date for his execution reset. His attorneys made a desperate attempt to secure further delay, but Judge Bahrs brushed aside all their technical objections and ordered that Durrant be hanged on Friday next.

Andrew Kirkpatrick of Ellington Killed in the Lumber Woods.

Bracebridge, Ont., Nov. 10. Yesterday, while assisting in building a skidway at J. D. Shier's camp, beyond Dorset, Andrew Kirkpatrick, of Ellington, a young man, 24 years of age, was instantly killed. It appears the young man was attempting to put a block under the skid, and while doing so the skid rolled and crushed his brains out between the block and the skid.

Orders Flowing in for Locomotives and the Grand Trunk is on the List.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Baldwin Locomotive Works have within the past few days booked orders for 56 locomotives. The orders include 22 locomotives for the Government State Railway of Finland. The G.T.R. of Canada have also ordered 10 locomotives.

A Canadian Polar Expedition.

Quebec, Nov. 10.—Capt. Bernier, the captain who intends to make the trip to the north pole, proposes to start on March 1 in the Windward, which was used by the Jackson Harmsworth expedition, from a point which he withholds, but which is on the north of Siberia. The trip, he expects, will cost no more than $60,000, which he proposes all Local Governments throughout Canada and Newfoundland, as well as the Federal Government, will vote as the expedition is entirely a Canadian affair.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well-known fact thatt a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for by their action on the liver blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

The Sad Refrain Thorn Sings as Mrs. Nack's Lover.

WILL TELL HOW LOVE RUINED HIM.

Mrs. Nack's Story, Says the Prisoner, Is a Tissue of Lies—Her Treatment of Other Men Should Have Warned Him—Effect of Juror Larsen's Illness.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The trial of Martin Thorn, which has occupied the attention of the public generally and the criminal branch of the Supreme Court of Long Island City in particular for the last three days, may be discontinued for an indefinite period, owing to the illness of Juror No. 6, Magnus Larsen. The trial was adjourned early last evening until 9.30 this morning on account of Larsen's sickness.

At 9.30 the court room was crowded with several hundred men and women, who expected to hear Martin Thorn refute the testimony which Mrs. Nack so dramatically gave yesterday, but they were doomed to disappointment.

Capt. Methvon brought Thorn into the court room at 9.30 and the prisoner did not look any the worse for his ordeal of yesterday. Judge Smith opened court a few minutes later and District Attorney Youngs informed him of the serious condition of Juror Larsen.

A doctor who had just arrived from the sick man's bedside said that it would be impossible for Larsen to attend to-day, but probably he could attend to-morrow. With the consent of the lawyers on both sides, Judge Smith adjourned the court until to-morrow.

The sickness of Larsen brought out a discussion amongst those interested as to what would be done in case the juror's illness should be protracted.

After court adjourned Mr. Howe and Mr. Moss had a brief talk with Thorn before he was taken back to his cell. Later Mr. Howe outlined his proposed plan of defence, which he has been compelled to adopt, owing to the confession of Mrs. Nack.

"Thorn will take the stand to-morrow," said he. "He will testify that the murder was conceived and planned by Mrs. Nack. We shall prove she wanted to get rid of Guldensuppe, in order that Thorn might take his place. Thorn will state that when he got into the cottage at Woodside, on June 25, he found that Mrs. Nack had shot Guldensuppe and that it was she who said: 'I have killed him.' In other words, Thorn is going to tell the whole truth about it, absolutely the whole truth," said Mr. Howe with a dramatic gesture.

"Will Thorn testify that Mrs. Nack took away the head, or will he state that it was he himself who threw it into the river?" Mr. Howe was asked.

The big lawyer hesitated for a moment and then replied: "Wait till we get Thorn on the stand to-morrow; he will tell about it."

Lawyer Moss was asked if, in the case of a new trial being ordered, the defence would accept an offer from the people for a plea of murder in the second degree from Thorn.

"Certainly not," he replied; "we would spurn such an offer."

District Attorney Youngs and Judge Weller, who have charge of the case for the people, held a conference to-day with Judge Smith. They were closeted for nearly an hour, and after they separated Judge Weller said the prosecution had adopted the following program: If Juror Larsen be not sufficiently recovered to attend to his duties in the jury box to-morrow (Friday) the people will ask for an adjournment until Monday, and then if, in the opinion of the physicians, the juror shall not have sufficiently recovered, the District Attorney will ask that the present jury be discharged and a new panel be drawn, from which a new jury will be selected immediately and the trial will be pushed through during the present term.

Juror Larsen is still in a critical condition, and a consultation will be held at 1 o'clock by Drs. Barnett, Strong and Lanehart.

Juror Larsen Must Undergo an Operation

Drs. Lanehart, Strong and Barnett later in the day held a consultation at Garden City, L.I., in the case of Juror Larsen. At its conclusion they announced that the only hope of Larsen's recovery lay in an operation. They say that Larsen was in danger of death from appendicitis, and that they had notified his wife. If Mrs. Larsen consents an operation will be performed at once. In case the operation is a success it will not be possible for Juror Larsen to be up before three weeks. This will probably necessitate the empanelling of a new jury. All the evidence put in by the prosecution will have to be gone over again and Mrs. Nack will have to undergo another ordeal. If she refuses to go on the stand the confession she made yesterday cannot be used against Thorn.

The Operation Took Place.

An operation for appendicitis was performed on Juror Larsen late this afternoon with, so far as present appearances go, a favorable result. The attending surgeons state to-night that Mr. Larsen will probably be able to be out within two weeks, but that he will not be fit to do jury duty in such an important case. District Attorney Youngs ordered the Thorn jury to appear in Long Island City to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. The jury will then be discharged and an order issued for a new trial.

MR. D. McINTYRE.

The Stalwart Reeve of Yarmouth Nominated by East Elgin Liberals.

AYLMER, Ont., Nov. 11.—The Liberals of East Elgin held a meeting to the number of about two hundred here to-day, to select a candidate to contest the riding in the interest of the Government at the approaching provincial elections. Several nominations were made, but all withdrew except Mr. W. E. Leonard of St. Thomas and Mr. D. McIntyre, Reeve of Yarmouth. The choice fell upon Mr. McIntyre, who accepted the nomination amid great enthusiasm.

DR. YEMAM OF STRATFORD.

Sentenced to Three Years in Kingston Penitentiary for His Connection With An Abortion Case.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 11.—At the Perth Fall Assizes, before His Lordship Justice Rose, the grand jury yesterday returned a true bill for manslaughter against Dr. J. G. Yemen, and the case came up for hearing this morning. The indictment contained several counts, the purport of which was that he was charged with killing and slaying Isabella Buchanan on April 17 last, by furnishing her with drugs and instruments for the purpose of procuring abortion. Yemen pleaded not guilty. Mr. John Idington, Q. C., County Crown Attorney, prosecuted; Mr. J. T. Mahee acting for the defence. The evidence of several witnesses, including that of the husband of the woman, several city doctors and Prof. Ellis of Toronto, who made the analysis of the medicine contained in the bottle found in the room, was taken. The judge's charge to the jury, which lasted about three-quarters of an hour, was strongly against the prisoner. The jury, after being out an hour and a half, brought in a verdict of not guilty on the charge of manslaughter, but guilty on the charge of furnishing the medicine and instruments for the purpose of procuring an abortion. His Lordship then sentenced Yemen to three years in Kingston Penitentiary.

MR. WOLVERTON'S REPORT.

A Profitable Trade in Canadian Fruit Abroad is in Good Prospect.

GRIMSBY, Nov. 12.—The possibilities for a profitable Canadian export trade in fruit are good. Mr. L. Wolverton, agent for the Department of Agriculture, in making up trial shipments of tender fruits, has received returns from London, Liverpool and Glasgow, and he is much encouraged as to the outlook for peaches, pears and tomatoes.

According to these, 40 cases of Crawford peaches brought prices in Liverpool of $3.66 a case of 30 quarts. Louise Bonne pears fetched $3.90 a case. Bartletts $3, Quackenbos plums $3.77. Concord, Worden and Niagara grapes, however, generally failed to bring more than a cent a pound. A fault found with the shipment was that the refrigerator temperature was too high.

The first shipment of Crawford peaches arrived too ripe, having been stored in too high a temperature in crossing the ocean, but the shipment by the Numidian reached market O.K.

DANA LEFT A MILLION.

The Widow Receives Everything But Sun Stock and Gets Income From That.

New York, Nov. 11.—The will of Charles A. Dana has been filed for probate in the Surrogate's office at Jamaica. It is a brief statement, bequeathing the entire estate, real and personal, excepting stock of The Sun Printing and Publishing Company, to the widow, Mrs. Eunice MacDaniel Dana. The stock of The Sun is willed to Paul Dana, to be held in trust. Its income and profits are to be devoted to the widow's use during her life. After her death this income is to be divided equally between the four children of Mr. Dana. The estate is estimated at about $1,000,000.

TO BE TRIED TO-DAY.

Fred Elliott to be Arraigned at Goderich for Killing His Brother.

GODERICH, Nov. 11.—Fred Elliott, who shot and killed his brother Harvey at Bayfield on Monday evening last, was brought to Goderich last night by the coroner's constable, John Ferguson and Officer Gundry, detailed on the case by the Crown Attorney. This morning the prisoner was brought before Police Magistrate Seagrand, arraigned on a charge of murder, and was remanded to jail for trial on Nov. 12 at 2 o'clock. William Proudfoot appeared for the defence and Ira Lewis for the Crown.

The Pomeranian Ashore.

GLASGOW, Nov. 11.—Fog to-day is seriously interfering with navigation of the Clyde. The Allan Line Steamer Pomeranian, Capt. Stirratt, from Montreal on Oct. 25 via Quebec for Glasgow, and another steamer are ashore south of the Isle of Arran. Other vessels have grounded elsewhere in the Firth of Clyde.

A MILD ATTEMPT AT LYNCHING.

Father Baillage's Opinion of the Young Murderer The Murders But the Fruit of Degeneracy Not the Sudden Attack of Madness, Nor Yet the Act of a Fool.

Montreal, Nov. 12. Special.—The preliminary trial of Tom Nulty, the quadruple murderer of Rawdon, will begin at Joliette to-morrow before Judge DeMontigny. The trial proper will take place before the Court of Queen's Bench, which opens on December 15. Judge DeLorimier will, it is expected, preside. At the inquest Nulty repeated under oath the confession he had previously made to Detective McCaskill. A mild attempt to lynch him was made when he was leaving the inquest at Rawdon, but the resolute bearing of the detective cowed the ringleaders and it amounted to nothing. Rev. L. G. Baillarge, cure of Rawdon, writes to the papers that Tom Nulty is not a fool. Neither does he believe that there was a sudden attack of madness. On the contrary, the cure thinks that the first murder, that of the eldest sister, was perfectly calculated. Tom says he does not remember what happened after the first murder. That was enough to make anyone lose his head, but it is necessary not to confound madness with the revolution which a first crime operates on the soul of a man. Moreover, Tom knew pretty well what he was doing afterwards. He did not at once take to the woods, but went upstairs to the attic, where he examined his clothing and having found blood on his shirt, removed it and hid it under the rafters. He knew enough to find another shirt and vest. When a child is brought up like a dog, says the cure, nothing good can come of it. He does not become a fool, but if his passion is aroused, and he meets with obstacles he becomes capable of breaking down everything in his way. All that is required is a day, an occasion to give to this degenerated fruit the maturity of power.

Le Soleil states that an investigation into the manner in which certain repairs were made to the Montmagny Court House under the late Government shows that while $704.50 was charged to the Government for the work, only $455.25 was actually paid out to the workmen. It publishes a list of the amounts received by each man, together with the amounts placed opposite to each name. It states that a full examination will be made when the House meets.

In ecclesiastical circles it is stated that Pope Leo XIII. has signified his intention of issuing a brief to the journalists of Montreal, expressing the thanks of His Holiness for the address which the Montreal press, irrespective of creed, presented to Mgr. Bruchesi on the eve of His Grace's departure for Rome. This is perhaps the first time that such an event has taken place in America, although the thanks of the Papacy have on more than one occasion been tendered certain sections of the French and Italian press.

The Associated Press despatches from Quebec to the effect that the R. and O. steamer Saguenay has been wrecked is untrue. The steamer went ashore, but was got off without much damage, and is being towed to Quebec by the Lord Stanley.

The small steamboat Stranger, plying between this city and Valleyfield, went down in Lake St. Louis yesterday during the gale. There was no loss of life. The cargo was worth several thousand dollars.

Strike Ordered by Telegraph.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Brotherhood of Cloak Makers adopted a new means for ordering a strike this morning. A telegram was sent to the shop chairman at Freedman Bros.' establishment, Spring street and Broadway, ordering the 300 employes out. The telegraphic order was obeyed at once. Some labor leaders believe the telegraphic method will supersede all others, and will seriously interfere with the use of walking delegates.

Bank of England Statement.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes, as compared with the previous account: Total reserve, increased £221,000; circulation, decreased £206,000; bullion, increased £18,379; other securities, decreased £613,000; other deposits, decreased £504,000; public deposits, increased £87,000; notes, reserve, increased £195,000; Government securities, decreased £175,000. The proportion of the Bank of England reserve to liability, which last week was 47.03 per cent., is now 48.17 per cent. The Bank of England's rate of discount remains unchanged, at 3 per cent.

Miss Willard and the Temple.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Miss Frances E. Willard, President of the W. C. T. U., announces that she will contribute $3000 of her own money to start the fund of $300,000, which the temperance women need to hold control of the Temple property. In an interview Miss Willard said this sum was raised by women throughout the country and came to her as a memorial testimonial on the occasion of her fiftieth birthday.

Coolness Between Austria and Turkey.

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—The semi-official Fremdenblatt announces that there is a noticeable coolness between the Austrian Embassy and the Porte, owing to the high-handed action attributed to the local authorities of Mersina, Asia Minor, towards the agent at that port of the Austrian Lloyd Steamship Company, a merchant named Brazzaloli. The Austrian cruiser Leopard has been sent to Mersina, which is the port of Adana.

British Officials Charged With Fraud.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 12.—Mr. Arthur Tweedy, the British Vice-Consul at Santo Domingo, capital of the Republic of Santo Domingo, has been arrested there on the charge of obtaining $9000 by fraudulent pretences. Enquiries made at the British Consulate in New York city to-day show that nothing is known there, officially or privately, of the arrest of Vice-Consul Tweedy at Santo Domingo.

Turks and Greeks Fought.

VIENNA, Nov. 11.—The Neue Freie Presse to-day publishes a despatch from Constantinople, saying that some Greek bands which crossed the Thessalian frontier between Diskat and Domenik have been repulsed by the Turks, who killed many of the invaders and captured a large number of prisoners. The Turks also seized 150 rifles and 170,000 cartridges Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. JOHN LA PAGE, 240 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Farmer's Sun says that "the Ontario Opposition is apparently endeavouring to make hogs and logs the main issues of the approaching campaign." Mr. St. John takes the hog to his heart, while Mr. Whitney will essay to ride the log. But anyone that knows anything about river-driving will feel that Mr. Whitney will find it ticklish work trying to bring a sawlog to port.

SENATOR T. R. MCINNES, who has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, w s born at Lake Ainsley, Nova Scotia, Nov. 5, 1840. He attended Harvard University, subsequently taking his medical degrees from Rush and Bennett Medical Colleges. He first practised his profession in the County of Kent, Ont., but in 1874 went to New Westminster, British Columbia, since which time he has been a resident of that Province. He was twice elected Mayor of Westminster, and in 1878 was elected to represent the city in the Federal Parliament. In 1881 he was appointed to the Senate.

SOME of the Conservative journals with that spirit of insolent incredulity as to the correctness of the statements of public men, discredit the idea that Mr. Lount, the representative of Centre Toronto in the House of Commons, resigned because of the interference of his retention of the seat with his professional work. These papers ignore the fact that any representative who faithfully discharges his duties as a member must necessarily neglect his business. A representative who contents himself with being a mere figurehead and confines his labours chiefly to drawing his sessional indemnity will not have his private business very much interrupted by his public duties. It is to Mr. Lount's credit, when he felt he was compelled by the demands of his profession to give a divided attention to his duties as a representative, that he resigned his trust.

"POSSIBLY," the Mail and Empire nastily insinuates, "one of Sir Wilfrid's objects in going to the capital of the United States is to find out how he can carry out his idea of making Ottawa 'the Washington of the North.' He would show better judgement if he found a model in Britain." The Mail and Empire should remember that Mr. Laurier based his trade policy on British lines and that it has been persistently blackguarding him on that account. It was the great Conservative policy that went to Washington for a fiscal party and furthermore when it was pointed out that such a policy would imperil British connection, it was the Mail which justified that policy and made the well known treasonable expression of indifference to Imperial unity, "so much the worse for British connection."

THE RAWDON TRAGEDY.

Montreal Herald.

The two distinguishing features of the tragedy of Rawdon, where a brother murdered four members of his family, are the unhuman loneliness of the life of the family in the mountains and the rage which robbed the deed of the usual attributes of murder and made it more like the "good killing" of the jungle. How far the isolation is responsible for the uncontrollable fury will be with most people a subject of conjecture.

If it were possible to get to the basis of the matter, we should probably find an indirect responsibility for this deed in the conditions which underlie the settlement of this continent. Most people will be able to trace the antecedents of this family with reasonable accuracy. They must have landed in America penniless. With more of industry than of intelligence they yet followed the line of least resistence, and took to mother earth were there were fewest to oppose them.

We see in them the offspring of many generations who sustained life on poor and insufficient food, because opportunity and education were alike denied them; generation without adequate clothing or housing; generations in which the weakest were pushed to the wall, and when it was a toss up whether physical or mental infirmity would come first. This is the history of a people, and of a people who, under other conditions, have been found at the other extreme of the scale. The lesson is that we must assume to the best of our capacity all our legacies, the bad with the good, and make Canada the best we can for all who come to its shores.

The murder arraigns at the bar of universal justice our social system. Its perpetrator and the family to which he belongs are degenerates.

What is society's responsibility?

Let it be recognized by all of us that the shadow of the responsibility reaches out to every part of this country and to the United Kingdom, from which the family came, and hangs above those who at their firesides have shuddered at the tragedy's horror.

The murder does not call merely for the police and the hangman. It makes much more emphatic and momentous demands upon the political and social reformer and upon all those whose own environments and opportunities have lifted their intelligence to a higher plane.

THE PREMIER'S VISIT.

To Washington Seems to Have Caused Some Consternation Among the Capital Officials Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—The officials of the Agriculture Department are somewhat concerned over the visit of Premier Laurier of Canada, in view of the concessions which it is considered probable he will ask under the reciprocity provision of the tariff law. They are apprehensive that the Premier will direct his attention particularly to securing a reduction of the tariff rates on Canada's agricultural products shipped to this country, and are inclined to antagonize any concessions upon these lines. It is expected that a concession will be asked, especially on barley, but the department officials hold that this country is capable of producing its own barley, and believe that the farmers do not want a reduced tariff on this article to practically the only country whose competition gives them any concern. The opinion expressed at the department is that it would be well for the United States to confine its reciprocity relations with Canada largely to fish and coal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier; Sir Louis Davies, Minister of Marine of Canada, and the other officials who are taking active part in the Behring Sea negotiations, were entertained at dinner by President McKinley at the Executive Mansion to-night. The list of guests was confined to gentlemen. The guests assembled in the Blue Parlor shortly before 8 o'clock, where President McKinley met them. Escorting Premier Laurier, the President led the way to the private dining room, where the table, simply adorned with white chrysanthemums, was set.

The Marine Band was present and played throughout the dinner. The guests were: Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Louis Davies, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Attorney-General, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary to the President, Hon. John W. Foster, Hon. C. S. Hamlin, Dr. D.S. Jordan, Hon. W.R. Day, (Assistant Secretary of State), Hon. A. A. Adee (Second Assistant Secretary of State), Hon. J. A. Casson, Prof. D. Wentworth Thompson and Mr. James Macoun.

Mr. Sherman and Sir Wilfrid were together for two hours. It can be stated on authority that the discussion was devoted to the consideration of the many important questions affecting the general relations between the United States and Canada. In such a discussion the Secretary of State and the Canadian Premier found themselves in much accord. Mr. Sherman has long favored the most cordial relations between the United States and Canada, having been, while in the Senate, the author of several resolutions in that direction. It was realized on both hands, however, that the discussion now opened was not one that could bring immediate results, as many of the border controversies are of long standing and many practical difficulties were in the way of settlement. The purpose, however, was to approach the general subject in a spirit of friendliness, and allow this to develop ways and means for dealing with the numerous questions relating to both countries, namely: border immigration, reciprocity, fishery rights, the railway bonding privileges, etc.

In view of cable reports from London, stating that Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies in the Salisbury Cabinet, had expressed to Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, strong disapproval of any move by Sir Wilfrid Laurier looking to placing the United States on the same basis as Great Britain in tariff affairs, the matter was called to the attention of Canadian officials. In response an authoritative statement was made that no such disapproval had been expressed by the Imperial authorities, and that Lord Aberdeen had received no such notification from Mr. Chamberlain or other source, as His Lordship was with the members of the Laurier party up to the time they left Ottawa, and no mention was made of any such disapprobation from Imperial quarters.

Differences of Opinion.

At to-day's Behring Sea conference the report of Prof. Lucas upon the habits of the seal was read, as were also the reports of Messrs. Jordan, Thompson and Macoun. The reports of Professors Jordan and Thompson had not been exchanged heretofore. The papers led to considerable discussion, which was, generally speaking, of an amicable character, although some marked differences of opinion were expressed.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and gives the little sufferer rest.

How to Cure all Skin Diseases.

Simply apply "Swayne's Ointment." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal wholesale agents.

Piles! Piles! Itchin Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumour. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia Lyman Sons & Co Montreal wholesale agents.

TAKING MEDICINE.

Acids, as a rule, should be given between meals. Acids given before meals check the excessive secretion of the acids of the gastric juice.

Iodine or the iodides should be given on an empty stomach. If given during digestion, the acids and starch alter and weaken their action.

Irritating and poisonous drugs, such as salts of arsenic, copper, zinc and iron, should be given directly after meals.

Oxide and nitrate of silver should be given after the process of digestion is ended. If given during or close after meals, the chemicals destroy or impair their action. Potassium permanganate also should not be given until the process of digestion is ended, as organic matter decomposes it and renders it inert.

The active principle of the gastric juice is impaired and rendered inert by tannin and pure alcohol, hence they should never be given until after the close of digestion.

Malt extracts, cod liver oil, the phosphates, etc., should be given with or directly after food.

A recent writer gives these hints on medicine taking. Of course no drug should be taken without advice of a physician but when a special tonic has been prescribed these rules are useful as to the best time for administering it.

At the Queen's Garden Party.

Pink and white gowns prevailed at the Queen's garden party, and one very striking dress of pink muslin over white silk was trimmed with cream lace insertion in waved lines around the skirt, all edged with a little frill of black chiffon. Other pink muslin gowns were trimmed with frills of Valenciennes lace from the hem to the waist.

For Fashionable Gowns.

Black grenadines, in various conventional patterns, made over colored silk are very fashionable gowns this season, and the variety of fancy grenadines has no limit. One novel design is a fine black ground with a scroll design in white silk threads all over it. Other kinds are corded in bright colors.

What Veils Are Like.

Bright dark blue veils are very much worn in Paris, but white cross-bar net with black chenille dots is more generally worn here with the light-colored straw hats. A fine black lattice net powdered with tiny spots, and all the new Russian nets without any spots at all, are equally famed.

Can't You sleep?

"Sleeplessness is one of the most frequent symptoms of heart and nerve troubles. It affects all classes and all ages. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills restore the nerves to healthy action and regulate the heart. Mr. Miles Boone, Frederickton, N.B., tells how they work. "I could never rest well, and often woke up with a start, and then sleep left me for the night. These pills gave me almost immediate relief, giving me healthful, refreshing sleep, and I am now strong and well."

THE SEAL CONFERENCE.

Statistics of the Present Year's Catch—Canadians Took the Lion's Share The Herd Reduced.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 11.—To-day's seal conference began at 11 o'clock with a full representation of the British, Canadian and American officials. For the first time the statistics of the catch of seals for the present year were available. These were compiled by the American officials, and brought out prominently two features, which were regarded as most important in supporting the American contention, namely: That the catch has fallen off about one-half during the present year; second, that the catch of seals from the American islands in Behring Sea was about 15 to 1 as between the Canadian sealers under the British flag and American sealers.

In detail, the figures for this season's catch are: Total catch of seals in the North Pacific for the present season, 38,700, against 73,000 last year, divided as follows: Taken by British vessels 30,800, by American vessels 4100, by Japanese vessels 3800. The catch in Behring Sea, which is that portion of the North Pacific in which the United States is interested, is 16,650 for the present season, against 29,500 last season, a reduction of about one half. Of the catch in Behring Sea, British vessels took 15,600, American vessels 1050. The figures make no distinction between British and Canadian vessels, as practically all the sealing is done by Canadian vessels, which, however, are nominally classed as British. It is said that the conclusion to be drawn from this year's figures is that the seal herd has been greatly reduced by indiscriminate slaughter at the alarming rate of about one-half in the last year.

Talking on Reciprocity.

Secretary Sherman and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, this afternoon began the first of a formal series of conferences for the purpose of bringing about an agreement by which as many as possible of the questions now causing friction between the United States and the Dominion of Canada may be amicably adjusted by treaty or otherwise. These conferences will be independent of the Behring Sea seal fisheries conferences, which were the immediate occasion for the Canadian Premier's visit to Washington. Among the causes of friction between the two countries is the question of the right of citizens of either to pursue business callings in the territory of the other, and the tariff question.

The conference this afternoon was brought about by a note which Secretary Sherman this morning sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, asking him if it would be convenient to the latter to meet the Secretary this afternoon. The Canadian Premier responding in the affirmative, the conference accordingly began at 1.30 o'clock, in the State Department.

The complaint sapped his strength, fed upon his muscles, and reduced him to a skeleton almost. Then, providentially, he heard of what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done in similar cases. He bought six boxes. This is what he says of their work:—"After using the third box I could lift light weights. I used the other three boxes and now I am well. I have tried many other medicines and consulted many doctors. All gave me poor encouragement. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Artist (despondingly)—That's not a hat; she's carrying home hay.—London Tit-Bits.

Her Reasoning Was Excellent.

"Oh, yes, I had any number of young men hanging around me when I was a girl."

"Then I don't see why you picked out your present husband."

"He happened to be the only one that suggested marriage."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fairly Staggered.

Mr. Samuel Humphries, retired carriage manufacturer, Strathroy, Ont., says: "For a long time I have had kidney troubles and pain in the back. I could not straighten up and often had to sit down until the pain and weakness went away. I have taken one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and must say they are a great kidney medicine, because they have entirely removed all pain from my back, curing the urinary difficulties and benefitting my general health in a remarkable degree."

THEY DIED FIGHTING.

The Fate of Lieut. McIntyre and His Men.

AWFUL SUFFERING IN THESSALY.

Terrible Condition of 30,000 Turkish Troops Germany Makes a Demand on Hayti and Sends a Warship The Spanish Decree of Autonomy for Cuba.

SIMLA, Nov. 11.—When the British reconnoitering force returned to the camp in the Maidan Valley after a disastrous defeat from the summit of the Saran-Sar mountain, Lieut. McIntyre and twelve men belonging to the Northamptonshire Regiment, which had suffered most severely while saving the wounded, were reported missing, but it was hoped they would succeed in reaching camp. A despatch from the Maidan Valley to day, however, shows that the lieutenant and his companions have been killed. Their bodies have been found, and it is said to be evident from the position in which the corpses rested that the little detachment fell gallantly fighting to the last. Every man of the party died from rifle bullet wounds.

THESSALY A WASTE.

The Ottoman Troops Have Gradually Eaten Up the Country.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Standard, who is visiting the Ismidt district, telegraphs that he has learned there of the terrible ravages of sickness in the Turkish army in Thessaly. Of 200 redifs, or reserves, who were taken from the district, only 40 have returned to their homes. Turkish transports are daily embarking the sick, the number of whom, it is estimated, is 30,000.

Reports from Thessaly describe the province as a perfect waste. The Ottoman troops have gradually eaten up the whole country. Houses have been gutted by the troops and their contents sold to Jewish syndicates.

Hayti is Threatened.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The German warship Gefion is under orders to sail for Port au Prince, Hayti, this month, in order to insist upon redress of the arrest there of Herr Lueders, a German subject, and his unlawful imprisonment, for which Count Schwerin, the German Minister at Port au Prince, has demanded an indemnity. Leuders is now believed to be in Germany, having been released from prison in order to avoid further complications upon the part of the natives of Port au Prince, who threatened to mob the German Legation and lynch Lueders. The fitting out of the warship is being hastened as much as possible. The officials of the German Foreign Office do not believe the matter will be adjusted for some time to come, because the Haytian Government has assumed a stubborn attitude. The German newspapers are blaming the Government for the delay in bringing Hayti to terms.

British Battleship Damaged.

CANEA, Nov. 11.—The first-class British battleship Empress of India has met with a serious accident in a gale which is prevailing here. Her rudder was broken by a heavy sea, and her hull was seriously damaged. Her stern compartment is full of water. She has run for shelter under the lee of Standia Island, off the town of Candia. The battleship Royal Sovereign has gone to her assistance.

Pigs Eyelids on a Man.

DUBLIN, Nov. 11.—An interesting experiment is being tried at a hospital here upon a discharged soldier named Ryan. The man's eyelids have been destroyed by ophthalmia, and the doctors have grafted in their places the eyelids of newly killed pigs. The physicians are sanguine of the success of the experiment.

Autonomy for Cuba.

MADRID, Nov. 12.—A royal decree granting autonomy to Cuba will be formally gazetted on Nov. 23.

TORONTO CHILDREN.

What the Toronto Aid Society Has Done During the Past Year—Many Congratulatory Speeches.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—The sixth annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the schoolroom of the Shelter here.

A Good Record.

A long and interesting report of the society's secretary, Mr. J. Stuart Coleman, was read by Mr. J. K. Macdonald, from which it appeared that the complaints attended to numbered 1140, involving 1407 children; the custody of children was assumed by the society. During the six years of its existence 3089 cases, involving 4496 children, have been dealt with. Seventy children have been made wards of the society, of whom 45 were adopted out, one placed out, nine were left in custody of parents on condition of the latter's good conduct and 15 were awaiting homes on September 30, 1897. The total number of children placed in foster homes up to September 30 was 155. The Shelter was reported doing good work, having received 276 children, of whom 253 had been discharged and 23 still remained in the Shelter.

A Sister's Serious Charge.

Clara Sharpe, a young lady who lives at 24 Melbourne-avenue, told the Police Magistrate yesterday that her brother George F. Sharpe had attempted to murder her by choking. The Magistrate, after hearing both sides of the sad affair, remanded Sharpe for sentence and advised him and his sister to live at different places.

Committed on a Forgery Charge.

Yesterday Magistrate Ramsden committed J. F. Clifford of Stouffville for trial on a charge of forging the name of John Hill of Victoria Square to a note for $68.

The Vice-Regal Movements.

Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen, accompied by Lady Marjorie Gordon and Miss Wisdom, went yesterday afternoon to the Chrysanthemum and Rose Show at the Pavilion.

Severe Asthma Relieved.

Dear Sirs,—We have used Norway Pine Syrup in our house a great deal. I have a little boy who has had asthma for five or six years (he is only 10 now), and during the severe attacks he would get great relief from using the syrup. For an ordinary cold it is ahead of any cough medicine I ever took.

Something About Forks.

Before the revolution in France it was customary when a gentleman was invited to dinner for him to send his servants with a knife, fork and spoon; or if he had no servants he carried them with him in his pocket. A few of the ancient regime follow the custom. The peasantry of the Tyrol and parts of Germany generally carry a case in their pockets containing a knife, fork and spoon.

A Penalty of Royal Birth.

It is said that more than half the reigning monarchs of Europe are troubled with defective eyesight. Among those who wear glasses in private are Queen Victoria, the King of Denmark, the Czar, the Queen Regents of Spain and Holland, nearly every member of the House of Hapsburg, and the Prince of Wales.

MUNYON'S CATARRH CURE

Catarrh seldom fails to affect the whole system and to break down the general health. It extends to the lungs, producing asthma, bronchitis, or consumption; to the stomach and liver, and finally poisons the whole system, causing general debility and nerve trouble. Discharges from the nose and throat, bad breath, stuffed-up nostrils and head, pressure and sharp pains in the head, dizziness, sneezing, nose-bleed, inflamed watery eyes, deafness, and hawking and spitting of mucus are some of the symptoms of catarrh.

The Munyon treatment for catarrh is based upon the latest scientific discoveries and is a cure. The Munyon Catarrh Cure, price 25c, permanently eradicates the disease by its action on the blood and nerves, and the Catarrh Tablets, price 25c, cleanse and heal the diseased and restore them to a healthy condition.

Sewer Services.

In regard to a paragraph printed yesterday in reference to a supposed excess of charge for putting in a sewer connection for Mr. D. H. Burritt, it may be added that further investigation reveals the fact that there was no overcharge, or rather excess of length, charged. The measurement of distance on which a supposed excess of charge was based was made at right angles to the line of sewer service; but, as is the practice, a sewer service is put in at an angle less than a right angle, and, therefore, the distance actually covered by the service is, of course, greater than if put in direct. It is understood that on a re-measurement Mr. Burritt is perfectly satisfied with the contractors, who have put in a good service, and with the supervising engineer. A good deal of complaint has been made that the sewer services put in by the town have cost more than they should have done, and the matter was thoroughly discussed by the council, who gave permission to the contractors to put in sewers on a commercial basis, with apparently good results.

THE HOCKEY SITUATION.

What Will be the Outcome of this Year?—If the Boys Stick Together Two Teams Will be put in the O. H. A

The hockey season will be opening in another month and as the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association will be held in the course of a week or so the local enthusiasts are about to organize for the season and several important questions are to be faced. It therefore behooves everyone having the interest of the game at heart to turn out to Monday evening's meeting in the Oriental Hotel.

A number of lacrosse boys are anxious to put a team on the ice, but are undecided as to whether it will be a purely local affair, confined to lacrosse players or on the other hand, a team which will be open to all but be under the lacrosse club's management. In the latter event a couple of teams would be entered in the Provincial league, but such action would only be taken in the event of a town club not being formed or else being organized in a manner which precluded the hope of success under the management.

A large number of the players are not in touch with last year's club and quite a few have signified their intention of breaking away from the parent club. Some of last year's most promising young players have expressed their intention of going on the ice as a Y. M. C. A. team this season and others again have taken the stand that unless certain players are picked for the rush line at the beginning of the season and allowed to practice together all year that they will not again become members of the Peterboroughs, but will break away and form a club of their own.

That there is reason in their argument there is no gainsaying as the constant change in the composition of the different teams last year was mainly responsible for the defeats that were sustained in each series, but still the contention raises another difficulty for the club to face when it reorganizes.

That in unity only there is strength must be acknowledged by all and those representing the different elements at Monday's meeting must be prepared to do business a good deal on the give and take order, as the withdrawal of any of the players would certainly tend to weaken the teams which will be put in the O.H.A.

Hollingshead's suggestion that teams be put in both the junior and senior series, is a good one. A team should certainly be entered in the junior series, and as the intermediate teams are quite as fast as the seniors, Peterborough might just as well aspire for the highest honours, and besides senior teams will draw a much larger attendance than those of the intermediate series.

Another matter to be considered is the formation of a town league. Five or six first class teams could easily be put on the ice to play for local honours and a good deal of interest would be aroused in the matches. It is suggested that teams be entered in the league by the Electric Works, Banks, Lacrosse Club, Collegiate Institute and Peterboroughs. In Toronto the City League matches draw even larger audiences than the Association matches, and towards the close of the season when the contest narrows down to two or three clubs the excitement grows very intense. This, then, is a question which should also be threshed out on Monday evening.

All interested in hockey should be in attendance, as the views of the supporters of the game are desired. It is to them that the club caters and their opinions will be cheerfully received and considered.

If the club can once more be united a team can be put on the ice in the senior series that will reflect credit on the town. The younger players have gained weight since the season of 1896-7, and nearly all the old players are available. A coverpoint will be badly needed, and it will take a good deal of careful consideration to select a suitable man for this position. Bob Thorne is the most likely candidate at present. A dashing team of Juniors can easily be picked from the fast young lot that are coming up.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The Regular Monthly Meeting—A Lecture by Miss Fitzgibbons to be Arranged.

Regular monthly meeting of the Town and County of Peterborough Historical Society was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms last night. This is the first meeting held in this building and the room used for the purpose, on the ground floor, is exceedingly well adapted for the purpose, besides being central in situation.

There was not a very large attendance. Lt.-Col. Rogers, president, occupied the chair and in the absence of Mr. Hay, Mr. F. D. Kerr acted as secretary. Those present besides were, Mayor Yelland, Dr. Burnham, Mrs. Birdsall, Mrs. Collins, Miss Collins, Miss Dunlop, Mrs. Hay, Miss Stewart and Mr. Yokome.

After routine the president reminded the members of the wisdom of keeping in mind the holding of an Art Loan Exhibit next year. He also referred gratefully to the courtesy and kindness of the Town and County Council in the matter of the Victoria Museum, which it was expected to have opened to the public next spring.

A LECTURE BY MISS FITZGIBBONS.

On motion of Mayor Yelland, seconded by Dr. Burnham, it was decided to procure the presence of Miss Mary Agnes Fitzgibbons, of Toronto, who has given great attention to historical subjects, to deliver a lecture in Peterborough.

The following committee was selected to arrange for the proposed lecture:—The President, Secretary, Mrs. Birdsall, Miss Dunlop, Mrs. Dunsford, Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Hay.

It was proposed that the date of the lecture be arranged for the date of the next monthly meeting, and also that a musical programme be provided.

The constitution and bylaws adopted at the last regular meeting, but not read, were read by the secretary pro tem. The meeting adjourned.

POULTRY AND DOG SHOW.

The Prize List Will Probably Amount to Over $600—The Members Very Enthusiastic.

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association was held on Thursday evening in Morgan's hotel.

The directors and members present were President Cockburn, Secretary Collins and Messrs. Pratley, Hayward, Robson, James, English, Garbutt, Lush, Dormer and Dr. Poole.

The president took the chair at 8.30 o'clock and called the meeting to order.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were, on motion, confirmed.

The president stated that the principal object for calling the meeting was for the purpose of preparing the prize list, appointing committees and making all necessary preparations for their show. He urged everyone to take a live interest in the business and to be painstaking in every detail.

The matter of appointing judges was the first business taken up. The secretary read a number of letters from different judges who had been written to, asking them to act for the Society. Some were unable to come, and others could not decide at present. It was finally deemed advisable to wait until after the competition for judges, to be held in Toronto shortly, before arranging for the list of judges.

THE PRIZE LIST.

The consideration of the prize list and the rules and regulations was next taken up.

Moved by Mr. Lush, seconded by Mr. Pratley, that the exhibition be a single bird show; that the poultry prizes offered be $1 for first prize, 50c. for second prize in each class; entrance fee to be 25c.

Poultry prizes to the amount of $350 were then agreed upon. Every exhibitor must be a member of the Association.

Classes were then arranged for the different kinds of Brahmas, Langshans, Dorkings, Spanish, Plymouth Rocks, Leghorns, Minorcas, Houdans, Audalasians, Wyandottes, Games, Red Caps and Hamburgs. The breeding pen prizes will be arranged according to nationality, Asiatic, Mediterranean, American English, French and a class of any other variety.

There are seven classes in the pigeon list as follows: Antwerps, tumblers, pouters, Jacabins, fantails, carriers and "any other variety. A class has also been arranged for canaries and rabbits and classes for geese, turkeys, ducks and guinea fowls.

THE BENCH SHOW.

Those interested in the dog show in connection with the exhibition asked for another week in which to consider the amount they would ask for a prize list. At present the prize list calls for about $300.

Messrs. Chas. McCormick and Alf. Terrill were appointed a committee to sound the citizens to ascertain if it was the wish of the community to have a bench show held for dogs, and whether the scheme would be liberally supported. A general meeting of the Association is called for Thursday evening in the Council Chamber to receive their report.

The list, as roughly drawn up for the dogs, was as follows:

St Bernards (rough) of either sex.
" (smooth)	"
Mastiffs, (open)	"
Greyhounds, (open)	"
Setters, (English)	"
Cocker Spaniels (black) dogs.
"	"	females.
" (any other colour) dogs.
"	"	females.
Spaniels (any other variety) dogs.
"	"	females.
Fox Terriers (wire hair) open, dogs.
"	"	female.
"	"	novice, dogs.
"	"	" females.
" (smooth) open, dogs.
"	"	" females.
"	"	novice, dogs.
"	"	" females.
Collies, (open) dogs.
"	"	female.
Dachshunds	"	dogs.
"	"	females.
Pugs,	"	dogs.
"	"	females.
Bull Terriers	"	dogs.
"	"	females.
Irish Terriers,	"	dogs.
"	"	females.
Fox Hounds,	"	dogs.
"	"	females.

The prizes would be $3, $2, and $1, and the entrance fee $1.25.

At present it is open for discussion whether this show will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Kennel Club or not. The expense of getting the sanction has to be considered in connection with the fact that a far larger number of dogs will be brought to Peterborough if the wins are "listed," which would not be the case without the sanction. The matter will be decided at Thursday's meeting.

In connection with the Poultry department of the show the following committees have been appointed:

Reception Committee—Messrs. Pratley, Hayward, Robson, Winch, and Birdsall.

Coop and Feeding Committee—Messrs. Lush, Pratley and Dormer, with power to add to their number.

Printing—Messrs. Cockburn, Collins and Poole, V.S.

Brantford Firemen on Exhibition For Benefit of Peterborough Aldermen.

Brantford Expositor.

As stated in Wednesday's Expositor, a trio of Aldermen from Peterborough spent the day in Brantford looking into the local system of fire protection.

The Peterborough council is about to inaugurate a new system of fire alarms, and the aldermen in question were sent out to visit the various departments and report on the most favourable system in vogue.

The visitors were highly pleased with their visit to Brantford and were treated by Chief Calder to an exhibition of the ariel ladder. The ladder was run out during the afternoon and was elevated while all the firemen clambered nimbly to the top.

(Special to the Examiner.)

TRENTON, Ont. Nov. 12.—The office of the Canadian Express Company here was entered by burglars last night, the vault opened and cash, money orders and cheques, to the amount of about $2,500, were stolen. There is no clue whatever to the perpetrators. Detectives are now investigating. The officials of the Express Company are very reticent and no further particulars are obtainable at present.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED.

He Met his Death on the C. P. R. Track Near Cavanville — The Body Unidentified—No Inquest Considered Necessary.

From Our Own Correspondent.

An unknown man was killed on the C. P. R. track about one mile west of Cavanville station by a freight at eleven o'clock Thursday morning.

The unfortunate victim who is supposed to have been the worse of liquor, paid no attention to the whistle of the locomotive and was struck on the back of the head. Death was not instantaneous, but he was unconscious from the time he was picked up until the end.

There was no possible means of indentification. Some Toronto, Ottawa and Peterborough papers, a note book and a flask of whiskey were the only articles found on his person. The note book contained a number of names and addresses, but of course it is not known whether his own was among them.

The body was taken to Cavanville station and Dr. McKee, coroner of Bailieboro, notified, who, after some investigation, decided that an inquest was not necessary. He, therefore, notified Reeve Thorndyke of Cavan, who gave undertaker Thomas Gillott, of this place, order to charge of the remains and have same properly interred.

The deceased was a man of about fifty years of age and did not appear to be of the tramp variety.

"MEN I HAVE KNOWN."

A Review of Cannon Farrar's Latest Book.

By Rev. H. Symonds.

Amongst a number of excellent books lately placed upon the shelves of the Public Library, the work of Dean Farrar, put in to-day, entitled "Men I Have Known," is of especial interest. From a very early age the Dean—so much better known as Canon Farrar—has been brought into contact with with leading men of the day, both in England and America, and his account of their sayings and doings is entirely free from gossip, scandal and spite. The only faults we have to find are, first, it is too short, and secondly, the Dean has not escaped the vice of egotism so common to writers of memoirs. He is not, it is true, nearly so bad as that arch-offender, Mr. W. T. Stead, but the Dean should know that his place in the world of preachers, theologians and men of literature is thoroughly understood and that he only lowers our opinion of one of the most deservedly popular writers of the day—honest, fearless and eloquent—by continually dragging in flattering stories about himself. The apologetic remarks that occasionally follow only make matters worse.

Amongst the distinguished men of whom Dean Farrar writes are the names of F. D. Maurice, Dean Stanley, Archbishops Tait, Magee and Brunson, Cardinals Newman and Manning, Dr. Pusey, Canon Liddon, Phillips Brooks, Dean Church, Lightfoot, Colenso and Wordsworth, amongst divines; Tennyson, Browning and Matthew Arnold, amongst the poets; Lord Beaconsfield, Lord Lytton, amongst politicians; Darwin and Huxley, amongst men of science; Emmerson, Lowell and Carlyle, amongst the men of letters, and many others scarcely less distinguished.

Of all he writes generally and leaves a distinct impression of that is to be found in this disappointing world. He is least amiable in his accounts of Carlyle and of Cardinal Manning, and his favourites appear to be Dean Stanley, Phillips, Brooks, F. D. Maurice and Olive Wendell Holmes. The book, too, is well illustrated with portraits and contains many autograph letters.

THE LARGE AMOUNT OF GOODNESS

The chapter on Robert Browning is very interesting. He tells us that Browning never gave to the world anything wilfully obscure, unconscientiously careless, or perversely harsh. "I can have little doubt," he wrote to a friend, "that my writing has been in the main too hard for many; but I never designedly tried to puzzle people, as some of my critics have supposed. On the other hand, I never pretended to offer such literature as should be a substitute for a cigar or a game of dominoes to an idle man." Such a man will, of course, never be popular, and least of all in such an age as this, but he will have a few earnest students, through whom he will upon the best thought of the day. Browning came in for more than the usual amount of perverse and hasty criticism that generally flows like a flood when any writer arises who really has something to say, but he never paid any attention to it. Once he wrote a private letter to an acquaintance who sent him a copy of a very foolish critique on his poetry, and quite unknown to the poet, his friend published it. It runs as follows:

"Dear Sir, I am quite sure you mean very kindly, but I have had too long experience of the inability of the human goose to do other than cackle when benevolent, and hiss when malicious, and no amount of goose criticism shall make me lift a heel at what waddles behind it."

There is of course no doubt that Browning is almost always hard reading, sometimes his meaning is impossible to discover. When in 1887 Farrar put a Jubilee window into St. Margaret's church (the parish church of the Houses of Parliament) he asked Browning to write some lines to accompany it. Let the reader attempt to paraphrase or analyse the lines he wrote, and he will understand how difficult Browning could be.

"Fifty years' flight! wherein should we rejoice
Who hailed their birth, who as they die deplore!
This—England echoes his attesting voice—
Wend rous and well: thanks, Ancient Thou of days."

Of Matthew Arnold, Dean Farrar wrote in terms of high praise. It is interesting to know that whilst very far from orthodoxy, he remained on terms of cordial friendship with many of the bishops and leading clergy, as well as with the most eminent non-conformists, and that "to the last he remained a regular and reverent attendant at church and at the Holy Communion."

As a

LECTURER IN AMERICA,

Arnold was a failure. He knew nothing of the arts of the American candidate for multitudinous applause. The morning after his first lecture in New York, a professor of elocution called upon him and remarked, "This will never do, Mr. Arnold. Let me give you a lesson." Arnold very wisely accepted the offer, and he was at least fairly audible at subsequent lectures. He used to place his manuscript upon a sort of music-stand, "as the sight of one of my eyes is stronger than the other, I used to place it at my right, read a sentence, and then raise my head as I delivered it. But one morning afterwards there appeared in a Detroit paper a criticism in which was the remark: 'As for Mr. Arnold's manner, it reminds us of an elderly parrot pecking at a trellis!'"

One of the New York papers played a clever but unscrupulous trick both upon Mr. Arnold and upon their rival city, Chicago. It published a letter purporting to have been written by Arnold, and commenting not quite favourably on the city of Chicago. It began:—"At Chicago my host was

"AN ARTIST OF DESICCATED PORK!"

Chicago was very angry, nor was its wrath quite allayed when Arnold pointed out that the whole thing was an impudent forgery.

Arnold says the Dean was "an admirable specimen of a perfect English gentleman, a man of fine genius, of delightful bearing, of stainless integrity, and of a genuinely kind and loving heart."

Of Maurice and Stanley, Farrar writes with the utmost sympathy. Both Maurice and Stanley ware the objects of much ecclesiastical antipathy. Maurice more particularly suffered from the Low church part, Stanley from the High. Maurice was finally dismissed from the chair of Ecclesiastical History at King's College, for supposed heresy, only, however, to receive the far greater distinction of the Professorship of moral philosophy at Cambridge. Of the lengths to which a bitter spirit can lead an unscrupulous newspaper, Farrar gives the following example:—Dean Stanley had gone down to Bedford to unveil a statue of John Bunyan. The following accounts of his visit was recorded,—"A statue has been erected to a non conformist writer at Bedford. Of course the person invited to unveil it was the inevitable Dean of Westminster. All sorts of persons have statues erected to them in these days. There is a personage undoubtedly powerful and influential, to whom we quite expect soon to hear that a statute has been erected. (Here followed an elaborate description of the devil.) When the statue to this personage is finished, we are quite sure that the fittest person to unveil it will be the Dean of Westminster."

Although not wide, on account of certain peculiarities of style, the influence Maurice exerted upon his generation was deep. Take him all in all, he was the most influential theologian of the Church of England during this century. He was a most influential force on the side of co-operation. The dominant notes of present day theology—the Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man, the Incarnation—were first struck by Maurice. He was a voluminous writer, and though few of his works have had a large sale, they have had a steady and enduring influence, and the Macmillans have recently published a new edition of his complete works.

Dean Stanley was a most atrocious penman and the printers had a sad time with his manuscript. "The first proofs of his Sinai and Palestine informed the reader that from the monastery of Sinai was visible "the horn of the burning beast." This was the fearfully apocalyptic nightmare of the printer's devil—for "the horizon of the burning bush." The original proof sheets also stated that on turning the shoulder of Mount Olivet, in the walk from Bethany, "there suddenly burst upon the spectator a magnificent view of—Jones!" In this startling sentence 'Jones' was a transmogrification of 'Jerus,' the Dean's abbreviated way of writing Jerusalem." When the Dean answered an invitation to dinner his hostess has been known to write back and inquire "Whether his note was an acceptance or a refusal," and when he replied to the question of a workingman, the recipient thanked him, but requested that the tenor of the answer might be written out by some one else, "as he was not familiar with the handwriting of the aristocracy!"

The Dean was devoted to Westminster Abbey. It was to him something far more than a venerable Anglican Church. It was even more than a great national institution. It was par excellence the Church of the English-speaking races, and the shrine of its representative men. His last words were of it—"In spite of every incompetence, I have yet humbly trusted that I have sustained before the mind of the nation the of the Abbey as a religious, liberal and national institution.

Dean Farrar prints four exquisite lines written by Oliver Wendell Holmes for a memorial tablet to his son Cyril Lytton Farrar, who died in China:

Afar he sleeps, whose name is graven here,
Where loving hearts his early doom deplore;
Youth, promise, virtue, all that made him dear,
Heaven lent, earth borrowed, sorrowing to restore.

Space forbids us to write of Phillips Brooks. It is well known that there was much, and in some cases, bitter opposition to his consecration as Bishop of Massachusetts. His good humour was, however, proof against all attacks. Once upon seeing a caricature of himself in a newspaper, he wrote the following lines:

"And is this then the way he looks,
This tiresome creature, Phillips Brooks!
No wonder, if 'tis thus he looks
The church has doubts of Phillips Brooks!
Well if he knows himself, he'll try
To give these doubtful looks the lie.
He dares not promise, but will seek
Even as a bishop to be meek;
To walk the way he shall be shown,
To trust a strength that's not his own,
To fill the years with honest work,
To serve his day and not to shirk,
To quite forget what folks have said,
To keep his heart and keep his head,
Until men, laying him to rest,
Shall say, "at least he did his best."

In a book of this kind there are pretty sure to be some good stories of preachers and sermons. Here is one. Canon Wordsworth (afterwards Bishop of Lincoln) was a very long preacher. One day Canon Cureton, of Westminster, was told that Dean Trench had a son at Westminster school, and whenever the Canon preached too long a sermon the boys used to thrash his son. "Oh," said Trench, how I wish that Canon Wordsworth also had a son at the school.

Dr. Thompson was a Canon of Ely. He once complained that the place was so damp that "even his sermons would not keep dry there." With which sample of clerical wit we may bring this notice to a close, with an expression of the hope that it may draw the attention of some of our readers to this capital book.

ANOTHER DEER

Came in from the North Country this Morning.

Messrs. Alfred Parker and W. J. Wattam have just returned from a deer hunt up near Gull Lake, where they turned in with Mr. Lou Switzer, whose services they secured as guide.

They went north on Monday afternoon and could do no shooting on Tuesday on account of the storm. On Wednesday Mr. Wattam secured a fine big buck on a runway, putting a ball through its lungs. The animal ran a quarter of a mile before it dropped and it had to be carried fully that distance to the house. This was the only deer secured, although the hunters got a few partridge.

Both will put in a full week at the sport next season.

Mr. Wattam states that all the old hunters whom he came across are in favour of having the deer shot in the water, as every hunter who goes out early will stay in the woods until he gets his two deer, and during that time he will wound, perhaps, a dozen deer, which will go off to the woods to die.

THE GEORGE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Dr. Rose will Deliver the Two Sermons in February Next.

Rev. Dr. S. P. Rose, pastor of St. James' Methodist church, Montreal, has been invited to deliver two sermons on the occasion of the anniversary services in connection with the George street Methodist church Sunday school anniversary in February next.

Dr. Rose is one of the most eloquent divines in the Methodist church in Canada to-day. He is a brother of Justice Rose, who has frequently presided at the sittings of the High Court in Peterborough.

I.O.G.T. CONCERT.

Auburn Lodge Furnishes a Most Pleasing Programme to a Large Audience.

The members of Auburn Lodge, I.O.G.T. held their first concert for the season on Tuesday evening, Nov. 9th, and a very difficult dialogue entitled "Vice versa, or Woman's Suffrage," was well rendered to a crowded house. All those participating took their parts excellently from the big G. to the little M.

Mr. Jas. Stubbs, C.T., of City Lodge, occupied the chair, and kept good order, although it was hard to do so with such a crowded house. The whole programme was well rendered and took well.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE REV JOHN EWING.

A Largely Attended Funeral at Mount Pleasant.

The funeral of the late Rev. John Ewing, of Mount Pleasant, took place yesterday, and the high esteem in which the reverend gentleman was held was testified by the exceedingly large attendance, in spite of the unfavourable weather. The following members of the Presbytery were present: Rev. F. Andrews, Keene; Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. Wm. Bennett, Peterborough; Rev. A. J. Miller of Springville, and Rev. J. W. Tanner, Omemee, pastor of the charge. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrews, was not able to be present, having been called away to Harvey to attend a funeral.

The funeral services were conducted by the members of the Presbytery present. The sermon was preached by Rev. F. Andrews. He gave an interesting sketch of the life of the deceased minister, and paid a high tribute to his sterling character, both as a Christian minister and a Christian gentleman. For the past thirty years Rev. Mr. Andrews and Rev. Mr. Ewing were closely associated, having exchanged services during that time on communion occasions.

The church where the services were held was crowded in spite of the unfavourable character of the weather. The remains of the venerable minister were laid in the Emily church yard, two miles north of Mount Pleasant, attached to the first church in which Rev. Mr. Ewing preached in Canada, and which at that time was the mother church of the charge and remained such till a new church was built at Mount Pleasant.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE WASHBURN.

The death of George Washburn occurred last evening at the Nicholls Hospital at the age of 56 years. The deceased was a native of New York State, being born near Rochester, but he has worked in this vicinity with the farmers for the last eighteen or twenty years, being last employed in the country by Mr. George McKee. He was taken ill about a week ago in the lumber shanties of Mr. Irwin at Wahnapitae and reached Peterborough with difficulty. He was at once taken to the hospital, but sank rapidly. An endeavour is being made to communicate with his friends.

MRS. JOHN HARDILL.

Mrs. John Hardill died yesterday at the residence of her husband, on Donegal street. The family has only resided in Peterborough a few months, coming here from Port Perry. The deceased has been a sufferer from consumption for some time, to which disease she finally succumbed. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, No. 489 Donegal street.

—By the driving rod breaking, a westbound light engine was disabled between Logan's crossing and Norwood, shortly before noon on Tuesday. The engine was running at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred, and before it could be stopped the boiler and cab were considerably damaged, and the track was torn up for some distance by the flying rod. Traffic was delayed for about three hours. The locomotive was sent to Montreal for repairs.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The earnings of the railway companies again show an increase for the past week. Canadian Pacific earnings for the first week in November were $627,000, as against $522,000 for the same week last year, an increase of $105,000. The Grand Trunk earnings for the same period were $521,770, as against $486,913 in the corresponding week last year, an increase of $34,857.

The freight department of the Grand Trunk is preparing a circular to shippers giving them instructions in regard to the shipment of goods intended for export.

It is reported that the Grand Trunk is behind the Toledo and Northwestern Railway, which is being built from Charlotte, Michigan, to Toledo. There is practically no coal on the Grand Trunk system, and the company is desirous of getting a line to Toledo, the gateway of the Ohio coal fields.

Blenheim People talk for the Public Good on an Interesting Subject.

Our representative interviewed Mr. J. Holland, the popular shoemaker, Talbot St., with the following results. Said Mr. Holland:

"Speaking of myself I have had sever pains in the small of my back, in both sides and between my shoulders for over seven years and I was also troubled with urinary difficulties, dizziness, pain in the head, etc, so much so that I could get but little sleep, and frequently got up as tired as when I went to bed, and feeling totally unfit for work.

"I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they have cured me of all my kidney troubles. They have taken away the tired feeling, built up my system, and made me feel like a new man.

"My son James, now 13 years of age, was attacked four years ago by malaria, which left him with severe pain in the back and weakness of the kidneys. He has been troubled in that way ever since, and until he took Doan's Kidney Pills could get no relief, but they have cured him entirely.

"It is no wonder that I speak highly of these remarkable pills, for they are undoubtedly the best kidney cure in the world, seeing that they cured both myself and son in such a short time." 291

Jolly Jo—What did the boss do when you told him you had grown gray in his service?

Faithful Al—Gave me the name of a hair dye.

He Knows How to Do.

There is a certain Cleveland er who has won considerable fame and some wealth as an expert handler of horses. He is also the possessor of a pleasant home, a charming wife and a bright 3-year-old boy. The latter is the delight of his father's heart and the little fellow not only knows lots of horse talk, but takes a keen delight in a mild attempt at holding the reins over a speedy trotter. The wee horseman has picked up the habit of calling his parents by their first names, and the way in which he utters them is decidedly cunning.

One day not long ago his father came home in a hurry, and found that luncheon wasn't ready.

"What do you think of that, my small man?" he cried as he tossed the 3-year-old boy in the air.

"Here's papa come home in a terrible hurry and no luncheon ready. What ought we to do with such a naughty mamma?"

The little fellow's eyes sparkled.

"Trade her off, Clint, trade her off!" he shouted.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Answer.

"Tell me, am I not fair?"

The speaker leans back in her seat and smiles coquettishly.

In truth the question seems superfluous.

As she sits there with the afternoon sun transfusing her glorious tresses into a stream of liquid gold; her eyes, as blue as the heavens, fathomless as the sea, and dancing with excitement; her lips of coral wreathed with a roguish smile, she is, indeed, transcendentally beautiful.

But the man seems blind to her loveliness. He regards her with a frowning brow and eyes that smolder with anger.

Timidly she repeats her question.

"Am I not fair?"

Her companion's face grows black as thunder.

"Fair!" he cries bitterly. "Fair! When you open a jackpot with a ten——"

Rage chokes his utterance, and with a passionate gesture he dashes the cards to the door.—San Francisco Examiner.

Dropping Corporeality.

In the month of March, 1815, The Paris Moniteur announced the unexpected return of the Emperor Napoleon from Elba, says Black and White. The first announcement of The Moniteur was far from polite, but as the "Little Corsican" approached Paris a gradual change took place in its tone:

"The cannibal has left his den."

"The Corsican wolf has landed in the Bay of San Juan."

"The tiger has arrived at Gap."

"The wretch spent the night at Grenoble."

"The tyrant has arrived at Lyons."

"The usurper has been seen within fifty miles of Paris."

"To-morrow Napoleon will be at our gates."

"The Emperor has arrived at Fontainebleau."

"His Imperial Majesty Napoleon entered Paris yesterday surrounded by his loyal subjects."

SHOT DURING A QUARREL.

Fred Elliott Killed His Brother. The Coroner's Jury at Bayfield. Funeral of Deceased.

Bayfield, Ont., Nov. 10.—The inquest in the shooting case was resumed this morning at 10 o'clock before Coroner Stanbury.

A post mortem examination was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Drs. Sheppard and Grey. The body was found in a healthy condition. Death was shown to have been caused by a shot from a revolver. The course of the ball was from between the first and second ribs, on the left side, passing through the body to the right side, and lodging between the eight and ninth ribs. The jury was empanelled, viewed the body, and proceeded to the Town Hall, when the inquest was adjourned till 10 a.m. on Wednesday before Coroner Stanbury. Mr. Lewis of Goderich appeared for the Crown, and William Proudfoot for the accused.

The first witness called was Albert Woods. He related the story of being at Varna with Harvey Elliott and L. Dumart. They had several drinks while there; started for home about 6, got to Bayfield about 8. Shortly before Lew Dumart and I went to a store to get a lunch. When we got on Elliott's platform, Harvey had hold of Fred. I tried to part them; heard Harvey tell Fred to go into the house, but he refused. I wanted him to keep his overcoat. He pulled it off and tried to get at Fred. I grabbed him and tried to hold him back. Mrs. Elliott and Lilly were on the platform. Do not know where Dumart was. Saw a revolver in Fred's hand pointing toward Harvey. I told him not to shoot. Harvey was struggling to get away from me, with head bent down. He dragged me close to Fred. When Fred fired Harvey was swinging his hands about. They may have struck Fred's hands, causing the revolver to go off. Do not believe Fred had any intention of shooting his brother. I had hold of Harvey around the middle of the body from behind. He said nothing, but groaned. I dragged him towards the pump, and he was then taken into the house.

The inquest was adjourned at 1.30 until after the funeral, which took place at 3 o'clock, and was largely attended. Service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Smith.

The inquest was resumed. Lilly Elliott, sister of deceased, stated that after closing the bar Fred came to the kitchen and gave her the money and said he was going for a walk. She went with him to the hall door and locked it. After returning to the kitchen she heard loud talking. "Mother had gone out to see if the barn was locked. I was some time unlocking the door. They tried to get Harvey into the house. I got hold of him and tried to help them. I called for help. He was determined to get at Fred. Am sure Fred was not again in the house before the shooting. Did not hear or see the shooting; was not on the platform. Harvey was quarrelsome when intoxicated."

Thomas Clark said: "With others, I was in King's store, across the street. Heard quarreling, went across and stood between the pump and flag pole. Heard Harvey swear; saw Fred standing on the platform, with revolver in hand by his side; heard him say, 'Take Harvey away, or I will shoot him.' They were about 12 feet apart. Mrs. Elliott was trying to get Fred round the side of the house. Harvey pulled off his overcoat and, with his head down, made a dash forward. Fred went around his mother; then Fred stepped back, leaned his forearm and fired. Cannot say whether Harvey's hands struck Fred's hand or not. Fred had hold of Harvey when shot. Next saw Fred at the end of the house, crying."

The jury returned the following verdict: "That the said Harvey Elliott came to his death by a bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of his brother, Frederick Elliott, on the night of Nov. 8."

The Campbell Method of Culture.

The "Campbell method" of farm culture consists, first, in thoroughly pulverizing the upper three or four inches of the soil intended to be cultivated. This is best done with a spader or disk harrow. If the soil is already in perfect condition this operation may be omitted. In this upper stratum, at the end of the summer, is concentrated the most of the available plant food. Secondly, the ground is to be plowed to a uniform depth of eight inches—by measure and not by guess, the furrow slices to be turned completely bottom up so that the pulverized surface soil containing the humus may be in a position to form the rootbed for the coming crop. Third, the plow is to be immediately followed by a tool called the sub surface packer, which thoroughly firms the lower four inches, but leaves the upper stratum in a friable condition suitable for a seed bed. The object of firming the lower four inches is to prevent drying out by a too free circulation of air, and to increase the inflow of water to rot the vegetable matter in the root bed. Fourth, the grain is sown in drills, eighteen or twenty inches apart, and the cultivator kept going in it every week until headed out. This surface cultivation is only about two inches in depth, and with a proper tool can be done very rapidly. Corn and other hoed crops are planted at usual distances and tended to maturity. The method has proved very successful in dry seasons, as it saves all the rain that falls.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

TRADE MARK.

This is to certify that I, James Ross, Tollgate Keeper, of the Town of Woodstock, Ont., have been a sufferer from indigestion and a very weak stomach for a number of years, and have tried a great many medicines of different kinds, but could only obtain temporary relief for a short time, but after using one bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic I could perceive a great difference. My indigestion was better and my stomach was much stronger than before, and I found I had gained several pounds in flesh, where I was weak and thin in flesh before. I think I used nine or ten bottles in all, and I am now a healthy man, but still I do not want to be without the medicine in the house, and I procure one or two bottles every year, and I can truthfully recommend Sloan's Indian Tonic to others suffering from the same complaint.

Price $1 or 6 for $5.00. All Dealers or Address

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

A happy mother is the happiest being in this world. To hold in her arms the dear little life—a part of her very own life—nestling, trusting and dependent on her protecting love, is the sweetest, most sacred responsibility of a woman's existance.

But many a woman approaching the time of motherhood feels most deeply its duties and trials. She is burdened with a sense of anxiety and unreasonable foreboding. This state of mind is unfavorable both to the mother and the child.

A prospective mother may insure herself against the slightest fear of danger or excessive pain by the use of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the period of expectancy. This "Prescription" makes the coming of baby absolutely safe and comparatively painless.

It gives elasticity and endurance to the organism specially concerned in motherhood, and healthy vitality to the nerve centres. It makes the mother strong and cheerful. It gives her recuperative power. It promotes abundant nourishment and provides constitutional wealth and energy for the child.

It is the only positive specific for all diseases of the feminine organism, devised by an educated and skilled specialist in this particular field of practice. Its sale exceeds the combined sale of all other medicines for women.

"I am very thankful for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for me," writes Mrs Etta E. Sanita, of Grenola, Elk Co., Kansas "About a month before I was confined I had such pains I could stand up only a little while at a time. I could not rest at night at all, nor at any other time. I could scarcely eat anything at all. I began taking Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription and after the second dose I felt better. From then until I was sick, I carried nearly all the water that was used, up a long hill, and worked in the garden every day, besides in other work, and did not feel at all bad. When the baby was born the doctor and the women who were with me said I had an easier time than any one they ever saw for the first time. The baby is very healthy, and growing right along. I have been up ever since she was five days old."

BANK ADVICE.

In order that depositors may avoid making errors, the Lincoln National bank of New York has published the following list of "don'ts:"

Don't draw a check unless you have the money in the bank or in your possession to deposit.

Don't test the courage and generosity of your bank by presenting or allowing to be presented your check for a larger sum than your balance.

Don't draw a check and send it to a person out of the city, expecting to make it good before it can possibly get back. Sometimes telegraphic advice is asked about such checks.

Don't exchange checks with anybody. This is called "kiting" and is soon discovered by your bank. It does your friend no good and discredits you.

Don't quarrel with the teller because he does not pay you in money exactly as you wish. As a rule, he does the best he can. In all your intercourse with the bank officers treat them with the same courtesy and candor that you would expect and desire if the situations were reversed.

Don't give your check to a stranger. This is an open door to fraud, and if the bank loses through you it will not feel kindly toward you. When you send your checks out of the city to pay bills, write the name and residence of your payee thus: "Pay to John Jones & Co. of Boston." This will put your bank on guard if presented at the counter.

Don't commit the folly of supposing that because you trust the bank with money the bank ought to trust you by paying your overdrafts.

Don't suppose you can behave badly in one bank and stand well with the others. Remember there is a clearing house.

Don't think it is unreasonable if your bank declines to discount an accommodation note. If you want an accommodation note discounted, tell your bank frankly that it is not in their definition a business note.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prize Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

Favorite Concoctions of Tomato.

Tomato Catsup.—One bushel tomatoes, 1 1-2 pounds of brown sugar, 1 pint vinegar, 1-2 pound salt, 1 ounce ground cloves, 1 ounce allspice, 1 tablespoon black pepper, 1 1-2 tablespoons red pepper, 1 tablespoon mace, 1 tablespoon mustard, 2 large onions. Scald the tomatoes and remove the skin, then break in pieces and put in boiler, and when thoroughly soft, strain through a fine sieve. Then add the other ingredients and cook three hours. When cold, bottle, cork and tie.

Chili Sauce.—Eighteen ripe tomatoes, 6 onions, 3 green peppers, 1 cup sugar, 2 1-2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg (ground), 1-2 teaspoon cloves (ground). Scald and skin the tomatoes and cook with the onions and peppers until tender, then add sugar, vinegar and spices, and cook 10 minutes longer. Heat jars, pour in and seal.

Piccalilli.—Take 1 1-2 pecks green tomatoes, 7 large green peppers, 4 onions. Chop into piece about the size of your finger, cover with 1-2 cup salt, and let stand 24 hours. Then draw off the water. To each 2 quarts of the mixture add 1 teaspoon each of mustard and pepper, 1 cup brown sugar, add ground cloves and cinnamon to taste. Cover with cider vinegar and boil until soft. Put away in glass jars.

GALLOWAY BELIEFS.

SOME QUEER SCOTTISH SUPERSTITIONS THAT STILL SURVIVE.

They Make Life Picturesque and Touch All Classes and Conditions of Men "Clergy and Craws" Bracketed—The Moon and Her Influence.

As might be expected in such a district as Galloway, which, till a late period, was made from external influences, and which had such a marked individuality, the list of its local customs and beliefs is a long one. Let us take, first of all, those relating to times and seasons. We find, at the outset, a saying about February weather: "If Feb. sweer be fair an' clear, There'll be twa winters in the year." This further saying is limited to Candlemas Day. The belief in the potency of dew collected on May Day morning, especially as a cosmetic, exists in Galloway as it did in London in the days of Pepys. On Sunday it was unlucky to cut "hair or beard," and, as everywhere, great care must be taken in the disposal of the "clippings," on Saturday a piece of work should never be begun.

On New Year's Eve, which bears the widespread name Hogmanay, the fire was banked up with special care, for ill luck came to the house when it went out, and to those who gave a turf next morning to light it again. Earlier matches, at any rate, have been a safeguard to neighbors. In fact, on New Year's Day you must neither sell, nor lend, nor give, outside the house, which, obviously, is not the sentiment of our neighbors across the Channel; but inside, as food formally presented some food and drink to all its inmates early in the morning, and even gave a little grain to his horses and cattle. There was a general rule that on New Year's morning nothing should be brought into the house before anything was taken out of it, and neither ashes nor "slops" were to be carried. Much depended on the "first foot;" that is, the first visitor. Some persons were harbingers of ill luck to whom were always among these, particularly if they were walking barefoot. Even on meeting them outside some people would turn back and give up an expedition. Candlemas was an important day in the schools. The boys and girls brought presents to the master, generally money; then he appointed one of each as King and Queen, and treated the children to cakes and weak "toddy." On Hallowe'en they performed a mumming play.

The moon was the centre of a number of fancies. A hen should be set when it is waxing; the new moon, when seen for the first time, can help a girl to the name of her future husband; it will bring a wish to pass if you turn the money thrice in your pocket; but ill luck comes if you look at it through a window. All these beliefs are widespread. That a man should not build a house for himself was believed in Galloway, as elsewhere, and those who quitted a house showed their good will by not cleaning it up, for this "took away the ill luck." Newcomers protected themselves by throwing a cat or a hen, or some other animal inside before they entered themselves, for this became the victim if a curse had been left on the building. It was the rule in Galloway, as in most other places, that the beginner "paid his footing," and new work of most kinds was consecrated by a libation, poured not on the ground, but down the throat.

The clergy are held in honor, or at least in fear, and evil must not be spoken against them, for as a proverb goes, "It is unlucky t' middle wi' craws and ministers." "Holed" stones were potent amulets for cattle, but the virtues of these are known to other parts of Britain. After a cow had calved its back was sprinkled with salt or oatmeal. The first milk it gave afterward went by the name of beestnan (in the English Midlands beestings), and was used for various special purposes. Never, if it can be avoided, let a mare "foal" under a roof, and mind that a dark-eyed person is the first to look at a young pig. A horseshoe brings luck—that is universal—and so does a live hedgehog; but a dead one, a black cat, and a hare are signs of bad fortune—nay, some think even a wild rabbit ill to meet.

Crowing hens were deemed as objectionable as whistling lasses, and even a cock might not utter his natural notes at untimely hours, for ill would come of it—a belief often verified when fowls are kept in towns. But if a cock reaches the age of seven years he becomes a dangerous fowl, for then he lays an egg, and from this is hatched a cockatrice. That, too, was a very widespread notion. A cock is said to have been solemnly tried and condemned at Basle in the middle ages for this heinous crime. Wild birds take their part in auguries. Ill fortune comes from injuring swallows, wrens, robins, rooks, or cuckoos, but the last may bring good or bad luck according to circumstances. A single magpie is unlucky, and if three approach a house a funeral will soon leave it.

Snake stones can be found and bring good fortune, and a spell can be laid on the adder. If you try to kill one and it escapes the respite is brief, for you can make a "tryst" to meet it next day at a fixed hour and place, and it is bound to keep the appointment. In one place they believe that wasps do not sting in September. The saying, "Many haws, many snaws," expresses what is generally believed further south, and other trees have their significance, especially the elder and the rowan, the last being a potent specific against witchcraft. In that, of course, everybody believed, and there are many stories about spells and counter-charms.

Birth, marriage, and death have each their own customs and superstitions. As regards the second there are many don'ts—though not to the extent of the well-known advice—don't meet a funeral or have the bridecake cupped, or meet after the banns have been proclaimed, or hear your own banns read, or enter the house after the wedding till the minister has gone in, or let him shake hands with either till the knot is tied. The bride, also, should not try on her wedding dress, when once it is finished, nor should her mother witness the ceremony.

Portents of death are much the same in Galloway as in other places, and so also are many of the customs, such as opening doors and windows, putting salt on the breast of the corpse, with a host of superstitions about suicides, drowned folk, and the like.—The London Standard.

RICHER THAN KLONDIKE.

Is the Strike Made by J. D. Ellis, of Niagara Falls—Costs Less and Gives Greater Returns Than Does Gold Mining on the Yukon.

Niagara Falls, Ont. Nov. 8—James D. Ellis, of this place, is convinced that he has made a richer strike than has any owner or prospector in the Klondike gold region. He is confident that the returns for his investment are better than can be got on the Yukon and that the lead will never play out. And thousands of persons on this continent heartily agree with him. Here is his story: "I have, for six years, suffered intensely from diabetes. I felt that I could hardly get along, but could get no relief. In despair I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was amazed at the benefit it gave. I have used three boxes, and am perfectly cured."

HE WAS TOLERABLY DRUNK.

Strains From a Street Piano Made Him Think of a Procession.

Some of Tanken's friends were under the necessity of taking him home the other night. He was loaded with several packages, one jag, and for bear. In plain English, he was in a state of stupid inebriety. There was no way of getting him home but to hire a cab or transfer wagon. No self-respecting conductor on a street car could afford to lose all the time necessary to get him on a car. Hence a cab was called into requisition and the journey made to the neighborhood where Tanken lives.

For fear his folks might be disturbed a stop was made two or three blocks from his residence. It was decided, after a short consultation, that they could support him. In fact, he had begun to get better during the ride, and was rapidly coming to a state where a drunken man thinks that he needs no assistance from his friends. He was gotten out of the cab without much difficulty, and, supported on either side, the march began. Presently he was bumped into a lamp-post.

"Sense me," said Tanken.

"Certainly," said one of his supporters.

About fifty feet further on his friends steered him against a telegraph pole.

"Sense me," said Tanken.

"Don't mention it, my dear fellow," said another.

Then came another telegraph pole, and his jocular friends bumped him against the obstruction with more than usual force. But Tanken was a gentleman under all circumstances, and he said:

"Sense me, sir."

"All my fault, I assure you, sir," was the answer.

This was repeated, with variations, about a dozen times, and Tanken was at sea.

"Time is't? Lo's peopl' out t'night."

Then he steered for about the fifteenth time against a post, and he thought he was on Fourth street at the noon hour.

"Sense me, sir; I mus' be drunk, for a fac'."

Just then, in the distance, he heard the strains from a belated street piano. To him it sounded like a brass band, and it brought a new idea to his fuddled brains as he bumped against a tree.

"Say, fellers," said he, "less stop till the Sprucheshun gits by."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

HOCKEY.

The date of the O.H.A. annual meeting is December 4, and time for filing notice of proposed amendments to the rules and constitution expires on November 20. The notice should be sent to Secretary A. H. Beaton, 90 Yonge street, Toronto, before that date.

THE WHEEL.

At the meeting of the C.W.A. in Toronto yesterday accounts were rendered from a number of lawyers for defending the right of cyclists in the courts. These included one from Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, who it will be remembered, appeared for Mr. E. B. Edwards when the latter was run down by a butcher cart on George street last summer.

F. O. Myers, the Canadian road king, has passed the 10,000 mile mark and is speeding on towards the 13,000 mile goal, which he hopes to reach ere the season closes. Some of his achievements are: Five thousand two hundred miles in forty-six days, from September 12th, to October 31st; 1,200 miles in eight days, from October 23rd to 31st, four single and four double centuries; 100 miles in five hours and twenty-two minutes, establishing a Canadian road record for that distance; 200 miles, twelve hours and twenty-nine minutes, a world's unpaced record, as Cycling declares.

If the weather holds good and the roads are in condition during the coming week, Myers will go after a triple century record and expects to bring it down under twenty-three hours. It is also his intention to run up against the Canadian twenty-four hour record, expecting to run the mileage up to between 315 and 320 within that time. The present Canadian record for twenty-four hours is 261½ miles, held by J. J. Wright and John Smith, Toronto. Myers has ridden two miles within 12:29, so it ought to be an easy matter for him to put up 125 miles within the next eleven and a half hours. Of course, he must make the twenty-four hour attempt this week, as he must have the favour of the moon all night.

Myers is justly entitled to the honour of being called the Canadian road king. No other Canadian rider has ever come near his achievement. He has a big lead on the Toronto century riders, so big in fact that they have dropped out of the race.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

The Montreal Herald, in speaking of the supervision of the Ottawa Rugby club from the union, refers to the matter as follows:

Those at all familiar with footballers and their ways were not surprised at the result of last evening's meeting of the Quebec Rugby Union, when the Ottawa football club was suspended for the season for the rough work of its team in all the matches played this fall. Suspension is not as bad as expulsion, but it is bad enough and seems to be harsh treatment for those members of the team who played the game like gentlemen and purely for the love of the sport. If all the men in the club who were objectionable to the Union had been suspended and the other men, against whom nothing can be said, allowed to play the game, it would appear like more merciful treatment. However, an objectionable element has crept into the Ottawas this season and in every game they played roughness was the distinguishing feature. Such a thing could not go on forever, and the teams did not improve under the scathing criticisms of the public and press, the union itself felt called upon to step in. As an effort to clean football—apart altogether from the justice of it—the suspension of the Ottawa team will mark an epoch in the history of the game in Canada. It was a bold step to take, and the Union is to be congratulated upon taking the bull by the horns. The speakers last evening were delightfully frank in speak of the merits and demerits of sundry players, but the meeting was a quiet one, and not as stormy as might have been expected.

While the the expulsion of Walters forever for attacking the officials last Saturday, appeared somewhat harsh, it was probably the wisest course to adopt, as it will show players in the future what is in store for them as a penalty for such disgraceful conduct as assaulting an official. It is understood that Walters is a young player, and was never even warned for rough play before. It is unfortunate that his first offense was such a grievous one.

The suggestions made by the Herald in reference to the deciding of the championship were adopted, viz: to declare all the previous games of no account and play off for the championship now with all three teams, commening on an even basis. There will be two more matches in the Quebec league, one next Saturday and one on the Saturday following, and on Thanksgiving day the final game for the championship will be played here.

CURLIANA.

Mr. Chas. Smith, who is one of the active leaders in the new skating and curling rink enterprise, at Campbellford, has made a beginning in breaking ground for the building. The lot is being ploughed and harrowed and stoned, trenches will be dug for the foundation, and very soon the foundation walls will be laid. A trench is being dug three and a half feet deep, for the water pipe leading from the main from which will come the water supply for flooding the rink. The directors will meet on Monday night next to make further progress, and tenders will be solicited for the erection of the building. Tenders will be received for same up to 8 o'clock in the evening of Monday, Nov. 15th. Any information regarding plans may be had of Mr. Smith.

TO PETITION THE GOVERNMENT.

Temperance Leaders Wish for Two Important Amendments to the License Act—The Ontario Alliance Moves.

The executive of the Ontario Alliance for the suppression of the liquor traffic has decided to inaugurate a movement to have temperance organizations all over the Province send petitions to the Government pressing for two changes in the license law, one providing that the petition of a majority of the electors of a polling subdivision shall be enough to cause the withholding of a license, and the other to empower municipalities further to limit the hours of sale. Petitions have been issued to local organizations all over the Province and a flood of them may be expected to descend upon the Government as soon as the Legislature opens. The text of the petition is as follows:

"That notwithstanding the restrictive legislation at present in operation, intemperance with its attendant evils still exists in our province to a deplorable extent, and is a constant source of misery, pauperism and crime, and a persistent hindrance and menace to the moral and material well being of our people.

"That your petitioners, while believing that the only right and effective legislative method of dealing with this evil is by total prohibition, cordially endorse and commend all wise and effective legislation by which the evil results of the liquor traffic may be curtailed.

"That it is only reasonable and right that the liquor traffic should be further limited than it is at present in those localities in which a majority of the electorate desire to secure such further limitation. Your petitioners, therefore, pray your honourable body to make such changes in the liquor legislation of the Province of Ontario as will provide that no license shall be issued to take effect in a polling subdivision in which a majority of the municipal electors petition against the granting of such license, and also give power to a majority of the municipal electors in a locality to further limit the hours during which liquor may be sold in places in which licenses are continued in operation."

A Dinner Pill.

Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

PRESIDENT ORR'S REPORT.

The Executive of the C. W. A. at Toronto Yesterday Adopted it.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—At the Rossin House the Canadian Wheelmen's Association officials were in session nearly all day yesterday.

There was a lot of business gone through including President Orr's report in regard to Pacific Coast affairs.

It was moved by Mr Beament, and seconded by Mr. Irwin:

"That Mr. Orr's report in regard to the state of affairs in British Columbia be received and that his recommendation regarding the raising of suspensions imposed on the Victoria, B.C., track and Canadian riders who competed thereon, be adopted.

"That this convention are of the opinion that the competitors that took part in the said race meetings competed in ignorance of the true state of affairs.

"That this committee place themselves on record on behalf of the C.W.A., which they represent, that Sunday racing shall not be allowed as long as it is in our power to prevent it; nor will C.W.A. riders be permitted to compete in any other country on Sunday."

The secretary was instructed to enter into correspondence with the L.A.W., with the object of effecting if possible a more amicable agreement by which the further wishes of our British Columbia members may be complied with.

The association have had five cases in court suing people for running down cyclists, and in all cases convictions were obtained, and the treasurer was instructed to pay the legal bills in each case.

The committee passed a resolution to allow $5 to each member of the Rights and Privileges Committee for each case of the running down of cyclists that they prosecute in court.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—President George H. Orr's voluminous report was read and adopted at the special joint meeting of the C.W.A. Executive Committee and Racing Board yesterday afternoon. The document gives a clear and concise review of the racing situation on the coast on both sides of the line. President Orr reported favorably to an amalgamation with the California Association of Cycling Clubs, and the meeting practically resolved to recognize the body, but first gives the L.A.W. a chance to treat with the C.A.C.C. that it has blacklisted.

REV. DR. CLARK DEAD.

The Passing of an Esteemed Bracebridge Clergyman at a Ripe Age.

BRACEBRIDGE, Nov. 11.—Rev. Dr. Clark, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here during the past twelve years, died at the manse to-day, after a short illness, in his 70th year, deeply regretted by the citizens of all classes. The reverend gentleman was always active in every good work and his loss will be very much felt. Dr. Clark was born in Chatham, N.B., in 1827, and was educated in Halifax, N.S., and Glasgow, Scotland. He taught English and classics in the old Grammar school at Toronto, and afterwards studied medicine, obtaining his degree from the Toronto School of Medicine, and, after practising two years in Toronto, he removed to Paris, Ont., where he was in active practice for 22 years, with the exception of one year, when he went to Brantford and took the position of principal of the Ladies' College. In 1885 Dr. Clark entered the ministry of the Presbyterian Church and received a call to Bracebridge, where he remained in active work until his death.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well-known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for by their action on the liver blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

FOUND WILLIAMS DEAD.

A Sudden Death of One of Two Sportsmen at Port Rowan.

PORT ROWAN Ont., Nov. 11.—R. W. Leeming of Brantford and C. Wynn Williams, formerly of Tilsonburg, left port about noon to-day in the small naphtha launch owned by Leeming on a snipe shooting expedition along the shores of the bay. Running the launch in shoal water they both got out and separated. Shortly after Leeming missed Williams. Not being able to get sight of him anywhere and thinking it strange he began working towards the spot he last saw him, and, after a long search, found him lying face down in six inches of water, dead. Leeming managed to get the body into the launch and returned with it. An inquest will be held by his request, he being the only person with him at the time. Williams was a Freemason and they have charge of the body. His friends are being communicated with.

RECONSTRUCTION IN CUBA.

Gen. Blanco Makes Promises That if Carried Out Will Assist Agriculture.

HAVANA, Nov. 12.—Captain General Blanco has issued a circular announcing that he has decided to furnish all the protection necessary to bring about a resumption of general planting, harvesting and reconstruction throughout the country, especially in the case of the sugar crop. All war measures are abrogated in regard to agricultural implements, machinery, etc., and the right of the railroads to charge 30 per cent. on all freight carried is also done away with. The Government officials throughout the island are notified that, if they show themselves deserving, they will be rewarded in accordance with the degree of zeal they have manifested in pushing the work of bringing about a reconstruction of the Island of Cuba.

Five Charges Against Him.

BRAMPTON, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Yesterday William Dennison was lodged in jail here on five charges of theft. He is charged with stealing two horses from Messrs. Andrews and Harrison, harness from Mr. Leach, a wagon from Mr. Durie, all in the neighborhood of Port Credit, and a second wagon, which he secured after abandoning the first, from Deputy Reeve James Curry, of Elmbank. Dennison's home is at Dixie and on a conviction of stealing harness he recently served a term in the Central.

UNITY OF THE EMPIRE

Sir Charles Dilke on the Situation.

THE DETAILS OF A BRAVE STRUGGLE

An Inquiry Ordered Into the Disaster to General Westmacott's Force—A Deputation Waits on Gen. Lockhart and the Tribesmen Hear Terms—The Engineer's Conference.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Sir Charles Dilke, Radical member of Parliament for the Forest of Dean, addressing the Fabian Society in this city last evening, with reference to the difficulties of welding the Empire into a working whole, said: "It must be remembered that granting special advantages to the colonies would benefit one-fourth of our trade, but be detrimental to three-fourths. To give an advantage to Canadian wheat would mean imposing a duty on American and Argentine wheat; while favoring Australian wool would be detrimental to the manufacture of Yorkshire. Moreover, in neither case were we offered free trade in return."

Sir Charles said that he still thought the problem of defence the most vital one, and that it should stand first.

Alluding to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's presence in Washington, he reminded his hearers that Lord Dufferin, Governor-General of Canada in 1874, at that time opposed a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States on the ground that it would be detrimental to the trade of the Empire.

THAT BRITISH REVERSE.

A Court of Enquiry to be Held to Find Out Who Was to Blame.

SIMLA, Nov. 13.—The Viceroy of India the Earl of Elgin, has ordered a court of inquiry to investigate the disastrous reconnaissance of the British force, under General Westmacott, on Wednesday last, which reached the summit of the Saran-Sar mountain with little resistance and afterwards retreated with the loss of about 50 killed and wounded.

A Council of War.

A full representation of the Orakzai tribes met General Sir William Lockhart, the British commander, to-day at the Malden Valley camp, and heard the terms which he insisted upon for their submission, namely, the restitution of all the rifles captured since the outbreak, their disarmament by another 500 rifles, the payment of a fine of 80,000 rupees, and the formal submission of the tribes to General Lockhart within a fortnight. A portion of the Orakzai envoys seemed to demur at these terms.

Every Man Died Fighting.

Despatches received from the British camp in the Malden Valley say that a man who has just come in there brought some details of the killing of Lieutenant McIntyre and the twelve men belonging to the Northamptonshire Regiment, who met death while endeavoring to save the wounded from the Saran-Sar Mountains. This survivor says that when the lieutenant found himself isolated he despatched him for aid, as the small party was hampered by the wounded and would not desert them. The rest of the sad but gallant tale will never be known. But, as shown in the despatches of yesterday, Lieutenant McIntyre and his handful of men sacrificed their lives for their wounded comrades, the positions in which the bodies were found showing they died bravely fighting to the last. The enemy was afraid to rush upon the little band, the despatches say, but shot at them from points of vantage until every man of the British detachment died from rifle bullet wounds.

THE STRIKING ENGINEERS.

Will They Accept Less Pay With Shorter Hours is the Question.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—It is expected that when the conference is held between the Employers' Federation and the Amalgamated Society of Engineers it will be found that the combatants are disposed to end the dispute. The terms under which the conference will be held amount to a defeat of the engineers. They are to withdraw their strike notices prior to the discussion, while the lockout notices given by the employers will not be withdrawn. It is probable that work will be resumed on Nov. 22.

The employers are expected to give their consent to a reduction of working hours if there is a corresponding reduction in wages. The union leaders may accept these conditions in order to be able to say that they secured something in return for the immense expenditure of funds by the Engineers' Society, but the rank and file will probably prefer to return to work on the old terms rather than to accept any reduction in pay. An indication of the weakness to which the Amalgamated Society has been reduced is that it has applied for admission into the Federated Trades.

PROFITS FELL OFF.

The Big Combine in Thread Was Not a Success the First Year.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Shares of the Coats, as the great thread monopoly company is known, dropped 11 points yesterday on the presentation of an unfavorable annual report, showing that the profits during the past year have fallen off $500,000. On June 24, 1896, it was announced that J. and P. Coats, Clark and Company, Jonas Brooks and Bros., and James Chadwick and Bros., all big thread manufacturing concerns, had in amalgamated under the name of The Coats, and it was added that the company would raise the total nominal capital from $38,850,000 to $36,500,000.

Kruger Will Build Railways.

CAPETOWN, Nov. 13.—It is announced that, as the result of President Kruger's recent speech suggesting to the Volksraad of the Transvaal, that the time was ripe for making a loan for the construction of railways, a bill authorizing a loan of $15,000,000 for that purpose is now awaiting the action of the Volksraad.

Sultan and Czar Friendly.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—The Sultan has conferred upon Count Muravieff, the Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs, the Grand Cordon of the Osmanli Order, for his services in consolidating the friendship existing between the two countries.

Cotton Workers Agree to Arbitrate.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 13.—The cotton operatives have consented to submit the questions in dispute between themselves and the employers to arbitration.

Another Mine Disaster.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Several persons perished yesterday in a fire which broke out in the wood work of the shaft of a mine near Antonienhuette, Silesia.

Azof Ports Frozen.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—Owing to sudden frosts, the ports in the Sea of Azof are freezing and consequently a considerable quantity of grain which was being prepared for export cannot be shipped.

Egyptian Expedition.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—According to a despatch to The Daily Mail from Cairo, the advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition toward Omdurman, on the Nile opposite the site of Khartoum, where the Khalifa has concentrated his troops for a final stand, will be resumed in January. The Egyptian troops will be used, as it is not practicable to spare the necessary British force.

MURRAY AFTER WITNESSES.

The Canadian Detective Subpœnaing Doctors and Others in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Nov. 13.—Provincial Detective Murray of Toronto was in the city yesterday for the purpose of subpœnaing witnesses for the trial of Mrs. Olive A. Sternaman for the murder of her husband, which opens at Cayuga, Ont., next Tuesday morning. Among those whom he subpœnaed were Drs. Phelps, Parmenter, Frost, Rich, Langley and Eagles. They are all interested one way or another in the case. Some of them are on the employ of the insurance companies who paid out death benefits to Mrs. Sternaman, while others attended Sternaman in his last illness.

Twenty other witnesses from Buffalo will also be subpœnaed. Mr. Murray spent the latter part of this afternoon looking for them.

HAS HE CONFESSED?

A Sensational Development Promised in the Orr Case.

GALT, Nov. 13.—It is reported that Alex. Allison, the father of Jim, who is accused of murdering Mrs. Orr near this town, says that everything will come out at the trial, who committed the murder and all about it; in fact, hinting that a confession of some kind is to be made.

Detective Murray, it is said, secured a new point which is likely to materially benefit the prosecution.

To Release Grenier.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—(Special)—Mr. Tarte will have an interview with the Minister of Justice this afternoon about the Grenier case. The result will likely be that Grenier will be released.

BARRIE BURGLARIES.

Several in the Kempenfeldt Bay Town.

A $2500 ROBBERY AT TRENTON, ONT.

The Court Decides Against the County of Simcoe in the Matter of Its Defaulting Treasurer's Bondsmen—Beginning of the Investigation Into the Bayfield Tragedy.

BARRIE, Ont., Nov. 12.—Several bold burglaries were committed in town about two o'clock this morning, evidently by the same parties, from the way in which the work was done. The places entered were: Seager's drug store; Reedy's dry goods; Hunter Bros.' boots and shoes, etc.; Coffey's hotel, and J. Cheesman's grocery. They also tried to get into Simmon's fur store, but were frightened off. In the three first-mentioned stores, on Dunlop street, the tills were up, and yet the burglars used matches to carefully select their supplies, and in Hunter Bros.' they even took goods from the window. There were people up at Coffey's hotel when the thieves broke in the glass door of the bar which opens on the street, and helped themselves to some ale. The nightwatchman was patrolling the streets when the robberies were going on, which shows how audacious they were. The total loss was not great.

A $2500 Express Robbery at Trenton.

TRENTON, Ont., Nov. 13.—The office of the Canadian Express Company was entered by burglars, the vault opened and checks to the amount of about $2500 stolen. There is no clue whatever to the perpetrators. Detectives are now investigating.

EX-TREASURER SANFORD.

Simcoe County Fails to Collect in Its First Case Against a Surety.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Judgment has been handed down at Osgoode Hall dismissing the first case brought by the County of Simcoe against the persons and companies who were sureties for the defaulting treasurer, S. J. Sanford. The defendant was J. L. Burton, whose niece Sanford married, and he had given bonds to the extent of $5000 for his relative's good behavior. Sanford stole altogether $52,300, covering a period of twelve years. The sureties were readjusted in 1898 and besides Mr. Burton these people and companies went security in the following sums:—London Guarantee & Accident Co., $10,000; Wilkinson estate, $5000; Hinds estate, $5000; Chas. Way, $5000; John Plaxton, $5000; W. C. Schreiber $5000; Dr. Morton, $5000; H. D. Stewart, $5000; Joseph Rogers, $5000. Burton's was the first action taken into court in connection with the treasurer's flight. The trial took place at Barrie before Chief Justice Armour. The defence raised by Mr. Aylesworth, Q.C., was that Burton had been induced to execute the bond by representations made to him by certain councilmen, which were subsequently declared to be untrue.

TO PROTECT THE CENTRAL PRISON.

Ontario Government Will Practically Provide Its Own Water Supply for Fire Purposes in Future.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—By an Order-in-Council the Ontario Government has directed that a water tank of 200,000 gallons capacity be at once erected at the Central Prison as the basis of a system to protect that institution from fire. It is also understood that the Government will allow the city $5000 instead of $3500 for further accommodation from the city waterworks system. A 12-inch main is not considered necessary, and instead a new 6-inch main will be connected with the city pipes.

The big tank is to be filled by the watershed of the prison roof and by condensation of the engines. A fire engine is to be placed on the grounds, by means of which several streams can be kept running on the buildings for hours, and after the tank is emptied the two 6-inch city mains can be brought into use as a reserve power.

CHARGED WITH FRATRICIDE.

Beginning of the Investigation Into the Bayfield Tragedy.

GODERICH, Ont., Nov. 12.—(Special)—The preliminary trial of Frederick Elliott of Bayfield for the shooting of his brother Harvey on Monday night last opened yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Seager, and is now proceeding. The prisoner was brought from the jail by Constable Gundry, and is a tall young fellow of prepossessing appearance, light-complexioned, blue-eyed and fair-haired, apparently about twenty-one years of age. He does not look like a man who would premeditate a crime such as that with which he is charged. Among his neighbors he had the reputation of being a respectable young fellow. He is not inclined to talk upon the subject and appears very downcast.

LOSS WILL REACH $20,000.

Two Million Feet of Lumber Burned at Penetanguishene.

PENETANGUISHENE, Nov. 13.—Yesterday morning fire was discovered in David Davidson's mill yard. The town brigade at once turned out and succeeded in saving Mr. Davidson's mill, but two million feet of lumber, mostly hardwood, were burned. The loss is estimated at about $20,000. It was said there was little if any insurance.

Thirty Years for Kelley.

DOVER, N.H. Nov. 13.—Joseph E. Kelley was pronounced guilty of murder in the second degree by Chief Justice Mason of the Strafford County Supreme Court yesterday and sentenced to serve a term of thirty years in State prison at Concord.

The charge against Kelley was the murder of Cashier Stickney of the Great Falls National Bank, at Somersworth, N.H., on April 16th, 1897.

Severe Headaches

Resulting from Catarrh Cause Great Suffering

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I

Had Tried So Many

so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. I feel better now than I have for years, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. E. GREY, 27 St. Nicholas St., Toronto, Ontario. Remember

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE IN CENTRE TORONTO.

The Liberals of Centre Toronto, in selecting Mr. George Bertram to be their candidate, have made an excellent choice. Mr. Bertram possesses, in a high degree, the chief qualifications required in an ideal representative. He is in the prime of life, and physically well fitted for the stress and strain of public life; he is a ready and effective speaker, a good thinker, a logical reasoner, and withal he is equipped with natural business ability which has been well developed in the management of a successful business. He is fully informed on all public questions, and will make a representative who will do credit to the most important constituency in Ontario. He is well entitled to recognition at the hands of the Liberals on account of the yeoman service he gave on the platform, where he appeared to advantage even in the presence of a Laurier, in the general elections, and his nomination as a candidate is only a graceful acknowledgment from a party standpoint, of eminent services. With such a candidate, with a good political cause behind him, there is little doubt that Centre Toronto will on November 30th reaffirm its confidence in a Government whose future effective administration of the affairs of Canada is guaranteed by the excellence of its past record, brief though it has been. Mr. Bertram's many friends in Peterborough will watch his future political course with sympathetic interest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

REPORTS from the trade throughout the country indicates that business continues satisfactory. The stiffening of the weather will give increased activity, especially to those lines whose demand depends upon colder weather.

CAN it be, enquires the Montreal Herald, that Messrs. Whitney and St. John's admiration for that little pig represents a desire to reach the trough of the office hog of happy memory? Instinct shows itself in such matters.

MR. WHITNEY in South Waterloo made a discovery. He unearthed a deadly plot on the part of the Ontario Government. He declared that the November session was not called for the dispatch of public business, but to stop his (Mr. Whitney's) missionary tour. If Mr. Whitney is such a terrible fellow on the stump he should continue his missionary tour and let the session go hang. He hasn't cut a very large supply of ice in the House. Therefore, since he has become such a terror on the stump or, rather, sawlog, he should stick to the stump.

THE Mail and Empire generously insinuates in connection with Sir Oliver Mowat's acceptance of the Lieutenant governorship of Ontario that he always has his hand in the Government chest. This is a libel. For the past quarter of a century Sir Oliver Mowat has rendered the most important possible services to his country and in so doing has made great financial sacrifices. His professional income would have far exceeded what he has received in salaries either as Premier, or Minister of Justice. When men of superior ability can be found, who, for public and patriotic spirit, make sacrifices for the benefit of their country, it ill becomes any newspaper for petty partizan reasons to insinuate scandalous motives.

IT appears that the Conservatives of Centre Toronto are finding considerable trouble in getting a candidate to oppose Mr. Geo. Bertram, who is the Liberal nominee in the bye-election contest. Messrs. W. R. Brock, A. E. Kemp, C. H. Ritchie, Q. C., and William Laidlaw have all declined the nomination in the Conservative interest. Mr. T. G. Blackstock, of the firm of Beatty, Blackstock and Chadwick, is now, it appears, their only hope, but his business partners are averse to risk the injury to the interests of their business that would result from the remote event of one of their partners entering Parliament. If this is a sufficient reason for a Conservative lawyer declining to enter into politics, the Conservative press should admit that it is a valid excuse for Mr. Lount retiring.

COLLINS IS A CANADIAN.

A Memphis Man Attempted to Kill Him, But Didn't Succeed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 13.—Martin Ensley of Memphis was put on trial yesterday before Judge Hirzel at Clayton, the county seat of St. Louis county, on a charge of assault with intent to kill Charles D. Collins, at Meramec Highlands, last June. He is also charged with stealing $8000 from Collins, and that robbery was the motive for the assault. Collins failed to appear as prosecuting witness.

Charles D. Collins is a Canadian by birth. In the early eighties he was head clerk at the Kennard House, Cleveland. An effort is to be made to locate Collins and compel him to appear in court and prosecute the case.

CONSERVATIVES

Will Put a Candidate in the Field in Centre Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—The Conservatives will contest Centre Toronto. The only question now is who their candidate will be. Mr. T. G. Blackstock refuses to stand, and now the favorites left in the field are A. E. Kemp, W. E. Wellington, C. H. Ritchie, Q. C., William Laidlaw, Q. C., and W. R. Brock. With the party managers of Ward 3 Mr. Wellington is the choice, with Mr. Kemp a close second. Ward 3 Liberal-Conservative Association has passed a strong resolution to the effect that a candidate should be brought out to contest the vacant seat.

A committee was appointed to wait on the proposed standard-bearers and to confer with a similar committee from the Liberal-Conservative Executive of Centre Toronto.

Strong Letters From Reliable People.

PROVE THE WORTH OF PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

The Public Demand for the Great Medicine Fast Increasing.

The proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound have never given to the press of the country any misleading statements and have never exaggerated either the virtue of their wonderful remedy or the astonishing character of the testimonials it has received.

Paine's Celery Compound, the greatest and most marvellous of all blood purifiers and restorers of nerve force and power, and which has a greater public demand than all other combined remedies, has been a blessing to thousands of homes in the Dominion of Canada. This medicine that makes people well receives monthly scores of letters of praise from men and women rescued from disease and death. Every month of the year hundreds are restored to new life, but many being diffident in nature and not wishing to be recognized by the public, refrain from writing for the press.

Paine's Celery Compound being a guaranteed medicine, the public have faith in it. The cures effected for those who in the past were burdened with rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, liver trouble, dyspepsia, heart troubles and blood diseases are in many cases truly wonderful. Success after the doctors fail is the great boast of the world's popular medicine, Paine's Celery Compound.

Mrs. A. Perry, Port Maitland, N.S., writes as follows:—

"For two years my system was all run down, and I suffered more than I can describe from nervous prostration and insomnia. At times I almost lost my reason from severe pain at base of the brain. My husband advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound, which I did, and the effects were wonderful. I soon began to sleep well; the pain left my head; my whole system was strengthened, and I am now enjoying very good health.

"I would cheerfully recommend Paine's Celery Compound to any suffering from like troubles. You have my best wishes for the future success of your excellent remedy."

NEWS FROM SKAGUAY.

Canadian Customs Officers and Police Called Back From Lake Bennett.

SKAGUAY, Alaska, Nov. 2, per steamer Faralton, via Seattle, Nov. 13.—The Canadian Government has recalled a number of customs officers who have been stationed at Tagish House, between Lakes Bennett and Tagish, and the British Columbia authorities have also reduced the number of provincial police who have been stationed at Lake Bennett and Tagish House since the great rush to the Klondike country began last July. Deputy Collector of Customs Fred. W. Davey, who has just returned from Tagish, said to the Associated Press correspondent that duties had been collected during the season on 400 outfits. Each outfit represented from four to five men. The duty collected on each outfit averaged $60, and the total amount collected aggregated $25,000. Duties were levied upon everything belonging or in any way appertaining to an outfit, even the clothes that a man wore not being exempted. Several cases of attempted smuggling were detected, the goods being confiscated in most instances.

Travel down the lakes has practically ceased, and Mr. Davey says that hundreds of people will be caught in the ice and forced to go into winter quarters, where they may happen to be when the ice surrounds them.

TALKED RECIPROCITY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Visit to the White House.

FIXTURES WITH HON. J. A. KASSON.

An Informal Exchange of Views With President McKinley and His Cabinet —British Opinions on the Meeting —The Details to Be Perfected Later — The Sealing Conference.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. — Definite arrangements have been made for taking up the subject of a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada, and to this end meetings have been fixed between Hon. John A. Kasson, who is specially delegated by President McKinley to conduct reciprocity negotiations, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, and Sir Louis Davies, Minister of Marine. This is the result of the long and friendly conference held between Secretary Sherman and Sir Wilfrid. The meeting will be held during the present visit of the Canadian officials, but no exact time for it has yet been fixed. It is not expected that the reciprocity treaty itself can be matured during the present visit of the Canadian officials, the desire being to arrive at some common understanding at this time and then perfect the details earlier.

HON. JOHN A. KASSON,
The New Reciprocity Commissioner of the United States.

The dinner at the White House assisted toward a friendly settlement of pending questions. At its conclusion the guests accompanied the President and his Cabinet advisers to the Blue Room, where a wholly informal exchange of views occurred. The general sentiment prevailed that the present time was opportune for more cordial intercourse between the United States and Canada.

The Propositions in Detail.

During yesterday's Behring Sea conference a series of propositions were presented by the American representatives covering the number and habits of the seals and the extent to which the seal herd had been reduced during the five years in which the Paris award had been in operation. In turn, the British-Canadian representatives presented counter propositions covering their view of the same subjects. These propositions differed considerably, but were not so wide apart as to lead to the belief that they could not be reconciled. It was felt to be desirable to hold no afternoon session, in order that the two sets of propositions might be compared.

Later in the day the British-Canadians submitted some further amendment to the American proposition. It is expected that when the session is resumed to-day the experts will be able to reach a common understanding. The propositions do not embody any diplomatic features, but are solely scientific as to the number, habits and destruction of the seals. After the experts have reconciled their propositions, the diplomats will begin to consider the larger subject of providing an adequate remedy against seal destruction. It is not expected, however, that this stage will be reached before next week, and the first plan of concluding the meeting this week has been given up.

Will Ask Counter Concessions.

It is stated upon good authority that the Canadians will ask a counter concession from the United States in the way of a guarantee for the protection of the northern fisheries in return for anvalteration of the sealing regulations to which they may give their consent. They take the position that the fish along the Canadian and Newfoundland coasts are as much the property of Canada as are the seals on the Pribyloff Islands the property of the United States, and contend that they have as much right to make demands for the protection of the fish against American fishermen as the American Government have to ask the Canadians to agree to further restriction in the matter of killing the seals. Their specific complaint is that while Canadian laws prohibit fishing except within certain seasons, the American laws do not impose corresponding conditions, and that while the taking of the fish can be prohibited during the closed seasons within their territory it cannot be controlled outside of these boundaries. Many of the fish which properly belong within Canadian waters are thus picked up out of season by American fishermen. Sir Wilfrid Laurier will ask the United States to agree to the protection of these fish during the breeding season, as an offset to any seal concession to which Canada may consent.

British Comments

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—"Sir Wilfrid Laurier's doings in Washington excite much attention in the leading journals, which publish daily special New York despatches, reflecting the United States hope that Canada may be induced to strike a bargain which will draw Canada away from England, first, commercially, and, ultimately, politically. Some journals contrast these insinuating approaches of the Washington authorities with Mr. Blaine's bluff rejection of Canada's advances. Canada, the papers say, has shown Uncle Sam that she has a will and way of her own, and instead of talking mightily about the presumptuous colony, he now assumes an attitude of give and take, and comes calmly to business. No one here suggests that after the jubilee fervor and the assurances of Messrs. Laurier and Fielding, Canada would listen to the proposals of discrimination against England, though it is recognized that there is no Downing-street disallowance to prevent such a course if Canada determined on it. What is freely suggested is, that it might not take much in the way of friendly Washington overtures to induce Canada to substitute equal tariff treatment to England and the United States for the policy of pro-British preference, which is now in vogue."

A Triumph Peculiar to Diamond Dyes

Thousands of ladies in Canada now fully understand that dyes prepared for colouring wool goods cannot be successfully for the colouring of cotton and mixed goods.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes have long ago overcome the difficulty, and now their special Cotton colours are chemical triumphs.

The common imitation and soap grease dyes have one all round dye for wool, cotton and mixed goods. The result is that thousands of women are sadly disappointed when they use these crude dyes for colouring all cotton and mixed materials. The users of the imitation package dyes for their money and time get blotchy and muddy colours that cannot stand the first washing.

The sixteen special Cotton colours of Diamond Dyes are wonderful discoveries unknown to makers of common dyes. Every colour is clear, deep, brilliant and fast as a rock. When you are about to dye cotton or mixed goods, ask your dealer for the Diamond Dye Cotton colours, the only reliable cotton colours in the world. Avoid adulterated and soap grease dyes if you would have perfect colours.

Can't You sleep?

Sleeplessness is one of the most frequent symptoms of heart and nerve troubles. It affects all classes and all ages. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills restore the nerves to healthy action and regulate the heart. Mr. Miles Boone, Fredericton, N.B., tells how they work. "I could never rest well, and often woke up with a start, and then sleep left me for the night. These pills gave me almost immediate relief, giving me healthful, refreshing sleep, and I am now strong and well."

EXTREME NERVOUSNESS.

FREQUENTLY BRINGS ITS VICTIM TO THE VERGE OF INSANITY.

The Case of a Young Lady in Smith's Falls Who Suffered Severely—Given up by two Doctors—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Have Restored her Health.

From the Smith's Falls News.

Many cases have been reported of how invalids who had suffered for years and whose case had been given up by the attending physician, have been restored to health and vigour through the now world-famed medicine, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but we doubt if there is one more startling or more convincing than that of Miss Elizabeth Minshull, who resides with her brother, Mr. Thos. Minshull, of this town, an employee in Frost & Wood's Agricultural Works. The News heard of this remarkable case, and meeting Mr. Minshull, asked him if the story was correct. He replied:—"All I know is that my sister had been given up as incurable by two physicians. She is now well enough to do any kind of housework and can go and come as she pleases, and this change has, it is my honest conviction, been brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Minshull then related the following story to the News: "My sister is twenty years of age. She came to Canada from England about ten years ago, and resided with a Baptist minister, Rev. Mr. Cody, at Sorel, Que. In April, of 1896, she took ill and gradually grew worse. She was under a local physician's care for over five months. The doctor said that she was suffering from a complication of nervous diseases, and that he could do little for her. The minister with whom she lived then wrote me of my sister's state of health, and I had her come to Smith's Falls, in the hope that a change and rest would do her good. When she arrived here she was in a very weak state and a local physician was called in to see her. He attended her for some time, but with poor results, and finally acknowledged that the case was one which he could do very little for. My sister had by this time become a pitiable object; the slightest noise would disturb her, and the slightest exertion would almost make her insane. It required someone to be with her at all times, and often after a fit of extreme nervousness she would become unconscious and remain in that state for hours. When I went home I had to take my boots off at the door-step so as not to disturb her. When the doctor told me he could do nothing for her, I consulted with my wife, who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as she knew of several cases where they had worked wonderful cures, and I concluded it would no harm to try them anyway, and mentioned the fact to the doctor. The doctor did not oppose their use, but said he thought they might do her good, as they were certainly a good medicine. In September of last year she began to use the Pills, and before two boxes had been used she began to show signs of improvement. She has continued their use since, and is to day a living testimony of the curative power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." Mr. Minshull has no hesitation in sounding the praises of a remedy that has worked such a change in the health of his sister, and cheerfully gave the News the above particulars, and when asked to do so most willingly signed the following declaration:—

Smith's Falls, Sept. 11th, 1897.

I hereby make declaration that the statements in above as to the condition of my sister, and the benefit she received from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely correct.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

The Norwood Post Office Nearly Burglarized Early This Morning.

(Special to the Examiner.)

NORWOOD, Nov. 13, 1897—At about 1.30 this morning an attempt was made to break into the Norwood Post Office by some parties whose identity, up to the present time, has not been established.

At about that hour Mr. J. B. Pearce, the postmaster, was aroused by some citizens who heard the noise and an attempt was made to capture the burglars, but they took alarm and decamped.

By the use of a chisel they had broken one lock on the post office door and were engaged on the other when disturbed.

No clue has been discovered as yet.

BACK FROM THE WOODS.

More Deer Hunters Return From the North Country.

LEBRUN PARTY.

Mr. Harry LeBrun's hunting party returned from the north yesterday after spending a most pleasant week at "Belle Chasse," the Commodore's cozy lake lodge.

This season Commodore LeBrun had as his guests Messrs. H. M. Allen, R. B. McKee, A. H. Stratton, W. D. Parker, W. H. Bradburn and C. LeBrun.

Fred Hawley was taken along as cook and the Lloyd brothers were engaged as guides.

Hull's yacht was taken for the week and each morning that the party desired to hunt it was utilized to post the different members along the main shore and there they remained until called for, there being no other way to return to camp.

Year before last the LeBrun party had extraordinary luck at Stony lake, but this season they hunted on a ground which had been well shot over the week previous by the Craig party from Fergus in charge of Christy Crowe, and camped at Hazelwood, Mr. R. W. Grubbe's island.

In consequence of this fact, but few deer were shot by the Belle Chasse hunters but they report having had a splendid time. The stormy weather outside was forgotten when seated in front of a roaring fire in the comfortable cottage in the evening.

EASTWOOD PARTY.

The Eastwood party had the best luck probably of any of the campers. There were nine members, and every man is credited with his two deer and so thick were they that the boys state that there would have been but little trouble in getting five apiece. They were camped on Gold Lake, about twenty miles back of Buckhorn and the party was composed of Messrs. Tom Eastwood, Wm. Hall, Wesley Hall, Mark Dobson, Bob Gibbs, Alex Patterson, Lige Windover, Dick Freeborn and Joey Veeder. Jimmy Blaine was the cook and a big testimonial is being gotten up for him by the boys.

Three deer were mostly shot in a single day, but hunting ceased on Wednesday morning as the party had secured their full complement of deer. On the way home they stopped at Buckhorn and dressed the deer, bringing it into town all cut up.

They report partridge and duck as being most plentiful.

THE HOUSEBOAT PARTY.

Mr. R. B. Rogers took a jolly lot of hunters back on the houseboat "Lotus" with him for the last week of the season. The little steam launch "Lorlei" met the party at Lakefield and took them back to Stony Lake, where the commodious and comfortable houseboat was taken possession of by Messrs. R. B. Rogers, Arthur Stevenson, F. S. Spence, Robert Fair, W. H. Hill and Dr. Thompson, of Scotland. The weather was, of course, rough and stormy there as elsewhere during the week and Wednesday was the only pleasant day during the trip. On that day the party went back to Coon Lake, about six miles from Burleigh, and letting out the dogs, were successful in getting three deer. They are unanimous and hearty in speaking of the pleasant time which they enjoyed on the "Lotus."

THE ELEVATOR CAUGHT HIM.

But he Escaped Without Serious Injury—A Severe Squeezing.

A little nephew of Mr. Robt. Neill, from Toronto, who is visiting him, met with an accident yesterday which somewhat unnerved his relatives.

He was in the store and was looking down the elevator shaft expecting the car to come up from below, when it unexpected came from above, catching his head and shoulders between it and the side of the shaft. The squeeze was a hard one and forced the blood from his nostrills, but the car was stopped before he was injured in any way.

Those who witnessed the accident were greatly frightened as they feared they were witnessing a fatality.

Rev. Mr. Benoit will also address a children's meeting in the afternoon, at 3 30, on the subject of "Mission work amongst the little ones in Africa."

Brooke and His Famous Chicago Marine Band.

The famous Chicago Marine Band, the musical attraction to be heard at Bradburn's Opera House, Tuesday night next, is claimed to be the equal of any band in existence, musically and technically, composed of the same high-priced musicians as those of the great Gilmour band years ago, and in some points their superiors. Mr. Brooke is considered to be the best general bandmaster in America, and his fame is fast spreading in all directions. Mr. P. S. Gilmore pointed out Mr. Brooke years ago as a most promising leader in the line of popular success, and played his compositions numerously, as may be remembered from his Manhattan Beach programmes. Brooke has been most enthusiastically endorsed by the great critics of the eastern cities, a recognition of genius which would not be given unless it existed in the very highest degree. He spent ten weeks in the East during the spring of '97, and woke the people up everywhere with such lovely music, as they were free to confess, they had never heard before. Secure your seats early.

Ladies, He is Coming.

When bodily tired, a sleep is refreshing, but when that tired feeling is felt through dissatisfaction with our personal appearance sleep is not the remedy to employ. The hair plays an important part in this respect. One of Prof. Dorenwend's beautiful Banes or Wavy Fronts will soften and refine the expression of the face, and a fine switch to coil or braid will give the head a beautiful shape. By wearing these goods you will feel better and look younger. Call on Prof. Dorenwend at Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, Wednesday, Nov. 17th, and see the foregoing demonstrated. It will cost nothing. Thousands wear these goods with satisfaction. You can be beautified likewise. 6d2w

LACROSSE CLUB SMOKER.

IT WAS LIBERALLY PATRONIZED AND WAS A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Best Programme of the Kind Ever Offered to a Peterborough Public—The Distribution of Pipes And Tobacco.

It is only recently that smoking concerts came into popular favour in Peterborough and of those which have recently been held that under the auspices of the Lacrosse Club in the Opera House last night easily bore off the palm.

The attendance was very large and tobacco and pipes were distributed so freely amongst those present that before the curtain was rung up a blue haze of considerable denseness floated between audience and the stage.

The programme far outstripped anything of the kind which has ever been attempted in Peterborough, being of the variety order, embracing elements which could not fail to please those who enjoy entertainments of this nature. The vocal numbers were all so well rendered that encores followed each and every one and it was the same thing with the instrumental selections. The sparring exhibitions were exciting indeed and the different moves of the boxers were closely watched, each clever manoeuvre calling forth applause and exclamations of encouragement. The other numbers on the programme were also fully contributing to stamping the entertainment as the best local affair ever arranged in the way of a smoker.

The chair was taken by Mr. Alf. Terrill, Secretary of the Lacrosse Club.

The first number was a duet on the banjo and guitar by Messrs. B. D. Jones and F. E. Roper. The former is a new-comer to Peterborough and musical circles will be interested in learning that his work is of the highest order, his command of his instrument being very noticeable, and deserving of special mention. His presence will be a valuable addition to the town's talent. Mr. Roper's playing was, of course, fully up to the mark. He is an old favourite with Peterborough audiences, who have learned to expect something good when his name appears on the programme, and they are never disappointed. An encore had to be responded to and was cheerfully given, as were several more selections during the evening.

Mr. Dan Gordon's deep bass voice greatly pleased the audience as it filled the big hall with its sonorous notes in "Anchored." An enthusiastic encore was responded to and was especially well given.

Messrs. Millies McDonough and Jack Connors' acrobatic feats were something entirely new to Peterborough and the boys deserved the liberal applause which was meted out to them. Their and if the pair continue to improve as fast as they have done recently, they will soon be carried off to go on the professional stage. Their tumbling was quite a revelation to those present, who were unacquainted with the fact that two such clever young acrobats were in their midst.

Mr. Leslie Forbes, who has so quickly placed himself in the front rank of Peterborough vocalists, then delighted the audience with the rendition of "King of the Land and Sea." Many had not heard him before and of course one song was not enough for them. He generously responded to the encore.

A hush of expectation descended on the audience when the first sparring exhibition of the evening was announced. Whilst sparring matches are not an unknown quantity in Peterborough, yet never before have two local men appeared before the public, although that the town possessed some "good ones" was well known. Mr. R. A. Hay, as referee, introduced "the two Jacks"—Mr. Jack McDonough and Mr. Jack McDonough. They both stripped well, showing magnificent muscles and clean healthy skin. Four three minute rounds were sparred and although the at times and the mixups frequent, there was not the slightest evidence of hard feeling, but on the contrary not a sign of ill temper was shown. The men were very evenly matched, what one lacked in reach he made up for in agility and the work was fast and sufficiently exciting to make it difficult for the audience to keep in their seats.

As points were not sparred for no decision was announced in this or any of the other matches.

Mr. M. Dunn's rendering of "Remember Me" lent an additional charm to that beautiful ballad. It was given very sympathetically and those present will not soon forget the refrain.

Mr. James Weir's imitation of a cornet solo was something out of the ordinary and took so well that he had to give two selections. It was hard to conceive that the trumpet-like blasts were produced without the aid of any instrument whatever.

Mr. Sam Hoolihan jumped into public favour before he had taken half a dozen steps in his sand dance, and the audience wouldn't let him go without a repeat. He promises, with practice, to give Danny Simons quite a brush for the honours, which is saying a great deal, as Peterborough people won't acknowledge that Dan on the stage to-day.

Messrs. Will Galley and Will Lewis, who are members of the lacrosse club, kindly consented to "go" four rounds, as the former exhibition of sparring had been so popular. Their work was very pretty to witness as both are tall and have long reaches. Only light sparring was indulged in, but that it pleased the audience mightily was evidenced by the interest which was aroused and the closeness with which each round was watched. Both men were very shifty and put up a pretty fight.

Messrs. Moncrief and Butcher's number was another surprise, as they were not on the programme, but kindly consented to take part after their arrival. Their rendition of the "Broadway Swell and the Bowery Bum" brought down the house.

After further vocal and instrumental selections by Messrs. Forbes, Jones and Roper, the concluding half of the evening's programme was announced, and Messrs Chris. Graham and Anson Henry introduced. As both have the name of being clever with the gloves and as few have seen them at work, all were anxious to see them spar. Their work is entirely different. Ans. has a very long reach, but Chris. is as quick as a flash. No hard hitting whatever was indulged in and it was a pleasure to witness the science which was displayed by the pair on this, their first appearance in public.

During the evening Messrs. W. E. Lech and John Armstrong kindly acted as accompanists.

At a meeting of the Lacrosse Club held directly after the concert a hearty vote of thanks was passed to those who so freely gave their services to assist the boys in the entertainment.

MRS. WELLER'S DEATH.

No Inquest Will be Held—A Lady of Excellent Family.

The following, which will be of interest to many in Peterborough, is taken from the Toronto Star:

Coroner Lynd, of Toronto, on Friday morning withdrew his warrant for an inquest in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Weller, who died at 40 Shannon street, on Wednesday with symptoms of poisoning. Coroner Lynd's investigation showed that Mrs. Weller's death was due to blood poisoning resulting from Bright's disease.

Mrs. Weller was very well known in the city. Her husband was the late Thos. Weller, brother of Judge Weller, of Peterborough, and of the Master-in-Chancery, Judge Weller, of Cobourg. She was also related through marriage to Judge Clarke, of Cobourg. She leaves one son, H. T. M. Weller, secretary of the Ontario Lumber Co., and a daughter, Miss Caroline H. Weller.

FIRST-RATE PHOTOGRAPHY.

Describes the Artistic Work of Mr. R. M. Roy.

Photography involves both art instinct and mechanical process and it requires a combination of the two to secure the best results. These qualities are combined in the highest degree in Mr. R. M. Roy, who six months ago or so purchased the finely equipped studio of Mr. P. H. Green. But this did not satisfy Mr. Roy; he has made large additions to the equipment and accessories and he can now justly boast of having the finest photographic studio and gallery in Central Ontario. This distinction applies to every department of Mr. Roy's studio, but especially to the lighting and cameras. The operating room has the best possible light, and is capable of the necessary adjustments, under Mr. Roy's skill, to produce the most perfect effects. He has the largest and best cameras in the district, in fact a complete equipment of cameras for every sort of work. His backgrounds, to the number of thirty, are of the very best, and are used with splendid effects in the production of all varieties of pictures, particularly groups, which are one of Mr. Roy's specialties. His facilities enable him to take a group of 50 persons from life, as well as to take all kinds of pictures, from the smallest, made, to a life-size photo direct.

In fact the equipment of Mr. Roy's studio is practically perfect, and in addition he has the true artistic spirit, as well as technical skill, necessary to produce artistic pose and a practically perfect picture of any kind, which is not only a likeness but a work of art. His pictures are finished under the hands of Miss Dawson and the results are always satisfactory. Mr. Roy is thoroughly equipped for producing every style of picture known to the art—landscapes, groups, flashlight pictures, portraits, life size, direct or enlargements, or composite groups in the latter, of which his artistic temperament produces exquisite results.

But it impossible in a short space to enumerate what the artistic capabilities are. A visit must be made to his studio, where a delightful surprise will await the visitor. The children's group, the hospital group, the Bugle Band, coloured pictures, etc., are examples, of surprising effect, every figure stands out clear and distinct, yet without a hard line anywhere.

With all the exquisite character of Mr. Roy's work, his prices are the same as for the ordinary commercial photographic work obtained elsewhere. The public wanting the best possible photographic pictures (a timely hint for the holiday season) should visit his studio, Hunter street, Peterborough.

THANKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The members of Maple Leaf Lodge and Queen's Own Lodge of Loyal True Blues, desire to sincerely thank their many friends and sympathisers, who so generously gave their services and otherwise contributed towards our entertainment, held on Nov. 5th last.

We also beg to express our regret that owing to our hall not being sufficiently large many of our friends who desired to attend and spend the evening with us, were unable to gain admittance.

Respectfully,

FRASER MISSION BAND CONCERT.

The St. Paul's Church Branch Provides a Programme of Unusual Merit.

The Fraser Mission Band concert took place last evening in the Sunday school room of St. Paul's church. There was an excellent attendance and standing room was at a premium.

Mr. F. H. Pope made a very genial chairman. In his opening remarks he welcomed all to the entertainment, which, he stated, was only the initiatory one of a series which is to be held. The chairman also said he supposed there were some present who did not know what the Fraser Mission Band was or its object. He explained that it was an old institution, and its object was to interest the children in Missionary work. As a result of their efforts in this direction nearly all the Presbyterian children, and some older people have become interested in it.

He said the programme was, of necessity, of a missionary character in order to be in keeping with the meeting. All the programme was furnished, with one or two exceptions, by local talent which. Mr. Pope said, "was the best in the world."

Miss Alice Rogers opened with a piano solo in her usual excellent style. Master Holden Blackwell followed with a recitation on the knighting of Sir Wilfrid Laurier by Queen Victoria and setting forth the noble knight in glowing colours. The audience demanded an encore which was accorded by the young elocutionist. Miss Noble then gave a comic song and the eagerness of the audience for an encore showed how much her singing was appreciated. Miss Webster gave "Nearer my God to Thee" as done by deaf mutes in a very excellent manner. Miss Roxborough's well rendered solo which followed was well received, as was also the instrumental solo which was given by Miss Helen Dennistoun. "Douglas Gordon" was very well sung indeed by Mr. J. Browne. Miss Alice Roger gave another instrumental solo, which was much appreciated. The reading of "Pat's Letter" by Mr. C. N. Brown took well, and he kindly responded to an encore. Representations of seven nations—Armenia, India, Turkey, Labrador, Hindoostan, Japan and Greece—by seven young ladies, was well given. Mr. J. Brown again delighted the audience with another solo. An exciting story entitled "The Cattle Thief" was then recited by Master Holden Blackwell, and he kindly responded to an encore. In her second selection as well as her first, Miss Helen Dennistoun proved herself to be an able pianist. Miss Noble kept the attention of her audience remarkedly well, especially in her last selection entitled "The Alabama Coon," and responded to an encore. The second vocal solo of Miss Roxburgh's was as well received as the first, and she very obligingly responded to an encore.

The meeting was closed by singing "God Save the Queen."

NIGHT SCHOOL CLASSES.

The Advantages Offered by the Peterborough Business College.

Unimproved opportunities are a source of regret to thousands. This applies especially to young men who neglected or failed to improve early chances of receiving an education, and find themselves fighting the battle of life with an inferior educational equipment, and others who never had the chance, who had to become earners when they should have still been learners. To all such as these or to others who from any reason feel themselves at a disadvantage from lack of education, a good night school is a godsend, as well as to those who are anxious to pursue special lines and to rise in their trade or calling.

Nearly all persons of any of these classes are compelled to labour during the day time, and a night school gives the chance for improving their minds and better fitting them for advance in life. The young man who, instead of spending his evenings in debauchery or even comparatively frivolous amusements, takes advantage of an opportunity for improving his mind is sure to rise in his calling and will secure not only the respect and confidence of his employer and increased salary or wages, but will also, if the chance presents, fit himself for embarking into business on his own account, with good prospects of success.

To all such persons the

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE,

presents unequalled facilities for those desirous of securing the very best instruction available in the town in the matter of supplementary education. One of the chief merits of the night school of the Peterborough Business College is that individual instruction is given with the greatest attention to the special individual needs of the student. It is impossible that a night school class can be graded; individual instruction is the only way to secure the best results.

With the class of students that attend a night school practical subjects are demanded. Therefore special attention is given to such practical subjects as arithmetic, writing, spelling, book keeping, shorthand, typewriting, etc, which are taught by experts qualified by special training and long practical experience in imparting a knowledge of these subjects.

The classes are conducted three evenings a week and two hours are devoted to the lessons, and the fee is not only a small one absolutely, but, considering the great advantages, an exceedingly small one. A student may take any or all of the subjects taught.

We strongld urge every young man who feels the need of improving his educational equipment for the duties of his position and with a view of improving his future chances, to take advantage of the chance offered at the night school of the Peterborough Business College. We can heartily recommend this night school, which guarantees to any one who will do his share, to give the very best results.

OBITUARY.

The Late John B. Fowler, of Smith

Yesterday Mr. John B. Fowler, a life-long resident of Smith, passed away at the Fowler homestead, lot 1, in the 2nd concession of Smith, at the age of 67 years. Deceased was a native of Smith township, in which he had lived all his life. He was a son of the late David Fowler, who came from Scotland to Canada, and was one of the first settlers of the township. At the time of his death Mr. J. B Fowler succeeded to the homestead. The deceased gentleman was married 45 years ago to a daughter of the late Robert Ivison, Miss Sarah Ivison, who died about eight years years ago. Mr. Fowler leaves behind him one son, Mr. John H. Fowler, and four daughters, Mrs. Jos. Madill, North Monaghan, Mrs. Alex. McIntosh, Peterborough Mrs. Wm. Dyell, Emily, and Mrs. George Emilson, Smith. The deceased was a Presbyterian in religion and worshipped at the church at Fowlers' Corners, which took its name from the family. He was a Liberal in politics and enjoyed in a very high degree the respect and esteem of the community in which he lived. The funeral takes place on Sunday, Nov. 14th, at 11 o'clock a.m., from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

The Late Hiram Fredenburg.

Mr. Hiram Fredenburg died at 324 Downie street, Thursday, of an affection of the heart, after a long illness. Deceased was born in Murray township, near Trenton, 66 years ago. Forty years ago he removed to Peterborough, where he has since resided. He leaves behind him a family of eight children. The funeral takes place from the late residence, 324 Downie street, on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

MR. WHITNEY'S SCHOOL POLICY

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—As you inserted in your issue of the 9th inst., a communication making some reference to a letter of mine which recently appeared in the Mail and Empire, you will find the said letter attached for publication in the EXAMINER.

Requesting that it be published not later than this week, I remain,

Yours, etc.,
J. W. GARVIN.

Peterborough, Nov. 12 h, 1897.

To the Editor of the Mail and Empire:

SIR,—As some confusion apparently exists in the editorial minds of Liberals re the educational policy of Mr. Whitney, and as they doubtless have no desire to mi-represent him or to mislead their readers, kindly grant me space in which to state what seems clearly to be the provincial system of education as outlined in their public utterances, which the leader of the Opposition and his colleagues are desirous of establishing in Ontario:

(1) The "non-political" (i.e., without the Government responsibility) system of Dr. Ryerson was one extreme; that of Mr. Crooks and Mr. Ross, with the Minister of Education a member of the Provincial Cabinet and absolutely controlling his department, the other or opposite extreme. It is believed by the Opposition leader and his associates that a comprehensive plan of education, combining the best characteristics of the two former systems—a happy medium—can be established and developed which to the general public will give the highest satisfaction.

(2) It is desirable to retain a responsible Minister of Education, who will represent the teaching profession in the Legislative Assembly and fittingly advocate the requisite legislation pertaining thereto, etc.; it is equally desirable that the regulation of examinations, the appointment of examiners, the authorization and publication of text-books, the filling of vacancies in the staffs of provincial colleges, the provincial inspectors, etc., be not subject to the control of the Minister, who may at any time be unduly influenced by the pressure of political friends.

(3) The Minister of Education and the Government should certainly be held responsible for all legislation placed upon the statute books; and Mr. Whitney and his colleagues will not shrink from such responsibility. But they believe that a council of representative educationists, free to act as practical experience and best judgment dictate, should be invested with certain powers, such as those above specified.

(4) In the Educational Council the Provincial Cabinet, the staff of the University of Toronto, the teachers of High Schools and Collegiate Institutes, of Public Schools and of separate Schools, the Public School inspectors, and the trustee boards shall each have representation.

(5) The Minister, by virtue of his office, shall be president of the Council; the other members shall consist of experienced and practical educationists, elected periodically (officials permanently appointed by the Council not being eligible) by the several branches of the profession. The number to be elected, the method of election, the remuneration, if any, apart from necessary expenses, etc., are matters of detail not difficult to evolve.

(6) While the council shall be given, under the Education Act, certain prerogatives, as those already indicated, the recommendations pertaining to legislation shall be advisory only, the full responsibility as aforestated resting upon the Minister and the Government. It is readily seen, however, that this advisory function will be to the Minister a most valuable aid.

(7) The retention of patronage in connection with the University of Toronto was for political purposes only, and the result has not been good. The revolt of 700 students three years ago and the dismissal of one of the best teachers and most thorough scholars in the institution are still fresh in the memory of the Ontario electorate. The University Senate, consisting of sixty leading educators, men with no political axes to grind, are surely better qualified to appoint professors and lecturers than any Minister of Education can possibly be.

(8) As but a small percentage of the pupils of Ontario attend the higher institutions of learning, the primary schools—the colleges of the many—should ever receive the earnest and thoughtful consideration of those in authority. The tendency should constantly be towards more highly cultured and skilful teachers, better facilities and that practical education which best fits for the battle of life. Until recently, rural, and many village pupils, who had passed the "entrance examination," had either to attend the secondary schools in towns and cities at a heavy expense or there and then end their scholastic career. Numbers of these boys and girls were but ten to fifteen years of age inclusive. To remove this grievance, simplicity has given place to complexity, and besides the "entrance" we now have the "Public school leaving" examinations, and the "extension classes" preparing candidates for the teaching profession.

(9) The present Minister's politico-educational system has dragged the profession down to the level of machine mediocrity. Under Ryerson there was some chance for genius to develop; but under Ross the numerous uniform examinations have enslaved teachers and pupils, and genius never did bloom or blossom in bondage.

There should be but one uniform "Public school leaving" or "entrance" examination, and in the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes no departmental examination of lower rank than the "junior leaving" or "University matriculation." The present multiplex method necessarily adds to the number of departmental examinations, imposes too severe a strain on teachers and pupils, and renders excessive on parents and guardians the burden of fees.

Such a policy or system as the above is that of statesmen who place purity of administration and the good of the many before the personal and selfish aggrandizement of the few. Such men should receive the hearty support, not only of the teaching profession, but of all patriotic and public-spirited citizens.

Yours, etc.,
J. W. GARVIN.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well-known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for by their action on the liver blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

ALARMING!

The frequency of Heart Troubles gives Collingwood people no need for alarm. Its ravages can be stopped.

"For a number of years," says Mrs J.W. Gardiner, Napier St., Collingwood, Ont., "I have been afflicted with nervousness and weakness of the heart. The symptoms constantly became more distressing and alarming as the disease advanced. I had violent palpitation and fluttering of the heart which naturally made me weak. My sleep was disturbed with frightful dreams and my mind wandered at night. In addition to this my blood was much impoverished, causing sleeplessness and fatigue. I became thin and lacked bodily vigor. Dizziness and weak eyesight, blurred vision, etc., added to my distress, and at times I found it difficult to breathe after slight exertion and felt always tired and weary.

"At Mr. Carpenter's drug store I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in March last, and from that time began to get better and gain in strength and weight. By their remarkable tonic action they brought my entire system to health and strength again, gave me restful, refreshing sleep, enriched my blood and restored vitality, and in every way conferred great benefit upon me. I cannot say too much in favor of this great medicine as a tonic for all forms of physical weakness caused by wrong action of the heart or nerves."

HOT FROM THE WIRES.

General Fitzhugh Lee, U.S. Consul-General to Cuba, has sailed for Havana.

President McKinley has appointed Charles Page Bryan of Illinois to be envoy extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to China.

The London Daily News argues that the concession of a preferential tariff to England will give Sir Wilfrid Laurier a powerful argument in favor of renewed reciprocity with the United States.

The foundry of Flagg, Ont., owned by Macpherson & Co., was burned yesterday. The origin of the fire is a mystery, as the place had been closed for several weeks. The property was fairly well insured.

The schooner Groton of Detroit, laden with coal for London, Ont., foundered at anchor, 12 miles west of Port Stanley, Thursday night. The crew took to the yawl and drifted down the lake, being rescued by Capt. Berry and crew of the life boat station at Port Stanley.

RICHER THAN KLONDIKE.

Is the Strike Made by J. D. Ellis, of Niagara Falls—Costs Less and Gives Greater Returns Than Does Gold Mining on the Yukon.

Niagara Falls, Ont. Nov. 8—James D. Ellis, of this place, is convinced that he has made a richer strike than has any owner or prospector in the Klondike gold region. He is confident that the returns for his investment are better than can be got on the Yukon and that the lead will never play out. And thousands of persons on this continent heartily agree with him. Here is his story: "I have, for six years, suffered intensely from diabetes. I felt that I could hardly get along, but could get no relief. In despair I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was amazed at the benefit it gave. I have used three boxes, and am perfectly cured."

Cure for Hydrophobia.

There is a very simple method of curing hydrophobia and that form of epilepsy which is so frequently mistaken for it, which cure is known as the Buisson treatment, and is effected by forcing the poison through the pores of the skin by profuse perspiration. In cases where convulsions have already taken place, says a correspondent of The Boston Transcript, the patient should enter a vapor bath, with temperature from 127 degrees to 140 degrees Fahrenheit, and remain there until all symptoms of hydrophobia have disappeared. Where these baths are used as a preventive, one should be taken on each of seven consecutive days. This remedy is so simple that if no Russian or Turkish bath can be had it is quite possible to gain the desired result in any room by excluding the air as much as possible, placing patient in a chair over a lighted oil stove, on which is a pan of hot water, and, having wrapped all in blankets, allowing the patient to sweat out the poison.

Sunstroke

A new theory of sun-stroke has recently been expounded and is of particular interest at this season, when the source of the world's heat is getting in its hottest work. This theory is that what is called sunstroke is in fact the creation within the blood of the victim of a specific poison that acts upon the nerve centres or ganglia and so affects the brain and the other organs of the body and often causes death. The poison is created by a sort of chemical reaction and is thought to be made possible by certain conditions of the kidneys. The intense heat is, of course, the prime cause of the reaction, and is aided by injudicious use of foods and drinks. The next effort will be to secure, if possible, a sample of the poison element itself in order to analyse it, and perhaps to find an antidote. The recent remedies for sunstroke are practically confined to efforts to reduce the temperature of the body of the victim.—Washington Star.

The proper way to build health is to make the blood rich and pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

There is Hope.

There is hope for those who suffer from biliousness and liver complaint. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver and restores health and vigor. Here is the proof.

Dear Sirs.—I was troubled with biliousness and sick headache, and could not get no relief until I tried B.B.B. I have taken four bottles and am completely cured. I recommend it as the best cure for all liver troubles. Mrs. George Haddow, Walkerton, Ont.

CHLOROFORM AND BURGLARY.

Medical Discussion on the Possibility of Narcotizing Sleeping Persons.

A curious story is reported in the lay press which involves an important medical question. Some burglars are said to have entered a dwelling-house at Clayton-le-Moors, Accrington, and to have chloroformed the inhabitants as a preliminary measure to successfully robbing the house. The alleged victims of the outrage were a grown-up son of the householder, two adult daughters, and two young children. The burglars first entered the room in which the girls and children were sleeping, chloroformed them all, and without disturbing their slumbers, then went to the room of the youth, and dealt with him in the same way. In the morning the young man awakened and complained of "feeling very ill," while the sisters did not awaken until recalled to mundane existence through the efforts of a medical man. All professed they did not know anything about the burglars. It is not our business to discuss the inherent improbability of the story. Whether five persons could be reduced to anesthetic sleep by burglars using chloroform in such a way as not to disturb their quiet slumbers is the matter which interests the profession.

Dolbeau tested the possibility of chloroforming sleeping persons, and found that, even using the greatest care, he only succeeded in ten cases out of twenty nine, so even under the most favorable conditions Dolbeau succeeded in chloroforming without awakening the patient in about 34 per cent of the cases. Cipriani succeeded with two children, and generally it is admitted that young persons are more easily chloroformed during sleep than adults. In the well-known case of Richard Smith, who was found in bed murdered while his wife slept beside him, the woman's defense was that she had been drugged with chloroform, and was not a particeps criminis. Quinby's evidence in support of this plea was that he had succeeded in three experiments in producing chloroform narcosis during natural sleep in one adult and two children. In the early days of the use of chloroform great fears were entertained lest the drug should become an important item in the armamentarium of every criminal who aspired to distinction in his calling; but as was pointed out by Snow and others, chloroform-giving involves too much skill and expertness if a satisfactory result is to be obtained for its use to be possible for the purposes of crime. In the case before us it seems incredible that several persons in one room could be severally chloroformed without disturbance of their own or their neighbor's slumbers, and, further, that the narcosis could be so profound that in the case of the girls it should persist for hours after the administration had been discontinued, and finally, require medical aid before it could be overcome. Maury, in his evidence given in 1871, before the court at New Bloomfield, Perry County, Pa., said he had tried to chloroform six persons during their sleep, and all had resisted. The bulk of experience goes to show that, except in the case of infants, it is most exceptional to succeed in chloroforming persons without awakening them from sleep.—British Medical Journal.

Singular Signs.

Of unwittingly ludicrous or humorous signs there are plenty. A tinsmith near Exeter, England, has a sign which reads: "Quart measures of all shapes and sizes sold here." At a market town in Rutlandshire the following placard was affixed to the shutters of a watchmaker who had decamped, leaving his creditors mourning: "Wound up and the mainspring broke." Equally apposite was one in Thomaston, Ga. On one of the principal streets the same room was occupied by a physician and a shoemaker—the disciple of Galen in front, while he of St. Crispin's trade worked in the rear. Over the door hung the sign: "We repair both sole and body." On the windows of a London coffee-room there appeared the notice: "This coffee-room removed up-stairs till repaired." The proprietor of the place was not an Irishman, though the framer of the notice over a French burying ground, "Only the dead who live in this parish are buried here," must have been.

One may see in the windows of a confectioner in Fourth avenue, New York, "Pies Open All Night." A Bowery placard reads: "Home-Made Dining-Rooms, Family Oysters," while a West Broadway restauranteur sells "Home-Made Pies, Pastry, and Oysters," and still another caterer, on East Broadway, retails "Fresh Salt Oysters and Lager Beer." "Boots Polished Inside," is a frequent sign in New York, and on Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, there is a "Stationary Library;" and the latter is really a circulating library, and the word "stationary" adorns one window and "library" the other. Philadelphia has a sign reading, "Ho Made Pies!" and a barber's shop in the same city bears this inscription on its window: "G. Washington Smith, tonsorial abattoir."—Demorest's Magazine.

White and Gold Dinner.

White and gold china enables one to set a lovely table for a white and gold tea or a white and gold dinner, using gold colored flowers and gold-colored ribbons for decorations. The ices may be yellow, the cake, icings and trimmings may be of the same hue, and tall lamps, with yellow shades, will throw a soft, golden light over the festive scene. Beautiful tea and dinner gowns are made in white and gold, and if the hostess has golden hair and a pure white complexion, she will look like a fairy princess at a magic banquet.

How to Curl Feathers.

Feathers may easily be curled, if only a little time and care can be devoted to them. A simple process is as follows: Have a large kettle with steam pouring out of the spout. Hold the feathers in this steam for a few moments, and then with a blunt knife (preferably a metal paper cutter) curl each separate plume, and when complete, hold the feather in front of the fire to keep the stiffness in. Professional dressers do little else, but, of course, they are more expert than a mere amateur.

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Nervousness, sleeplessness and pain harrass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription was made for her. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

The Life-giving Pines.

The breath of the pines is the breath of life to the consumptive. Norway Pine Syrup contains the pine virtue, and cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness and all throat and lung troubles.

Cross-Breeding Experience.

Seeing a request for experience in the Jersey-Ayrshire cross, to get dairy cows, the writer would give his experience made fifteen years ago in Saratoga County, N.Y., where a registered Jersey bull was used on full blooded Ayrshire cows. The produce of this cross in nine cases out of ten produced the best possible cows for the dairy, they were nearly of perfect dairy form, and deeply heavy milkers of rich milk. But in another case where an Ayrshire sire was used on Jersey cows no improvement could be seen in the quantity of milk, while the quality was much less, but, strange to say, these cross bred animals, when bred together, produced animals of very little use for anything, either milk or beef, while the cross bred heifers bred to a pure Jersey bull was fully as good as the pure Jerseys for rich milk, with a great improvement in quantity over their grandams. As is well known this is the usual experience of crossing breeds. The first cross is all right, but the second must always be to a pure male of one of the original cross. Do not, if you wish to improve, try one of the cross bred males and never after having used one of the breeds twice go back to the other as you will surely be improving backward. Or to speak more plainly, after having bred the cross-bred Jersey-Ayrshire heifers to a Jersey bull, do not breed the produce of this cross to an Ayrshire bull, but keep on the same line, using only Jersey males. So while in all cases the first cross of the two breeds is generally a good one, it is necessary to keep up the herd, that a herd of pure female of one or the other breed must be kept, or in a few years you have run into all one breed.

The same thing applies to swine; for the best lot of fattening hogs the writer ever bred were a straight cross of Berkshires and Poland Chinas of registered stock, or well known pure stock on both sides, but in order to keep up the stock year after year, it is necessary to have a herd of pure sows of one or the other breed and get a pure male each year.—W. A. Hoyt, in Hoard's Dairyman.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

TRADE MARK.

This is to certify that I, James Ross, Tollgate Keeper, of the Town of Woodstock, Ont., have been a sufferer from indigestion and a very weak stomach for a number of years, and have tried a great many medicines of different kinds, but could only obtain temporary relief for a short time, but after using one bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic I could perceive a great difference. My indigestion was better and my stomach was much stronger than before, and I found I had gained several pounds in flesh, where I was weak and thin in flesh before. I think I used nine or ten bottles in all, and I am now a healthy man, but still I do not want to be without the medicine in the house, and I procure one or two bottles every year, and I can truthfully recommend Sloan's Indian Tonic to others suffering from the same complaint.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

THE JOURNEY.

I think of death as some delightful journey
That I shall take when all my tasks are done,
Though life has given me a heaping measure
Of all best gifts, and many a cup of pleasure,
Still better things await me further on.

This little earth is such a merry planet,
The distance beyond it so supreme,
I have no doubt that all the mighty spaces
Between us and the stars are filled with faces
More beautiful than any artist's dream.

I like to think that I shall yet behold them,
When from this waiting-room my soul has soared.
Earth is a wayside station, where we wander,
Until from out the silent darkness yonder
Death swings his lantern and cries, "All aboard!"

I think death's train sweeps through the solar system
And passes suns and moons that dwarf our own,
And close beside us we shall find our dearest,
The spirit friends on earth we held the nearest,
And in the shining distance God's great throne.

Whatever disappointment may befall me
In plans or pleasures in this world of doubt,
I know that life at worst can but delay me,
But no malicious fate has power to stay me
From that grand journey on the Great Death Route.

NEWS FROM ST. KITTS.

E. J. Musson, jr., Sings the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills—He was Bedridden for Months and his Strength was Sapped by Diabetes—He Found his Cure in Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Catharines, Nov. 1.—For several months E. J. Musson, jr., one of the most capable painters in the city, was confined to his bed, a sufferer from that painful disease—diabetes. The complaint sapped his strength, fed upon his muscles, and reduced him to a skeleton almost. Then, providentially, he heard of what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done in similar cases. He bought six boxes. This is what he says of their work:—"After using the third box I could lift light weights. I used the other three boxes and now I am well. I have tried many other medicines and consulted many doctors. All gave me poor encouragement. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Temperature of Food.

The temperature of the things we eat and drink is hardly ever noticed; still, it is of considerable importance that food or drink should be of the right temperature. For healthy people hot articles of food should be served at a temperature about half that of the blood, but for infants it is imperative that milk should be given at blood-heat. Drinks intended to quench thirst are about right at a temperature of from 50 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Drink or food at extremely high or extremely low temperatures may do damage, and are most harmful when swallowed rapidly. Drinking water is best taken at 55 degrees, seltzers and soda water should be slightly warmed and beer should not be cooled to more than 60 degrees; red wine is best at 65 degrees; white wine at 50; champagne is the one liquor which is best at the lowest temperature allowed, but should not be taken colder than 45 degrees. Coffee and tea should not be taken hotter than from 105 to 120 degrees; milk is considered cold at 60 degrees, when it will be found to have the best aroma.

Practise Economy

Is buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

SUNLIGHT ON THE TOOLS

Temper of Metal Should Be Kept in a Dark Place.

Many farmers, carpenters and practical mechanics do not know the best effect of sunlight and moonlight upon edge tools. Knives, drills, scythes, axes and saws assume a blue cast if they are exposed for some time to the heat and heat of the sun and the sharp edge disappears, and the tools are rendered useless until they are retempered.

Retail dealers and peddlers, for show purposes, expose tools for days together to the light of the sun, and a tool from a good maker, a good temper and in good condition becomes thus unserviceable.

The bad condition of the tool is blamed to the maker, and attributed to bad material or to inferior workmanship, when the fault lies entirely with the careless handling. Purchasers should be careful in selecting tools and avoid those which have been thus exposed or which show the cast of color which comes from such exposure. Edge tools when not in use should be kept in a cool, dark place to have them retain good temper and condition.

The mark of the best maker cannot insure against loss of condition by your carelessness in this matter. Moonlight has also a similar prejudicial effect.

Crosscut saws can be put out of shape in a single night by exposure to the moonlight, and circular saws after a term of such exposure may need rehammering to set them right and will lose much of their temper. This applies to the tempers and grades of steel to carry edges, but mild steels are not materially affected.

"Champagnized" Milk.

M. Cassius has patented a process, says Cosmos, for the sterilization of all fermentible liquids by means of compressed oxygen. To sterilize liquids, such as wine, milk, beer, liqueurs, etc., it suffices to subject these liquids in a closed vessel to a current of gaseous oxygen, proportioning the volume of gas to the quality and quantity of liquid to be sterilized. All liquids thus treated can be preserved indefinitely.

The inventor applies this process to milk, which, according to him, can thus be kept fresh indefinitely. If the results correspond with the inventor's hopes the discovery is a valuable one, for hitherto the preservation of pure milk is a problem that has been solved very imperfectly.

In any case the process enables us to prepare a very healthful and agreeable drink, "champagnized" milk.

The milk to be champagnized must first be skimmed to prevent the formation of clots during the process. To it the necessary sweetening is added and the desired flavor, and the whole is placed in a closed vessel. The sterilization is then accomplished by means of a current of oxygen gas, and then the champagnization by the introduction into the vessel of the necessary amount of carbonic-acid gas. The drink thus prepared is extremely refreshing, healthful and of an exquisite flavor and adds to these advantages that of keeping fresh indefinitely.

Glass Engraving by Wind.

Devices for doing work with compressed air are brought to a state bordering closely on perfection at the Huntington paint shop; in fact, it may be said that there are few kinks with air that are unknown in that shop, as it is the policy to do everything possible by means of that useful agent.

In glass ornamentation with air and sand silver foil is used largely in transferring figures to the glass. The foil is first placed on the plain glass; a perforated pattern is then laid on the foil, and the latter is trimmed with a knife to the lines of the desired ornamentation. A coat of paraffine is then placed on the trimmed surface, and also on the silver foil; after which a second trimming is necessary to remove the paraffine outside of the pattern; this operation then leaves the glass bare outside of the required figures. The glass is then ready for the sand blast, three feet high and 18 inches wide, which constitutes a part of the permanent sand blast outfit.

Coal Slack as a Filtering Medium.

Experiments made in England have demonstrated the fact that coal slack is an excellent filtering material for dirty water, and practical application of this discovery has been made in the construction of the sewage filtering plant of the city of Wolverhampton, England. This filter consists of a bed of coal, the first six inches being of coal nuts, in sizes of about one-half-inch cube, blended with a layer of one-quarter-inch cube coal, above which is a nine-inch layer of one-inch cube coal, upon which is placed another layer of one-sixteenth-cube particles one foot nine inches in thickness. Upon the top of this is placed another layer of coal dust two feet thick, mixed with such coal as will pass through a three-sixteenths mesh. The tank effluent is discharged continuously upon this filter for a period of twelve hours. Twelve hours are allowed for aeration. Remarkable results are said to have been obtained, 98 per cent. of the solid matter being removed.

Twinkling of the Stars.

A discovery of much interest to astronomers has been made by Dr. L. L. J. See, who is in charge of Lowell Observatory, at Flagstaff, Arizona. The cause of the twinkling of the stars has always been a mystery, none of the theories advanced having stood the test of thorough investigation. Dr. See has found the cause to be the presence in the atmosphere of innumerable little air currents or waves, which dart through the air and cause a break in the light from the star. The result is that to a beholder on the earth the star has the familiar appearance of twinkling. These little air currents can be distinguished through the twenty-four inch telescope very plainly on nights when this twinkling is observed most by removing the eyepiece of the instrument. This discovery has been called to the attention of the Royal Astronomical Society of London.

THE LOVE LIGHTS OF HOME

The bird to the nest and the bee to the comb,
When the night from the heavens falls dreary,
And Love to the light in the windows of home—
The light of the love of my dearie.
And Love in the light like a swallow in flight,
When the storm blows the stars from the blue of the night;
And a kiss from the red rose, a smile from the white,
In the gardens that bloom for my dearie!

The ships in the harbor from over the foam,
When the way has been stormy and weary,
And Love to the light in the windows at home—
The light of the love of my dearie.
And Love to the light, like the bloom from the blight
When the spring sun weaves wonders of red and of white,
And the darkness of winter is kissed to the bright
In the gardens that bloom for my dearie.

The bird to the nest and the bee to the comb,
And never a night shall fall dreary
While the lights in the beautiful windows at home
Are lit by the love of my dearie!
And Love to the light, like a bird from the night,
Where angels in lilies Love's litanies write,
And a kiss from the crimson, a smile from the white,
In the gardens that bloom for my dearie!

A MOTHER SPEAKS.

Tells how Dr. Chase Saved her Boy.

His Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a Precious Boon.

MRS. A. T. STEWART, Folgar, Ont., says: "From the 7th of January to the 30th, we were up night and day with our two little boys, employing doctors and trying every kind of patent medicine we ever heard of. At this time we did not know of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine until after the 30th, when our youngest darling died in spite of all we could do. Sometime in February the doctor told us our other boy couldn't live till spring. We were about discouraged, when I got my eye on an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Syrup.

"I tried at once to get some, but none of the dealers here had it. A neighbor who was in Kingston managed to purchase two bottles which he brought straight to us, and I believe it was the means of saving our only boy.

"One teaspoonful of the Syrup stopped the cough so he could sleep till morning. Our boy is perfectly well now, and I would not be without Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house."

CATARRH! F. F. C. C.

Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR CATARRH AND COLD IN THE HEAD.

This effective remedy for Catarrh and Cold in the head is a fume inhalent—it goes direct to the seat of disease and gives relief in a marvellously quick time. It will cure the slightest cold in the head almost instantly, and if faithfully and persistently used it will cure the most stubborn and long standing cases of chronic catarrh of the head—it never fails to do its work—it is easily applied—it is harmless to use—you simply take a small portion of the remedy in the palm of the hands, rub the hands together, then partly open them and inhale the fumes from the remedy into the throat and nose, and rub a little of the remedy on sides of the nose and temples.

Dear Sir,—I have been using catarrh remedy of different kinds for the last fifteen years, but find "Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure" the best I have used, and have no hesitation in recommending it to any one troubled with catarrh or cold in the head.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in giving my testimonial to the efficacy and value of Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure. I was induced through a friend to give it a trial for catarrhal cold in the head; the result was marvellous. I cannot speak too highly of its merits. I can faithfully recommend it to anyone troubled with chronic catarrh or cold in the head.

Yours truly,

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

OTTAWA NOTES.

A Budget of Interesting Matters From the Dominion Capital—The Allan Line Steamship Subsidy.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The Department of Inland Revenue is considering the advisability of of allowing the use, under certain restrictions, of spring scales or balances. There has recently been great improvement made in the mechanism of these scales, but in any case they would require to be verified more frequently than the ordinary balances, and the fee would therefore be somewhat greater.

The Fenian Raid Medals.

The Canada Gazette contains notice that applications for Imperial service medals for the Fenian raid of 1866 should be addressed to the general officer commanding the troops in Canada at Halifax.

The Pardon of George Alger.

With reference to the pardoning of George Alger, who was concerned in an insurance conspiracy, the Department of Justice makes this statement: George Alger was sentenced when the country was greatly excited over the Hendershott murder, which was done to get the insurance. The case of Alger, however, was very much different. He had his wife, who was dying of consumption, insured. But no fraud was committed, as no insurance money was obtained by Alger. The sentence was given more as an example than anything else. It has now been considered that Alger has suffered sufficiently for his misrepresentation, and that justice has been done in the matter. So he has been released. The report of the trial judge was favorable to this.

The St. Lawrence Buoys.

The officers of the Department of Public Works have been complaining for some time past that the buoys in the River St. Lawrence have not been properly placed by the Marine Department and the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal. Sometime ago buoy was dredged out of the river. Last evening Mr. James Howden, Superintendent of Dredging, telegraphed the Public Works Department that he found three buoys a long way out of position. One was one hundred feet, another seventy-five feet, and the third sixty from where they ought to be. Mr. Coste, the Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, has asked Mr. Alexander Robertson, Secretary of the Harbor Commission, to warn the pilots.

General Notes.

Hon. William Paterson leaves to examine the port of Niagara Falls this evening.

Hon. J. I. Tarte leaves for Montreal today, going to Toronto on Monday, and to New York to examine the harbor on Wednesday.

An immense amount of work is being entailed on the Militia Department by the coming in force of the new regulation making the retirement compulsory on reaching a certain age. The effects will be seen in the next General Order that is issued.

There will be some important cases argued before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council next week. Amongst them will be the appeal of the New York and Ottawa line to come into Ottawa over the C.A.R., and another very interesting case in Montreal and Toronto will be the question of the crossings of steam and electric railways in cities.

SCALY SKIN HUMOR

Body, Head, and Arms Covered With Spots Like Drops Of Mortar.

Skin Came Off in Layers. Doctors Useless. Suffered for a Year Without Relief.

Almost Given Up Hope. Cured in 8 Weeks by CUTICURA. Skin Nice and Clear as a Baby's.

I was afflicted with an obstinate skin disease, called by some doctors Eczema and others Psoriasis. My body, head, and arms were covered with spots like drops of mortar, and which came off in layers of dry scales. I suffered for over a year without relief, and consulted several doctors but without aid, and I had almost given up hope, as my case was a bad one. I happened to see an advertisement about CUTICURA REMEDIES and got them, took them according to directions, and in eight weeks I was as well as ever. I consider myself cured, for my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the CUTICURA REMEDIES have done for me.

GEO. REABURN, Hanover, Ontario, Can.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are beyond all doubt the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. They are no long-drawn-out expensive experiment. A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, a single application of CUTICURA (ointment), the great skin cure, and a full dose of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor cures, will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure of the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating of itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, pimply, and crusted skin and scalp humors with loss of hair, when all else fails.

KIDNEY DECEIT.

How Many are Unintentionally Deceived Treating Kidney Disorders—Can You Afford to Trifle With Your Own Existence?—If you Suspect There is any Kidney Trouble, Discard Pills, Powders and Cure-Alls—South American Kidney Cure is a Time-Tried and Tested Kidney Specific.

A remedy which dissolves all obstructions, which heals and strengthens the affected parts, and which from its very nature eradicates all impurities from the system, is the only safe and sure remedy in cases of kidney disorder. Such a remedy is South American Kidney Cure. It is not hearsay. The formula has been put under the severest of tests, and it has been proclaimed by the greatest authorities in the world of medical science that liquids—and liquids only—will obtain the results sought for. A liquid remedy taken into the system goes directly into the circulation and attacks immediately the effected parts, while solids such as pills or powders cannot possibly attain these results. Kidney disorders cannot afford to be trifled with. The quickest way is the safest way to combat these insidious ailments. This great remedy never fails. It's a liquid kidney specific. It's a solvent. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

CENTRE TORONTO.

Conservatives of the Division in a Quandary—Feeling in Ottawa.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—The Conservative machine of this city is in a great quandary. Its members are divided as to whether it is best to run a candidate for the Centre Division to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Lount's resignation or not. It is now said that if a candidate can be secured, who will pay his own expenses, that Messrs. E. F. Clarke, W. D. McPherson and Geo. Kappele, who were in favor of converting their forces for the local campaign, will not oppose a fight in this riding. Mr. T. G. Blackstock having declined to run, a deputation is to wait on Mr. A. E. Kemp next week and ask him to lead the forlorn hope. If he fails the party, there is a Conservative who has the $5000 necessary who will jump into the breach. Late Yesterday afternoon Mr. Barlow Cumberland was mentioned as willing to undertake to capture the riding for the Conservatives.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Hon. John Haggart, Hon. Peter White and George Taylor, the Conservative whip, are here to consider the question of putting up a candidate in Center Toronto. There are some differences of opinion among Conservatives as to whether it would be in the party's interest to contest the seat at the present time, as the candidate in this aforetime stronghold of Conservatism is sure to be beaten under present circumstances.

The nomination is on the 23rd, and therefore no time must be lost if the party intends putting up a candidate.

A TOW OF FREIGHT BOATS.

Reported Separated Near the Main Ducks Near Kingston.

KINGSTON, Nov. 13.—Sailors on the schooner Two Brothers, arriving in port at daylight, report a tow of freight boats separated near the Main Ducks during the night.

The course of the Two Brothers led her some distance from the Ducks, but the lights of the steamer could be seen moving about as though she was endeavoring to pick up her drifting consorts.

It is thought the tow was bound for Ogdensburg.

TORONTO TOPICS.

An Interesting Budget of Small Talk From the Queen City.

Sir Frank Smith is at the head of and Capt. H. F. Wyatt secretary of a movement having for its object the presentation to Sir George and Lady Kirkpatrick of some tangible proof of the popularity enjoyed throughout the Province by the retiring Lieutenant-Governor and his wife. Among others on the committee appointed to further the plan also appear Premier Hardy, Col. Delamere of the Queen's Own, G. R. R. Cockburn, ex-M.P., Nicol Kingsmill, Q.C., and George Gooderham. Communications received from Hamilton, London, Kingston, Ottawa and other places signify the anxiety of prominent citizens thereof to contribute towards the presentation. The present idea is that the testimonial should take the form of silver plate, and the committee has already examined several designs in that line. It is understood that a design for a handsome table centrepiece is likely to be selected.

Herbert Van Zandt, the young man whose trial a few days ago on a charge of having burglariously entered the residence of W. E. H. Massey and of Mrs. Booth ended in a conviction, was yesterday morning sent to the Central Prison for eighteen months.

Mr. E. A. Macdonald, through his solicitors, announces that he will appeal at once to the Court of Appeal from Justice Meredith's decision in the suit against the city and the Assessment Commissioner.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, W. M. T. MILFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 59, St. Henri, Que.

ARRANGED IN LONDON

That Sir Wilfrid Laurier Should Visit Washington.

PARTY STARTS FOR HOME TO-DAY.

What Sir Wilfrid Says About His Mission —The New York Tribune Praises the Premier, but The Sun Takes a Strong Anti-Canadian Stand—The Seal Conference.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 13.—(Telegram Special.)—The real facts of the visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies to Washington were stated to me to-day by Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself, that when in London this past summer, he was invited by General Foster, representing the United States Government, to come to Washington and discuss the Behring Sea seal question.

After a long conference with Mr. Chamberlain it was finally agreed that a conference of seal experts, representing the several Governments of Great Britain, the United States and Canada, should be held this autumn, and that representatives from the several Governments should be present at such conference.

It was understood by Mr. Chamberlain that, if possible, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies, the Minister of Marine, should represent Canada.

"Of course," said Sir Wilfrid, "I have taken advantage of the occasion to discuss with the President and leading members of his Cabinet many other international questions which given rise to trouble and irritation between the two countries. Prominant amongst these were the alien labor law, the great lakes fisheries' the North Atlantic fisheries and the United States tariff, as it specially affects Canadian interests. It was plain the seal question could not be settled by itself; it could only be considered in connection with other irritating and important questions. You may say, very emphatically," said Sir Wilfrid, "that there is no intention whatever of negotiating any reciprocity treaty which would interfere with or effect Canada's existing British preferential tariff. This is well-known to American statesmen here. What has been discussed, however, is the reciprocal abolution of the duties on coal, lumber and fish, hay, potatoes, barley, eggs and other similar articles. We are to have another interview with the gentlemen specially named by the President, to talk over these matters with us, and at present it is premature to express any opinion as to the possible or probable conclusions."

PLANS NOT SETTLED.

But the Premier and Personal Following Likely to Leave To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—While the plans of the Canadian Contingent tingent now in Washington in connection with the seal conference are not finally fixed, it is the present expectation that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, with Sir Louis Davies and his personal following, will leave Washington on their return home Monday or Tuesday. The experts on seal life for England and Canada, Messrs. Thompson and Macoun, however, will remain here for a time, pursuing the conferences in which they are now engaged with the United States experts. They will resume the sessions on Monday.

"Staunch Canadian Statesman."

Something of the view taken of this Canadian mission by our Government perhaps may be gathered by the following utterances of a high Administration official who has had dealings with the Canadian Premier:

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not only been received by the Government with great consideration, but has made an excellent impression upon all the gentlemen with whom he has come in contact. As a staunch Canadian statesman he naturally demands concession for concession. At the same time he has shown a liberal spirit toward the plan of increasing the commercial intercourse of the two countries, and if he meets the views of the United States half way there is a fair chance of removing from the present field of view the most important questions which have produced so much irritation between the two countries during the preceding period of 'Conservative' administration in Canada."

Sittings Resumed.

The Behring Sea meeting was resumed at the State Department at 11 o'clock today. It was soon determined that the comparison of statistical information as to the seals could be carried on informally by the experts at their quarters at the Shoreham Hotel as well as at the State Department. The experts therefore temporarily adjourned to their private rooms, where the conference proceeded.

THE PROSPEROUS DOMINION.

The Great New York Paper Discusses Canada's General Condition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Discussing editorially the visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Washington and Canadian affairs generally, The Tribune to-day, under the heading "The Prosperous Dominion," says:

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has this one great satisfaction and source of strength, that he comes hither as a representative, not of a bankrupt and distressed nation, but of a particularly prosperous and progressive one. The present year will rank in Canadian annals as one of the best the Dominion has known. The Canadian farmers have fully shared the prosperity which good crops and high prices of wheat have brought to their neighbors on this side of the line. So great is their harvest that the railroads are overtaxed to carry it to market. The dairy industry has also shown marked growth. In the production and export sale of poultry and fruit great progress is also to be noted. As for mining, what has been done may be roughly estimated from the dimensions of the Klondike craze in the United States. There is reason to believe that for every dollar that has come or will come from the Klondike to this country, two will find lodgment in the Dominion.

Another Indication.

"Another equally important indication of Canadian progress is seen in the extension of lines of commerce. The proposed line of express steamers across the Atlantic has already been told of in these columns. Rapid progress toward completion of the scheme is being made. Practical steps are being taken for cutting a canal from the St. Lawrence at Montreal direct to Lake Superior, thus giving an unequalled route from the wheat fields of Manitoba to the ocean. No wonder that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is looking forward with confidence to the day when, instead of 90 per cent. of Canadian trade going from United States ports, as at present, 90 per cent. of the trade of the Northern States will go from Canadian ports. At the present rate of Canadian progress and of the United States indifference, such a change is entirely within the range of possibility, even of probability. As for the Canadian Pacific steamship service, it is already an established fact, and there is every reason to expect that within the next few years the Canadians and Japanese will divide the carrying trade of the ocean between them, to the practical exclusion of the United States.

No Complaint Against Canada.

"In all this there is no possible ground for complaint against the Dominion. She is simply attending to business and promoting her own interests, as this country ought to do, but does not do. If United States ports were as carefully looked after and improved as Canadian ports are, they would have no cause to fear Canadian rivalry. It is a proper source of pleasure to the United States that Canada is prosperous. We do not want an impoverished and unthrifty neighbor. But it must be a cause of shame to this country actually to be outstripped by its smaller and less advantageously situated neighbor."

"No Reciprocity With Canada."

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—In sharp contrast with the pleasant words in The Tribune The Sun leads its editorial page with an article headed: "No Reciprocity With Canada."

The article is in part as follows:

"If an impression exists in the Dominion that we could be persuaded to admit Canadian goods into our markets duty free in return for the poor privilege of competing on equal terms with British manufacturers in Canada, it is entirely unfounded.

"There is, as we have pointed out repeatedly, just one way in which Canadians can obtain the precious privilege of free trade with the United States, and that is by severing their connection with a European monarchy and by becoming citizens of the great American republic. That way lie dignity and prosperity; under any other political condition the lot of Canada will be a hopeless one."

Boy Terribly Hurt.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Bertie Smith, son of Joseph H. Smith of Smith Bros., printers, 1115 Yonge street, was bicycling on Saturday night up Yonge street, when he collided with a grocer's cart driven by John G. Hickman. The left shaft penetrated the boy's left eye. There is scarcely any hope of his recovery.

THE TORIES FAIRLY SLAUGHTERED.

Tory Tactics Unveiled—Dr. Chamberlain Charges Untruth—He Says Col. Matheson and Dr. Willoughby Have Libelled Him—That $13 Marine Glass was Paid for by Himself.

DRUMMONDVILLE, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The bye-election on Saturday to fill the vacant seat in the Commons for Drummond and Arthabaska, which was caused by the retirement of the sitting member, brother of the present candidate, resulted in the election of Mr. Lavergne, Liberal, by nearly 1300 majority. There is but one small poll in Simpson yet to be heard from in Drummond and three in Arthabaska, viz, St. Elizabeth, St. Paul and St. Helene de St. Louis. These will most probably increase Mr. Lavergne's majority. Voting in a great many outlying places was light, which was due to the bad state of the roads. The majorities in detail were as follows:

Tory Tactics Unveiled.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—The Tories are very hard set for grievances against the Government these days, and a very little thing does them for a cry. One of the most recent mare's nests has been effectually disposed of by the following statement from Dr. Chamberlain, Government Inspector of Charities:

The statement made by Col. Matheson and Dr. Willoughby in recent speeches that I have expended $13 of public monies in purchasing a present of a marine glass for a lake captain is an absolute falsehood. I paid for that marine glass out of my own pocket and it was given to repay the kindness of Capt. Campbell, who, season after season, held the boat for me while I performed my duties on Manitoulin Island. Captain Campbell has probably saved the Government $150 by his kindness, as many times I would have had to stay on the island for days had he not held the boat for me. It was a small token of gratitude to him, and I paid for it myself. I hope that Col. Matheson and Dr. Willoughby will have the manliness to apologize.

THE TIGERS WIN.

Hamilton Now Holds the Ontario Football Championship.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—The final game for the Ontario football championship on Saturday, between the Hamilton Tigers and the Osgoode Hall team, was finished in darkness and confusion. The final score was Hamilton 15, Osgoode 8, the logalites having scored all their points in the first half, when the visitors never attacked. Thus the Tigers won the match by 7 points and the round by 8. The progressive score:

Hamilton	0	0	0	0	1	2	6	7	8	9	10	11	15
Osgoode Hall	1	2	6	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8

Their Laurel Wreath in Tigertown.

HAMILTON, Nov. 15.—Thousands of citizens greeted the champion Tigers on their arrival here at 11 o'clock last night. A procession was formed and the victorious fifteen were escorted to the City Hall, headed by the 13th Regiment Band. At the hall congratulatory speeches were made.

Child Burned to Death.

SCOTIA, Ont., Nov. 13.—A 17-months-old child of Miles Schammerhorn left alone in the house by its grandmother for a short time managed to set fire to its clothes. It was fatally burned and died in a few hours.

Charlie Hanged Himself.

HAMILTON, Nov. 15.—This afternoon Charles Pedlar, an 18-year-old youth, who resides with his parents at 9 Hilton street, committed suicide by hanging. Pedlar was a rather wayward youth, and gave his father and mother, who are highly respectable, much trouble. The dead boy worked in Copp's stove foundry.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. AN IMPERIAL MISSION.

A "Slap at Great Britain" is the term used by the Toronto Mail and Empire to describe the visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Washington.

If the Canadian Premier's mission prove fruitless, as it may, no injury will have been done to Great Britain. If it be, in any measure, successful, the advantage will be to the Mother Land, as well as to Canada.

Nothing that Sir Wilfrid will do, or seek to do, will be derogatory to the dignity of Canada, or inconsistent with our professions of friendship for Great Britain. Canadians may have every confidence that at the Premier's hands their honour, loyalty and love will suffer no wrong.

There will be no discrimination against Great Britain acceded to or proposed. There will be no treaty of reciprocity that might cripple important industries and shake our industrial system.

What may happen is what every thoughtful, patriotic Briton and American trusts will be the outcome of this visit, the removal of existing causes of friction, and the strengthening of the ties of friendship between the two peoples. It has been truly said that Canada can render no greater service to the Empire than to establish and maintain these ties. The reasons are obvious. The United States is not merely a country peopled by English-speaking, English-reading, English-thinking men, whose institutions, laws and ideas of self-government are largely drawn from English founts, but it is a country that buys from and sells to England more largely than does any other customer of England. It is a country in which more English capital is invested than is invested in any other foreign country on the globe. It is a country to which England is perforce compelled to look for much of her food supplies in time of peace, for a still larger proportion in time of war. It is a country in alliance with which England could defy the world, and pursue without fear of molestation her mission of civilization.

Canadians can lay their hand to no better or more enduring work in the interest of the Empire and of mankind than to bring this giant Republic of the West, so fitted to be the ally of Great Britain, into terms of closest intimacy and friendship with the Mother Land. If England has much to lose by estrangement from the Republic, and much to gain by friendship with it, then Canada's duty is plain. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, we are convinced, so sees the path of the Dominion's duty, and is doing what in him lies to lead it into that path. If he succeed, if he in any measure close the widening gulf between the two great Anglo-Saxon communities he will anew have justified his title to rank as an Imperial statesman.—Montreal Herald.

FRUIT EXPORTS.

How Canadian Fruit Exports Fared in London, Liverpool, Glasgow and Other British Markets.

Mr. L. Woolverton, of Grimsby, agent for the Department of Agriculture in making up the trial shipments of tender fruits, has just received some account sales from Covent Garden, London, from Liverpool and from Glasgow, which are highly satisfactory, and which prove the possibility of a very profitable export trade in Canadian peaches, pears and tomatoes. Our Crawford peaches are a most difficult fruit to carry, being so very juicy and tender fleshed and the first shipments arrived too ripe, owing to the temperature in the refrigerator being too high, but the shipment per steamer Nomidian was carried at a lower temperature, and arrived in good condition. Forty cases of Crawford peaches sold in Liverpool at an average price of $3 66 per case, containing about thirty quarts.

Pears did equally well, some Louis Bonne bringing $3 90 per case, Bartletts $2, Howell $2 07, and Duchess $2.19. Even plums did well, some Quackenbos selling for $3.77 per case.

Tomatoes brought as high as $1.71 per case, the only objection being their size. The variety sent was the Ignotum, one of our largest tomatoes, and the English taste calls for one of medium size.

Grapes were a complete failure for the most part, bringing only about one cent a pound for Concord, Worden and Niagara, but in one instance six cases were sold at Glasgow for £3 6s, or about $2.66 per case. This proves that there is yet a possibility of pleasing the English taste with Canadian grapes.

FROM THE HAMMOND REEF.

A Five Pound Gold Brick in Toronto—Productiveness and Economy of the Mine.

A Globe reporter on Thursday had the opportunity of examining the last gold brick to arrive from the Rainy River country. The bullion, approximately five pounds in weight and valued at $1,020, was in the keeping of Mr. W. H. Garvey, Secretary-Treasurer of the Hammond Gold Reef Company, and it represented the result of the first clean-up of the mine controlled by that company, whose future is now beyond doubt. The gold, which was extracted from 239 tons of ore by means of a ten-stamp mill, is rich in colour and it runs over .895 in fineness. The addition of the Hammond Reef to the list of shipping mines in the Rainy River country adds substantial confirmation to the opinion of those who say that north-western Ontario will soon be one of the greatest gold producing regions of the world. With such mines as the Sultana, the Mikado, Regina, Foley, Saw Bill and Hammond Reef turning out bullion in handsomely paying quantities there is no room to doubt that what in the past might have been regarded as the most extravagant expectations will be realized. The results of the operations carried on at the Hammond Reef mine prove the possibilities of economical production. The reef upon which the Hammond mine is located is three miles long and at the widest point 456 feet feet, so that the supply of free milling ore is practically inexhaustible. No man knows the depth of the mineral deposit. Prof. Coleman believes that it is so great that the company need have no fear of getting to the bottom of it. The ore can be put on the dump for 50 cents a ton, and it can be milled at about that figure. The company operating the Alaska-Mexican mine in Alaska give as the total cost of milling, exclusive of chlorination and sulphurets, 45 cents per ton of 2,000 pounds. This cost includes every pound of material used in the operation. The Hammond Co. estimated that it would cost them $1 a ton for milling alone, but the figure is no doubt excessive, as with the additional equipment which they will soon have they should be able to reduce the ore as cheaply as the Alaska-Mexican Co., who have to pay more for wages and materials than companies operating in Ontario. It is stated that the Hammond Company have put 200 tons of ore on the dump at a cost of 31 cents a ton.

OTTAWA TOPICS.

The Order-in-Council Making Sir Oliver Mowat Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario May be Put Through at Any Time.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 15.—It is understood that the Order-in-Council appointing Sir Oliver Mowat Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario may be put through at any time. It may pass at a meeting of Council, or, the Council having already assented to the appointment, the order can be sent round to receive the signatures of four Ministers without a meeting of Council being held, and then forwarded to His Excellency for approval. This course was adopted in the case of Senator McInnes' appointment.

The Railroaders' Trial.

The trial of Conductor Harry Hawes and Engineer McCuaig was resumed before County Magistrate Smith Saturday morning. The evidence continues to point to Operator McNish as being in some sense responsible.

Holcomb Set Free.

Rome Holcomb, arrested ten days ago on the charge of embezzlement on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Herbert Harris, lumber dealer, was given his liberty Saturday morning. Crown Attorney Ritchie stated that he has learned from the Chief of Police that the private prosecution had dropped out. Mr. Ritchie went on to say that if the private prosecutor would give no information to the Crown nothing could be done. "In a case of this kind," said the magistrate, "the public demands an investigation." He thought that the matter should be left in the hands of the County Crown Attorney, and when Holcomb was wanted he could be arrested again. The magistrate then dismissed the case.

That New Fire Engine.

The Commissioner of Customs states that he will not issue a certificate of duty paid on the Lafrance engine till he has ascertained the full facts from the port where the entry was made. This was neither Ottawa nor Montreal, but somewhere in the West. In case the engine was not entered at the full American market price the department can order a seizure, and such action is by no means rare. It was done in the case of the Winnipeg waterworks plant, and even during the present year several seizures of small municipal corders have been made.

HON. MR. FISHER AT LINDSAY.

A Municipal Luncheon—Conference With Townspeople and Farmers—The Minister's Lecture on Agriculture.

LINDSAY, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The Collegiate Institute of this town opened this year's lecture course with a lecture on agriculture by the Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Fisher arrived from Ottawa yesterday morning. At noon the Town Council entertained Mr. Fisher at luncheon at the Benson House.

After luncheon Mr. Fisher was escorted by the Mayor and Mr. McHugh to the town wharf to inspect two of the many passenger steamers which ply upon the Trent Valley navigation waters.

At 3.30 o'clock Mr. Fisher met a large large number of citizens and agriculturists at the Town Hall. Mr. T. H. McQuade of Omemee also read an address from the Central Fair Association. Mr. Fisher replied at some length. During his address he referred to the cheese trade, the butter trade, the development of the poultry trade, to the improvements that had been made in the shipment of peaches, pears, grapes and tomatoes, and to the great benefit that the farmers of the country may receive by a study of the bulletins issued from time to time by the Experimental Farm, which may be received by all free of cost on application to the department at Ottawa. At the close of his address a number of farmers asked questions about tuberculosis in cattle, its symptoms, prevalence in the province and its cure; also about the benefit to the county and neighborhood likely to arise from the meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association in Lindsay in January next. Mr. Fisher replied fully to all the questions asked him, and strongly urged upon all the farmers present to attend the meeting of the association, saying that the county was to be congratulated on securing the meeting. A hearty vote of thanks was carried.

CENTRE TORONTO.

A Convention to be Held in Temperance Hall To-Night to Nominate a Liberal Candidate.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—The Liberals of Centre Toronto will meet in convention at Temperence Hall to-night to nominate a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William Lount, Q.C. The gallery will be reserved for ladies and Liberals of the other divisions of the city.

Mr. Dryden at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 14.—A well-attended meeting was held last night in the large audience hall of the Liberal Club rooms. Representative electors were present in large numbers and there was also a fair sprinkling of ladies. Hon. John Dryden, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, happened to be in town on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Sycamore, wife of the Rev J. C. Sycamore, and the opportunity was taken advantage of by the executive of the Liberal Club in having him deliver an address. Short speeches were also made by the chairman, Mayor D. Downey; George A. Dana, M.P.P., and James Cumming, all touching on the leading political questions of the day. A short but excellent musical program was also provided.

People Praise It.

DEAR SIRS,—I have often had coughs and colds, as well as bronchitis. Norway Pine Syrup cures me every time. I recommend it as a perfect cure for all throat and lung troubles.

FORAGERS ATTACKED.

Two British Officers and Four Men Wounded.

LITTLE IN SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

Gladstone's New Work—Life of Modern Divines Contemplated—British Manufacturing Said to be Falling Behind—London School Elections—The Engineers' Conference—A Soldier Hanged.

SIMLA, Nov. 14.—According to official despatches from the front a foraging party under Major Dorrien had an engagement with a large body of tribesmen yesterday. The latter were repulsed, but Capt. Bowman, Major Money and four privates were wounded.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The nineteenth weekly distribution of strike pay to the engineers was made Saturday by the Amalgamated Society of Engineers. The amount distributed was £41,000, which was received by 35,000 men.

The only present obstacle to the holding of a conference to arrange a settlement of the strike is the question of who will act as chairman. The engineers desire that C. T. Ritchie, President of the Board of Trade; Lord James, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, or some other prominent politician, act in that capacity, but the employers persist that no outsider shall participate in the conference.

The employers propose that representatives from each side sit in adjoining rooms and that each have its own chairman, through whom all communications shall be made. A preliminary meeting will be held to-morrow to discuss the conditions of the conference. The employers are unanimous in their determination to insist that henceforth no restrictions shall be placed by the men upon the productiveness of machinery used in the shops.

A Disaster to Britain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The London correspondent of The Tribune says, regarding the engineers' strike:

The conference between the Employers' Federation and the Amalgamated Engineers has virtually opened, although the discussion provided for under Mr. Ritchie's agreement has been deferred until next week. The labor conflict has been in progress since the middle of July, and has been disastrous to British industrial interests. Its results are witnessed in half-idle shipyards, the sharp decline in the export of machines, the loss of many large orders and the exhaustion of the financial resources of the federated trades unions, which are now dependent upon weekly subscriptions from other labor unions.

SCHOOL QUESTION IN LONDON.

One Section of the Population is for Religious Teaching and Another is Not.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The struggle for the control of London's School Board is raging fiercely, and is growing more intense as the time for the elections approaches. The issues are somewhat involved, but, broadly, the contending parties are the Progressives and the Moderates, and the bone of contention is religious teaching in the Board schools. The Progressives tend to secularism, and accuse the Moderates of a desire again to bring the people under the control of the priests and the Church of England. The Moderates admit a desire to re-introduce denominational teaching in the schools, but they claim a monopoly of the desire for economy, so far as consistent with efficient education.

The expenditure of the schools under the present Board, with a progressive majority, shows a rapid increase in the cost per child.

GLADSTONE.

He Will Write a Great Work Almost at His Graveside.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—His health permitting, Mr. Gladstone meditates an important biographical work, embracing the lives of most of the distinguished modern divines; but there are disquieting rumors in circulation as to the marked manner in which old age and infirmities are growing upon the "Grand Old Man." He seems to be developing facial weakness, similar to Prince Bismarck's. When he catches as cold it settles in his eyes and in the left side of his face, making it extremely painful to bear. As a result, Mr. Gladstone has been ordered to the Riviera in order to escape the winter, and he, with his wife and daughter, will start for Cannes on November 25. At Cannes Mr. Gladstone and his party will be the guests of Lord Rendell, whose daughter is married to Mr. Gladstone's third son.

New South Wales Irrigation.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 15.—The official report of the irrigation by artesian wells in the Bourke district shows the work to have been a great success and has given an immense stimulus to agriculture. Apparently 62,000 square miles of the interior of New South Wales will thus be irrigable.

Who is the Designer?

GLASGOW, Nov. 15.—George L. Watson denies being the designer of the new yacht being built by the Hendersons for the Prince of Wales.

THE OLD INDEMNITY.

Russia Wants $6,500,000 Arrears From Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15.—The Russian Embassy here has made an announcement to the Turkish Government that if Turkey intends to apply part of the Greek war indemnity to an increase of the Turkish armaments, Russia desires to remind Turkey that the unpaid arrears of the Russo-Turk war indemnity amounts to £1,300,000, adding that if the policy of the Turkish Government is as indicated, Russia will demand the payment of this amount. The Russian pronouncement has strongly impressed the diplomatic corps, who believe it is directed against the plans to reorganize the Turkish navy.

Hooley Offers Spain Money.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—It is announced that E. T. Hooley, the English financier, has abandoned the proposed Chinese loan, and is now giving his attention to Spain. He is reported to have offered Spain to raise a loan of £17,500,000 at 4 per cent., secured on the lines of the old quicksilver loans, which is now nearly wiped out. The Spanish Cabinet, it is further stated, will consider the loan next Thursday. The project is not regarded safely in this city.

SALISBURY'S GUILDHALL SPEECH.

Its Effect on France Has Been to Stir Up Jingoism.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The speech of the Marquis of Salisbury at the Guildhall on Tuesday last, Lord Mayor's Day, again proved him to be past master of saying nothing in many soothing words. It was essentially a peace speech and did not contain a single indication as to how far the Government is prepared to go in Indian, Egyptian, Soudan or Niger affairs, beyond a general "what can be done, will be done." Even the supposed menace to France has since been explained and was not intended to excite French feelings.

The Premier's utterance on the subject of international federation led to the conclusion that the Government is wearying of Great Britain's "splendid isolation" and the Imperialistic plans of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, have not yet progressed enough to permit Great Britain to maintain her policy of separation from the rest of the world.

Jingoism in France.

The momentary check caused by the Marquis of Salisbury's speech has been followed by a recrudescence of jingoism in France, which has been intensified by the arrival in Paris yesterday of the band of the Czar's Preobrajensky Regiment, which has been sent to the French capital as an earnest of Russian friendship.

Another incentive to Chauvinism has been found in the announcement that a strong detachment of Russian cavalry and artillery will soon sail from Odessa to Djibutil, and thence will go to King Menelik's capital, with the object of assisting the French to thwart the British in grabbing Central Africa.

On the other hand, Great Britain is not idle. Thirty army officers left Liverpool yesterday for Lagos, on the west coast of Africa, and it is asserted that Capt. Frederick Lugard of the Royal Niger Company, with thirty more British officers, will start for Africa next week, with instructions to lead the land expedition on Bousea in conjunction with the Niger gunboat flotilla. Great Britain is making the evacuation of Bousea, by the French, a sin qua non.

MARCHING BACKWARDS.

How The Daily Mail Accounts for Britain's Decreased Exports.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A series of articles which is attracting much attention, headed "Marching Backwards," has been appearing in The Daily Mail. The writer has shown that Great Britain is falling behind in the great industrial race and has demonstrated how the United States, France and Germany can show increased exports to the amount of £91,000,000 in the 12 years extending from 1883 to 1895. It is further proved that the exports of the United Kingdom in the same period decreased £9,000,000.

Commenting on this showing, The Daily Mail expresses the opinion that the main reasons for this falling off in British trade are want of business instinct and want of genuine patriotism, "as evidenced by ship owners carrying foreigners' goods at lower rates than Britishers'."

British Steamer Wrecked.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 13.—The British steamer Rutherglen, Capt. English, from New York on Oct. 26 for Plymouth, has foundered 830 miles west of the Fastnet. Her crew has been picked up by the Norwegian barque Hermonas and arrived at Crookhaven, 21 miles from Skibbereen, to-day.

French Trade Returns.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The official returns of the custom house just issued shows that in the past ten months French imports have increased 76,184,000 francs, and that the exports have increased 194,038,000 francs, compared with the same period of 1896.

The Engineers' Strike.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—While a preliminary meeting of the striking engineers and of the employers of the men will be held on Monday next to settle upon the terms of the conference arranged through the mediation of the Board of Trade, the expectation of a speedy settlement of the dispute is hardly more sanguine than it was a week ago.

Miss Delaney's

Our reputation for selling the most Stylish Goods at the lowest possible prices, is firmly established and reaches to the extreme limits of Peterborough Trade.

It did not come to us by accident. It was won by offering the most exclusive GOODS and the most original ideas in Millinery at values that the perfection of modern manufacture made possible, combined with our unceasing care and watchfulness in buying only the most desirable goods.

Our busy Millinery work room is daily turning out a fresh array of beautifuly TRIMMED HATS at modera'e prices. Invention and good taste in design are kept on the alert for fresh ideas. Everything new and charming in Millinery is here.

Trent Waters Navigation.

The government dredge, having completed the dredging at Rosedale, has been towed to Bobcaygeon, where it will be employed during the winter in improving the approach to the canal and gravelling the dam to prevent leakage. This is in the interest of Lindsay, and will assist steamboat owners and lumbermen, as Bobcaygeon is a very important point. The dredge is already at work, and will employ many men during the winter.

"The Bonds are Sold."

"Word came to town this week," says the Cobourg World, "from Mr. Bowen that his brother in England had at last succeeded in floating the bonds of the Cobourg, Northumberland and Pacific Railroad. If this be true, it is certainly good news for Cobourg and the townships most interested in the building of the road, for with the selling of the bonds the last obstacle is removed to the construction of the C. N. & P. R. From the time of his coming to this locality Mr. Bowen has laboured most assiduously and unweariedly in order that the railroad might be built, and we trust that his labours may ultimately be crowned with success."

Ladies, He is Coming.

When bodily tired, a sleep is refreshing, but when that tired feeling is felt through dissatisfaction with our personal appearance sleep is not the remedy to employ. The hair plays an important part in this respect. One of Prof. Dorenwend's beautiful Bangs or Wavy Fronts will soften and refine the expression of the face, and a fine switch to coil or braid will give the head a beautiful shape. By wearing these goods you will feel better and look younger. Call on Prof. Dorenwend at Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, Wednesday, Nov. 17th, and see the foregoing demonstrated. It will cost nothing. Thousands wear these goods with satisfaction. You can be beautified likewise. 6d2w

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more nothing arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Sometimes might be a little more strength that. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down [illegible] washboard and washtub. [illegible] pay you men, and make time to [illegible] of labor-saving washers [illegible] by G. Walter Green at [illegible] on Dickson's map. If [illegible] phone, ring up telephone [illegible] and have him [illegible] over to your house.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The Grand Trunk Railway was opened sixty-one years ago, on Nov. 15th.

—The William English Canoe Company have been requested to give a quotation for 100 canoes for Seattle.

—Hear Brooke's Chicago Marine Band at the Opera House to-morrow night. Prices 35, 50 and 75c. 1d —Court Forest Queen, C. O. F., meets Wednesday evening. A candidate will be initiated and refreshments served.

—The Napanee Express says that a Peterborough man is negotiating for the purchase of the Jones' woollen mills in Tamworth.

—Mr. J. O. Henry of Oshawa, has 20 000 barrels of winter apples stored in his warehouse. Half were bought east and half west of Toronto.

—The issue of the "War Cry" for Nov. 20th is a special number. Its chief attraction is a large half tone portrait of Miss Booth, 12x20 inches.

—The stone which is being used in the construction of the new Victoria Bridge at Montreal is being quarried at Cookston near Madoc, Hastings county.

—The programme for the Week of Prayer at the Y. M. C. A., for this week has already been published. Half-hour meetings to-night and every night this week commencing at 7.15 p.m.

—Those who were favoured with an invitation to the private social assembly which was held in the Foresters' Hall last spring, will be pleased to hear that another one is on the tapis for Tuesday, Nov. 23rd.

—The Breeder's Gazette says that Mr. R. Beith, M. P., Bowmanville, scored a great victory at the Chicago horse show. His favourite Hackney stallion, Banquo, was awarded first prize over all competitors.

—While at a prayer-meeting one night last week, Wm. Stickle, a farmer who lives about two miles from Warkworth, had his horse and buggy stolen from under the sheds of the Methodist church. The thief got away and no trace of him could be found.

—Dr. Oronhyatekha, Grand High Chief Ranger of the I. O. F., will start for Rome in a few days to discuss with the Pope the action of a priest in the province of Quebec in respect of putting a ban on the Order in his district.

—The Warminster and Westbury (Devon) Journal relates the astonishing fact that the wife of a labourer named Peterman has just presented her husband with her twenty-fifth child. This is a record for Devonshire, the English shire of clotted cream and cider.

—The order relative to applicants for admission to royal schools of instruction, having served at least twelve months in their respective corps, is being rigidly enforced. Commanding officers are having numerous applications returned to them on this account.

—Secure your seats early and avoid the big rush at the Opera House to-morrow night to hear Brooke's Chicago Marine Band at popular prices.

—Mr. J. J. Kelso of Toronto, Secretary of the Children's Aid Societies, has been in Ottawa for the purpose of consulting with the Department of the Interior in reference to the recent Ontario legislation providing for the better regulation of the importation of orphan children from England.

—Emerson Austin, of Haliburton, who has long since won for himself the reputation of being the most successful trapper and hunter in that region, set six bear traps in the vicinity of Eagle Lake one day last week, and when going his rounds the following day found a large bear fast in each trap. It was a very profitable day's work.

—The practice of starting passenger trains by a wave of the conductor's hand, and at night by the swinging of his lantern, has been superseded by the use of an air whistle. When the train is ready to leave now, the conductor touches the signal cord, which causes a small whistle in the cab of the engine to sound. The engineer takes this signal and starts the train. It is a great improvement on the old method.

—Don't miss the musical event of the season to-morrow night at Bradburn's Opera House when Brooke's Chicago Marine Band makes its first appearance here. Prices are 35, 50 and 75c. Seats now on sale.

—The Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company is at present making preparations to bring an action for damages against the city of Belleville for allowing Whitney, the smallpox patient, to embark on the steamer Passport and causing that boat to be quarantined and to be taken off her route. The company is of the opinion that they have good reasons for bringing the action and is determined to fight it.

—The music given in the George street Methodist church yesterday was of a most pleasing character. The anthem, "Harvest Praise" was excellently sung in the morning. In the evening the music was still better, two anthems, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone" and "All for Thee," being sung. In the former Miss L. Pascoe's voice was heard to great advantage in the solo. In the latter the unaccompanied part which comes in about the middle of the anthem was well taken.

—The superintendent of the Kansas City schools has notified all the school teachers that five minutes are to be set apart each morning in the middle and upper grades of the ward schools for the discussion of newspaper topics. Children are to be encouraged to clip from newspapers that which interests them, and especial attention is to be called to the newspaper articles which relate to the countries that pupils are studying about in geography or history. Two pupils in each room are to be chosen to call attention to things in the papers of special interest.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

Three Cases Before Magistrate Edmison—One in Norwood.

County Magistrate Edmison was called to Norwood on Saturday to deal with a tramp who was raising quite an amount of money in the village by arousing the sympathy of the citizens through the numerous pathetic stories which he told. He told the Presbyterian minister one story of his troubles and the rector of the English church another, and so on, and was getting along famously when he was arrested. The magistrate committed him to the Central Prison for six months. He gave the name of Chas. D. Cameron.

The Ashburnham assault case of Truesdale vs Hubble was dismissed by Magistrate Edmison this morning. There was some very unsavoury language used by a woman in the case. Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the defence.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, County Inspector of Licenses, laid an information against Philip Corbett for peddling without a license, with the result that the defendant was fined $10 and $13.87 costs or 20 days in gaol. Corbett was a vendor of coal oil in the country.

ONE MONTH IN GAOL.

Sam Lee Was Convicted on a Charge of Theft on Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon Samuel Lee was brought before Judge Weller, and charged with the theft of $10 from Mr. John Kincaid.

Lee, it will be remembered, was committed for trial by Magistrate Dumble some days previous. He was employed by Mr. Kincaid to purchase apples, turkeys, etc., for him, and converted to his own use ten dollars, which was given him to buy apples, going off on a spree and refusing to give up the money when asked for it.

The prisoner was found guilty of the charge by Judge Weller, and sentenced to one month in gaol. Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defence, and Mr. R. E. Wood for the Crown.

HUNTERS' LICENSES.

There Were Sixty-Six Taken Out in Peterborough This Season.

As the deer-hunting season for 1897 is concluded and no more licenses will be taken out, the following list is published of those applying for licenses during the season at the local office of the Crown Lands Department:—

THE BUCK FEVER.

A Bancroft Clergyman Scared by a Deer.

The Bancroft Times is responsible for the following:—"Rev. A. L. Brown was one of a party who were out hunting near Long Lake recently, and he had rather an amusing experience while watching a runway on Monday morning, and which came near costing the Methodists the loss of their pastor. A big buck came bounding along, but the reverend gentleman failed to notice the animal until it was within a few feet of him. It was then his presence of mind forsook him, and with a yell that would put an Apache Indian in the shade, he sought refuge behind a tree. The terrified deer turned and fled. Mr. Brown drew a bead on him, but the bullet only bored a hole in the air, and when the pastor of St. Paul's had recovered his equilibrium, he wended his way to the camp. However, it afforded him some consolation to know that that made the twentieth shot that had been fired at the same deer.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH NOTES.

St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Christian Endeavour Societies will hold a union meeting in St. Paul's this evening at eight o'clock.

The Rev. Wm. Patterson, of Cooke's church, Toronto, has consented to lecture in St. Andrew's on Friday, December 10th. Subject, "From the Hub to the Golden Gate via. Chicago and Salt Lake city.

A union service for all the companies of the Boys' Brigade has been arranged to take place on Tuesday, November 30th, in St. John's school house. The programme will consist of devotional exercises, short speeches and vocal and instrumental music, together with numbers contributed by representatives from each brigade.

WHO WILL GET MEDALS.

Must Have Been in Active Service in the Field.

Referring to the distribution of medals to the veterans of '66, the Canada Military Gazette says: "The medals will be issued to all who participated in the field. Those who already have the Northwest Rebellion (1885) medal, will not, if eligible, receive an additional medal, but a clasp or clasps. Those who participated in more than one campaign will receive but the one medal, with a clasp for each additional campaign or expedition. It is said that the medal is to be issued only to the living, and that the restriction to service in the field will prevent that lavish distribution which so many desire. It is cheapening medals very much if they are to be given to those who were simply under arms at their own homes.

"The presumption is that only those who were in the militia will participate, but as home guards were at that time very numerous, and were actually in action at Eccles Hill, it will be difficult to deprive them of their reward. No matter what the regulation may be in regard to issuing these medals, there is sure to be a howl to remove restrictions, so that nearly every man alive at that time, however remote his connection with the militia, will want a medal. The medal is to be the same as the Northwest Rebellion (1885) medal, except that it will bear no other inscription than the word "Canada."

"Field-Marshall Lord Wolseley, commander-in-chief, will receive the medal for the Red River Expedition, and Major-General Gascoigne, commanding the militia for the Fenian Raid, 1870, as he served on the frontier at Eccles Hill.

The conditions under which this medal will be issued should be carefully drawn up. If those who simply bore arms at their own homes, and were not in the field during the Fenian Raid, receive medals, those who performed like service during the Northwest Rebellion, 1885, will set up as good a claim. It is anticipated that this medal will cause more heart-burnings and trouble to the militia authorities than any orders yet issued."

Accidents to Children.

Children, in their play, are apt to get sprains, bruises or cuts, and the pain these little ones suffer before relief is brought to them should convince mothers that it is necessary to be always prepared for accidents. "Quickcure" is a healer that acts quickly and removes pain at once.

Horsemen, Take a Pointer.

The approaching cold, wet weather, should not find you unprepared to protect your horses. Kingscote makes all kinds of waterproof horse covers, lap covers, hoods, etc. They are strictly waterproof, and when Kingscote says "waterproof" he means it. Leave your orders early if to be made specially. A good stock kept on hand. Hunters requiring tents, waterproof covers, etc., can be fitted out by Kingscote to their entire satisfaction at 344 Water street.

Gentlemen, Does Your Bald Head Make You Susceptible to Cold?

Just think of how quickly the lost hair can be replaced. Prof. Dorenwend can do it in five minutes, and do it so perfectly that no falseness is recognizable. Leading citizens everywhere are wearing them and none would be without them. If you are partly or wholly bald, you are making a big mistake if you neglect to get one of these Art Hair Coverings. They are not to be compared to the old fashioned wigs that some would-be wig makers construct. Prof. Dorenwend's skill in this line is unprecedented, and he invites you to call for a practical demonstration at Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Wednesday, Nov. 17th. 6d1w

THE GULL LAKE ACCIDENT.

Particulars of the Sad Affair as Told by One of the Party—Hendren's Body Not Yet Recovered.

Further particulars concerning the sad drowning of Mr. Thos. Hendren continue to come to hand. A number of those who went out to aid in the work of rescue have returned and give the following details:

The accident occurred in a part of the lake known as Deep Bay—a sheet of water sheltered on the west by a peninsula extending out into the lake some 300 yards. The party were making their headquarters at the old Scott depot, near the south end of the bay, and on the southwest side of the lake. The spot where the canoe capsized was near the entrance to the bay, about 300 yards out from the landing and about 125 yards from the shore to the east of them and 175 yards from the point of land to the west.

The men had been out Monday and sighted several deer, and were expecting a successful day's sport when after breakfast on Tuesday morning the stepped into the canoe to paddle over to their watches on the northeast side of the lake, a distance of about half a mile. They took the two hounds with them in the canoe, besides their guns and ammunition for the day. All went well until they reached the mouth of the bay. Here a stiff gale was blowing down the lake, the waves were rolling high, and their little craft was tossed about so much that the dogs became restless and their moving about caused the canoe to dip water. Finding the danger of capsizing became imminent Mr. Hendren requested his companions, Messrs. D. Armstrong and Geo. Lee, to throw out the hounds and the ballast, which was done, and the men laid all their strength on the paddles and headed the canoe towards the east shore. The dogs returned to the canoe and attempted to jump in just as the bow of the boat rose on a breaker, and overturned it. Poor Hendren, who was sitting in the stern of the boat, fell out backwards and when he came to the surface appeared to be almost strangled and could not speak. Encumbered with their heavy clothing, the men saw it would be impossible to reach the shore and turned towards the canoe. When Armstrong reached the boat he saw that Hendren was struggling hard against the sea and was making no progress. Armstrong reached for the paddle intending to push it towards him, but when he turned again found that Hendren had gone down. All the while Armstrong was shouting loudly for assistance. His cries were heard by Mr. Frank Pearson, of North Smith, who was camped on the northwest side of the lake, and who at once put out in his canoe towards them. Some men who were making repairs to the dam south-east of the scene of the accident also heard his cries and were hastening to their assistance. Meanwhile Armstrong and Iles clung to the canoe. Iles was very much exhausted when he reached the canoe and got his arm around one of the thwarts. His head was under water most of the time and to add to his peril one of the dogs persisted in getting upon his back.

When Mr. Pearson reached them Armstrong told him that he was all right and to try and save Iles. He found that Iles had taken a death grip on the thwart, but managed to keep his head above water until the other men arrived with a punt, when the two men were taken on board. The usual methods of resuscitation were commenced. For a while it was feared that Iles had got beyond revivification, but after working for some time signs of returning life were apparent and in half an hour consciousness returned. The men say Iles will never be able to realize how near he was to death's door.

A close watch has been kept upon the lake and almost every possible means has been used to recover the body of Hendren, but up to the present every effort has failed. It is expected that the body will come to the surface during the next few days.

The following composed the searching party from Norwood:—Messrs. Geo. Hendren, Stanley Hendren, Bert Hendren, Fred Hendren, all brothers of the deceased, Wm. Morrow, Jno. Beckett, Robert Patterson, W. G. Askey, Al Emery, Ben. Weese, and Wm. Nicoll, jr., all of whom, with the exception of Mr. Geo. Hendren, went home last Sunday morning. Mr. Stanley Hendren, accompanied by his brothers, John and Wm., and Mr. Wm. Morrow, returned to the lake early Monday morning to continue the search.

A Lakefield party composed of Messrs. James Hendren, Geo. Hendren, Wm. Cox, jr. and Wm. Cox, sr., also assisted in the search.

THE SOMERVILLE FATALITY.

A Coroner's Jury Returns a Verdict of Accidental Death—Several Suspicious Circumstances may lead the Crown to Investigate the Facts.

In Thursday's EXAMINER meagre details were given concerning the shooting of a young man named Lee in Somerville township the day previous. The scene of the fatality lies about half-way between the villages of Norland, in Somerville, and Kinmount on the boundary of that township and Galway, and as the district is a very rough one, and is some distance from railway communication, it has been very difficult to get at the facts.

Warden Dr. Wood of Kirkfield, coroner for the county, was notified of the sad event on Wednesday evening, and it was Thursday morning before he could get a jury empanneled, as many of the parties summoned lived some distance from the spot.

Dr. Laurie of Coboconk, made the post mortem examination, and testified that the fatal bullet had entered about an inch behind the right ear, and had emerged about an inch to the left of the median line on the left side of the head. The hair was scorched at the point of entry, proving that the muzzle of the gun was close to the head when it had been discharged. From the position of the wound he considered it almost impossible that the injury could have been self-inflicted.

John Laff, a young man about 16 or 17 years of age, who was with Lee when the fatality occurred, swore that deceased had come over from the runway where he had been watching to the place where he (Laff) was splitting wood, and had offered to allow him to take one shot with his rifle if he would give him some tobacco. He had done so, but Lee had then refused him the shot, saying he had only a few cartridges left. Deceased then went a few steps away and placed the gun on a pole about three inches thick, and he then heard a shot and saw Lee fall.

Geo. Laff, a younger brother of the former witness, testified that he had been with his brother when Lee came over to where they were splitting wood, but soon after he had been sent by his brother to fetch the horse to draw the wood home. His brother had told him to tell the jury that he (George) had seen Lee place the gun on the pole and had seen it go off, and Tom fall. The brother had also told him to say that Lee had promised John a shot in exchange for a chew of tobacco.

The evidence of the other witnesses was unimportant. Nothing transpired to show that there was any ill feeling between the young men.

The jury was made up as follows: Messrs A. McKee, Moses Moffatt, E. Jackson, Chas. Evans, Jas. Knox, Jas. Quinn, Wm. Hall, Adam Carl, Albert Carl, John Kennedy, Jos. Rumney, Walter Green, T. McBride. The verdict returned was as follows: "That Thos. Lee came to his death through the accidental discharge of a gun in his own hands."

The evidence taken in the case was placed in the hands of County Crown Attorney Devlin by Dr. Wood, and it is considered likely that the matter will be reopened. The documents in the case will be submitted to the Attorney General.

SPECIAL SERMONS AT ST. LUKE'S.

Rev. H. Benoit and the Sabrevois Mission—Rev. E. V. Stevenson's Powerful Address to Men.

The services at St. Luke's yesterday partook of a somewhat special character. In the morning Rev. Henry E. Benoit of the Sabrevois Mission, preached to a large congregation, and in the afternoon gave an address to the Sunday School, whilst at the evening service Rev. E. V. Stevenson delivered an address to the men of the congregation. Mr. Davies, the organist, has not yet recovered from his accident, and the special musical portion of the service had to be dropped, but Mrs. Grassett ably presided at the organ and was supported by a good choir. The hymns were congregational and were rendered with much heartiness.

In the morning Mr. Benoit explained the object and working of the Sabrevois Mission. On this subject he delivered a very earnest address. This Mission is to French speaking Protestants, and it is more especially devoted to education. The Sabrevois Mission when first started was the object of much dislike and hostility. It had, however, entirely lived this down, so that albeit the Protestants of Sabervois were but two per cent of the population, the citizens had during the past six years elected one of the first and strongest promoters of the mission to be mayor. The mission was no longer stationed at Sabrevois but in Montreal, and since its foundation 3,000 children have been educated there.

Mr. Benoit explained that the Sabrevois Mission was not a proselytising agency. It did not seek to disturb the minds of those who were contented spiritually, but when, as sometimes occurred, doubt or uncertainty threatened unbelief, it endeavoured to present the reformed faith to the enquiring mind. From close observation and experience, he was of the conviction that there were great religious changes maturing in Quebec Province. The French mind was given to extremes and infidelity was growing. In these facts lay the justification and the necessity for their work.

Mr. Benoit in the afternoon gave a very amusing, at the same time pathetic, description of child life in Central Africa, where for some years he was an interpreter for the French government. The children's interest was well sustained and a good moral pointed the descriptions of the speaker.

A SERMON FOR MEN.

In the evening Rev. E. V. Stevenson delivered an admirable and powerful address to the men of the congregation. From the text "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth," he spoke of the influence and power of example. He said it gave him great pleasure to speak to men, and that evening he wished to speak as a man to men. Great opportunities for good were given to men, only too often to be neglected. As illustrations of his text he compared the beginnings of the Gospel, so small and insignificant with their world wide results. The beginning of the printing press, compared with its marvellous influence to-day aptly illustrated the same point.

Mr. Stevenson then spoke of the St Andrew's Brotherhood Convention at Buffalo, with the inspiration which it afforded. There was something immensely affecting in hearing the voices of 1,200 young men united in singing the hymn of the Brotherhood—

"Jesus calls me o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild reckless sea."

Coming down to matters of practical interest near at hand, he said that he did not think the percentage of earnest-minded young men was large enough in this community.

He did not wish to be misunderstood. There were many young men whom he respected and admired, but still the number was too large of those who were not putting their lives to good use.

He had heard it said that the young men of our community had not enough "sand," to use a common expression. That was not so. There was plenty of spirit, but it was not rightly directed.

This arose from a misconception of the true nature of manliness.

To the Churchman was given the charge to show what is the true nature of manliness. He quoted the words of a Bishop who said at Buffalo, that they did not so much want to get men into Heaven as to get Heaven into men. There was a hymn which he could never sing. It began—

"I want to be an angel."

He did not want to be an angel; he wanted to be a MAN.

There were two possible attitudes towards the world: The first was to forsake it; that was John the Baptist's way, and so it in all ages some were called. The second was to use the world; that was the way of Jesus Christ. We have to live in the world. Let us then bravely set our faces against the evil in the world, and use all our influence to fight against the wrong by which we are surrounded.

Mr. Benoit is in town to-day soliciting subscriptions for his work. Any person wishing to subscribe to the Sabrevois Mission may send in their contributions to Rev. H. Symonds. All moneys are acknowledged in the annual report.

To-night at 8 o'clock, Mr. Benoit will lecture in St. Luke's church on "The Humorous Aspect of Life in Western Equatorial Africa." Admission, 10c.

A LETTER FROM SIGMA.

I overheard a lady say that she would never again eat grapes, and I have heard of others who carefully remove all seeds from the grape before they swallow it. Now let me, a layman, give a few words of comfort to those whose lives are made miserable by the bugbear of appendicitis. If one were to judge from the reports so frequently made in the daily press, it would appear that appendicitis is not only on the increase, but that it seems to have a special predilection for some of the more prominent people. Contrary to popular belief, however, it is no more frequent nor elective in its occurrence than formerly. It is simply a new name for the very old and very common trouble known as peritonitis or inflammation of the bowels, which, until lately, and before operative treatment was instituted, nearly always ended in death.

The trouble having been traced to the ulceration or rupture of an inflamed appendix causing the fatal peritonitis, the early removal of the diseased organ very naturally suggested the proper line of treatment. It is, perhaps, not generally known that the various foreign bodies, such as grape seeds, cherry pits, etc., usually found in the appendix, are merely accidental consequences of the inflammation rather than causes of it. To those ladies who never eat a grape without a certain misgiving, it may be comforting to learn that it is a very rare circumstance to find a seed of the fruit lodged in the appendix. In fact, it was announced in a medical journal the other day that, aside from the intestinal concretions which really form in the organ after it has become diseased, there is scarcely an average proportion of three per cent. in which foreign bodies, distinctly so called, are discovered. That these accidental or deposited substances are not absolutely necessary for the production of the disease is shown by their entire absence in the majority of the most severe cases.

The real cause of the disease is associated with the destructive tendencies of a peculiar microbe called colon bacillus, which always exists in the intestine, and is absolutely harmless until an inflammation or injury of the appendix gives it an opportunity for the development of malignant qualities. The microbes then multiply with great rapidity, penetrate the walls of the weakened organ, and finally escape into the abdominal cavity by ulceration or rupture of the tube, thus producing the fatal or septic peritonitis.

COULD HARDLY WORK.

He Was Ill—But Now is Well.

Mr. T. Sarchet, the well-known tailor, Court House Ave., Brockville, Ont., got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills sometime ago. He did this because he had been seriously troubled for over a year with pains in his back across the kidneys, together with headache, dizziness, tired feeling and a general sensation of weariness and lack of ambition.

Referring to the result of the use of these pills, Mr. Sarchet says, "I can tell you that the pains in my back while sitting at work, made it almost impossible for me to keep on. I took a great many remedies, but they did me little or no good.

"When I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had but little faith in them. Now I have the greatest faith in them, because I believe them to be the greatest specific in existence for all kidney and back troubles.

"I say this because they have completely cured me, and I say it out of gratitude, and so that others who suffer in a similar manner may derive like benefit from a knowledge of the virtues of these pills.

"I can recommend them highly to any sufferer from kidney or back troubles, and feel that if they are given a fair trial no case, however severe, can resist their medicinal effects. 292

Laxa-Liver Pills Cure Biliousness and Sick Headache.

Human Body as a Mechanical Wonder.

The greatest of machines is the human body. That is the opinion of an engineer who looks at the subject from the technical standpoint.

Who would think that in his eye there is a block and pulley, or "tackle," as the sailor calls it, as complete and efficient as that with which a ship hoists her mainsail? There it is, however, and whenever you look at the tip of your nose the muscle that moves your eyeball works in it. There are several of these pulleys in the body.

Another clever dodge of Nature is shown in the bones of the face. Accomplished engineer that she is, she always uses the smallest quantity of material sufficient for strength. In making up the bones of the face she wanted a large surface to which to attach the muscles; but, as she didn't wish to encumber us with heads as heavy as an elephant's, she burrowed hundreds of little holes in the bones, called air cells, and thus secured strength, large surface and lightness.

When you get a severe cold you are apprised of the presence of another cunning device—the Eustachian tube. This tube is two inches long, and passes from the inside of the ear to the back of the mouth. It was put there to keep the air at the same pressure inside the drum as outside. Otherwise there would be no vibration of the drum, and you would be almost stone deaf. When you get a bad cold this tube sometimes becomes inflamed and blocked, and you are made quite deaf.

Adam's apple, if it was once that fruit that brought into the world all our woe, is now a useful organ. It serves as a sort of storage cistern of the blood for the supply of the brain. When the heart sends up too much blood Adam's apple intercepts it; and when the direct supply from the heart temporarily runs short, Adam's apple gives up its store.

One of the most valuable of all the inventions made for our comfort and safety is the perspirative gland. It acts like the safety valve of a boiler, letting off heat when we become dangerously warm. If our temperature rose seven or eight degrees, we would not have twenty-four hours to live. The valve of the sweat gland is therefore obvious.

Fear in Animals.

Back in prehistoric times our ancestors probably knew fear as a constant feeling. They fought to defend their lives and homes from one another. With the beginning of agriculture and the domestication of animals, fighting ceased to be the chief object of existence, gentler feelings had a chance to grow, and fear was not so common a state of mind. But we are not in the condition of savage tribes. We do not live in fear ourselves, and we understand that the animals we have domesticated must be treated with uniform kindness. The horse is exceedingly nervous, while cattle do not appear so nervous, and dairymen will tell you that the utmost gentleness is necessary in caring for them. We can reason away most of our fears; neither the wild nor the domestic animals can do so much. The one way to teach an animal to conquer fear is to let him feel that he may trust us. It is the true and only way, for it leads to love—and "perfect love casteth out fear."—Our Animal Friend.

Physical strength and energy contribute to strength of character, and both may be had by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Snap and Vigor Wanted.

Modern Life demands snap and vigor from all. The race for existence is better than ever. Keep your blood pure by using Burdock Blood Bitters, and you will be healthy, vigorous and strong. Miss Jennie A. Gleason, Centreton, Ont., says: "For two years I suffered from poor, thin blood I grew weaker every day until I tried B. B. B. It completely cured me by enriching my blood, and making me strong and vigorous again."

Fear Fruit Stain Piles.

Symptoms of Moisture: Intense itching and stinging, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue, tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. FEARFUL FLOODS IN SPAIN.

Great Loss of Life and Interruption of Railroad Traffic and Business.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—Further details received regarding the floods in the various parts of Spain, notably in the Provinces of Saragossa, Valencia and Malaga, where railroad traffic and telegraphic communication have been seriously interfered with, show that 15 corpses have already been recovered. In the neighborhood of Valencia enormous numbers of cattle have perished, and the villages of Grao and Mazaret have been completely inundated. Many houses in those places collapsed.

Another Yukon Steamship Line.

NEW WHATCOM, Wash., Nov. 13.—New arrangements have been completed between Capt. R. A. Talbot of Sioux City and F. A. Shirk of St. Paul and other eastern capitalists and the citizens of Bellingham Bay to run a steamship line from here to Dawson City next summer. An ocean line making regular trips will connect with two Yukon River steamers at St. Michael.

The company have purchased an ocean vessel at New York which will come around Cape Horn in 60 days. It will carry 800 passengers. Captain Talbot will run the river steamers. The company will have its headquarters here.

He Played With a Gun.

BURNT RIVER, Victoria County, Nov. 13.—Thomas Lee, aged 23, the son of Edward Lee, a farmer, who resides on lot 70 of the front range of Somerville, was accidentally shot on Wednesday and died instantly. The young man when hunting met a neighbor named Luff, who while examining his gun discharged it, the bullet entering Lee's head beneath the jaw and issuing from the top of his head.

McPherson is Free.

STOUFFVILLE, Nov. 13.—The preliminary investigation in the case of John McPherson of Ringwood, arrested on suspicion of being connected with stealing $115 from Sylvester's store at Ringwood, has been concluded. The magistrates decided that the evidence against the prisoner was not strong enough to warrant them in sending him down for trial, and accordingly the case against him was dismissed.

Committed as a Lunatic.

BARRIE, Nov. 13.—Donald Gordon, who ten days ago drove off with a revolver the Constable family from the old Gordon homestead at Craigvale, was ordered to be committed as a lunatic Puck's Philosophy.

The windows of a good many souls look out on the back yard.

The "humble opinion" is one of the rarest of mental phenomena.

A superfluous man is now alluded to as a third wheel to a bicycle.

Women burst into politics like a dog out of a pond, and shake themselves over everybody.

Every woman wonders why the newspapers don't have more recipes and less sporting news.

The average man can't help looking worried when his wife and an old sweetheart of his get intimate.

It is a singular fact that the man who says he is well is apt to be better than the man who says he is better.

The true sailor is like the ocean—however great a roll he may have at sea, he breaks when he strikes the shore.

One of the best ways of hanging on to your faith in human nature is by always taking good security for your loans.

Some women fit themselves to suit happiness, and fit happiness to suit themselves, and the others get a divorce.

It has been proposed to inaugurate the gilt wedding, to be celebrated by people who have been married what seems like fifty years.

A man feels hurt if his wife is not interested in his business; but, oftencimes, he doesn't know the color of her last new dress.

A Sore Sign.

He—You say you know they are to be married soon.

She—Why, yes. I heard her tell him to save his money and not give her anything for Christmas.

Dangerously Near It.

"I come mighty nigh swearin'," the deacon confessed as he came into the house nursing a bruised thumb.

"You don't tell me!" said his wife.

"But I do tell you. I am a-tellin' you right now. I hit my thumb with the hammer, an' 'stead of sayin', 'By ginger!' like I most always do, I hollers out, 'By jeper! I dunno how much hotter I would of made it if it had hurt a little worse.'"—Indianapolis Journal.

After Cheap Articles.

"It goes to show how avarice will overreach itself," remarked the man who is always pointing a moral. "Mr. Grasper has just wasted his money without receiving it."

"In what manner?"

"His doctor told him he needed a little mountain air. He wouldn't think of so expensive a trip, so he went to a show that included a Tyrolean warbler."—Washington Star.

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Nervousness, sleeplessness and pain harrass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription was made for her. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favourite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

A Fair Trail.

THORN'S TRIAL POSTPONED.

Jury Discharged and a New Panel Drafted by the District Attorney.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The trial of Martin Thorn for the murder of the rubber Guldensuppe will have to be tried over again. Dr. Burnett, the attending physician on the ailing juror Magnus Larsen, reported that he could not appear for a month. The eleven jurors in the case were, therefore, discharged and a new panel will be prepared and the work of empanelling a new jury proceeded with Monday, Nov. 22. The extra week's adjournment was asked for by the defendant's counsel, Mr. Howe.

TRADE IN CANADA.

The Commercial Agencies Report That We Are Doing a Pretty Good Business Taken All Round.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Bradstreet's review of Canadian trade to-day will say: Mild weather tends to retard general trade in some lines in the Province of Ontario, but greatly facilitates fall farm work. Montreal jobbers report a reasonable activity, and the Nova Scotia coal trade has been active for two months. There are 33 business failures reported throughout the Canadian Dominion this week, compared with 34 last week, 44 in the week one year ago and 45 two years ago. Bank clearings at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, Winnipeg, Hamilton and St. John, N.B., amount to $30,662,000 this week, 8 per cent. more than last week and 15.4 per cent. larger than the corresponding total one year ago.

An Indian Drowned.

Onondago, Nov. 10.—While two Indians, Geo. Hill and A. Bumbery, were crossing the river in a boat on the evening of the 8th inst., about one mile east of Onondago, Geo. Hill, aged 21, was drowned. The body was recovered about 6 p.m. yesterday.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

Cures Erysipelas, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Eczema and all other eruptive Skin Diseases.

Marvellous Cure for Erysipelas by Sloan's Indian Tonic, in Lambton County.

Mrs. J. J. Porter, of Corunna, writes:—

I received the medicine all right, and am much obliged for it. I had Erysipelas every summer for five years, sometimes so bad my face arms and body would swell to an enormous size and my eyes would be shut for days at a time. I tried two doctors but they did me no good, and I even went for change of climate, but all to no avail, until I got your TONIC. After taking one bottle the swelling ceased, and I improved every day and am now entirely cured.

Fred W. Leiskau, Baden, writes:—

Please send me another bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic. I bought one bottle from your agent early this spring and I must say it is the best medicine in existence. I was troubled with a soreness in my right side and tried many doctors, but they could not cure me, and after using the one bottle I have had no trouble with the soreness. I am very glad I can state this.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bringing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease in the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The treatable with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1890.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattress; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

Henrik Ibsen.

Henrik Ibsen, the first of Norway's literary men, might never have been the rage with his "social plays" had not the Ibsen cult arose in England. He was "studied" and translated galore, and some of his plays, notably "Nora, or the Doll's House," a consideration of the "new woman" question, have been produced in London. Although a Norwegian by birth, Ibsen spends all his time in Germany. He is German on his mother's side, but he has not written anything in German, although he is very adept in its use. Mr. Ibsen is 70 years old. His first efforts were published under the pseudonym of "Brynjolf Bjarme." His first production of note was "Catiline" (1850), and in the following year he founded a university journal and published in its columns his first satire, "Norma, or a Politician's Love." He was for several years the director of the National Theatre at Bergen, and as early as 1857 he had made a complete success as a play writer.

HENRIK IBSEN.

Eternal Vigilance

Is the price of perfect health. Watch carefully the first symptoms of impure blood. Cure boils, pimples, humors and scrofula by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Drive away the pains and aches of rheumatism, malaria and stomach troubles, steady your nerves and overcome that tired feeling by taking the same great medicine.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver tonic. Gentle, reliable, sure.

To Write Formal Letters.

Notes of invitation of a formal character, such as invitations to dinners, are to be read thus:

"Mrs. Wardwell requests the honor of Mr. Depew's company at dinner on Thursday, January 17, at eight o'clock."

The old-fashioned preliminary of "presenting compliments" is out of fashion. Invitations of a formal kind can be sent out three weeks or a month before the party takes place. The answer should be sent at once, either accepting or declining, thus: "Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass have much pleasure in accepting the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Pringle for dinner on March 12;" or, "Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass regret that they must decline the pleasure of dining with Mr. and Mrs. Pringle on March 12." No explanations needed. Neither erasures, blots or smears should ever appear on a letter, still less an invitation. Negligence in these matters evinces a rudeness to the person invited.

Great care should be taken to address people by their proper names and titles, and no lady will ever sign her name "Mrs. James Brown." She is "Mary Jane Brown," if the letter is addressed in the first person.

The Gay Stockings.

The displays of hosiery in the big department stores and in the small shops carrying imported novelties are startling and fascinating. The retail men say that the sales are enormous and that they have no cause to complain of dull times. Where a woman used to do with one pair of stockings she now requires six, and all this because the bicycle has brought about a tidal wave of reform concerning skirts.

Bear in Mind.

That a child should never be trotted on the knee by mother or nurse. It is sometimes disastrous in effect.

That a child's nursery should always be on the sunny side of the house, and should be kept neat and clean and always cheery.

That many persons who find it difficult to digest milk can do so readily if a pinch of salt is added.

That a teaspoonful of ammonia added once a week to the water with which you water plants will greatly stimulate the growth.

Sign of Strength.

The sign of strength, a ruddy countenance, depends upon rich, red blood. To make the blood rich and ruddy, the countenance clear and bright, and the step firm and elastic, used Burdock Blood Bitters. J.A. Gillan, B.A., Toronto, Ont., says: "I enjoy good health now to the greatest degree, ever since the day I started to use B.B.B."

CARE OF THE HAIR.

How One May Help to Prevent Baldness Timely Hints.

"What do you think of the theory advanced by some savant that man is tending to evolve into a hairless animal?" was asked of a hairdresser, whose specialty is diseases of the scalp, says The New York Sun.

"There is about as much probability of his walking on all fours," was the positive reply. "They know next to nothing about the hair and the scalp or they would never have such a thought. The hair never falls out unless there is something wrong about the scalp, caused by the general health, the habits of the individuals, or the way the scalp is treated. Blondes, of course, as a rule, have the thickest hair, as they average 700 hairs to the square inch, while there are 608 chestnut or brown hairs, 572 black hairs, and only 408 red hairs. I believe, as a rule, red-haired persons keep their hair the longest, while it turns gray sooner than any other. The hair is a good barometer of the health, for if a person is weak or ill, with an imperfect circulation, the hair invariably becomes thin, uneven and lacking in natural gloss. It is wonderful, with the constant falling out of the hair, that thin hair should not be more common, or that there is not more cases of total baldness. The average life of a hair is from two to six years.

"About the best way to keep the scalp healthy is to preserve its elasticity. To do this massage is necessary, and if there should not be enough oil, the hair feeling dry and brittle, a preparation containing lanoline, softened by the addition of either vaseline or glycerine, should be worked in with the fingers. If there is a tendency to baldness, this should be done daily. In such cases the application of water and too frequent shampooing should be avoided. The best hairdressers will all tell you that the hair should not be washed too frequently. The average person doesn't need to wash his hair oftener than once a month, but where the hair is excessively oily, which is really a good fault, it may be washed once every three weeks.

"As age comes on, the small vessels, the capillaries which feed the roots of the hair, become smaller, the hair roots are not properly nourished and the hair falls out. This also happens in fevers and disease. As a usual thing, after illness, these vessels soon regain their normal condition and the lost hair is quickly restored, but with age, restoring the hair is much more difficult. And if the hair follicles are entirely destroyed there is no remedy. The best agents for restoring the hair, especially where the person has been bald some time, is by massage or electricity. The first can be given by almost any barber, and I have known ladies who massaged their own heads successfully, but the second should only be given by or upon the direction of a physician. I have restored what at first appeared to be hopeless cases of almost total baldness of long standing by daily massage and the free use of lanoline and vaseline on the scalp. The tincture of cantharides, diluted to suit the condition of the individual scalp, is very useful when the loss of hair is due to inactivity of the circulation and the wasting of the glands and hair follicles.

"Now, dandruff is caused by the opposite condition of the scalp, or the over secretion by the glands. It is to the scalp what pimples are to the face. In these cases the hair follicles are clogged with too much grease, the simplest and most effective remedy being a thorough shampooing once a week and a daily massage of the scalp to aid the circulation. Washes containing alcohol, ammonia, borax and carbonate of potassium are good, but I have never had a case that would not yield to shampooing and massage.

"Some ladies have great faith in the old-fashioned idea of giving the hair one hundred strokes with the brush night and morning. I do not hesitate to tell them it is a fake. Many of them think my dislike of the brush a prejudice and pay little attention to my advice, but my dislike of the brush comes from more than twenty years' experience. The brush drags out the hair much more than the comb, and should be used as little as possible. A good healthy head of hair can be kept glossy as well without the brush as with it. All that is necessary is to keep it clean and well combed. Another fact about keeping the scalp and hair in perfect condition which many ladies disregard is that the hair should be allowed to fall loose over the shoulders whenever circumstances permit, and should never be confined at night or during the hours of repose."

RICHER THAN KLONDIKE.

Is the Strike Made by J. D. Ellis, of Niagara Falls—Costs Less and Gives Greater Returns Than Does Gold Mining on the Yukon.

Niagara Falls, Ont. Nov. 8—James D. Ellis, of this place, is convinced that he has made a richer strike than has any owner or prospector in the Klondike gold region. He is confident that the returns for his investment are better than can be got on the Yukon and that the lead will never play out. And thousands of persons on this continent heartily agree with him. Here is his story: "I have, for six years, suffered intensely from diabetes. I felt that I could hardly get along, but could get no relief. In despair I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was amazed at the benefit it gave. I have used three boxes, and am perfectly cured."

Ditching in Insecure Soil.

It is occasionally necessary to cut a trench through soil that will not "stand up" in the wall of the ditch. Sandy soil is of this nature. To keep the ditch open until a pipe can be laid, the plan shown in the accompanying diagram can be used to advantage. A stake is driven at one side of the proposed trench and is anchored from its upper end as shown in the sketch. As the trench is deepened, a board is slipped down behind the stake, another stake secured in the same way. As the trench is deepened, the board is pressed down, and another added above it, the stakes also being driven down and so on till the required depth is reached. The same plan will probably have to be used on both sides.

TO SECURE A DITCH.

Are You Losing Flesh?

Then something is wrong. To the young it always means trouble. It is a warning to any one, unless they are already too fat. Scott's Emulsion checks this waste and rings up your weight again.

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

An Eastern Munchausen.

Most of the stories told of seemingly impossible things are usually credited to the west, but they occasionally come across a Baron Munchausen down east. One of the latest of these is Peter Pinpiere, a young hunter just over the Maine line in New Brunswick. His tale is about as follows: Friday afternoon he left home at the head of a party of young farmers for a day's hunt, an eagle's nest on the top of Wally Mountain, eight miles away, being the objective point of the expedition. The two parent birds were captured after a hard struggle and securely tied, claw to claw. The rope holding the birds was passed to Peter, who carried them out to the level edge of the towering rock and sat down on the cord to hold the birds still. Suddenly the eagles screamed and spread their wings and started off with Pinpiere clinging to the rope. For thirty miles they carried him, when the young hunter's hands gave out and he dropped to the ground. Pinpiere was unhurt, but badly shaken up.

The Language of the Future.

A writer in a leading magazine has made the prophecy that in 300 years from now the world will know only three languages—English, Russian and Chinese. The English language will be spoken all over North and South America, in Australia, India, Africa, New Zealand and the islands of Australia and the Pacific. The Russian tongue will have conquered all Europe except Great Britain and all Asia except India and China.

An Idea for Piano Players.

Youthful musicians who practice the piano four or five hours a day frequently suffer from sore finger tips in consequence. According to The New York Times many of them remedy this evil by painting their finger tips with tincture of iodine two or three times a week. This hardens the skin and cures the soreness.

THE SURGEON FOILED.

Wanted to Perform an Operation.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS RENDERED IT UNNECESSARY.

Too many doctors are too ready to use the knife. Many a one is sacrificed on the altar of a surgeon's ambition to operate who could be saved by the use of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The case of MRS. W. B. AIKEN, of Zephyr, Ont., is one in point. Her husband says that she had been doctoring with several doctors for Inflammation of the Bladder for over a year.

"The last bottle I got from the doctor he said if that did her no good she would be compelled to have an operation performed. I luckily picked up a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills in Mr. Dafoe's store, and my wife took one pill that night and one in the morning, and she has never felt the least sign of pain since. I will always keep Dr. Chase's Pills in my house for all our family complaints."

High-Grade Cemetery Work
AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

LOCHINVAR ON THE WHEEL.

O, young Mike O'Dang has come out of the west,
Though all the wide border his wheel was the best,
Save his monky wrench trusty, he tool kit had none,
He rode all unpaced, and he rode a'l alone;
For punctures and headers he cared not a hang.—
O, a broth of a boy was that same Mike O'Dang.

He stopped not with brakes and he dodged every stone,
He'd coast down the hills where bike-paths were none;
But ere he alighted at Ballywhack gate
The bride had consented, the gallant came late
For a prim missionary from Yang-tse-Kiang,
Was to wed the fair bridget of dauntless O'Dang.

But boldly he entered the Ballywhack Hall,
'Mongst bridesmen and kinsmen, and brothers and all;
Then spoke the bride's brother, shillelah in hand—
For the poor craven bridegroom was lacking in sand—
"O, came ye in peace, or to clare out the gang,
Or to dance at our weddin', Sir Michael O'Dang!"

"I long wooed your sister, my suit you denied,
Love swells like the Shannon, but ebbs like its tide,
And now I am come, wid this last love av mine,
To dance wan last jig, drink wan last cup av wine;
Shure, I know a colleen wid a fine curly bang,
Who will gladly be bride to the young Mike O'Dang."

The bride kissed the goblet, the knight took it up,
He quaffed off the wine and he threw down the cup,
She looked down to blush and she looked up to sigh,
With a smile on her lip and a tear in her eye;
He took her soft hand, while the harp-strings did twang,
"Now for our last jig," quoth young Michael O'Dang.

So stately his form and so lovely her face,
That never a ball such a jig e'er did grace,
While her sister did fret and her brother did fume,
And the bridegroom, he looked as though he'd like to cuss,
And the bride's maidens whispered, "'Twill give us a pang
If our cousin weds any but young Mike O'Dang."

One touch to her hand and one word in her ear
When they reached the hall-door and the tandem stood near,
So light to her seat the fair lady he swung,
So light to his saddle behind her he sprung,
"She is won! We are gone!"—loud their bells they both rang—
"They'll have high gears that follow," quoth young Mike O'Dang.

There was mounting 'mongst Burkes of the Ballywhack clan—
Ryans, Murphys, O'Connells—they rode and they ran;
There was pumping and humping on Banagher Lee,
But the lost bride of Ballywhack ne'er did they see;
Sure, he won his fair bride and defied de whole gang,
And a happy gossoon now is young Mike O'Dang.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

A Medical Warning.

All medical men of large experience have frequently met with cases in which patients have placed a bottle of medicine to their lips and taken a draught of its contents in a dark room, under the impression that there was "only one bottle upon that shelf," when in reality some other member of the family had placed other bottles there. In this way serious cases of poisoning have occurred. In other cases a wife rising in the night to give some medicine to her husband or child has picked up the wrong bottle in the dim light, and administered a fatal dose, with terrible result.

Where medicine is ordered in drops you should always obtain a medicine dropper from a drug store, and avoid attempting to drop the medicine from the bottle, as it requires a very steady hand and accurate counting to avoid mistake.

Finally, let me warn you against one common habit, which is closely connected with the use of bottles containing old medicines, and is strongly condemned by oculists, who most frequently meet with it—the habit of preserving old medicine droppers which have been used for dropping fluids into the eye. Quite frequently powerful medicines dry in these droppers, and when they are used some months afterwards for the introduction of eye washes they produce symptoms which very seriously alarm the patient, and which may to some extent mystify the practitioner.—The Chautauquan for July.

Macaulay's Extraordinary Memory.

The secret of Macaulay's boundless acquirements was his quick, almost intuitive, discernment, and his extraordinary memory. "To the end he read books faster than other people skimmed them, and skimmed them as fast as anyone else could turn the leaves." His intellectual appetite was prodigious, and it was far from being nice about the pabulum set before it. Along with the best works of genius was devoured the most miserable trash. And it mattered not what it was—Shakespeare or Mrs. Meek—it was never forgotten. Two pieces of rhyme read in a provincial newspaper as he waited in the coffee room at Cambridge for the post-chaise, forty years afterward he could recall word for word. One afternoon, visiting at a friend's house with his father, he discovered on the table, "The Lay of the Last Minstrel." While the elder Macaulay talked, the younger was busy with the poem. He had no more than time to peruse it once, but coming home he was able to repeat to his mother several cantos of the work. Once when going over to Ireland he beguiled the monotony of the sea passage by reading over from his memory as from a book the first half of "Paradise Lost." He made the boast that, if by any chance "Paradise Lost" and "The Pilgrim's Progress" were destroyed, he would undertake to reproduce them from recollection.

The New Orchard Pest.

Prof. M. V. Slingerland of the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station has made a study of the new orchard pest, and says that the "pistol case bearer" is more destructive than any of the "case bearers" ever known. He believes it to be an American insect. In Pennsylvania it has already destroyed 8000 trees, and has now made its appearance in New York. Its range of food plants includes orchard fruits and probably the chestnut. It occurs from Canada southward, through New York and Pennsylvania, where only it has been destructive, and westward through Nebraska into New Mexico. It is very small and would hardly be noticed except for the "cases" which the little caterpillars wear, and which reveal them to the casual observer. Their form is pistol-shaped. They are tough, leathery texture, apparently made from silken threads, interwoven with pubescence from leaves. These little cases are odd looking little objects, and are seen projecting from flower buds, leaves or twigs. It is doubtful if any spray will reach the insect in its winter quarters. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

BARNETT SENT BACK.

The Central Bank Wrecker Goes to the Penitentiary for Three Years.

Other Montreal Notes.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—A good deal of sympathy is felt for Lord and Lady Aberdeen on account of the telegram which His Excellency and the Countess sent to the Nulty family before it was known that their son Tom had committed the deed. Some unwise people of Rawdon have issued the following:

"An abominable crime has been committed in our district, and the blood of four innocent victims cried for vengeance. The sanguinary brute is now in Jolliette, and the evidence of sympathy coming from high places shows us that the murderer, on account of his nationality, may look for protection in high places and may escape punishment."

The above, of course, is unjustifiable, but all agree that the telegram was unfortunate

Back to Penitentiary.

Roland Gideon Israel Barnett was sentenced Saturday morning to three years in penitentiary. Barnett's offence was the withholding of the proceeds of a note for $750 consigned to him for discount. He discounted the note with James Baxter & Co., and appropriated the proceeds to his own purposes. Barnett was one of the wreckers of the Central Bank in Toronto, and for that offence served seven years in penitentiary in Kingston. He was released about two years ago, his term having been shortened a few months for good conduct. Since his release he has been engaged in the note-shaving business in Buffalo and Montreal.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak urinuke parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULHOLLAND, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 86, St. Henri, Que.

CONVENTION CHARACTERISTICS.

Enthusiasm and Unanimity in Nominating a Business Man in a Business Constituency to Support a Business Administration, a Sure Presage of Victory—Some of the Details.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—No convention ever held in Toronto, which had for its object the selection of a Parliamentary candidate, was more thoroughly united in regard to the man it wanted than the one which last evening chose Mr. George H. Bertram to contest in the Liberal interest the constituency of Centre Toronto. It was not so much the enthusiasm which prevailed, although there was an abundance of this element on hand, which lent the meeting its distinguishing feature. It was the serious conviction in the mind of every one in the room that the occasion was ripe for the man, and that the man fitted the occasion as none other could. If this impression possessed the minds of the convention in making their choice it was deepened and made lasting by the splendid address which he delivered in accepting the nomination. It was a speech with which every Canadian, no matter what his political leaning, will agree intensely. It was the note, full and true, of the awakened national sentiment which is quickening the pulse of every genuine child of Canada today. It was the speech of a sound, practical business man, who has a comprehensive grasp of the subjects he handles, who has strong convictions and is not afraid to express them, and who believes in his country.

The convention was in point of numbers one of the most successful that the riding has known. The meeting was held in Temperance Hall, and the room was filled, the galleries also being crowded. The chair was occupied by the President of the Liberal Association, Ald. A. F. Rutter, who conducted the meeting with his usual good judgment. In the room were very many of the most prominent Liberals in Toronto.

The interest in the proceedings was greatly increased by the presence of Hon. J. Israel Tarte and Postmaster-General Mulock. Mr. Tarte's address was brief, but was a most inspiring one, and Mr. Mulock made an excellent speech.

After the chairman, Mr. Rutter, had made a neat speech, Mr. Bertram was unanimously nominated in able terms by Messrs. Kilgour and D. E. Thomson.

Mr. Lount, the late member, then spoke, detailing the reasons which had moved him in resigning. He had resigned because he could not attend to his parliamentary and professional duties, Centre Toronto's interests made such calls upon his time that he was confronted with the choice of either abandoning his practice and becoming a professional politician or resigning his seat. He chose the latter.

Ovation to the Candidate.

Mr. George H. Bertram received an ovation, the convention rising and cheering enthusiastically. Upon essaying to commence his address he was again interrupted while the Young Liberal delegation at the rear of the hall led the convention in the chorus, "He's a jolly good fellow." As soon as the enthusiasm would allow him to commence he said:—Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, electors of Centre Toronto, I desire to thank you most heartily for the great honor you have conferred upon me to-night in asking me to be the Liberal standard-bearer in the approaching election. I feel that you have touched my heart in the magnificent reception you have given me here to-night, and I feel that I cannot do better then to say to you now, without any further statement, that I accept the nomination. (Loud cheers, which continued for several minutes.) I desire to say, however, in accepting it that, so far as I am personally concerned, I am deeply conscious of the very kind things that have been said regarding myself by the previous speaker, and am afraid that I will not be able to come up to the ideal he has placed before you, but one thing I will do, and will do it with all my might, and that is that I will try to come up to his ideal. (Loud cheers.) I do not think it is necessary for me to say anything to you concerning what my record has been as a supporter of the Liberal Government and the Liberal party during all these long years. I commenced my political career in the fight in 1867, in which I took an active part, and during the seventies I gave a great deal of attention to politics at that time, so that my record, I think is very fair in that connection. I desire to say, however, that I am glad to be able to come before the electors of Centre Toronto with the assurance that I cannot come to ask you to support a better Government than exists at the present moment, a Government which has my entire confidence, and I am sure you will agree with me when I say that our honored and trusted leader, the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, is a man whom we can follow and trust, and we do more than follow and trust him, we love him every one of us. (Loud cheers).

Now, while I say to you that I profess to be a supporter of the present Government, and while I have been a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier for a long number of years, and while I know that they will do their duty, and that I will never have occasion to disagree with them; while I think that, I feel that the position to which you have called me is one of great responsibility, and if I am sent down to Ottawa, as I hope to be, by the electors of this constituency, I will support the Government, but I am proud to say I never was a slave to any party and hope I never will be a slavish supporter of any Government. (Loud cheers.)

GEORGE H. BERTRAM,
Liberal Candidate in Centre Toronto.

I will exercise my own judgment and will act up to the best and highest dictates of my conscience, and if at any time it should happen that some things are done or some measure brought in with which I am not in accordance, that my best knowledge and judgment will not allow me to support, I shall think it my duty, and I sure you will support me in it, feeling as I do, while I am a strong party man, that it is my duty and the duty of every one of us to place the interests of our country before the interests of the party. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Bertram then, in the course of a most concise speech, told the electors just where he stood on the great questions of the day, which he very much illuminated and explained by his clear-cut words. He, in closing, inculcated a sturdy patriotism, self-reliance and independence, and spoke strong words against combines and trusts. He concluded amid applause, long and long continued.

Hon. Mr. Tarte.

The reception accorded the Hon. J. I. Tarte when he rose to address the convention was, if possible, more enthusiastic than that which greeted his entrance to the hall. The Minister of Public Works was in a happy mood, and his address, full of humorous references, caught the attention of the convention in the first sentence and retained it to the close. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Bertram and asserted the anxiety of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other members of the Cabinet to have the advice and support in the House of business men such as he had shown himself to be. He dealt exhaustively with the question of the improvement of the waterways and its importance to the business interests of Canada. He was cheered when he expressed confidence that the people of Canada would endorse the action of the Government in its determination to prevent the diversion of Canadian trade to American channels as far as possible. Referring to the resignation of Mr. Lount, he voiced the regret of the Government at his retirement, but congratulated the Liberals of Centre Toronto upon the excellent candidate they had placed in the field, who, he thought, should be allowed to be elected by acclamation. In eloquent language he conveyed to the English-speaking people of Toronto and of Ontario the good-will of their French fellow-citizens, and their desire to walk and live and join together in love and harmony in the work of building up a grand and free country. After a brief but thorough defence of himself in reply to the charges made against him by his political opponents, he referred to the fate of the man who had libelled him, and had been sent to jail for doing so. He concluded by intimating that he intended now to let his

A STRONG STATEMENT

Our National Rights Must Be Maintained,

SAID SIR LOUIS DAVIES YESTERDAY.

The Situation at Washington—The Sealing Question and the Position of Both Sides—A Joint Commission to Be Appointed—Value of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Personal Magnetism.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 15.—(Telegram special.)—Sir Louis Davies told me this morning that the labors of the experts were all but over. Some time this afternoon it is expected the experts will hand in a statement of facts upon which all are agreed. Then will come an important step. A joint commission will be formed whose duties are to be a consideration of the seal question, along with several other international controversies. The suggestion will be made to Hon. J. W. Foster, Chief United States Commissioner, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier immediately the signed statement of the experts is handed in. Of course it may be that Mr. Foster will reject the proposition. The probabilities are all the other way. Those informal talks between Premier Laurier and President McKinley and Secretary of State Sherman were not unimportant, even though they were given no more official prominence than after dinner chat. It is a safe assumption that an understanding was reached whereby Sir Wilfrid Laurier's request for a joint commission to Canada on the seal and other international questions will be immediately granted.

What Sir Louis Davies told me this morning makes Canada's proposition clear. He said he considered it as well that our country's contention be plainly outlined.

"First and foremost," said Sir Louis, "we absolutely refuse to consider the seal question by itself. The catching of seals by Canadians in Behring Sea is a national right. A national right we will not barter for a money recompense. If we give way in the matter of a national right, we insist that the United States shall make some concession in the way of sacrificing a national right."

Sir Louis is a firm believer in the justice of Canada's side of the seal controversy. What the United States asserts is that the sealing industry has reached a stage when its pursuit is no longer commercially profitable. Holding that view, the republic maintains that Canada cease pelagic sealing. This in other words simply means that the United States asks Canada to abandon an industry on the high seas, so that an industry on the Pribylof Islands, in American territory, may become more profitable. It is asking Canadians to lose, in order that the United States industry may be made more profitable.

The testimony of the experts after all twisting and fencing has in no way altered the Canadian Minister's conviction that the Paris award afforded ample protection to the seals. Now, if the United States wants Canada to surrender a national right, she must be prepared to grant a similar concession to our Dominion, and this, too, in addition to an indemnity to Canadians with investments in the sealing industry. An obvious right, and one which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues will very firmly press in the negotiations. Canada's argument to the United States representative at the coming joint commission is very well told in the words of Sir Louis Davies.

"We will," said he, "make it clear that the States can, if they will, grant us concessions for which we could consent to meet American demands in Behring Sea. We will tell them that in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick we have coal for which the United States market should be opened; that the American Government has committed an unfriendly act in placing an almost prohibitive tax on lumber, and inserting a clause in their tariff whereby the duty may be doubled in case certain legislation is passed by Canada."

Other items will be suggested by the Canadians. These include fish, barley, potatoes, hay, etc.

THE CANADIANS KICK.

American Sealing Propositions Do Not Meet With the Favor of Our Experts at the Conference.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—When the Behring Sea meeting began at the State Department yesterday the delegates stated that there was every reason to believe the final stage would be reached before night. The experts, it was reliably stated, had reached a common ground of understanding and would sign a joint report. With this in hand the diplomats planned to devote the afternoon to considering a joint agreement between the United States and Great Britain for the cessation of pelagic sealing. This feature was felt to be the vital issue of the negotiations on which hinged not only a settlement of the Behring Sea question, but also probably that of reciprocity, border immigration and all the questions pending between the United States and Canada. From reliable quarters it was learned that the diplomatic contention had already taken definite shape. It is understood that the proposition of the American representatives involves two features: first, that Canada, through the Imperial authorities, shall consent to the stoppage of pelagic sealing for one year, and, second, that the negotiations shall be opened for a suspension of sealing beyond this term of one year.

Austria, Italy and England.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The visit of Count Goluchowski, the Austro-Hungarian Minister for Foreign Affairs, to King Humbert at Monza, and its attendant circumstances, are regarded in German political circles as being of the highest importance. The Conservative and Agrarian newspapers interpret the visit as meaning a closer understanding between Austro-Hungary and Italy, and a leaning of those two powers towards Great Britain.

TELESCOPIC CRITICISM.

The Ontario Opposition are to be credited with a great deal of zeal when they take a telescope to discover faults in the Ontario Government. Col. Mathieson and Dr. Willoughby, Mr. Whitney's favourite lieutenants, have made statements in recent speeches charging Dr. Chamberlain, Ontario Government inspector of charities, with using $12 of the public money for a present to a lake captain. Dr. Chamberlain says the statement is an absolute falsehood. Dr. Chamberlain purchased and paid for, out of his own pocket, a marine glass, which was given to repay the kindness of Captain Campbell, who, season after season, held his boat for Dr. Chamberlain while he performed his duties on Manitoulin Island. Capt. Campbell thus saved the Government probably $150; for the inspector would have had to stay on the island for days at the Government's expense but for the kindness of the captain. What a broad an l statesmanlike stand the Opposition take; Dr. Ryerson trotted out a calf with a cough, Mr. Marter objected to the appetite for eggs developed by certain officials, Mr. St. John puts his faith in a pig, and Dr. Willoughby and Col. Mathieson tell imaginary yarns about a $12 spy glass which a Government official bought with his own money to show a decent regard for favours received. This is peanut politics with a vengeance, and it is such 'statesmen' that Mr. Whitney wishes to associate with himself in the government of the country.

STRICT and undivided attention to a business is a necessary element of the greatest success. The farmer who leaves the plough to double in side speculations, as a rule, does not meet with success in either undertaking. To succeed he must stick to his business. The refrain of an old song says:

"So stick to your farm
Or you'll suffer the loss;
For the stone that keeps rolling
Will gather no moss."

A Pembroke farmer has proved the truth of this, for the authorities have proved a charge of counterfeiting against him. He was not content with making money from his soil but he must needs try to make money by the use of moulds, pewter, etc., and now he is in jail with a good prospect of making something else—a protracted acquaintance with the interior of a penitentiary.

A CONVENTION of club women is being held in Saginaw, Michigan. If the conditions were changed so as to make applicable the title of clubbed women by the husbands of women who have neglected their homes for clubs, one could well sympathize with the occasion. Men's clubs are bad enough, as indicating vicious substitutes for homes, but women's clubs speak of homes that have the best element of home—a wife or mother—taken out.

PRESERVE THE WOODLANDS.

Practical Action of the Government in This Direction.

Monetary Times.

The woodlands of Ontario have been sadly depleted in the counties of Wentworth, Dufferin and Huron, the proportion of woodland to the total area is but ten per cent.; in Prince Edward and Lambton it is nine per cent.; in Wellington and Brant, eight per cent.; Peel and York, seven per cent., and in Victoria only five per cent. These figures are not the estimates of a careless or merely local investigator, but are based upon the returns made to the Ontario Government. The latest returns show that, taking the province as a whole, less than twenty-five per cent. of the total area is under timber.

An important function of wooded land has always been to hold the rainwater and distribute it according to the season's requirements. The spongy masses of leaves and wood which cover the soil in the forests, absorb the water as it descends from the clouds in the form of rain or snow, to impart it gradually in small streams, or by the process of evaporation. When the forests are removed, destroying this natural reservoir, during the spring months, the season's supply of water is dissipated in floods and freshets. The overflow of the the streams and rivers often cause serious damage, it is true, but is the source of less damage than the droughts which follow later in the summer as an inevitable consequence. In other ways the value of a fair proportion of forest to agricultural land might be shown, but enough has been said to emphasize the importance of efforts by Government and people to conserve our forest wealth.

In this connection, we observe with interest the decision reached last month by the Government at Ottawa, to change the policy regarding the timber regulations applicable to the Northwest and Manitoba. It is now announced to be the aim to maintain permanent timber reserves. With this object in view, the heavy timber belts will be withdrawn from settlement, to preserve the young growing trees and to foster a growth to provide for the future. In pursuance of this policy, guardians will be appointed to protect the reserves, particularly at Moose and Turtle Mountains, from fire, and to prevent the cutting of the young trees by the settlers. Another step in contemplation is the devoting of labour and money towards the laying out of a proper fire guard, a sum having been voted last session for this purpose. On the tops of the above-mentioned reserves are numerous lakelets. These are to be connected with wide roads, which, when completed, will form a complete barrier to the progress of a fire. The theory is that the open space and the lakes should effectually prevent any further ravages and act as a reliable fire break. Such movements as these in needed directions are very satisfactory. We trust to see the best results from them.

Wonderful Effects.

Kind Words From a Famed Institution.

Happy Ladies' Speak of Paine's Celery Compound.

"We feel it a duty to add our testimony in favour of your 'wonder-working' Paine's Celery Compound. Many Sisters suffering from debility, dyspepsia and indigestion, have been completely cured after taking it. We shall strongly recommend its use in all our houses as the best medicine to restore health and give true vigour to the nervous system."

This thankful letter comes from the Sisters of the Convent of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, Montreal. No other medicine in the world has ever received such a high recommendation from an institution so conservative in character.

Debilitated, dyspeptic, broken down and half dead people have a guarantee such as no other medicine can boast of, that Paine's Celery Compound cures thoroughly and well. One bottle of the great medicine will suffice to convince any doubter that its virtues are beyond praise.

A C.P.R. Smash-up.

TWEED, Ont., Nov. 16.—(Special)—A smash-up occurred here early yesterday morning on the Canadian Pacific Railway. While approaching the station the train stopped suddenly and the nine flat cars which were in the middle between heavily loaded box cars were totally destroyed. It has delayed the traffic on the road, but the wreckage is being cleared away by train hands.

Col. Moore Will Retire.

HAMILTON, Nov. 16.—It is announced that next week will see the retirement of Lieut.-Col. Moore from the command of the 13th Battalion. Col. Moore joined the regiment in 1866 as ensign, and became captain of No. 2 Co. in January, 1870. He was brigade-major at Camp Niagara in 1872, brevet-major in 1875 and two years ago was gazetted to his present position. The 13th owes nearly everything to his efforts. Major McLaren will be appointed to the command.

GUESTS FROM WAY BACK.

Some Amusing Stories of Their Blandess in Hotels of a Big City.

The clerks at several of the hotels are telling amusing stories about some of the guests who have come in from the rural districts to the fall festivities and fair. An aged couple came into the Moser Tuesday night and wanted a room. When informed that there was none, the woman turned to the man and snapped out:

"It serves us right. We will have to walk the streets to-night!"

When asked for an explanation the man said that they had arrived that morning and paid for a room at some house in advance for the week. He said they forgot to take the number and street, and had looked for three hours for the house and then given up. They had not the slightest idea where the place was.

A man from Arkansas told the housekeeper at the Moser that he was going out and might not be back for supper, but she need not wait for him.

Another man came into the St. James yesterday afternoon and seeing an advertisement on the blotter in the register headed: "A friend in need is a friend indeed," asked for the address.

"That's the man I've been looking for," he said. "I was robbed last night and I want to borrow money to get home on."

A man at the Rosier apologised to the night clerk for keeping him up until 11 o'clock. He said he hadn't noticed how late it was.

A well-dressed man at the St. Nicholas told the clerk that there was no oil in his lamp. It wouldn't light. A boy went up and turned on the incandescent and told the guest that he had forgotten to turn up the wick. He acknowledged that he had.

A man and woman were registering at the Moser Wednesday evening when a hackman came and asked them for his money for hauling them up from the Union Station.

"Why, you ain't going to charge us, are you?" asked the man.

"Sure," cried the hackman.

"Didn't you ask us if we wanted to ride?" demanded the man.

The hackman said he had.

"Well, then," exclaimed the man, "what do you want us to pay for?"

The clerk explained matters and the visitor to the city paid the bill. He remarked that that was the first time he had ever known of anyone being invited to ride and then asked to pay for it.—St. Louis Republic.

Boring the Bore.

"Come in and see how I get rid of botes. You've often asked my recipe, and I'm about to deal with one of the most virulent of his type." It was an old banker speaking, and he showed his guest into the private office.

"Hello, Orpey," began the bore, at sight, "just dropped in to have a talk about poor Lipsey. I suppose—"

"Yes, of course, neglected his business, gambled away enormous sums of money, fell a victim to the terrible curse of intemperance, dissipated his fortune and even lost his home. Too bad!"

"Awful! But did you hear—"

"Certainly. Tried to drown his sorrows in deeper potations than ever, lost his trial situation in a commercial house, was branded a bad egg and left to his own resources. Drifted away into a great city, family suffered, he braced up, found honest employment, won friends, and was doing well, everything considered."

"That's right, but—"

"So I heard. Back with us again. He has a fine position, looks like his old self and everybody happy."

"Do you think he'll—"

"I know he will. A few old calamityites think otherwise, but he's all right. We have him for dinner to-morrow night. Goes to the Upples next night."

"No? I hope—"

"That's all right. So do the rest of us."

"Well, good day. Pretty busy these times."

"There you have it," laughed the banker, as he closed the door. You persist in doing the talking and a bore will run every time."

DARGAI RIDGE FIGHT.

Under a Deadly Fire the Kilted Braves

MADE THEIR IRRESISTIBLE STAND.

Details of Highland Collective and Individual Heroism in One of the Dashes That Will Live in British Military Annals—The Gordons Will Take It.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The newspapers of this city have just received graphic details by mail of the recapture of Dargai Ridge by the Gordon Highlanders on Oct. 20th, during which that regiment exhibited remarkable dash and courage. After the fighting on Monday, Oct. 18th, between the column of British troops commanded by General Sir Yeatman Biggs and the tribesmen from Chagru, on the Samana range, the British retired upon Shinware, and the enemy, greatly reinforced, re-occupied Dargai Ridge. On Wednesday following General Biggs sent the second division to dislodge the tribesmen. The position was a very strong one, the enemy occupying the summit of a precipitous hill. The top of this hill could be reached only by a single path, along which the attacking force, at first consisting of a Ghurka regiment, the Derbyshire regiment and the Dorsetshire regiment, was obliged to climb in Indian file, while three batteries of artillery shelled the trenchments of the hill men.

Dargai Ridge, from the direction of the assault, presents a frontal of about a mile, the left end of which is rock for 200 yards. In spite of the difficulty of the ascent, the movements of the British troops were fairly well covered, except in the case of a dip, or small valley, 100 to 150 yards wide, about half way up the ridge, and exposed to direct fire from the cliffs. When the Ghurkas reached this fire zone, immediately the top of the cliffs burst out into flame, for a thousand tribesmen had reserved the fire of their rifles until that moment.

Though decimated the little mountaineers struggled across the dip and reached the shelter of a few rocks. Then, led by their officers, they made a dash for the cover of the cliffsides. But the others could not follow, and the enemy, with true military instinct, reserved their fire. Though the remainder of the Ghurkas, the Derbyshires and the Dorsetshires appeared on the fringe of the dip, yet to step into the fire zone meant death. But the Dorsetshires again tried to advance to the support of the Ghurkas. Thirteen men struggled into the open space, only to drop before the other side could be reached. Already the little dip was strewn with corpses, and so bloodthirsty were the enemy that a wounded man had but to move a limb to become the target of a dozen marksmen. Reluctantly, the senior officer heliographed down to the main body of the British troops that the passage could not be made. At this juncture, General Kempster ordered the Gordon Highlanders to the front. It was then four o'clock in the afternoon and over 100 men had already fallen. The enemy were shouting their defiance and waving their standards, confident of their position and certain of success.

But the Gordon Highlanders had yet to be reckoned with.

Rapidly forming his brave men, and after his now historic speech, "Men of the Gordon Highlanders our general says that position must be taken at all costs. The Gordon Highlanders will take it," Colonel Mathias, the commander, dashed out at the head of his regiment. In a moment they were across, carrying everything with them in their onrush, storming the ridge with a resolution that was resistless and beating down all opposition.

When Colonel Mathias gave the order to advance, the pipers of the Highlanders followed, striking up "Cock of the North," and with a shout the leading company of kilted men was into the fire zone. A stream of lead swept over, through and past them, bullets churning up the dust, which half hid the rushing men.

Piper Findlater was among the first to show the way across the deadly strip of ground, and when, after traversing but a few yards, he was laid low by a shot through both legs, he managed to prop himself up against a boulder and continued with unabated energy the stirring music of his pipes. Men kept pouring into the passage and the leaders struggled across to the cover. Then there was a lull, and, as one paper remarks; "One had time to see how cruel had been the slaughter."

Then, with a second cheer, the mixed troops streamed across and the enemy, seeing the barrier swept away, left their loopholes and rock barricades and fled precipitately down the reverse slopes, without waiting for the line of cold steel which was then nearly on the crest of the ridge,

Piper Findlater has been recommended for the Victoria Cross. Captain Robinson of the Ghurkas acted with the greatest gallantry. After leading his men across the fire zone to the cover and finding the force there insufficient, he returned over the death trap alone, and was mortally wounded while leading the second Ghurkas to support the first body of that regiment.

FRUIT GROWERS ALARMED

To Save Orchards an Emergency Meeting Will Be Held at an Early Date in December.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—(Special.)—The expert who was employed by the Ontario Government to trace the San Jose scal has conclusive evidence to the effect that the pest came from nursery stock imported from California.

The fruit growers are alarmed, and a meeting has been called for early December. Then two propositions will be put forward. One will be that the Dominion Government prohibit the importation of all nursery stock from the United States.

The other is that the Dominion Government be asked to appoint inspectors to examine all such imported stock. The latter suggestion will probably be adopted.

CAPITAL TOPICS.

Just Tired of Life Was the Reason a Young Ottawa Drug Clerk Gave for Committing Suicide.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—Benson Moore, a young man 23 years of age, who was clerk in J. A. Musgrave's drug store, Bank street, and who boarded on the same street, committed suicide last night. Before doing this he wrote a letter to his rooming companion, stating that he was tired of life, and did not expect that he would ever be better able to die than at present. His parents live in the Dauphin district, Man.

Smuggled From Canada.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 16.—Customs officers have unearthed what promises to prove extensive operations in phenacetine smuggled from Canada. Nearly 500 ounces of the drug were confiscated yesterday. It was found at the home of Mrs. Amos Frazier. The woman is under arrest. A New York firm receives royalty on all the phenacetine brought into the country. The smugglers avoid this, besides the duty of 60 per cent.

THE POPE'S DECISION

Regarding the Question of Schools in Manitoba—Catholics Must Stand for Constitutional Rights.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—The Pope's utterances on the Laurier-Greenway Manitoba school settlement will be promulgated on Wednesday of this week. In the meantime I learn on unimpeachable authority the points of His Holiness's decision. The utterance deals very exhaustively with the facts of the case, tracing them in detail, to support what is claimed as the undoubted right of the Manitoba Roman Catholics to Separate schools, and showing also the alleged infringement of this right by the action of the Manitoba Legislature.

The Pope declares that the Roman Catholics must not attend the Public schools; that they must, like Roman Catholics everywhere, loyally and obediently support their own school system, even where the state refuses to assist.

The Supreme Pontiff declares that no opportunity must be lost of asserting the claims of Roman Catholics to the full enjoyment of their constitutional rights. Still, His Holiness advises the Manitoba Catholics not to be too grasping and aggressive, but pursuasively, and by all peaceful methods, to impress the justice and fairness of their temporarily lost cause upon their fellow-citizens of other faiths in the hope that eventually their full rights may be restored.

WAR AGAIN THREATENED.

Turkey and Bulgaria Ready to Fly at Each Other's Throats.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The correspondent of The Times at Vienna says:

The final treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece has not yet been signed, and the negotiations of the powers with respect to autonomy for Crete have hardly emerged from the initial stage when already there are disquieting symptoms in the Balkans.

The relations between Bulgaria and the Porte are strained. The Sultan is preparing for all eventualities, and 100,000 Turkish troops are on the Bulgarian frontier armed with Mausers and amply provided with horses and guns.

Servia, of course, would be implicated in any complications in connection with Macedonia, while recent accounts from Albania report signs of growing unrest.

On the whole the outlook in the East is in no wise reassuring.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

Marquis Ito Urges a Peace Step in the Corean Customs Matter.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A special despatch from Shanghai says serious tension exists between Japan and Russia, owing to the latter's efforts to control the Corean customs, and that some of the leading Japanese Ministers are urging the adoption of strong measures, even to the extent of war with Russia. But the Marquis Ito discountenances this step, and urges, instead, that Great Britain, the United States and Japan make joint representations to Russia on the subject of Corea.

He Filled Teeth for Royalty.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Dr. Thomas W. Evans, the famous American dentist, who aided the flight of ex-Empress Eugenie from Paris in 1870, died suddenly yesterday evening.

German Demands in China.

COLOGNE, Nov. 16.—A despatch to The Cologne Gazette from Berlin says that the sailors and marines belonging to the German cruiser Division, off the coast of China, have made a landing in force at Kiaochan Bay, the nearest part to Yen-Chu-Fu, in the southern part of the Chinese Province of Shan-Tun, where the German missionaries were recently murdered, with the view of forcing the Government of China to completely satisfy the demands of Germany.

TWO PICTURES.

One Rich, Bright and Cheerful; the Other Gloomy, Dark and Muddy.

Forty-five samples of coloured cloth are shown on the Diamond Dye sample card, from which can be produced over one hundred good, solid colours. Every dyed sample is full, rich, brilliant and fast, showing just what any woman of ordinary intelligence can do with Diamond Dyes. This is picture number one.

The common imitation dyes, and dyes composed of soap grease as a principal ingredient, show but a dozen or fifteen colours, and so imperfect in colour tone and power that the small collection looks gloomy, despondent and sickly to any individual with a taste for the beautiful. This is picture number two.

To those in doubt we say, send your address to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, for a colour card of Diamond Dyes; it will be sent free.

The Diamond Dyes being the easiest to dye with give all the grand results in beauty and fastness of colour that the heart can possibly desire.

A Fair Trail.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

To Grow Hyacinths.

For the benefit of those desiring to grow hyacinths in glasses this season, the following directions from a reliable authority are given: Allow only the base of the bulb to rest in the water, for should it be submerged it is likely to rot. Place in a cool, dark place, until a heavy mass of roots has been formed, when it may be brought into the light. After the buds have formed, it will be well to cover with a paper cylinder open at the top, this taking the place of the inverted pot of the soil-grown bulbs. The water may be changed about every two weeks, but it will keep perfectly sweet without this change if a few pieces of charcoal are dropped into each glass.

Resolution of Condolence.

At the regular meeting of Branch No. 2, C. O. F., the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

[illegible]

CRACKSMEN AT WORK IN PETERBOROUGH.

THE PREMISES OF THE WM. HAMILTON CO. AND ROBT. NEILL BURGLARIZED.

No Clue to the Identity of the Thieves but the Police are Hard at Work—A "Tall Dark Stranger" is Wanted.

The office of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. was entered and burglarized last night, the safe being blown open and about thirty or thirty-five dollars stolen.

The burglars left no clue as to their identity but the neatness of workmanship displayed in drilling and blowing open the safe argues that professionals of the most dangerous class are at large in the vicinity.

The office was closed last night as usual at the same time as the foundry—at six o'clock, and nothing was suspected of the burglary until this morning when a couple of the men went into the office in search of Mr. Munro, and found everything in a state of disorder. The safe door stood wide open and the contents were scattered in all directions. Mr. Munro was summoned from the works, and immediately telephoned for the police, Chief Rossel and Officer Stewart responding.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

It was ascertained that the safe had been blown open by a hole being drilled through the top and a small case of powder being inserted and exploded by means of a fuse, the remnants of which were found on the floor. The burglars had evidently brought their own drill with them, but they also secured two hammers, two chisels, a small crowbar and a brace from Mr. Jones' bench in the shop, going upstairs and to the far end in search of these tools. The shop was entered through a window, as was the office. When the safe was blown open the bolts were torn out of their sockets breaking out the casing from top to bottom. The door swung back with such violence as to throw Mr. A. E. Lech's heavy desk around sideways. It was located just at the side of the safe where the door would strike it.

Fortunately there was only about forty dollars in the safe at the time, and ten dollars of this was overlooked. The books and papers were all removed and scattered around the floor in the search for money.

No suspicious characters have been seen around the premises lately, with the exception of one man who applied for work last Thursday. He said he had not had anything to eat since the day previous, and was given a quarter by Mr. Lech, who, however, had no work for him. The stranger said he was a machinist from Amherst, Nova Scotia. He was a tall, swarthy-complexioned man.

Mr. H. Blenkarn, who works upstairs in the drilling department over the office, passed through in the morning at seven o'clock, but in the dark did not notice anything wrong.

As far as can be ascertained by a hasty examination nothing but cash is missed, but the money which was in one of the small drawers, and which, Mr. Lech states, could not exceed thirty or thirty-five dollars.

THE NEILL ROBBERY.

Another burglary took place last night when an entry was effected into the premises occupied as a shoe store by Robt. Neill.

The mode of procedure adopted in getting into Mr. Neill's shoe store was [illegible] the burglars unlocked their entry from the top of the building through a small manhole and then pulling open a trap door leading from the garrett into the story below. The trap door was fastened down by four hooks—one on each side, but was pried off evidently with a crowbar.

The housebreakers then dropped from the trap door into the shoemaker's room, upsetting a bench and scattering the tacks and tools all over the floor. It was through noticing this that the employees first knew that the premises had been burglariously entered. Not anything had been missed although fifty pairs of shoes might have been taken from shelves and the loss would not be noticed until

STOCK TAKING TIME

Whether shoes have been taken or whether the burglars were disturbed before they reached the safe is not known, but that the till or safe were molested in any manner, not was anything else interfered with except the shoemakers bench.

The roof was evidently gained by ascending some of the numerous stairways in the block and climbing out one of the skylights or manholes, as access to it could not be obtained from the exterior. It is looked upon as an amateurish job.

Mr. Neill is taking stock up-stairs to-day to ascertain definitely if any of the goods have been taken.

Even if the police could have heard the hammering incidental to the battering in of the trap door the noise could not have been located unless by a person in the building.

The general opinion is that the burglary at the Wm. Hamilton works was perpetrated by the same gang which operated in Trenton, and more recently in Norwood.

Chief Rossel does not think that either the Wm. Hamilton Co. or Robt. Neill robbery was the work of skilled cracksmen, but inclines to the belief that both jobs were undertaken by amateurs. He points out that that the hole which was drilled in the top of the Wm. Hamilton Co's safe was not as near the front as it is usually placed by skilled burglars, although it did its work all right. The hole, he thinks, was evidently drilled by mechanics, but not by burglars who had been in the business for any length of time. The Robt. Neill robbery, he holds, was so unsuccessfully done, the work of novices in so entirely preclude the idea of the presence of professionals who would never enter from the top into an unknown building, when access could be gained from the ground floor.

Deer Hunters' Coupons.

Some complaint is being made by deer hunters of the Government's present system of coupons. Each hunter may kill but two deer during the open season, and only two coupons are issued to him. Under the regulations a man can only ship a deer whole. If he has a friend in Hamilton and another in London, he cannot send a quarter of venison to each. It has been pointed out that if each coupon was made up of four steamed coupons, each good for a quarter of venison, this difficulty would be obviated and the law would still be preserved in it is.

PROMINENT EDUCATIONALIST

From Baltimore, Md., addresses the Students of the Business College.

Dr. Rowe, one of the most prominent business educationalists in the United States, and joint author of "The Budget System of Bookkeeping" was in town on Friday last and addressed the students of the Peterborough Business College.

Dr. Rowe is connected with Sadler's Bryant & Stratton Business College in Baltimore, Md., where this new system of bookkeeping was first introduced and found to be so successful as to induce over four hundred other colleges to adopt it. Theory is taught by it, as well as actual practice, placing the student in the capacity of a bookkeeper instead of a merchant conducting his own affairs. The system is carried on through the primary steps to the more advanced and difficult transactions.

The students were addressed for over an hour by Dr. Rowe, who spoke to them also of the line of their work, urging the development of mind power and dwelling on the necessity of attention to punctuality and detail in their work when situations were secured.

The address was listened to with marked interest by the students, who evidently appreciated the many excellent points made by the speaker.

THE LATE MISS BECK.

The death of Miss Anne Maria Walton Beck, eldest daughter of the late Canon Beck, the respected rector of Peterborough for over thirty years, will be heard of with deep regret by the numerous friends of the late rector and his family. Her death is something of a shock in its unexpected character. Miss Beck has been in ill-health for some time past and returned from Clifton Springs about two weeks ago, where she had been for the benefit of her health. On her return she entered the Nicholls Hospital, where she underwent a somewhat severe surgical operation, which was entirely successful and she had almost fully recovered from its effects, but on Saturday serious complications, apparently unconnected with her malady, set in, and so severe were their nature that death resulted at half past two yesterday. Miss Beck was born in Auburnham and spent her life in Peterborough, where she shared in a large degree the high esteem in which her family was held. Miss Beck leaves behind her, Mrs. Beck, and four brothers and three sisters—Mr. H. T. Beck, barrister, Toronto; Mr. A. N. Beck, Q. C., Edmonton; Dr. G. S. Beck, Port Arthur; Rev. C. B. Beck, Edmonton; Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, town. Mr. H. T. Beck is in town for the funeral, which takes place at 2.30 p.m. on Wednesday from the residence of Mrs. Beck, 609 Water street, to St. John's church.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

A Home to be Established on the Corner of Stewart and Charlotte Streets.

The Children's Aid Society at a special meeting yesterday afternoon decided to accept the town council's offer of a grant of $200 and the exemption of the building, which they would secure, from taxes.

Mr. Henry Best's kind offer of the use of a house belonging to him on the corner of Charlotte and Stewart streets, was also accepted.

Mr. F. W. Miller was appointed superintendent of the Children's Home, being given house and fuel free of charge on the understanding that he would look after the Society's wants at the cost of $1.50 per week each.

The home, it is thought, will be furnished by private subscription, quite a large amount being already promised for that purpose.

The formal acceptance of the council's offer was sent in to-day to be read at this evenings meeting of that body.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Geo. J. Shorey, barrister, of Norwood, was in town this morning.

Mr. H. K. Smith, Deputy Game Warden of the Province, is in town to-day on business connected with his office.

Mr. Dan Cleary, who has been cheesemaker at the local factory, returned to his home in Upperagore.

Mr. W. A. Richardson, Norwood, visited here Thursday.

The tea and entertainment last Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Methodist church were up to the most sanguine expectations. It is scarcely necessary to say that the tables groaned under the tempting array of good things and that the programme was a spicy one. The orchestra rendered excellent music and every piece was encored. Mr. A. J. Deacon's solo was well appreciated and he kindly re-appeared. Mr. Mayherall's address showed a good deal of thought mixed with wit and humour. He gave some startling information about the tribes of South Africa, notwithstanding the fact that they were without education or the Bible.

A CHARGE OF BIGAMY.

Preferred Against Henry Truesdale, of Ashburnham This Morning.

At the trial yesterday of the case in which Henry Truesdale, of Ashburnham, charged one Hubbie with assault, the complainant in his evidence spoke of the woman with whom he lived as being his wife and immediately after the trial he was arrested on the charge of bigamy, another wife having forwarded a claim on him together with her marriage certificate.

Truesdale, this morning, before County Magistrate Edmison, elected to be tried by a jury and was remanded until Tuesday, when the preliminary investigation will be held. Bail was fixed at $500 in two sureties of $250.

Mr. D. O'Connell is appearing for the prisoner.

The Dangers of Croup.

We may expect to have croup with us shortly and the children as usual may be attacked. A plaster made by spreading "Quickcure" on a piece of canton flannel, linen or cotton, will give more prompt relief than a mustard plaster, without causing burning or irritation. Keep it ready for emergencies. Also vaporize some "Quickcure" in the bedroom. See "Quickcure" book (free).

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 98, or address box 362, and have him send one over to your house.

Two Teams to be Entered in the O.H.A. Series this Year—An Effort will be Made to Land the Senior and Junior Championships.

The meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club, which was held in the skating rink parlours last evening was very largely attended.

President Kenner occupied the chair and gave a brief resume of last season's games, which opened with a match against the Imperial Bank team of Toronto, the visitors being beaten by 7 goals to 2. The Juniors played with Millbrook and Lindsay twice each, winning three of the four games. The Seniors played another exhibition game later in the season, when they went to Toronto, and were beaten by the T. A. C. team by the score of 6 goals to 4. The first game in the Senior Series in the O. H. A. schedule was played on the local ice against Queen's University team, when the visitors were beaten by 5 goals to 4. On the date of the return match in Kingston, the Peterborough by the loss of Ashe and King, neither of whom could play in the match, and as Queens would derive no monetary benefit from the trip it was decided to default to them. The Queen's team by defeating Varsity won the championship. The defeat administered by the Peterboroughs was the only one experienced by Queens in four years, they being international and intercollegiate champions. The Peterborough intermediate team reached the semi-finals by defeating Norwood 8 to 7 on their own ice—Norwood defaulting in the return match. The Frontenacs played the local men a tie here, but the Peterboroughs lost the series by 12 goals to 5 at Kingston. The Juniors won from Norwood here by 8 to 2, and lost at Norwood by 8 to 7, thus winning the series by five goals. They won the semi-finals from Frontenacs II by 11 goals to 5, but lost the championship to the Wellington by six goals to three.

TEAM WAS WEAKENED

In the matter of finances the president stated that about $15 would cover the club's as the skating rink authorities had kindly consented to wipe out the club's indebtedness to them.

On motion of Messrs. W. J. Montgomery and George Dixon, it was decided to enter two team in the O. H. A. series—a senior and a junior.

The following officers were then elected :

Patron and Patroness—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hatton.
Chaplain—Rev. V. Clementi, B.A.
Hon. President—W. G. Ferguson.
President—R. J. Fife.
First Vice-President—W. A. Sanderson.
Second " —Dickson Hall.
Secretary—W. A. Buchanan.
Treasurer—H. R. H. Kenner.
Executive Committee—The officers, E. Wasson and Roger Davidson.

Previous to the election of officers, the advisability of selecting a manager was discussed, but the idea was dropped, and instead a committee composed of the President, Captain and one playing member, was selected to pick the teams for the different games. The captain will be selected at a later date by the players, and the third member of the sub-committee will be chosen by the captain and president.

On resigning the President's chair, Mr. Kenner was tendered on motion of Messrs. Montgomery and Buchanan. Mr. Montgomery in speaking to his motion stated that the club never had a president who filled the chair with such acceptability as Mr. Kenner, as he had attended all meetings and looked out for the welfare of the club. He was sorry to see him retire.

A VOTE OF THANKS

Mr. Kenner in thanking the club for the vote of thanks, expressed the hope that the club would experience a prosperous season.

On motion of Messrs. Terrill and Montgomery the secretary was directed to write Rev. V. Clementi expressing to him the club's appreciation of his interest in its welfare.

It was decided that the club would nominate Mr. Lionel King as a candidate for a position on the Executive Committee of the Ontario Hockey Association. The Peterboroughs will be represented by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner and the Secretary.

The club will in all probability only practice three nights a week on the rink this season instead of six as last year, on account of the heavy expense entailed by occupying the ice every evening. The matter, however, was left in the hands of the Executive Committee for final settlement.

Gentlemen, Does Your Bald Head Make You Susceptible to Cold?

Just think of how quickly the lost hair can be replaced. Prof. Dorenwend can do it in five minutes, and do it so perfectly that no falseness is recognizable. Leading citizens everywhere are wearing them and none would be without them. If you are partly or wholly bald, you are making a big mistake if you neglect to get one of these Art Hair Coverings. They are not to be compared to the old fashioned wigs that some would-be wig makers construct. Prof. Dorenwend's skill in this line is unprecedented, and he invites you to call for a practical demonstration at Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Wednesday, Nov. 17th. 6d2w

RUGBY FOOTAALL.

Here is what Corbett has to say of Rugby football :

"I have met the best men that have come into the prize ring within the last ten years, and I am not afraid to meet them again, but all the king's horses and all the king's men could not draw me into a football game. I have too much regard for my limbs. I could not afford to take the chances.

"In a prize fight—or a boxing contest, as I prefer to call it, for I never engaged in a prize fight in the literal definition of the word—a man has only one opponent to face. If he is knocked down and remains down ten seconds without getting up he is declared beaten. Ten seconds pass very swiftly, yet a man who knows his business is knocked down a great many times before he remains down ten seconds. That of itself shows that he cannot be very badly hurt. It is impossible, as boxing contests are now conducted, for a man to be hurt severely.

"Contrast that with a football game. I have seen some of the fairest contests played in this country, in which players afterwards had to be carried off the field. Bear in mind I am not arguing against football or any other rough sport that calls out all the manly qualities.

"I am simply trying to demonstrate that people who favour football and object to boxing contests know as little of what they are talking about as do people with feeble bodies, who measure the capabilities of a trained athlete with their own limited powers of endurance.

"In football a man has to face, not one but a half dozen opponents. When he goes down he is likely to find fifteen men on top of him. He can't cry "enough" and get to his feet. There is no referee to stand over him and protect him. No one knows how badly he is hurt until the fifteen men get off him and he tries to rise to his feet. Nothing of that kind in the prize ring.

If Corbett speaks in this manner of Yankee football, with the recollection still in his mind of the Fitzsimmons jab which laid him out, the game must be rough indeed on the other side of the border.

THE DOG SHOW.

That interest is aleady being aroused in outside towns by the dog show, that it is proposed to hold in Peterborough in January, is evidenced by the fact that this morning Mr. Alf. Terrill received a letter from Mr. Chas. J. Bowell of Belleville, son of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, asking for particulars, and stating that large entries might be expected from that city. He himself has a kennel of Great Danes, H. P. Thomas has cockers, W. Carrow, fox terriers, W. Hungerford, collies, and Philip Hart, St. Bernards. Such a letter will be a strong card in the hands of the committee which is booming the affair.

THE RING.

J. J. O'Connor, of Montreal, was in town yesterday, trying to make arrangements to pull off a "go" in Peterborough between "Buffalo" Costello and "Shadow" Maber, the former of whom he is training. He was so pleased with what he saw of the town that he decided to locate here and will bring Costello up from Montreal on Friday next and train him during the winter in Peterborough. While the pair are here they will also conduct a sparring academy and give lessons in the art of self defence. Costello is well known by reputation as a very fast man, who exercises great judgment in the ring and he will doubtless secure a great many pupils whilst in Peterborough. He has three contests on his hands this winter, the first of which will be with Maber, and the others with men from Halifax and Sherbrooke, respectively. He has already fought a draw with Peter Jackson, and obtained a decision over Frank Slavin.

Physical strength and energy contribute to strength of character, and both may be had by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

To Cure Catarrh

Do not depend upon snuffs, inhalants or other local applications. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and can be successfully treated only by means of a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood and removes the scrofulous taints which cause catarrh. The great number of testimonials from those who have been cured of catarrh by Hood's Sarsaparilla prove the unequalled power of this medicine to conquer the disease. If troubled with Catarrh give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial at once.

THE HEALTHY PALATE.

It Does Not Crave Condiments, but the Food Must Possess Flavor.

While a perfectly sound and healthy palate does not crave for condiments, even prefers to do without them, yet the majority of digestions require to be humored and kept in order, and their peculiarities must be studied. Dr. Brunton says:

"Savory food causes the digestive juices to be freely secreted. Well cooked and palatable food is therefore more digestible than the unpalatable. If food lacks savor, a desire naturally arises to supply it by condiments, not always well selected or wholesome."

As commerce brought them within reach of the people condiments, in simple or complicated forms, came greatly into favor, and foreign spices were added to the wild herbal growths of the fields and hedges. In our early history the "spicery" was a special department of the court and had its proper officers.

In the fourteenth century spices were both costly and rare, most of them coming from the Levant. Chaucer mentions many by name—canella, macys, clowes (cloves), grains of paradise, nutmegs, caraway and spikenard. The ancients, especially the Greeks and Romans in the luxurious period of their history, used condiments very freely.

An old English historian, referring to the earlier Roman court, says, "The best magistrates of Rome allowed but the ninth day for the city and publick business, the rest for the country and the sallet garden." From this it would seem as though the education of taste was accounted of some consequence in those days.—Exchange.

"Professors."

The misuse of the title "professor," when it is applied indiscriminately to musicians in general, finds an amusing example in the following story, credited to Bandmaster Sousa and printed in The Musical Age:

Some years ago Sousa was leading a band at a small country festival. The advent of the band had been awaited with intense interest by the audience, and when they arrived the bandsmen were quickly surrounded by a surging crowd which hemmed them in so that it was difficult for them to keep on playing.

Sousa appealed to one of the committee to keep the crowd away and said that unless his men had more room they could not play. The committeeman shook his hand warmly, and, turning to the assembled multitude, bawled out:

"Gentlemen, step back and give the purfessor's purfessers a chance to play!"

We hear a great deal about purifying the blood. The way to purify it is to enrich it. Blood is not a simple fluid like water. It is made up of minute bodies and when these are deficient, the blood lacks the life-giving principle. Scott's Emulsion is not a mere blood purifier. It actually increases the number of the red corpuscles in the blood and changes unhealthy action into health.

If you want to learn more of it we have a book, which tells the story in simple words.

GERMAN SERVANTS.

SLAVERY THAT AN AMERICAN CALLS IDYLLIC CONDITIONS.

Doing the Work of Three or Four For Eighteen Hours a Day For $1.25 a Week—Making a Pack Horse of a Girl. Is This Story of Cruelty True?

"They have solved the servant girl problem in Germany," said a New Yorker to a Sun man. "I need not go into the details of all I saw in German family economy during my year abroad to convince you of this. I would not even try to explain the way in which the Germans have done it, but I can give an illustration or two of the results as I saw them.

"We first went to live in a boarding house in Brunswick. It was a very fashionable boarding house, for Americans only, and the prices would bring joy to the heart of even a New York city landlady. There were eight boarders besides my wife and myself. There were the father and mother of the family and three grown daughters. We lived in a villa with a garden attachment and a very imposing entrance adorned with metal that needed polishing daily. For the work of this whole big house and household there was just one servant, who received just 5 marks, or $1.25, a week for her services. She not only cooked all the meals, polished all the doorknobs, made up all the rooms and washed all the clothes, but she cut the grass in the garden, trimmed the grapevines, scrubbed the fence and weeded the walks. She rose at 4:30 every morning, moreover, and blacked all the boots. Her hours of labor were from 4:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. daily, and she had just one day off a month.

"When we first went to the boarding house, I noticed that after each dinner the herr papa went through a queer performance. He would mash down two potatoes on a plate, cut two slices of meat and lay them on the potato, add a spoonful of each vegetable to the heap and crown the collection with a thick, unbuttered chunk of black bread. I thought he must have a high bred dog about the place. For the first week or two that was my idea of the purpose for which the dish was prepared. Then I learned that the hodgepodge was the servant girl's allowance. She was permitted to clear the plate, but not a mouthful more was hers. From what I observed afterward I concluded that any effort on her part to get more would have had dire results. The herr papa certainly would have had an apoplectic fit. The frau mamma probably would have torn her hair and burst on the spot the moment she heard such a request. The consciousness of such possibilities evidently was what deterred the girl from asking for more. All the time I was in the boarding house she worked her 18 hours a day with three portions of coffee and black bread and the hodgepodge I have described as her sole nourishment.

"One day last May we made a trip into the Harz mountains. We went as a big German family, carrying all of our three meals, our beer and our wraps with us—that is, the servant girl carried them with us. She had strapped on her back a deep conical basket capable of holding about two bushels. The basket had been packed with ham, sausage, bread, beer and various other resources of the delicatessen shop. On top of the provisions were packed the wraps. Loaded with the two bushels of miscellany, the servant girl brought up the rear of our procession through Brunswick and was shoved into a seatless fourth class car, and the rest of us got into a second class car, and away we spun to the foot of the Hars mountains.

"Now, not wanting the reputation of a long distance liar, I shall not tell you all the wonders performed by that servant girl on that picnic tramp. Suffice it to say that she was with the procession, up hill and down dale, climbing rocks and sliding down the steep places. We began tramping up the mountains at 8:30, and at 11 o'clock my wife and I were so tired that we took to ponies, but the servant girl, with her wicker cone of delicatessen, didn't turn a hair. When dinner came, she got only her little plateful of sausage and black bread. When supper came, she got only a bottle of beer and black bread. Yet when it was all over she stood up in her fourth class car while the rest of us dozed on our second class seats. She walked home uncomplainingly behind us, and the next day not a boot was unblacked or a peg unpolished in the whole establishment. She did not become suddenly lame or weak or get a call to go at once to her sick sister or receive notice of the funeral of an aunt by marriage. In short, none of those things that harrow the souls of American servant girls with regularity turned up to disturb her industry. She simply worked on.

"And that is what they all do—work, put their money in the bank and get married. Outside of marriage I couldn't see that anything was likely to move the German servant girl to give notice. Every girl has her book in which are recorded all the changes which the ordinary course of human life may cause her to make. The entries are made by her successive mistresses, and she is never engaged without her having shown her book. A girl who started out in a city with a book recording semimonthly changes throughout the whole of her working career would have no chance of finding employment on the face of the whole German empire. That may be one reason for the idyllic conditions that I have described."

Santa Rosa, capital of Santa Rosa county, Cal., has a Baptist church, which holds over 200 people, built entirely from timber sawed out of a single redwood. Timbers, weather boarding and inner lining are all of wood. The roofing, too, is of shingles cut from the same tree, and after it was all finished there were 60,000 shingles left.

THACKERAY IN BOSTON.

His Comment on the "Good Society" of That City.

Mr. Thackeray brought from England a letter of introduction to an important gentleman of Beacon street. By him he was most hospitably entertained and passed from dinner party to dinner party. But Thackeray's interest in the capital of New England did not end with Beacon street dinner parties. He had heard something of the eminent men of the town and at that moment happened to be particularly interested in Theodore Parker. He wished very much to hear this celebrated Unitarian preacher. He mentioned this desire to his host. The Beacon street gentleman seemed much surprised, but without abating any of his outward courtesy and making some valid excuse took him to King's chapel on Sunday morning instead of to Music hall, where Parker preached. At King's chapel, the Beacon street gentleman said, people of the best society might always be found.

Thackeray, it is needless to say, was a mild mannered man, not fond of a struggle to free himself from his entertainer's clutches. He saw that it was impossible for him to get on Sunday to Music hall. But during the week he heard that Parker was to deliver a discourse at the funeral of a rich and public spirited merchant. Thackeray went alone to the funeral and was greatly interested and thrilled by the address. He also saw many people who looked as if they were more interesting than any he had seen at the Beacon street dinner parties. He went home that morning to dinner and found that his host had invited to meet him several gentlemen of the best society, most of whom were bores. Thackeray could not help telling about Parker and the funeral and confessing how much he had been impressed by the preacher and the people. His host was visibly distressed and presently managed to whisper in his ear, "I beg of you, Mr. Thackeray, to remember that Mr. Parker does not belong to our best society." This was more than the Englishman could stand, and he replied, loud enough to be heard by at least one at the table, "Upon my word, I begin to wish I hadn't got into good society when I came to Boston."—Nineteenth Century.

WARNING FOR SCHOOLMA'AM

A Fond Mother Viewed the Acquaintance With Some Suspicion.

The course of a teacher in some rural schools is not unmarked by pitfalls. One young lady thus engaged tells an amusing story of the anxiety her conduct unwittingly caused the mother of one of her pupils. The pupil in question was an overgrown and stupid but well behaved boy of 19, named Tobias Hodge. He was older by several years, and far bigger than any other pupil in the school, but he was not so well advanced in his studies as some of the younger ones. He seemed so anxious to learn that the teacher often got him to remain after school for the purpose of assisting him in his studies.

Their homeward way lay over the same road, and they would walk home together after the hard places in the lessons had been made easy for Tobias.

Often in the morning, when she left home to go to the schoolhouse, the teacher would find the boy waiting for her, and she tactfully gave him several lessons in politeness, such as lifting his hat to her and other ladies, and assisting her over bad places in the road. She was beginning to feel that she might really make something out of Tobias, when her efforts on his behalf received a sudden check by the receipt of the following note from his widowed mother:

MADDUM—I just want to say that I have heard how you are carryin on with my son Tobe, an all I got to say is that he ain't of marryin age, an I am his gardeen. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Grim Destroyers of the 19th Century—Bright's Disease Robbed of Its Terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to save their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

How the Scene Was Once Lighted.

It must have often struck people, when reading of the old performances in the last century, how it was that the lighting was contrived. The power of oil lamps was limited enough. Theaters like Drury Lane and Covent Garden were of enormous size. There were no footlights, at least until about the middle of the last century, and they were the humble "floats," dim enough. Yet there was ample light to observe expression and play of features, so necessary in interpreting the fine old comedies of character. Nowadays the stage is one blaze. It is literally bathed and suffused in light. There are no shadows, and yet it might be said the amount of necessary light is no more than there used to be and is not nearly as satisfactory. How was it then?

In the theaters of Garrick and earlier days the stage was really lit by four great chandeliers, which hung directly over the heads of the actors from the arch of the proscenium and just outside the curtain. When the play was over, these were lowered slowly, a signal for the audience to depart. These chandeliers furnished a goodly amount of light on a circular zone immediately below them. The actors' faces and figures were lit in the natural way, as the sun would light them, but the rest of the stage was comparatively dark or gloomy.—Gentleman's Magazine.

His Exculpation.

A minister met a little boy Sunday afternoon with a string of fish, none of which was more than two inches in length.

Don't you know," said the minister, "that you committed a sin in catching those little fish on the Sabbath day?"

"'Tain't my fault," replied the boy, "'cause the big ones wouldn't bite."—Columbus (O.) State Journal.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporising measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The treatment, with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

THIS TELLS THE WHOLE STORY.

A Hamilton lady restored to Health.

Mrs. A. Simpson spoke to our reporter as follows, at her cosy residence, 118 Locke St., Hamilton, Ont. Said Mrs. Simpson, "For the last two years I have suffered greatly from heart and nerve troubles, also pains in my head. My appetite was very poor, and I felt very miserable all the time, hardly able to do my household work. My heart was so bad that I frequently fainted away, and was liable to drop down at any place or time.

Sometimes my heart seemed to bound into my throat so that I thought I would smother. My rest was very much broken, and I grew quite discouraged after using so many medicines without relief.

When I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and procured a box at John A. Barr's drug store, and now after having used two boxes can say that I am completely cured. My appetite is good, indeed it seems as if I wanted to eat all the time. I sleep well and am thoroughly toned up. Truly I am better than I have been for many years."

Practice Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

WENT TO HUNT THE DEVIL.

One of the Metropolitan Adventures of Larry Bryan.

Larry Bryan, at peace with all men, smoking his briarwood pipe, sat on the esplanade. Across the wide gray water the full moon was rising. There were few people about and Larry hardly noticed his nearest neighbor, who after restlessly stepping here and there finally sat down upon the stones within easy conversational distance. One pipe of tobacco had been consumed and Larry filled a second, put his tobacco pouch in his pocket and drew one long whiff with infinite gusto. Then he clasped his hands about his knees and viewed the magnificent panorama of moon-lit sea and sky.

"Stop right there," said a low, even voice.

The tone was so calm that Larry failed to realize that the words were addressed to him. A moment passed. Larry leisurely unclasped his interlocked fingers, but before he had made any further motion, the low voice, with added intensity, spoke again:

"Sit still, I say."

Larry turned his head to the right and looked directly into the dark circle of a pistol. The holder was a man of medium size, loosely built, and dressed in gray clothes.

Larry's fingers interlaced again firmly about his knees, while his companion continued:

"If you call out or move I'll shoot, as sure as there is a God in heaven."

Larry became an immovable statue, with his pipestem clinched between his teeth.

"I have nothing against you, personally," the voice went on steadily, "but you have met your fate. Man is the victim of chance. Chance is against me, now it's against you. Have you anything to say to that?"

Larry shifted his pipe to the corner of his mouth and remarked casually, "A man sitting like a trussed chicken feels like a fool."

His interlocutor eyed him intently; then said in dry response:

"He looks like a fool."

"Well, then," said the victim of this unlucky chance, "let me straighten my legs while we discuss things."

"All right, my friend," was the prompt reply, "only, you understand, any loud noise, any movement to go—click!"

A suggestive crook of the forefinger on the trigger accompanied the expressive syllable, but relaxed as Larry indolently murmured:

"Sure!" stretching his legs full length, as he lay back upon the flagging, his face to the stars. The soft lapping of the waves against the breakwater made a smooth undertone to the sharp whisper which broke the silence.

"Chance is against you, but it's the devil himself against me."

"What's the difference?" Larry questioned, mechanically.

"There isn't any," came the sullen reply.

"Well, if it's the devil," quoth Larry, "I think we can outwit him."

"How?" asked his companion with growing interest.

"You see," Larry replied, slowly, with conviction, "there are two of us and one of him."

"Y-e-e-s," was the doubtful answer.

"The thing is," said Larry, briskly, "to find him—to meet him face to face."

"That's so," was the response, with growing enthusiasm.

"Now," exclaimed Larry, knocking the ashes from his pipe and springing to his feet, "I'm your man. I know exactly where we can run him down. Come."

He spoke imperatively, and slipped his arm into that of his casual comrade.

"We've got to be quick, too. Hide that pistol. No, give it to me. He won't suspect me, you know," and seizing the revolver he thrust it into his coat pocket.

By this time the two men were walking swiftly through a street. After they had gone a few blocks, the man asked in a suspicious tone:

"Where are you taking me?"

"My good fellow, I'm not taking you; you are taking me. I happen to know where the devil is to-night. We'll go there and face him down," Larry answered promptly.

The man's face brightened.

"That's it," he said, "get him to face me once. Then we'll see which is the better man."

A few steps further, and he asked quietly:

"Have you known him long?"

"All my life," Larry returned in a tone of absolute sincerity.

Then he added: "We must be awfully cautious or he'll slip through our fingers. We'll go to his office and see his secretary first."

"I didn't know he had an office in Chicago," the man said in a discontented tone.

"Lots of them," said Larry. "We'll go to the nearest one."

They marched arm and arm to the steps of a wide entrance into a small office where a young man was smoking in an arm chair. He rose to greet them, but Larry put out his hand warningly.

"Hush!" he whispered. "Is the old man here to-night?"

The young fellow stared an instant; then in the same cautious tone asked:

"What do you want with him?"

"I want to see him," screamed Larry's companion, striking out wildly with both arms. But the young doctor had pulled the bell rope behind him, and before any damage was done the madman was carried away by strong arms.

Larry sat down in the arm chair, pulled out his pipe and tobacco pouch, laid the pistol on the table and filled his briarwood.

"Doc," he asked, as he drew his first whiff, "is there any actual connection between the moon and lunatics?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, W. T. MULFORD, Agents' supplies, P.O. Box 89, St. Henri, Que.

A MOTHER SPEAKS.

Tells how Dr. Chase Saved her Boy.

His Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a Precious Boon.

MRS. A. T. STEWART, Folgar, Ont., says: "From the 7th of January to the 30th, we were up night and day with our two little boys, employing doctors and trying every kind of patent medicine we ever heard of. At this time we did not know of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine until after the 30th, when our youngest darling died in spite of all we could do. Sometime in February the doctor told us our other boy couldn't live till spring. We were about discouraged, when I got my eye on an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Syrup.

"I tried at once to get some, but none of the dealers here had it. A neighbor who was in Kingston managed to purchase two bottles which he brought straight to us, and I believe it was the means of saving our only boy.

"One teaspoonful of the Syrup stopped the cough so he could sleep till morning. Our boy is perfectly well now, and I would not be without Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house."

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

Cures Erysipelas, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Eczema and all other eruptive Skin Diseases.

TRADE MARK.

Marvellous Cure for Erysipelas by Sloan's Indian Tonic, in Lambton County.

Mrs. J. J. Porter, of Corunna, writes:—

I received the medicine all right, and am much obliged for it. I had Erysipelas every summer for five years, sometimes so bad my face arms and body would swell to an enormous size and my eyes would be shut for days at a time. I tried two doctors but they did me no good, and I even went for change of climate, but all to no avail, until I got your TONIC. After taking one bottle the swelling ceased, and I improved every day and am now entirely cured.

Fred W. Leiskau, Baden, writes:—

Please send me another bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic. I bought one bottle from your agent early this spring and I must say it is the best medicine in existence. I was troubled with a soreness in my right side and tried many doctors, but they could not cure me, and after using the one bottle I have had no trouble with the soreness. I am very glad I can state this.

GREATNESS UNDERVALUED.

Shakespeare, Scott and Mrs. Siddons Were Not Wonders Once.

In these modern days, when the most extravagant laudations are paid by little cliques to little poets and mediocrators, and the language of eulogy is exhausted on what seems very small provocation, it is difficult to picture a time when not only the minor bard and the second class actors were severely dealt with, but even the best and greatest were exposed to irreverent criticism. Robert Greene, who, however, was in the same line of business ("wrote himself"), declared his contemporary Shakespeare to be "an upstart crow, who, in his own conceit, was the only shakescene in the country." Dryden wrote of the bard of Avon: "He writes in many places below the dullest writers of our or any preceding age. Never did any author precipitate himself from such heights of thought to such low expressions. He is the Janus of poets, and you have scarcely time to admire one face ere you despise the other."

Coming nearer to our own times, it is generally, but quite erroneously, supposed that the Waverly novels were received with a universal accord of acclaim on their first appearance, but this is by no means the case. In many of the contemporary organs of criticism they were "damned with faint praise," and in some even without it.

Mrs. Siddons, again—a statue to whom was uncovered in Paddington by Sir Henry Irving—is supposed to have taken the town by storm and to have been at once acknowledged the queen of her profession. Yet Horace Walpole, admitting her great talents, by no means expressed himself with such enthusiasm. "She pleased me beyond my expectation, but not up to the admiration of the ton, two or three whom were in the same box with me.  Mr. Crawford asked me if I did not think her the best actress I ever saw. I said: 'By no means. We old folks are apt to be prejudiced in favor of our first impressions.' She is a good figure, handsome enough, though neither nose nor chin according to the Greek standard, beyond which both advance a good deal. Her hair is either red or she has no objection to its being thought so and had used red powder. Her voice is clear and good, but I thought she did not vary its modulations enough, nor ever approach enough to the familiar, but this may come wenh more habituated to the awe of the audience of the capital. Her action is proper, but with little variety. When without motion, her arms are not genteel.

"Thus, you see, all my objections are very trifling, but what I really wanted but did not find was originality, which announces genius, and without both which I am never intrinsically pleased. All Mrs. Siddons did good sense or good instructions might give. I dare to say that were I one and twenty I should have thought her marvelous, but, alas, I remember Mrs. Porter and the Dumesnil and remember every accent of the former in the very same part."—Illustrated London News.

Queer Money.

A kind of [illegible] money which is [illegible] and sold is worthy [illegible] the traveler need [illegible] with it except as a curiosity. This is prepared for the special purpose of trading at the garden of [illegible] natives as an offering to the [illegible] of the other world. [illegible] to be exported [illegible] but [illegible] a portrait [illegible] with the [illegible] of the [illegible] bears [illegible] of silver.

Counterfeit Coins.

Counterfeit coins are made of cardboard covered and gilded pieces of paper or of imitation coins blocked out of cardboard.

Although these have no purchasing power on earth, they are supposed to count for much in the transactions of the spirit world. By this practice one is reminded of an old story of a miser who left his belongings to his son on condition that a certain sum of money should be buried in the coffin with him. The son was, however, a chip of the old block and carried out his father's wishes by placing in the coffin a crossed check for the required amount, assured that it had little chance of being presented at his banker's.—Chambers' Journal.

The Trials of the Great.

Dreams of influence and command filled his mind. Men bowing before him, crowds striving to obey his every thought and wish flitted delightfully across his imagination.

Then the door opened suddenly. "If you please, sir," said the excited butler, "the cook's given notice to leave."

That was all—but it was enough.—Brooklyn Life.

Can't Raise the Wind.

Dixon—Young Softleigh doesn't seem to be traveling at such a rapid gait as formerly.

Hixson—No; he punctured the tire on his wheel of fortune.—Chicago News.

The annual taxes of the world aggregate the enormous sum of $4,350,000,000

There are 17 quinine factories in the world, and 6 of these are in Germany.

Electricity From Street Mud.

An economic and scientific experiment began in London when Lord Kelvin opened at Shoreditch the combined electricity and dust destruction works erected at a cost of about $750,000. The destructor cells are capable of burning 20,000 tons of rubbish refuse yearly, and the heat given out is sufficient for the electric light and power of the whole of Shoreditch, with a population of 124,000 besides supplying heat to the adjoining bath and wash houses.

In Paris lamps will be lighted for the first time on Monday by electricity furnished by a destructor.

The unique municipal enterprise is exciting the liveliest interest in scientific and municipal circles in Great Britain and abroad. If successful, it promises to revolutionize the public supply of electricity, as the vestry of Shoreditch promises to supply electricity at twopence (4 cents) per unit in the day time and at fourpence (8 cents) per unit at nighttime.

During a preliminary test 150 pounds pressure of steam was raised in the boilers from dust alone, absolutely no coal being used.—Industrial World.

Paper Piping.

The experiments being conducted in land with pipes made of paper are attracting universal attention. The material used is cellulose paper, soaked in asphalt. The pipes are said to be impermeable, capable of resisting heavy pressure, not subject to the ordinary deterioration, and not affected by the action of electric currents. If the continued use shall confirm the expectations warranted by the practical tests, it is probable that the underground pipe making industry will be revolutionized, providing the cost of manufacture does not forbid a market. No thoroughly effective remedy for rust and wear, caused by grossd electric wires, has been discovered, unless, indeed, this may prove the one, and a relief from these evils will be eagerly embraced, even if a radical change in construction and material of the piping is necessary.

Pain Banished as if by Magic.

Nerviline—nerve pain cure—is a positive and an almost instantaneous remedy for external, internal, or local pains. The most active remedy hitherto known fails far short of Nerviline for potent power in the relief of nerve pain. A trial will demonstrate.

BELMONT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Council met at the town hall, Belmont, on Saturday, 30th Oct. Members all present, J B Peaglar, reeve, in the chair. Minutes of two previous meetings read and confirmed.

A PLEA FOR HARMONY.

Hon. Mr Tarte Condemns Religious Intolerance.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—The new clubroom of the St. John's Ward Liberal Club at the corner of Gould and Yonge streets was opened last night amidst great enthusiasm. Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, came to the city for the purpose of being present, and delivered an address which was received with the heartiest applause. Hon. Wm. Mulock was present and spoke briefly, congratulating the club upon their improved quarters. In the course of a brilliant address, Mr. Tarte said:

We have had enough of religious wrangles. You had enough; we all had enough of it. Let us settle down to work. We have any amount of work before us—an unbounded field of action. We have in Canada all that was necessary to build up a nation: strong men, great rivers and lakes, magnificent mineral resources, fine institutions in the world. They wanted peace; they wanted to live together like brothers, like friends. If they worked together and loved one another as Christians, he said, their future was assured. Their duty was to educate their children as much as possible together, so that they might know each other better—(loud cheers)—because they must teach their children to know each other better and to love each other better.

They must live as much together as possible, "and permit me," Mr. Tarte exclaimed, "as a Roman Catholic, to say that we must mourn our dead together and carry them to their last resting place shoulder to shoulder." (Loud applause.)

TRUE BILL---MURDER

Returned Against Mrs. Sternaman at Cayuga.

B. B. OSLER CROWN PROSECUTOR.

The Alleged Murderess Will Be Defended at Her Trial by Mr. German of Welland—The Prisoner Was Arraigned and Pleaded Not Guilty—Mrs. Sternaman Looking Well —The Trial To-Day.

CAYUGA, Nov. 16.—To-day at the Criminal Assizes, before Chief Justice Meredith, Mrs. Olive Adele Sternaman comes up for trial on a charge of murdering her husband, George Henry Sternaman. Never before has this county been so interested in a criminal case. The prisoner was a resident of Buffalo, and for eight months a furious fight was maintained against extradition, the case being fought step by step from the local Buffalo courts to the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington. A number of the most eminent physicians of Buffalo will be called on to give evidence, and owing to the circumstances the case is one of international interest. Detective Murray, who has been securing evidence for the prosecution ever since the inquest in October, 1896, is in town with a large number of witnesses.

Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., the Crown prosecutor, will endeavor to prove that the prisoner, Mrs. Sternaman, caused her husband's death on August 18, 1896, by the administration of arsenic, and that the woman's motive was to secure $1970 of life insurance which her husband carried. Mr. William Manley German, M.P.P. of Welland, for the defence, will try to prove either that Mr. Sternaman died from natural causes, or that, if arsenic poisoning was the cause of death, it was administered by others than the accused.

History of the Case.

The prisoner was a Canadian, her maiden name being Olive Adele Sevenpiper. She lived with her family at Sweet's Corners, where she met Ezra E. Chipman, and was married to him in 1889. They moved to Buffalo, where Chipman secured work, and where the children were born. In 1894 he introduced to his home George Sternaman, a fellow-workman, who engaged board with the family. Sternaman and Mrs. Chipman came from near the same place and became great friends.

In December, 1895, Chipman, while at work, became violently sick just after eating his lunch. He was taken home, but F. W. Rich, the doctor called, could not control the vomiting, which lasted several days. Dr. Parmenter, one of Buffalo's most distinguished physicians, was called, and after a consultation they advised Chipman's removal to a hospital, but he died before removal. Both doctors, it is said, believed the man had died from the effects of irritant metallic poisoning, but not suspecting foul play they gave a burial permit stating he had died from multiple neuritis and paralysis. Mrs. Chipman secured $1,700, his life insurance.

Sternaman continued to board with the widow, and on February 28, 1896, they were married by Rev. James Rae of Buffalo. Sternaman's life insurance policies were made out in his mother's name, but a week after his marriage they were transferred to his wife. It is claimed by the Crown that Mrs. Sternaman, George's mother, tried to get him not to make over the policies to his wife, as she had a suspicion that Chipman had been poisoned for his insurance.

On June, 3, 1896, George Sternaman, just after eating his noonday lunch, became violently ill with symptoms identical with those of Chipman. He was taken home, as the first husband had been, and Dr. Frost was called in. At first the trouble was attributed to water he had drunk, but as the symptoms of vomiting with intense thirst continued this theory was abandoned as none of the other workmen were affected. As the symptoms progressed the doctor diagnosed the case as neuritis and paralysis, as had been the diagnosis in the case of Chipman.

When Mrs. Sternaman, sr., learned of her son's serious illness she left her home at Rainham, Haldimand County, Ontario, and went to Buffalo. A diagnosis by Drs. Frost and Saltsman showed the patient to be suffering from atrophy of the liver. The mother, being satisfied that her son was really suffering from disease, went home again, but had daily bulletins of his condition sent by Mrs. Sternaman, jr. For two months no change was reported, and then the patient began rapidly to sink, and the family started for Rainham on August 13th. Sternaman died on August 16th, and during his last days uttered expressions of tenderness and regard for his wife.

Drs. P. P. Park and T. W. S. Harrison were called in, and, it is said, suspected poisoning, but were not positive, and a death certificate was issued, giving multiple neuritis and paralysis as the cause of death. After the death Mrs. Sternaman, jr., gave her mother-in-law to understand that all the insurance policies except $200 in the Carpenters' Union had lapsed. As a fact, there was $1,970 insurance, and this aroused the suspicion of Mrs. Sternaman, sr., who consulted County Crown Attorney Coulter, and demanded an investigation. An inquest was held, and the theory of poisoning brought out, suspicion being directed toward the dead man's wife.

The insurance companies and the Ontario Government took up the case, and Mrs. Sternaman was arrested in Buffalo, and after a protracted fight brought here for trial.

The Formal Arraignment.

The prisoner was arraigned at 6.30 o'clock to-day and entered a plea of not guilty. She was slightly nervous at first, but very soon regained her composure which has distinguished her throughout the entire proceedings against her. At 1 o'clock court had met and the grand jury had been instructed by His Lordship as to the meaning of the case before them. They occupied five hours in arriving at their decision, which was a true bill. The court then adjourned until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, when the trial will begin.

Probable Toll Road Legislation.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—The toll roads question will likely be dealt with by the Legislature at the coming session. As matters are at present the Ontario Road Commissioner cannot meddle with toll roads, and some change will likely be made. Some of the more important toll roads are: Three at Brockville, two at Ottawa, one at Windsor, one at Ingersoll, one at Woodstock, and two at Kingston.

DECISION OF HIS HOLINESS.

The Papal Deliverance on the Manitoba School Question Discussed.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(Telegram Cable)—On enquiring at Archbishop Vaughan's palace, his secretary, Mr. Johnson, informed me that the prelate knew naught regarding the Pope's decision as published, and further, doubted very much the authenticity of the report.

The Daily Chronicle has a special article touching the Pope's decision on the Manitoba school case, in which it says that there is no doubt it will be a disappointment to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whose personal influence was brought to hear at the Vatican, that the Pope is not supporting the compromise.

The Westminster Gazette trusts that Canada, and especially Manitoba, will stand firm and not allow the national system of education to be denominationalized.

SPRAYING FRUIT TREES

And Its Beneficial Results—The Tests Are Satisfactory.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—The Ontario Department of Agriculture is in receipt of a consignment of apples from Mr. Albert Pay, a fruit grower in the St. Catharines district. The varieties include Baldwins, Russets, Spies, greenings, snow apples, pippins, King of Tompkins.

They show the difference caused by spraying fruit trees, the apples from sprayed trees being much larger and free from blemishes, rust spots, etc. Mr. Pay writes to say that he considers spraying is no longer an experiment. He says that on sprayed trees there is a good crop of Spies and greenings that are 80 per cent. good apples, while on trees that were not sprayed the crop did not amount to half as much, and only about 40 per cent. of it was of good quality.

A Mysterious Death.

PORT COLBORNE, Nov. 17.—The inquest into the death of Julia Klee, which took place some time ago under mysterious circumstances, was further adjourned until Nov. 29th. The woman is supposed to have died from arsenical poisoning.

The Austrian Imperial Budget.

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—Count Franz Thun has been elected President of the Austrian delegations.

The Imperial budget this year shows: Net expenditures 158,395,749 florins, increase 542,280. The sum of 152,098,068 florins is required for the army and navy and the War Department demands a supplemented credit of 7,848,000 florins for the purchase of arms and ammunition, and for fortifications.

HIS LAST DAY'S WORK

Ontario's Grand Old Man Gives Up His Portfolio.

SWORN AS LIEUT.-GOV. TO-MORROW

All the Cases of Tuberculosis at the Experimental Farm Have Been Disposed of—Senator Ogilvie Wins His Big Suit—Canada Well Advertised at the Queen's Jubilee.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Sir Oliver Mowat has completed his last day's work as Minister of Justice. He was present at the meeting of the Council yesterday afternoon, and left for Toronto this morning. On Thursday he will be sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and at the same time Hon. David Mills will take the oath of office as Minister of Justice. Sir Oliver will probably return to Ottawa on Friday night.

Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, stated yesterday that all the cases of tuberculosis found at the Experimental Farm have been fully disposed of. The department has appointed Mr. James, V. S., to make tests and issue certificates, for which it will be responsible. On account of the recent discovery of the disease, Dr. Robillard, the city health officer, thinks that all milk vendors should have their cows examined at once, instead of waiting until the bylaw to that effect comes into force, on January 1 next.

When Mr. W. J. White, Press Immigration Agent, was returning from Detroit, he met two Englishmen on their way to Wingham, Ont. They stated they were going to Wingham to purchase furniture for the English market. Mr. White asked them how it came they should be in Canada for such a purpose. Their answer was that they had heard so much about Canada during the past summer that they had been led to come here to see what they could get in the way of furniture. They were going to Wingham, they said, to negotiate several large shipments. Mr. White also met other English representatives, who were purchasing horses, and others again looking for butter and eggs. Mr. White says that most of those he met had been attracted to Canada after hearing so much about Canada at the Jubilee celebrations in London.

Joe Larouche, another boy who "didn't know it was loaded," while fooling with a revolver in the Central Depot news office this morning, shot Miss Bella Johnston, bookkeeper for Mr. J. A. Burgess. The girl had two teeth knocked out and her jaw smashed.

Chief Sherwood has received word that Camille Perrier, on being arraigned before Judge Deacon, pleaded guilty to making, having in possession and uttering false coin. He was sentenced to five years for the first count and two years for each of the other counts, the sentences to run consecutively, making nine years in all.

The official inspection of La Canadienne, to assess the damages, will take place at Quebec to-day. The Marine Department will be represented by Messrs. Joseph Leuseus and Pierre D. Brunel of Quebec.

The order for the release of W. A. Grenier was signed here yesterday afternoon, and will be in Montreal to-day.

In the case of the Crown against Senator A. W. Ogilvie, in which that gentleman was sued by the Government in connection with an advance made by the Government to the Exchange Bank, for which he went security, Mr. Justice Davidson this morning rendered judgment dismissing the case. There was $65,820 at stake. Senator Ogilvie was warmly congratulated by his friends when it became clear that his defence had been successful.

An Order-in-Council has passed allowing "American" fishing vessels on the Pacific coast to land their fish from the deep sea at Canadian ports and have them exported in bond to the United States.

The city of Vancouver has been for some time past pressing upon the Government to permit this, as it would bring a large trade to their port which at present is done at "American" ports. On the other hand, the city of Victoria is not in favor of it.

Some time ago Sir Louis Davies made a recommendation to the Council to give the permission for six months. The matter was referred to the Customs Department to have the necessary arrangements made. This has now been done, and instructions have been forwarded to the collectors of customs on the Pacific coast to permit the landing of fish from the deep sea and exporting them in bond to the United States for six months only.

As there is no arrangement for purchasing supplies, it is doubtful how the order will work.

A Sailor Drowned.

COURTWRIGHT, Ont., Nov. 17.—While the steamer Lycoming, from Buffalo, bound for Chicago, was at the dock here yesterday, a sailor named Benjamin Hardy, thought to be a Canadian, but whose residence is not known, who shipped at Milwaukee, while trying to board the boat, slipped between the boat and dock and was drowned. The body was not recovered.

Two Kingston Convicts Escape.

KINGSTON, Nov. 17.—Yesterday afternoon Convicts Ireburn and Lawrence escaped from the penitentiary farm, where they were in charge of Guards Greer and Hughes.

Ireburn is a German, 25 years of age, 6 feet high, weighs 170 pounds, fresh complexion, blue eyes, brown hair. He has a picture of Christ tattooed on his right arm, and is pockmarked. Lawrence is 25 years old, weighs 160 pounds, 5 feet 8 in. high, dark complexion, hazel eyes, black hair. He has a scar on the right side of his neck.

Mr. Taylor Re-Nominated.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—Now Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURSDEN.

Severe Pains in the Head

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1897.

If the Conservatives, after allowing two Liberal candidates in Tamiscouata and Rimouski to be elected by acclamation, chose Drummond and Arthabaska to demonstrate the waning popularity of the Liberal Government, we hope they are satisfied with the result. In a constituency where the Liberal candidate received a majority of 495 in the general election, the Liberal candidate was elected in the by-election by a majority of 1,305, a gain of over 800 votes. This is encouraging to the Conservatives of Centre Toronto.

OMEMEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The funeral of the late Rev. J. Ewing at the home of the deceased, Mount Pleasant, despite the very unfavourable weather and roads last Thursday, was attended by a fair representation of the Omemee branch of the Presbyterian church over which the deceased presided over forty years, and on whose behalf a fine floral wreath was placed upon his casket. There was great disappointment on the part of his old friends and acquaintances here at not being able to pay the last tribute of respect to one of the most loyal and patriotic men coupled with all the good qualities and traits of character that made him a universal favourite by all classes and denominations. The new church in Omemee, with which the deceased had much to do in selecting the site of and building, was beautifully draped last Sabbath, whilst the pastor, Rev. J. U. Tanner, alluded in an impressive and becoming way to the faithful and long patient labours of the deceased.

David Thornton, a retired farmer, intends taking up his residence in Peterborough in the near future. He will be greatly missed here—on the High School board and as an officer in the Presbyterian church.

The next sittings of the Division Court will be held here Dec. 7th in the newly-equipped hall. The clerk, J. D. Thornton, says there is a large and interesting docket.

Messrs. English and Rea, two of our local hunters, have returned home with the complement of deer—2 each.

YOUNG'S POINT.

Mr. C. Young is confined to his house with a severe cold.

Mr. Richard Read has been ill for the past two weeks.

Mr. Austin Dunn returned home this week from wood ranging for the Ratbbun Co.

Mr. Richard Heard's hunting party returned this week and report good luck. Dick secured two fine deer.

Mr. C. Young, who was hunting with the McFarlane party, returned home and states they had seventeen deer when he left. There are about ten in the party.

Mr. Edmond Tate's party have returned and were very successful. His guests were Mr. J. E. Kearney, of the Lakeview, Young's Point, and R. and John Steene, of Burleigh, who occupied his cottage, which he erected in the summer for the purpose of hunting. They are all old hunters and dead shots, so they secured seven fine deer.

There is a meeting to be held in Heard's Hall on Wednesday night, the 17th inst., for the purpose of all hunters giving their experience of the past two weeks. As the villagers are weary hearing hunting stories a severe penalty will be imposed on any member mentioning hunt after Wednesday. Get an axe.

The frost last week was a drawback to the farmers here, as a great many have not finished ploughing and getting in roots.

Navigation has not closed yet, as the Sunbeam passed through here en route for Burleigh.

A number of the boys have caught herrings in Clear Lake this week. They are very plentiful and come close to the shore about twilight, and the boys have landing nets and scoop them out on the shore.

OUR EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

A tribute is paid by Prince Kropotkin to the Canadian Experimental Farms, which, or some of which, he visited when attending the Toronto meeting of the British Association this year. In the November issue of the Nineteenth Century, in one of a series of articles on "Recent Science," the Prince speaks of the scientific, no less than the practical, value of Experiment Farms in this country. The sites for them were not choosen without care and a definite purpose, but, as he points out, each is surrounded by a large area of territory in which typical conditions of soil and climate prevail. He adds, that "while in Europe the work of the experimental farms too often remains little known to those who toil on soil, in Canada, as in the United States, a whole machinery has been worked out for diffusing the knowledge that has been won from scientific research, down to the remotest village." This last is not a small or unimportant portion of the work of the Canadian Government in connection with these farms. And his preception of its value is significant of the Prince's closeness of observation.

"For several years I have been a subject of severe nervous headaches, and last June I became absolutely prostrated from the trouble. I also became a martyr to indigestion. I was persuaded to try South American Nervine. I procured a bottle. My headaches were relieved almost immediately, and, in a remarkably short time, left me entirely. The remedy has toned up and built up my system wonderfully," James A. Bell, Beaverton. Sold by H. A. Macdonald.

AUNT AND NEPHEW.

Quebec Youth Says His Aunt Urged Him to Murder His Uncle.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Nov. 17.—Jean Baptiste Guillemet, aged 17, the young man who was arrested here yesterday in connection with the murder of his uncle, Mr. Laplante, at St. Liboire, P.Q., Oct. 30, has confessed that he committed the crime, and declares it was at the instigation of the wife of the murdered man, who promised to marry him after the death of his uncle. Guillemet states that he went to St. Liboire about the first of October to visit his uncle and aunt. He says that for two weeks before the murder his aunt was constantly urging him to get rid of his uncle.

On Oct. 30, Mr. Laplante went to St. Hyacinthe on a collecting trip. This, the prisoner says, was seized upon by his aunt as the proper time for the murder of her husband, and, after giving him wine to nerve him for the crime, the aunt directed him to lay in wait. He did so, and when the man appeared struck him with a club on the skull, killing him instantly.

Mrs. Laplante, the woman Guillemet accuses of complicity in the crime, is about 36 years old, and has six children.

The widow has been arrested.

NIP AND TUCK WITH WEYLER.

General Blanco Gives Good Orders, But Soldiers Do as They Please.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A special to The World from Havana says: It appears now that nearly 75 per cent, of the 400,000 helpless women, children and non-combatants in Cuba affected by former Captain-General Weyler's policy, are dead. Despite the orders issued by General Blanco to feed the starving, the daily mortality of the remaining "Reconcentrados" is frightful. The rabid Spaniards, who believe that only by extermination of the race can this Cuban war be won, openly challenge the good faith of General Blanco's statements as to his intention to feed and find work for those whom General Weyler has not killed. They jubilantly claim that the new captain-general is enforcing the barbarous "concentration" on the country people exactly as his predecessor did. The local press no longer prints the news from the small towns. In one of the last articles upon the hunger situation it was called "One of the most awful spectacles ever presented to humanity."

PRIVATE LAUFER.

I remember well the day we all met at the adjutant's office to receive our portion of a big batch of recruits who arrived on the previous day. Recruits are sent out without assignment except to the regiment in general, "250 recruits to the Tenth cavalry," for instance.

Then the colonel, a stiff old West Pointer, from the general list assigned to each troop the number required to fill up the gaps the last campaign had left. We were all standing around the porch as Church, our adjutant, called off the names of the men for each troop, A, B, C, D.

As each man's name was called he stepped one pace to the front and a side step to the right, so that they would form a separate squad when the list was completed. When my troop, J, was reached, I naturally had a general interest in what manner of men might fall to my lot, but I confess I was not so absorbed as I would have been if I was receiving 20 horses instead of recruits.

However, I was short of good timber just then and was struck by the appearance of the man who stepped out as Church called "George Laufer." His crisp, distinct "Here" in reply to his name made me think that it was his own and a name he was proud of. The vast majority of enlisted men's names in the army, like those in the penitentiary, are fictitious and ran from Christian Scripture to George Washington, with only one rule seeming to govern their selection—the better the name the worse the man. Christian Scripture was the worst soldier, drunk or sober, I ever knew.

Laufer, however, had every mark of a well bred man about him, was of an average height, with a light, strong frame, weighing 165 or 170 pounds; young, with brown eyes and hair, small dark mustache, clean, well groomed face and a complexion that dissipation would have ruined in a week, but which was now clear and healthy.

My sergeant took the squad and marched them down to the troop quarters, where, with my lieutenants, I inspected them, listening to the stories of all the rest—the same old story I had heard a thousand men tell and vary only in detail—as to where they lived, whether they were married, why they had enlisted, etc. Laufer promptly told me all that it was reasonable I should know and as promptly showed his manhood when any irrelevant question was propounded by declining to answer.

I was satisfied that he had told the truth and that I had luckily picked up a jewel of a man. I made up my mind that should he fulfill my first impressions during his "setting up" and graduation from recruit to a private he should be a corporal after one or two tours of guard duty.

The colonel frequently came around from one troop to another during the ceremony of stables. Morning and evening a cavalryman's horse is thoroughly groomed, fed and watered, each private and corporal grooming the horse he rides, the extra horses being taken care of by the recruits or by the stable guard when there were no recruits.

That afternoon I was right glad to walk down with the "old man," as we called our colonel. He was a harsh one and swift in his punishments, yet not slow in his rewards—just, but cold blooded and almost unmerciful, a man in many ways cordially hated by us all, yet in many more ways idolised by every one who knew him. We turned into my troop stables, and to my utter astonishment I found my stable sergeant standing with Recruit Laufer, ready for my order to put him in the guardhouse.

Dressed now in his white stable frock and trousers, he looked a typical cavalryman, but there was that in his face—not defiance, rather determination—plainly showing that he had made his decision.

"What's the matter, Sergeant Carswell?" asked the colonel.

"Recruit Laufer refuses to groom his horse, sir," reported Carswell, with his hand at the visor of his cap.

"Refuses to groom his horse, eh?" the colonel asked, with that twang in his voice which every soul from the kid bugler to the lieutenant colonel knew meant mischief. Then, turning to Laufer, in a manner to make stout nerves quiver, he asked:

"Why won't you groom your horse?"

"Because I am no groom, sir, and because such was not explained to me as part of my duties when I enlisted," said Laufer, saluting, but steady as a veteran.

"The—you say," roared the old man, now mad beyond all hope of calming. "Sergeant! Sergeant Carswell! Sergeant!" he yelled.

"Yes, sir," said the sergeant, who had stepped aside to look after the other recruits.

"Sergeant Carswell, have the saddler make a halter for this man, tie him up in this vacant stall when it's on him,

CONFERENCE CLOSED.

The Seal Experts Reach an Agreement.

PROPOSITION ON CANADA'S BEHALF.

A General Settlement of All Matters of Difference Between the Two Nations Proposed—Plan of an International Commission Discussed at Length—Will Come Up Later.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Canadians determined yesterday to meet the propositions for the immediate suspension of pelagic sealing with a counter proposition, for the establishment of a commission to arrange a general settlement not only of the Behring Sea question, but of reciprocity, border immigration, North Atlantic fisheries, and all pending questions between Canada and the United States. It was stated authoritatively that this proposition would be submitted when the diplomatic phases of the subject were taken up. Whether it would tend toward an adjustment was doubtful. It is understood that while the United States representatives have no objection to a commission as suggested by the Canadians they will insist that the first preliminary to it is a suspension, by modus vivendi or other expedient, temporary if need be, of pelagic sealing.

An Important Letter.

It developed during the day that Secretary Sherman had written a letter to Sir Wilfrid Laurier which may have an important bearing on the Canadian negotiations. It is said this letter resulted from the divided responsibility of officials here, General Foster having charge of Behring Sea, Secretary Gage of immigration, Mr. Kasson of reciprocity, etc., so that no one person could consider the subjects homogeneously, granting a concession on one subject for an equal concession on another. It is understood that Secretary Sherman's letter to Sir Wilfrid Laurier suggests means for a broader discussion of the relations between the two countries. The Behring Sea meeting began at 11 o'clock.

Hon. J. W. Foster's Powers.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 17.—It has been learned that Secretary Sherman's letter to Sir Wilfrid simplifies the trouble experienced by the latter in the negotiations. It informs Sir Wilfrid that Hon. J.W. Foster has been empowered by the President to treat with him on all subjects of concern to Canada and the United States. This makes it appear certain that the proposal for a joint commission will be accepted. Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not leave Washington last night. He expects to leave today. Should it happen though that no rocks are encountered in the negotiations with Mr. Foster, the Canadian Premier's visit may be prolonged.

Agreement of the Experts.

The unanimous agreement of the experts brings the Governments together for the first time on all the facts relating to the seals. This agreement was reached after painstaking comparison of notes, and the results were announced in an unofficial statement made public by General Foster, as follows; "The delegates to the fur seal conference have agreed unanimously on certain propositions touching the fur seal herd of Behring Sea. The report contains sixteen propositions, which are briefly epitomized as follows: That the Pribyloff herd has declined in numbers from 1894 to 1897; that the number was formerly three to five times that which now exists; that the death rate among pups is great, not more than one-half to one-third surviving to the age of three years; that the number of breeding females in 1896 and 1897 was between 100,000 and 130,000; that the decrease from 1896 to 1897 was notable, though its extent could not be definitely determined; that land-killing of males as now practiced does no harm to the herd; that pelagic sealing involves indiscriminate killing; that the catch at sea contains a marked excess of females; that the killing of males on land is the cause of this; that among the females killed are not only those both nursing and pregnant but also many who are immature or who have already lost their pups; that the fur sealing being polygamous a large number of males may be killed with impunity; that females cannot be killed in similar numbers without checking the increase of the herd or bringing about an actual decline; that a small number of females, less than the annual increment of breeders, might be taken without producing actual decrease; that pelagic sealing has of late fallen off in greater ratio than the herd has, thus producing a tendency toward equilibrium in numbers; that in estimating the future conditions of the herd there must be taken into consideration the reduction in the number of surviving pups caused by the pelagic catches of 1 [illegible]; that the herd is not in danger of actual extermination so long as its haunts on land are protected and the protected zone is maintained; that both land and sea killing now yield an inconsiderable profit either to the lessee or to the pelagic sealers themselves." The delegates signing are as follows: Charles Sumner Hamlin, David Starr Jordon, D'Arcy Wentworth Thompson and James Melville Macoun.

Gathering of Diplomats.

Following the agreement of the experts the diplomatic officials assembled at General Foster's house to discuss the larger question of putting an end to pelagic sealing and of settling other border controversies. Owing to the illness of Sir Julian Pauncefote the British Government was represented by the First Secretary of the British Embassy, Mr. Adam. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies were present in behalf of Canada.

The Commission Plan.

The plan of an international commission was discussed at great length. The Canadians felt that the commission afforded the best means of reconciling all differences and of opening the way to reciprocity. A final understanding was reached, therefore, that the Canadian proposition should be reduced to writing, as a basis for further negotiations. This closed the conference.

Sir Wilfrid and Sir Louis left this morning for Ottawa.

WITH EASTERN DAIRYMEN.

Hon. John Dryden Speaks at Millerytown —Reply to Mr. Whitney—The Agricultural College.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The visit of Hon. John Dryden to this section of the province has awakened much enthusiasm, particularly among the dairymen of both political parties, and it must be remembered that Brockville section is the leading one both for cheese factories and creameries. The Minister of Agriculture at Millerytown addressed a very large and interested audience.

A synopsis of Mr. Dryden's address would not do it justice. In his cool, deliberate style he took up one of the charges, if such they might be called, of Mr. Whitney and his friends. In regard to increased expenditure he declared that he would not belong to the Government if it had not increased the expenditure in order to develop the Province. One of the best features of the Government is that they have expended money for the advancement of the people.

In refuting the charge of appointing too many officials, the Minister took up the travelling dairy, the dairy schools, the Agricultural College, the various associations in connection with agriculture, the movement for better roads, and challenged the Opposition to say these were not necessary; and, if necessary, they had to have officials to be properly carried on.

In speaking of the unjust criticisms of the Agricultural College Mr. Dryden asked how it was that, although the Universities did not give a cash return, neither did the Collegiate Institutes, nor Public or Separate Schools, yet this farmers' school at Guelph was the only one attacked because it did not pay. He reiterated and emphasized the statement that he would have nothing but the best of everything in the equipment of this farmers' school, and he believed the farmers of Ontario would stand by him in this.

THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL.

An Interesting Budget of Minor Matters From the Queen City of the West—Centre Toronto Fight.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Though the Conservative Association is disposed to make a fight in Centre Toronto, it has not yet succeeded in persuading any prominent member of the party to assume the responsibilities of the candidature.

Yesterday Constable Tidsbury of East Toronto arrested George Beatty on a charge of shooting Miss McDougall of the Bay View Hotel on Oct. 30. It is claimed the shooting was accidental, and the prisoner has been released on $1000 bail.

The C. P. R. time table which comes into effect next Sunday will cut off several passenger trains on the Hamilton division.

The Queen's Own Rifles bicycle club have rented a big cottage at 99 Murray street and are re-fitting it. Yesterday workmen found a quantity of bones in the cellar, and there was some excitement at first as they resembled those of a human body. It subsided when it was found the ocation was near where the old Powell cemetery formerly was.

P.C. Welch, No. 144, of No. 3 Division was set upon last night by three civilians and six Grenadiers and was kicked and pounded until he was nearly dead. He fired four shots at his assailants and thinks one of them took effect. Owing to the fog it is unlikely the policeman's assailants will be ascertained.

To-day the Township of Pickering will vote on a Local Option repeal bylaw.

Dr. Albert Ham, who is to be organist of St. James' Cathedral, has arrived in the city, and will to-day assume the duties of his new office. Dr. Ham hails from Taunton, England.

In the matter of the liquidation of the Farmers' Loan and Savings Company, Mr. Justice Ferguson has drawn an order making Mr. E. B. Osler interim liquidator.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

HANGED AN INNOCENT MAN.

Coudot, Lynched in Dakota, Said to Have Taken no Part in the Spicer Murder.

GRAND FORKS, N.D., Nov. 17.—"An innocent man was hanged by lynchers at Williamsport" was the startling statement made yesterday by Chief Justice Corliss of the Supreme Court. "I have ample documentary evidence to the statements," continued the judge. "The Supreme Court ordered a new trial in Coudot's case because it appeared he was convicted on the uncorroborated evidence of Holytrack and Ireland, both of whom confessed to taking part in the murder of the Spicer family, and whose statements were refused by the strongest testimony given by Dr. Ross, the resident agency physician at Standing Rock. Dr. Ross' veracity is unquestioned and his testimony is supported by notes from his memorandum book. Another fact is that Holytrack and Ireland made two other previous confessions, in neither of which did they implicate Coudot. Holytrack and Ireland were sure to have expiated their crime on the gallows, as there was no question of their guilt, but the mob made no distinction and hanged the innocent with the guilty. The lynching of Coudot is a foul crime and a blot on the fair name of the state, and his murderers should not go unpunished."

"KILL THEM."

Mexican Populace Shout Nasty Things at the Lynchers of Arroyo.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 17.—Great crowds surrounded the prison at Belen and the vicinity of the Palace of Justice yesterday, when 13 prisoners, mostly ex-police officers, implicated in the lynching of Arnolfo Arroyo, were taken through the streets in wagons and coaches for trial. Shouts of "Kill them" were heard from the populace, but the prisoners were well guarded by mounted and foot police.

The public prosecutor asks for the death penalty on Villavicencio, ex-inspector, and the man who suggested the murder to his chief, Velasques, the inspector-general of police, who committed suicide in prison. Villavicencio expects to escape with life imprisonment. The public prosecutor also asked for capital sentences upon the other lynchers.

Verdict for $10,000 for Libel.

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labor-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at the pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, step up telephone No. 58, or address box 658, and have him send one over to your house.

CONFERENCE OF THE ARCHDEACONRY OF PETERBOROUGH.

In Session at Lindsay—Several Important Matters Dealt With—The Division of the Diocese Discussed.

The fourth meeting of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough began yesterday morning at Lindsay, when about sixty clerical and lay representatives were assembled under the presidency of Ven. Archdeacon Allen.

A devotional service was held in St. Paul's church at 9.30, when an admirable address was delivered by Rev. E. A. De Vernet of Toronto. At 11.30 the conference met in the school house, and the Archdeacon delivered his opening address, in which he made reference to the various topics to be discussed.

The following Council of the Archdeaconry was then appointed:

Nominated by the Archdeacon, Rural Deans of Northumberland, Durham and Haliburton and Rev. W. E. Cooper.

The following were elected representatives—Rev. Canon Farncomb, to represent Durham; Rev. Canon Spragge, to represent Northumberland; and Rev. Mr. Soward to represent Haliburton.

Rev. H. Symonds was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Mr. J. Williams of Port Hope having offered a house in that town to the Archdeaconry to be used as a house, a cordial vote of thanks was passed, and the matter was referred to a committee to report upon.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson brought forward a proposition to hold a summer School of Divinity at Lakefield next year. The matter met with approval and a committee was appointed to make arrangements.

The ladies of Lindsay provided a bountiful luncheon, after which the whole afternoon was devoted to the discussion of the proposed division of the diocese. Speeches were made by Revs. C. H. Marsh, C. B. Kenrick, and W. E. Cooper; Messrs. F. B. Hodgins, of Toronto, John Burnham, Wm. Grace, John Cowan, of Oshawa, and many others. As to the need of the division, there was no difference of opinion, but the practical difficulties were commented upon. Finally a resolution was passed appointing a committee to be composed of the following: The Archdeacon, the Rural Deans, Rev. H. Symonds, C. H. Marsh, C. B. Kenrick and J. H. Talbot; Messrs. J. Burnham, Wm. Grace, F. B. Hodgins, A. L. Colville, with power to add to their numbers, to formulate a definite scheme for raising the proposed funds, and to hold meetings in all the parishes in the proposed new diocese, to arouse and educate public opinion on the subject.

In the evening there was divine service in St. Paul's church, when the Archdeacon was the preacher.

A SEA OF SWEET MUSIC

By T. P. Brooks's Marine Band.

It was splendid music, and those who were not at the Opera House last night missed one of the finest programmes of band music ever presented in Peterborough. The attendance was far short of the extraordinary merits of the performance. Mr. Bradburn is to be congratulated and commended on his attempt to place first-class classical, as well as popular, music before the people of the town, and it is to be much regretted that his efforts were not more liberally appreciated and that he should lose, not lightly, for the benefit of the public. The playing of Brooke's Marine Band was little short of perfection. The parts were well balanced; apparently every performer was an artist, and Mr. Brooke was an ideal conductor; a gentle and modest wave of his baton acted like pressing a button, and as if by electric connection the band responded with automatic precision. The attack was superb, and the beautiful evenness and smoothness of the crescendi and decrescendi, were exquisitely fine. The volume of tone varied from a whisper to a thunder roll,—not noise but musical sound of the richest and most vibrant quality. The programme was a happy combination of the classical and the popular, the latter consisting largely of the extra numbers given in response to recalls, every one of the ten numbers, with a single exception, being repeated. The finest number of the series was the overture, Rossini's "Semiramide," and the haunting melodies and opulent harmonies of the great composer's work received delightful interpretation. A triumph was the performance of gems from Wagner's "Tannhauser." A conductor that can so far popularize the weird maestro's music as to produce a recall, accomplishes much. Special mention is deserved by the sixth number, suite from German's Henry VIII. "The Shepherd's Dance," in its idyllic beauty, received exquisitely tender and delicate treatment. The singing of Miss Sybil Sammis in "There was a Prince"—Il Guarany, by Gomez, was a great treat. She possesses, besides a fine stage presence, two indispensable requisites to good singing, a good rich voice and she knows how to sing. She had the honour of a double recall. Not the least popular of the extra numbers were the "Maple Leaf Forever" and "The British Grenadiers," which were received with patriotic enthusiasm. Space does not permit of dealing with the concert in detail, but the visit of Brooke's band gave complete satisfaction to the audience, and if he should again visit Peterborough, he should overflow the opera house. Without instituting comparisons, it may be suggested that if Sousa's band does better work than was given last night, it has improved since it visited Peterborough. It is understood that after last night's unsatisfactory appreciation of first-class entertainment, the opera house management cancelled an engagement to bring the great Rhea to Peterborough in December.

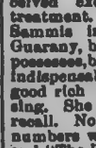
Thanksgiving Turkeys.

Parties wishing to make sure of having prime turkeys for Thanksgiving Day (November 25th), can secure well fed birds, properly killed and carefully assorted for the best trade, by leaving their orders as easy as possible at J. B. OKE & Co's, 418 George street. 6d

Dangerous Poisons in Plasters.

Belladona and Aconite plasters would not be used at all if their dangerous qualities were more generally known. These drugs may be absorbed by the system and cause serious trouble. "Quickcure" has been recommended as being entirely free from anything which could possible injure even a child and no plaster removes pain so quickly. The 50c. and $1 size pots of "Quickcure," hold 3 and 9 times the quantity of trial size, only a little is required.

Christmas Turkeys Free.



No fake or quibble about this. You can secure a plump ten-pound turkey free, all right. Don't all come at once, but all come quickly, for we have free turkeys for all who care to accept them.—J. B. OKE & Co.'s, Fruit Game and Oyster dealers, 418 George street. Can't get them by telephone—you must come to the store and register.

Ladies, He is Coming.

When bodily tired, a sleep is refreshing, but when that tired feeling is felt through dissatisfaction with our personal appearance sleep is not the remedy to employ. The hair plays an important part in this respect. One of Prof. Dorenwend's beautiful Bangs or Wavy Fronts will soften and refine the expression of the face, and a fine switch to coil or braid will give the head a beautiful shape. By wearing these goods you will feel better and look younger. Call on Prof. Dorenwend at Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, Wednesday, Nov. 17th, and see the foregoing demonstrated. It will cost nothing. Thousands wear these goods with satisfaction. You can be benefitted likewise. 6d2w

FOOTBRIDGE TO BE ERECTED AT AUBURN.

THE BYLAW PASSED LAST NIGHT CONFIRMING THE AGREEMENT WITH G. T. R.

The Railway Company Assumes All Liability on the Bridge and Will Maintain it. Leaving the Town Only Responsible For the Sidewalks Leading up to it From Either Side.

The town council met in special session, last evening with the mayor presiding and the following Councillors in attendance,—Messrs. Best, LePlante, Deane, Neill, Davis, Dawson, Cobb, McWilliams, Maldrum and White.

Councillor McWilliams stated that the Legal Committee had made an amicable agreement with Mr. Joseph T. Wilkins, who threatened to sue the town for injuries sustained by falling over some wire fencing on the boulevard in front of Mr. Shelvin's house on King street. Mr. Wilkins asked for $23.50 and of this Mr. Shelvin agreed to pay $13.50, the town paying $10.00. The report of the Legal Committee was submitted as follows:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Legal Committee beg leave to report that they have made a settlement with Mr. Joseph T. Wilkins for his claim for an accident on King street, by which Mr. Wilkins has agreed to relieve the town from further liability for the accident on the payment by the town to him of $10. His letter is attached to this report. We recommend that this settlement be approved and that the Treasurer be authorized to issue cheque to Mr. Wilkins for $10 in accordance therewith.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. MCWILLIAMS,
Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillors McWilliams and Deane.

THE AUBURN FOOT BRIDGE.

On the Grand Trunk Railway assuming the liability in connection with the new foot bridge at Auburn, a bylaw was passed confirming the agreement with the company regarding its erection. The town is only liable by the new agreement for the sidewalks approaching the bridge on both sides. The Railway Company maintains the foot bridge.

Another bylaw was passed amending the building bylaw to an extent to permit the erection of buildings two stories in height on Hunter street, west of George.

THE COMMITEE OF THE WHOLE,

through its chairman, Councillor Deane, reported as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your committee of the whole council met a committee of the Children's Aid Society and of the Women's Benevolent Association in regard to providing a temporary shelter for children who may be taken in charge by the Children's Aid Society. It is proposed by the society to rent a house for this purpose, and the town was asked to bear the expense of rent and heating. Councillor Best generously offered to give the Society the use of a house free of rent for a year, and your committee recommend that the society be given a grant of $200 towards paying the expenses of the home or shelter for one year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. H. G. DENNE,
Chairman.

Adopted on motion of Messrs. Deane and Davis.

On motion the grant will be deducted over to the Society in monthly instalments.

Councillor McWilliams stated that W. H. Moore, on behalf of the Henthorne estate, offered the town the gravel free of charge from the excavations being made for a new livery stable on Hunter street. The only expense entailed would be the hauling and he moved that the offer be accepted—Carried.

It was decided that the gravel be disposed of as the inspector saw fit.

Councillor McWilliams urged that the sewer contractors be asked to push the work along McDonel street, west of George, in order that the Street Railway Company would have no excuse for not putting down the rails on that street, as the company claimed at present that if they laid the rails they would only be torn up again by the sewer contractor.

This brought up the matter of the dangerous condition of George street, caused by the manner in which the street car rails were exposed, and the advice of the town solicitor will be sought on the subject this afternoon.

On motion of Councillors Maldrum and White, Dunlop street, at Auburn, will be graded, as it is almost impassable in the fall and spring.

Councillors Best and Denne asked the chairman of Streets and Bridges Committee to give some attention to Sherbrooke street drain, which is usually cleaned out in the fall.

Councillors White, Cobb, Dawson and the street inspector will visit the creek where it crosses McDonel and Hilliard properties, where the flooding in the spring is complained of.

Councillor Maldrum asked how it was that an additional percentage over the 15 per cent. agreed upon was being held back from the sewer contractors? He understood that it was because the streets had not been cleared up after the excavations had been filled in. The reason why the streets were not cleared up was that the town had agreed to take away the large stones to be used for the Patterson dam.

Councillor Best asked that the Town Engineer be not interfered with. He was held responsible for the streets and should be allowed to do as he saw fit.

Councillor Davis spoke along the same line and moved that the Town Engineer be heard.

Mr. Belcher then stated that Aylmer street had been left in such a bad condition that he had held back an additional percentage from the contractors in order to induce them to clean it up before the frost set in and made it impossible to do so until spring. Other streets had also been left in much the same shape and he had acted in the same manner in regard to them. He was prepared to give the contractors the amounts to which they were entitled assoon as the streets were cleaned up.

Cold, damp, winter winds are hard on weak lungs, Madill's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil will be found very efficacious. Put up by W. Madill, druggist, Hunter street. dw

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE

Passed By the Lock Works Employees to Mrs. Thomas Brooks and Family.

At a meeting of the employees of the Peterborough Lock Works employees held yesterday the following resolutions were unanimously adopted with expressions of the most earnest sympathy:

To Mrs. Brooks and family:

Whereas, God in his wisdom has seen fit to remove from this world by the hand of death a beloved husband and kind and loving father, we the employees of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co. desire to place on record our high appreciation of the character and services of one whom we regarded not so much in the light of an employer, but as a true friend, and to express our heartfelt sympathy with his family in their sad bereavement, with the prayer that He who has sent this great affliction may solace and comfort you in this great trial.

Therefore, be it resolved:

"First, that in the death of Mr. Brooks we have lost an employer and manager, the thought of whose name will ever remind us that great kindness of heart could be associated with the just demands of business;

"Second, that it is a great pleasure to us to recall, that while his heart seemed wedded to the promotion of the business interests with which he was connected, it could be readily touched by the appeal of suffering, and express itself in prompt relief;

"Third, that while life lasts we will cherish his memory, all the more impressed upon us because of his peculiar illness and sudden death and ever think of him as one whom it was a pleasure and an honour to be associated with;

"Fourth, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and a copy to each of the local papers for publication.

Signed on behalf of the employees.

THE NEW MANAGER

Of the Bank of Montreal is Mr. A. G. Parker.

Mr. A. E. Flanemore, accountant of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, who has been very efficiently performing the duties of acting manager since the death of Mr. F. J. Rogers, about two months ago, received a letter from the head office this morning, informing him that Mr. A. G. Parker, manager of the Seigneurs street branch in Montreal, has been appointed manager of the bank in Peterborough.

Mr. Parker is a brother of Mr. W. D. Parker, manager of the Ontario Bank, and it is expected will enter upon his duties in the course of a few days.

LUCKY SPECULATION

The Richest Scoop of the Year!

Another Mighty Montreal Purchase.

$22,588 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING BOUGHT AT UNHEARD OF PRICES.

"Better to be born Lucky than Rich"—so the old aphorism goes. Just when we were running short of Heavy Winter Suits and Overcoats, and on the look-out for a big purchase for the Grand Opening of our New Toronto Store, along comes a lucky offer from the stalwart McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY—the Staunch and Trusty Clothing Manufacturers of Montreal.

WAS IT LUCK OR FATE? or WAS IT A COINCIDENCE? No matter—"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." The McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY were looking for an outlet for the balance of their Winter Stocks, in order to start on their work for next spring's business. GOUGH BROS. had the pull, and the Private offer was reserved for them to "clean them out at 33⅓ PER CENT. LESS THAN THE COST OF MANUFACTURE!" Here was the golden opportunity of the year, and the WIDE-AWAKE GOUGH'S promptly staked their claim on the spot, and cleaned them out! Was that buying goods right or not? Well posted merchants know that Gough Bros. invariably buy their goods right. We have been pre-eminently successful in distributing DRIVES in Clothing, because we are known to every manufacturer in the land as having an outlet for dependable goods AT LESS THAN THEIR REGULAR PRICES. Here is a Case in point: Study out the figures for yourselves, and get an old-fashioned hustle on "As we buy, so we sell." To-day, we inaugurate the most brilliant sale of the year:—

CARELESS BOY DID DAMAGE.

ANOTHER CASE OF "DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED."

A Shooting at the Ottawa Central Depot Yesterday Morning, as a Result of which a Lady Assistant was Injured.

Miss Bella Johnston of Smith's Falls, is well known in town through having visited the family of Mr. Peter Glover in Ashburnham on several occasions. She was the victim of a serious accident yesterday, of which the Ottawa Journal speaks as follows:

"Joe Larouche another boy 'who didn't know it was loaded,' while fooling with a revolver in the Central Depot News office this morning shot Miss Bella Johnston, bookkeeper for Mr. J. A. Burgess.

"Larouche was standing in the news room when Rudolph Lagasse, a train news boy entered. Lagasse emptied his box, and among other things laid a 22-calibre revolver upon the desk. Larouche picked it up and while examining it Lagasse went to take it from him. Larouche kept possession of the revolver and suddenly it exploded. At first Miss Johnston was not aware that she was shot until the blood was seen to trickle down her chin. The bullet had entered just above the chin, smashed part of the jaw, knocked two teeth out, lacerated her tongue, and lodged in her jaw. Dr. J. W. Shillington and Dr. A. T. Shillington were summoned and extracted the bullet and after attending to Miss Johnston, sent her to her home, 115 Stewart street."

"Larouche when spoken to said he was going to lay the weapon down when it went off. He says he 'didn't know it was loaded', and apparently feels keenly over the accident. He is a son of cabman Jos. Larouche.

Immediately after the accident Lagasse picked his revolver up and threw it into the canal."

"Mr. Geo. A. Johnston, manager of the C.P.R. restaurant, and brother of Miss Johnston, stated to the Journal that Lagasse has been warned repeatedly not to carry fire arms, but that with other news boys on the train he persisted."

AN OLD LAND MARK REMOVED.

The Venerable Hunter Street Livery Stables Non Est—To be Replaced by a Fine New Structure.

One by one the old landmarks disappear, the last one being the old livery stable buildings on Hunter street occupied by Mr. F. E. Jones. This morning the work of demolition began, and before these lines are read the building will have ceased to exist.

These old stables were erected by Mr. Thos. Eastland of Apsley, now over eighty years of age, about half half a century ago. They were first occupied by Messrs. Thos. Eastland and Robert White, now of the White House, who were partners in the first livery business conducted in Peterborough, their modest stud in the beginning consisting of four horses. Since that time the building has never been without an occupant, and every occupant has been engaged in the livery business.

The premises are now owned by the D. Henthorne estate, and the trustees have arranged for the erection, from plans supplied by Mr. J. E. Belcher, of a fine two story brick, iron-roofed building, 30 x 80 feet in length, for Mr. Fred. E. Jones' livery business. The front half will contain the office and carriage room, while the rear half will be fitted up for stabling.

The front half of the upper story will contain a stable boy's room and store room for carriages in winter and cutters and sleighs in summer—and the rear half will be used for storing hay and other provender.

The new stables will be built in the most modern style and comply with all the requirements of the fire bylaw. They will be lighted by electricity and provided with city water.

THEY CLEARED $158.

The Art Loan Was a Great Financial Success as Shown by the Reports.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. was held yesterday.

The principal business was the reports from the Art Loan Exhibition.

Mrs. Peter Campbell, the treasurer, reported that $158 had been cleared.

The account of $108.75 for electric light fixtures was ordered to be paid.

It was also decided to proceed at once to furnish the boy's room and the Physical Director's office. Mesdames Hall, Lech and Davidson were appointed a committee to have charge of these.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed expressing the gratitude of the ladies to the Fire Brigade and Sons of England bands, and to all others who assisted in the musical programme.

Thanks was also expressed to Mr. A. Kingscott for decorations, and in general to all who had assisted in making the exhibition the great success which it was.

The Auxiliary will meet again on Tuesday, Dec. 7th, to arrange for the annual New Year's reception on Jan. 1st, 1898, by young men.

CHEESE FACTORY MEETING.

The patrons of the Shearer cheese factory held their annual meeting in the factory on Tuesday, Nov. 16th, when the business of the season was completed.

The meeting was largely attended by the patrons, who were evidently well satisfied with the results of the season's business.

The several officers presented their reports showing that 2,108,109 lbs. of milk or 702 7-10 standards had been delivered at the factory during the season, from which were made 193,381 lbs. of cheese, being an average of 10 9 10 lbs. of milk per lb. of cheese. The ammount received from sales of cheese was $16,937.06, being an average of a little more than 8⅗c per lb. This amount together with the whey and interest made the aggregate business $17,303.11.

The value of the milk per standard to the patrons after paying all expenses is $19.75. The average amount of milk sent by each of the 86 patrons is 24T.513 lbs.

The officers of the past season were all re-elected.

JOLLY JOE DISBERRY

CAREER OF A THIEF OF REVOLUTIONARY TIMES.

Nothing Could Cure Him of His Pilfering Propensity — All His Property Confiscated, His Ears Cut Off and Imprisonment For 21 Years Imposed Upon Him.

About the close of the Revolutionary war a notorious character named Joe Disberry lived about Selinsgrove and Sunbury, on the Susquehanna. Whence he came is unknown, but he is supposed to have been of Connecticut origin. He is reputed to have been possessed of great physical strength and powers of endurance, could excel in running and jumping, and in thieving and lying had no equal along the river. He was of a humorous disposition also and frequently indulged in amusing pranks while engaged in plying his avocation. It is related of him that on more than one occasion he was known slyly to enter the kitchen of a family when all were in bed, start up the fire and cook himself a meal and leisurely eat it. If discovered, he relied on his swiftness of foot to escape. Finally his thefts became so numerous that the whole neighborhood arose against him, and he was arrested and confined in the rude jail at Sunbury, but as it was not very secure he escaped, and Sheriff Antes offered a reward for his apprehension. Joe took refuge on the Isle of Que and concealed himself in a dense thicket. He might have eluded pursuit but for his inordinate love for perpetrating jokes. While lying in his place of concealment near the road which crossed the island Joe heard the footsteps of a horse and, slyly peeping from his covert, discovered the sheriff's wife approaching on horseback on her way to Selinsgrove. Quickly stepping into the road, he pulled off his hat, made a polite bow and as quickly disappeared in the bushes. The astonished lady, who knew him, hurried on to Selinsgrove and gave the alarm.

A party headed by George Kremer, afterward a member of congress, was hurriedly made up and went in pursuit of the refuges. He was captured and returned to the custody of Sheriff Antes at the jail in Sunbury. He was tried and convicted, and his sentence is one of the strangest found in the annals of criminal history in Pennsylvania. The quarter sessions docket, still preserved among the court records at Sunbury (for September term, 1784), shows that he was convicted of felony, and the following sentence was imposed:

"Judgment — that the said Joseph Disberry receive 39 lashes between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock tomorrow; to stand in the pillory one hour; to have his ears cut off and nailed to the post; to return the property stolen or the value thereof; remain in prison three months; pay a fine of £30 to the honorable the president of this state for the support of the government and stand convicted until fine, fees, etc., are paid."

This remarkable sentence shows the estimate that was put on Joe as a criminal. The whipping post and pillory stood in the public square in Sunbury, and the spot can still be pointed out. Colonel Henry Antes, the sheriff, directed the whipping if he did not do it himself. There is no record to show who did the ear cropping, but as the surgical operation fell to the sheriff it is presumed that he did. Among the 12 men who composed the jury were several noted Indian fighters and Revolutionary soldiers. Peter Hosterman, foreman, was active as a militiaman and had command at one time of a company to repel Indian attacks. Adam and Michael Grove were famous as Indian scouts and were engaged in several bloody encounters with the savages. This severe sentence did not cure Joe of his thieving propensities, for the quarter sessions docket for August term, 1798, shows that he was arraigned and tried on three indictments for robbing the houses of Philip Bower, Peter Jones and Isaiah Willitts and convicted on each. The Hon. Jacob Rush, president judge of the judicial district, was on the bench and imposed the following sentence:

"That the prisoner, Joseph Disberry, forfeit all and singular his goods and chattels, land and tenements, to and for the use of the commonwealth, and undergo a servitude of seven years for the burglary committed in the house of Philip Bower, and be committed to the house of correction, pay the costs of prosecution, etc." The court then sentenced him on the two other indictments, seven years each, and continued: "That the defendant be conveyed to the jail and penitentiary house of Philadelphia to undergo the servitude aforesaid for the term of 21 years. And that the said Joseph Disberry be kept for the space of two years in the solitary cell out of the term of 21 years."

When the sentence was being delivered, Joe was an attentive listener, and when the last "seven" was pronounced he broke in with the remark: "Why, judge, three times seven are 21!" which caused the audience to smile. Joe was brought to this city and served his long sentence, which expired in 1819. He returned to his old haunts about Sunbury and Selinsgrove an old man, but as merry as ever. His long and frequent punishment failed to make an honest man of him, and he continued to pilfer wherever an opportunity offered. The date of his death is unknown, but it is said that he went one night to a mill in Union county to steal flour, and, falling through a hatchway, sustained injuries which finally killed him. —Philadelphia Times.

THAT OLD STONE HOUSE.

A old stone house, with its mosses gray,
Where I played in childhood, gay and free,
And dreamed many happy hours away,
Is to me a bright, sweet memory.

It stood near a creek whose blithesome song
With dreamy music filled all the air,
As it rolled and danced and gamboled along
Through the meadows with blooming clover fair.

It commanded a view more wide and grand
Of orchard and field and wood and stream
Than any farmstead in the land
That borrows naught from a boyish dream.

And the voices of bees and frogs and birds,
All blending in a strange, glad harmony
With the gentle lowing of the browsing herds,
Thrill me still as a lingering melody.

And the faces of those who made it home,
With smiles of affection so tender and true,
I cherish most fondly wherever I roam
As the fairest sight that ever I knew.

Oh, that old stone house, so mossy and gray,
With all that it was and once enshrined,
Has cheered for me oft life's rugged way
As I called its vanished charms to mind.
—A. S. Brendle in Good Housekeeping.

WINDS AND LEAVES.

Wet winds that flap the sodden leaves,
Wet leaves that drop and fall,
Unhappy leafless trees the wind bereaves,
Poor trees and small;

All of a color, solemn in your green;
All of a color, somber in your brown;
All of a color, dripping gray between,
When leaves are down!

Oh, for the bronze green eucalyptus spires,
Far flashing up against the changeless blue,
Shifting and glancing in the steady fires
Of sun and moonlight too.

Deep orange groves, pomegranate hedges bright
And varnished fringes of the pepper trees,
And, ah, that wind of sunshine, wind of light,
Wind of the seas!
—Charlotte Perkins Stetson in Land of Sunshine.

HUMAN BRAINS.

How Science Views the Difference Between Men and Women.

The weightier brain would seem also to indicate, a priori, the greater intellectual power, and this, too, is borne out by undoubted facts. Women, it has often been said, have yet to produce their Newton, their Dante, their Aristotle, their Pascal, their Goethe. The assertion is very feebly met by the contention that women's education has been for centuries neglected.

It was not education which enabled Pascal as a child to see his way through problems which not one man in 1,000 can understand after prolonged mental drill. It was not education which gave the race its great men poets. "They lisped in numbers for the numbers came." But where are their feminine equals? We will, however, take an art in which women have enjoyed far more training than men—the art of music. There are some excellent women pianists and violinists, but where are the female Bachs, Beethovens, Mozarts and Wagners? Nature only can explain the absence of great women composers as of the feminine composers of Titian and Raphael, the technique of whose art seems peculiarly fitted to women.

Nature tells us that she cannot form the matrix out of which commanding intellectual geniuses of the female sex would proceed. Why this is so we may partly guess, but cannot wholly know. We see that nature has divided the world into sexes for her own purposes, and that to each sex peculiar functions are assigned. We see that the physiological functions of woman necessitate a different anatomy from that of man, and we infer that these functions and this structure preclude, speaking generally, the kind of effort which we call supreme genius, as also that kind of effort which we call sustained executive power. While women are not so far differentiated from men that they cannot enter with pleasure into men's works, and, often in a great measure, share in their production, it remains a fact that it is man's particular organization which is alone capable either of the highest manifestations of genius or the most sustained exhibition of energy. Whether it will always be so we do not know, for we cannot peer into the future. It is sufficient that it not only is so now, but that it always has been so, and that science does give us some good grounds for believing that the fact is deeply rooted in the very structure of sex.—London Spectator.

Sign of Strength.

The sign of strength, a ruddy countenance, depends upon rich, red blood. To make the blood rich and ruddy, the countenance clear and bright, and the step firm and elastic, used Burdock Blood Bitters. Unequalled.

Mr. Thos. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes:—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

Wanted Her Money's Worth.

Anyone who had not seen the woman with an angry eye wobble just before she dismounted from her wheel would have taken her for an experienced rider, a heroine of century runs. She strode with majestic confidence through the store, and so impressed another woman that she forgot herself and let the newcomer be waited on first.

"I suppose," she said to the clerk, that I looked rather new at bicycling, and that you thought that there wasn't much use bothering about me, because I wouldn't know the difference, anyhow."

The clerk assured her to the contrary, and said he was sure there was some misunderstanding.

"There was a misunderstanding," she answered. "I understood when I got this repair kit that I was getting all that a repair kit ought to contain."

"Certainly," he answered. "Isn't it all right?"

"Didn't you expressly state that it contained everything that would be required for repairs in an ordinary accident?"

"Yes."

"And I bought it with that implied guarantee, didn't I?"

"Undeniably, you did."

"And if things didn't turn out just as you represented them it's your business to make good the deficiency?"

"I suppose so."

"All right. There's your repair kit. You can either put in a paper of pins and some sticking plaster, or else give me back my money."—Washington Star.

The Brain of a Clam.

It is only within a comparatively short time that the existence of an organ properly termed a brain in the lowest orders of animals has been recognized. Of course, very far down in the scale of creation one finds hardly more than a system of nerves and ganglia, with nothing especially recognized as representing a brain. But even a clam may be said to have a sort of brain, though it is extremely small; it can be dissected and properly identified as the thinking centre or principal ganglion of the creature. This principal nerve bunch or ganglion has direct control over the so-called "foot" of the clam. When it comes to the higher mollusks, such as the squid, nautilus, argonaut and other cephalopods, it is found that they possess quite large and well-developed brains.

To Save Icebound Whalers.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 16.—Secretary Gage has requested the Secretary of the Interior to instruct the Alaskan officials to gather about 600 head of reindeer from the Government herds for the use of the expedition for the relief of the icebound whalers in the Arctic. The herd, which will be killed for food if needed, will be driven overland, and it is the confident expectation, will reach the imprisoned whalers before the middle of February. The route over which the herd will be driven is said to abound with moss, upon which the reindeer feed, and it is agreed that the relief scheme is feasible, and will be attended with little danger. The eight vessels now icebound have a combined complement of 265 men.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The treatment with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

DOUBLED UP!

UNABLE TO WORK.

Suffering Agony Day and Night.

"For nearly two years," says Frank J. Wray, 211 Sherbourne St., Toronto, "I suffered greatly with lameness and pain in my back. It often happened that my back and kidneys pained me so badly that I was doubled up and could hardly walk, except in a stooping position. Very often I was unable to work, suffering agony both day and night. I had severe pain in the lower part of my stomach, and other symptoms which proved conclusively that my kidneys were in a very unhealthy condition. My appetite was lost and my strength declined rapidly.

"I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills in March last, and after using three boxes of them was completely restored to health. I have not had the slightest pain or stiffness in any part of my back, or any indication of my former trouble, since using these wonderful pills.

"With the restoration of my kidneys to a healthy condition, my appetite was restored, and my strength returned, so that I am now strong and hearty. I make this statement of my cure by Doan's Kidney Pills with the greatest pleasure, because when I commenced taking them I did not really expect so remarkable a cure as that which followed their use. I am very thankful that I hit upon this remedy, and gladly recommend it to all sufferers." 287

The Canadians Kicked.

It is understood that the Canadian officials do not regard this proposition with favor. It is said that they would be glad to reach any basis of settlement by compromise, on fair concession, but they view this proposition as one for absolute surrender on their part. From this standpoint, an agreement to stop sealing for one year, and then to negotiate for stopping it for a longer period, would involve their giving without any definite prospect of receiving benefit for benefit. Whether this shall develop a critical issue when the diplomats get together cannot be foretold. Each side insists on its respective contentions, and both are earnestly hopeful of a solution. From the American standpoint, the failure of the negotiations would effect only the sealing question between Great Britain, Canada and the United States,

QUEER LAKE SALAWIK.

Its Waters Grow Warm in Winter, and Men Can Fish There With Clubs.

The rich placers of Klondike are not the only curiosity of the country traversed by the Yukon. Not far from Dawson there is in Alaska a really extraordinary lake which was named Salawik by its discoverer, the Rev. P. Tosi, a missionary among the savages.

This lake, which is 90 miles long and about 15 miles wide, is perhaps the only one in all that extreme northern region which does not freeze over during the winter. No communication has been discovered between it and the sea, nevertheless at high water upon the coasts of the northern ocean the level of the lake rises, and it falls again at low tide.

This sympathy with the sea does not extend to the point of making Salawik a salt lake. On the contrary, its waters are good to drink. But another of its peculiarities is that its temperature rises in winter and falls in summer. When all the water courses of the neighboring country are completely frozen over, Lake Salawik becomes so warm that it is really pleasant to bathe in it. On the other hand, in the summer time the water is extremely cold.

This peculiarity makes it in the winter time a Mecca of fishermen. The abundance of fish in the lake is so great that a person can almost catch them with the hand and can kill large quantities with a club. Here for the miners is a source of food supply which they had not counted upon and which certainly will contribute to diminish the cost of living, especially during the winter, in that inhospitable region. In an hour a man can get enough fish to supply himself for a month, and of the very best quality, including salmon ranging from 20 to 50 pounds in weight.

It will not be astonishing if some fine day we may see upon the shores of Lake Salawik one of those fashionable hotels which are the glory of American watering places.—Lewiston (Me.) Republique.

ABSINTH IN FRANCE.

Taking a Glass of the Liquor Is a Whole Evening's Work.

Although absinth is to a Frenchman what whisky is to an American, he never dreams of running behind a screen and swallowing a glassful in one tremendous effort. There is something almost poetic in the way a Frenchman prepares and partakes of his beverage.

It always takes two waiters to serve a glass of absinth. Waiter No. 1 brings the tray, upon which are a carafe frappe (ice water that has been frozen in the carafe), a tall glass, a tiny tray piled up with small blocks of sugar and a queer, flat, perforated spoon. Waiter No. 2, who has remained discreetly in the rear, advances with the bottle of the popular stimulant said to be the destruction of so many French minds and bodies. After saluting monsieur, the garcon carefully pours the desired quantity into the glass and goes on to serve some one else.

Then for the first time the Frenchman shows some signs of interest in the matter. He relinquishes his hold on his cane, but one hand only; the other never deserts the cane. He carefully places the perforated spoon across the top of the glass. On the spoon he balances, with careful nicety, a block of sugar and gently pours a small quantity of ice water over the sugar into the glass. This done, he once more grasps his cane with both hands and apparently forgets all about the beverage before him. The sugar slowly melts, drop by drop, into the glass, through the perforations of the spoon. Quite awhile afterward, sometimes a half an hour, the drinker again shows an interest in his beverage. He looks to see if the sugar has all melted; then he removes the spoon and raises the glass for a sip of the concoction—only a sip, however—for it is sip by sip that a Frenchman consumes his absinth, and a glass of it, including the time passed in the preparation, takes an entire evening.—Chicago Tribune.

Coffee and Its Uses.

When there are in a community epidemics of typhoid fever, cholera, erysipelas, scarlet fever and the various types of malarial fever, which are transmitted almost entirely through the medium of food and drink, coffee is a valuable agent and may be used as a drink instead of water.

It is a valuable agent in assisting in the digestion of food and aids the blood in taking up more nourishment than it would without it.

It quickens the circulation of the blood and respiration.

It is also stimulating and refreshing (due to the caffeine it contains).

In tiding over nervousness in emergencies it is a sovereign remedy.

As a stimulant and caloric generator in cold weather it is 100 per cent ahead of whisky or other liquors.

As a disinfectant it is one of no small usefulness in the sick chamber.

Sleepy Onions.

The London Medical Press asserts that some plants sleep through the rainy season, others during periods of drought, of heat or of cold. Farmers are rather skeptical about weeds ever going to sleep, and it is hard to realise that an onion bed is nightly wrapped in balmy slumber. Yet science in this matter is too well fortified to be doubted.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prize Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

TRADE MARK.

Marvellous Cure for Erysipelas by Sloan's Indian Tonic, in Lambton County.

Mrs. J. J. Porter, of Corunna, writes:—

I received the medicine all right, and am much obliged for it. I had Erysipelas every summer for five years, sometimes so bad my face arms and body would swell to an enormous size and my eyes would be shut for days at a time. I tried two doctors but they did me no good, and I even went for change of climate, but all to no avail, until I got your TONIC. After taking one bottle the swelling ceased, and I improved every day and am now entirely cured.

Fred W. Leiskau, Baden, writes:—

Please send me another bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic. I bought one bottle from your agent early this spring and I must say it is the best medicine in existence. I was troubled with a soreness in my right side and tried many doctors, but they could not cure me, and after using the one bottle I have had no trouble with the soreness. I am very glad I can state this.

MR. STRATTON CONFERS WITH HIS CONSTITUENTS.

HE DEALS WITH THE LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

Addresses to Constituents of Galway and Cavendish—The Financial Situation Discussed — Other Provincial Issues Treated.

During Monday and Tuesday Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., addressed meetings of his constituents in Cavendish and Galway, speaking upon the legislative work of the session and incidentally dealing with important provincial questions and issues and in concluding his address he said that before another opportunity was presented of addressing the electors on the legislative work of a session, there would have been a provincial election, and whether or not he became a candidate did not rest with himself, but with his supporters in West Peterborough. During the course of his representation of West Peterborough he had endeavoured, to the very best of his abilities, to discharge his duties in the interests of every part of the riding, irrespective of class, creed or political faith. This had been his endeavour, and in this effort he had given all the time that was necessary—and that was a great deal—not only to the general affairs of the riding, but to the requirements of individual electors, when they were reasonable and fair in respect to other considerations—of course all applications for office have not been met, much as it was desired to meet individual wishes, there was a limit to what could be done, and otherwise he had not considered the question of party affiliation or party opposition, but it had been his aim to ACT AS A REPRESENTATIVE—

he had endeavoured to extend the fullest measure of courtesy and consideration to political friend and political opponent and it was one of the most gratifying features of his intercourse with the electors that his Conservative friends had not regarded him other than a friend, in their readiness to confer with him as to kindness sought for themselves, and for consideration on behalf of some interest of the constituency they represented. Mr. Stratton said he did not believe that any one could say that any matter that had been placed before him had not received the most prompt attention and fullest consideration; and if he had failed to meet any of the requirements demanded of him, it was not the fault of any lack of effort on his part. Every township received the attention the circumstances required, and the attention that was necessary and the details required in placing unfortunates in our public institutions had been and as promptly as possible. The electors had received attention that no other representative that he knew of had thought it his duty to give—they had been kept fully informed of the legislation that affected their interests and the interests of the riding and province and in every matter requiring the attention and co-operation of a representative's willing service had been given. He (Mr. Stratton) did not wish to boast, but he had the consciousness that, so far as his efforts and influence had availed, he had done his whole duty to his constituents, as well as to the Province at large.

CHEERFULLY ATTENDED TO,

No one knew, he continued, except a private secretary, the extremely large amount of correspondence that had been required between himself, the various departments of the government and his constituents in connection with lands, plans, patents, the settlement of misunderstanding, the adjustment of claims and a thousand and one other omitted or deferred matters demanding the attention of a representative in the riding of West Peterborough.

Before leaving town Mr. Stratton said he had noticed posters announcing a meeting in Peterborough for the purpose of

to a convention of the Conservatives of the West riding. What the result of such a convention would be he was not supposed to be able to foresee and would not discuss, but he did know that if he were again chosen as a candidate, he had the assurance of many Conservatives who had not hitherto supported him, that they would vote for him upon the next occasion that offered, and they had justified their intention to this effect by their belief that such a course would be in the best interests of West Peterborough.

As the audience was aware the town of Peterborough was one of the most important towns in the province, which fact gave a similar character to the riding. During the time that this county was represented in the Local Legislature by others than himself, Mr. Stratton said that the whole of the northern part of the riding had not received the attention nor secured the advantages it had done since he had representative charge of its interests in common with other parts of the constituency. Consequently he believed that the municipalities, recognizing this fact, would, if he were again a candidate, give him the same hearty support they had extended to him in the past.

Continuing Mr. Stratton said that

WEST PETERBOROUGH WAS REPRESENTED in the Dominion, where a Liberal Government was in power, by a Conservative. The people were supreme and he had been their choice. But constituencies had other interests than the success of this or that party. The people had their own interests to look after and it seemed to him that it would not be disadvantageous to Peterborough should some prominent Liberal, possessing the confidence of the people, be placed in the position of being able to exert an influence and make the wants and needs of this constituency effectively felt "by the powers that be, and it would be no detriment to the interests concerned where circumstances might arise requiring the co-operation of the respective representative influences. After the Liberal Government came into power at Ottawa the interests of the constituency and the interests of Peterborough made it necessary that prominent and active local Liberals should unite in a common spirit of patriotism with the Conservative members in seeing that the interests of Peterborough and the speaker was bound to say that in the position he occupied as representing the constituency, he was in a more favourable position, as was also Hon. Mr. Cox, as Senator, to render important services to the town and county. In the past he had not been backward in advancing these interests to the best of his ability, and there was evidence to show that his efforts were appreciated.

HAD FULL CONSIDERATION,

It is well known and recognized that all governments give more ready attention to a representative possessing the confidence of an important constituency than to the representations of, perhaps, a more personally important individual elector, and the public have a legitimate claim upon the services of a representative that they cannot enforce upon a private individual, who is justified in giving a preference to the demands of his own business.

While he had no doubt in his own mind that Mr. Hardy would be returned at the next Provincial elections, and while some might differ from him in that opinion, he had no doubt that, whether himself or another was representative, it was desirable that the riding should be represented by a person who had the familiarity with public matters, the political experience, and withal the inclination to advance the interests of the constituency, and of any projects that were with these interests. No doubt there were many who realized all this, and were expressing themselves favourably to an election by acclamation, but there were of course others, whose personal interests and ambitions, irrespective of the best interests of the riding led them to prefer an election. Whatever course would be pursued, if he (Mr. Stratton) should be chosen as a candidate, and were returned, with or without a contest, he was still prepared to pursue the same policy that had governed his course in the past, namely, that of working for and promoting with all his power the best interests of West Peterborough and of every individual elector, irrespective of party affiliation or regardless of whether an application for his services was represented by a political supporter or political opponent.

It would doubtless be admitted that it is a somewhat difficult matter for a representative to retain, unimpaired, his popularity for a period covering

THE DURATION OF THREE PARLIAMENTS,

during which he has had to deal with varied interests, varied views and varied claims, but he, (Mr. Stratton), felt, thanks to the kindly views taken of his course by the people, and thanks to their generous recognition of the value of the services he had been able to give, that he never possessed the confidence of all classes to a greater extent than he did to-day. It was a source of satisfaction and of pride to know that, whether he would be or would not be again a candidate, that he had been able to moderately well satisfy the demands imposed by the representative position he had held uninterruptedly for eleven years. And he submitted with all due modesty that such a condition was a natural result—he had not been an extremist in any sense of the term, and he felt that it was to his persistent endeavour to be invariably fair and just in the discharge of his duties as a representative of all the interests of his constituency, that he had gained and retained, and hoped to continue to

of the great mass of the people of West Peterborough.

In conclusion Mr. Stratton said he had no right to assume that he would be the candidate. Under our form of Government and political system it was the right of both parties to select a standard-bearer who would be most likely to conduct a campaign with the most energy, who would possess the best chance of winning, and who in the event of winning, would be in a position both from inclination and ability, to best advance all the interests of the constituency, local, provincial and general. He felt from past experience that the electors would form their judgments and regulate their actions according to what they honestly believed would be for the best advantage of Peterborough and the constituency as a whole.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

Joint Meetings of St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Churches.

The union meetings of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's C. E. Societies held Monday evening, was one of great profit. After devotional exercises, led by the Rev. Dr. Torrance, the topic "Our weaker congregations" was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Potter. The great principles of Christian science is that the strong should help the weak, and in so doing many congregations had been encouraged to become self-sustaining. Both in the eastern and western sections of the church much good has been accomplished. In the western division, comprising the Presbyteries from Quebec to Victoria, B.C., 143 congregations, consisting of about 34,000 souls, had been assisted from the Augmentation fund.

In these assisted charges it was encouraging to know that they gave very liberally last year, having contributed $77,294, or at the rate of $6.94 per communicant. It is far more satisfactory to help these congregations than allow them to remain or lapse into mission stations, and hence find that economy becomes extravagance.

After a solo rendered in a very pleasing style by Miss Maggie Weddell, the Rev. Dr. Torrance referred to the system of the Canadian church being somewhat similar to the sustentation and supplemental funds of the Scottish churches. He also referred to this special work being done by the young people of this Presbytery in maintaining a missionary in the northern part of the country.

Mr. Alf Johnston gave a neat speech on behalf of the work that had been done by the augmentation fund in the Northwest.

This important and interesting meeting was brought to a close by singing and prayer.

OVER A TON AND A HALF OF DEER MEAT.

Was Brought in by the Ray-Rutherford-Snowden Party From the North Last Night.

The Ray Rutherford-Snowden party got back from the north last evening at about 7.30 o'clock with nineteen fine deer, after spending two weeks in the woods.

This season the party was composed of Messrs. Sam Ray, Thos. Rutherford, Wm. Snowden, Arthur Blade, Larry Steele, W. F. Johnston, Chas. Gladman, J. B. Pentland, Herb Hall and Martin McFadden. Mr. G. M. Roger was with the party also, for the first week.

The nineteen deer averaged about 178 pounds each and were fine specimens. They were stretched out in front of the Snowden House this morning and made a great showing. They were all got in the vicinity of Gold and Cole Lakes, where the party camped for the season.

When this party goes to the woods it goes to hunt and the members stay in the woods till dark and do not like the majority of hunters, come into dinner and stay in camp for the rest of the day.

A great many funny little incidents occurred, which will be laughed over for many a day to come. Mr. Ray started out to blaze a road to Connor's Bay from the camp and although he had a compass with him, travelled in a circle and actually crossed his own trail without knowing it. Mr. G. M. Roger had a great time in trying to get to Connor's Bay by following the blaze and got lost in the attempt, meeting with some great experiences before he reached camp.

Mr. J. B. Pentland also got lost and came in with a great story of a big lake which he had discovered. The party went out to explore it next day and found that J. B. had in the dusk mistaken "Larry Steele's Pond" for a large body of water. Whilst Mr. Pentland was in the woods he ran across Herb Hall, who was also lost at the time, but if Herb was lost he was making the most of his time, as he shot a deer and a fox whilst wandering around. Both hunters struck the lake together and found Arthur Blade fishing for his rifle in the water. He had in some manner upset in his canoe, but recovered the rifle on a ledge of rock, where if it would have slipped over the edge it would have been gone forever. Arthur is very silent on the subject.

At times some of the hunters were in the woods until nine o'clock at night when they had to steer their way to camp by lighting matches every hundred yards to see how the compass stood. This was no easy work when a heavy deer had to be carried at the same time.

All members were delighted with the season's outing and with the result in the shape of 3,374 pounds of deer meat.

One of the nine deer secured by Mr. W. H. Simpson and party, of Lindsay, was a fine buck weighing, dressed, 235 lbs.

The Haliburton and Coboconk trains had 38 deer in the baggage vans the other morning. The majority of the carcasses went north.

One of the Algonquin Indians residing near Baptiste Lake made a lucky shot the other morning while out deer stalking. After following the fresh tracks for some time he came in sight of his game on top of a little knoll, and taking careful aim, he had the satisfaction of seeing the animal drop. Upon climbing the hill he was surprised to find two dead deer—the large buck he had been following and a doe, the latter having been hidden from view by the intervening foliage.

Pain Banished as if by Magic.

Nerviline—nerve pain cure—is a positive and an almost instantaneous remedy for external, internal, or local pains. The most active remedy hitherto known falls far short of Nerviline for potent power in the relief of nerve pain. A trail will demonstrate.

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

THH HALF HAS NOT BEEN TOLD

SAYS LT.-COL. WRIGHT, OF THE WEALTH OF THE KLONDIKE.

Miners State that Gold is Almost as Plentiful as Gravel—43rd Mining Co.'s Prospects—Almost a Murder.

"The Klondike is all right. No one can estimate its riches. Miners out west are saying they are no longer looking for gold among the gravel, but instead are searching for the gravel among the gold."

It was Lt.-Col. Joshua Wright, of the 43rd Batt., who uttered these words to a member of the Ottawa Journal staff, whom he met at North Bay yesterday morning. Lt.-Col. Wright had then just arrived at that point on the C.P.R. Atlantic express from British Columbia, and was about to leave North Bay by the G.T.R. for Brantford, previous to returning to Ottawa, where he expects to arrive to-morrow.

"The true wealth of the Yukon country," he continued, "will not be known until the steamers come down next spring, but from what I did hear while in the west, there is an abundance of gold there. One man told me that a friend of his was digging up from $8,000 to $10,000 of gold each day, at a cost of $500 a day."

Lieut.-Col. Wright, speaking of the expected influx into the country next spring, said that a firm, Cook & Sons, had arranged with the hotels at Vancouver for the accommodation of three thousand miners at the rate of $4 a day—a rate $1 a day above the C.P.R. hotel rates for tourists.

Conversing about the routes to the gold mines, Lieut.-Col. Wright condemned the overland route via Edmonton, N.W.T. The party of Ottawans who left by this route but recently, would, in his opinion, never get through. He also heard the Skagway trail condemned by many who had travelled it. The best overland route to Dawson City, in his opinion, is via Ashcroft, B.C. Fewer difficulties are to be encountered on it than on any other. Of course this route is only practicable in summer.

Since last March Lt.-Col. Wright has been in British Columbia, looking after the interests of the 43rd Milling and Mining Co., several hundred miles north of North Bend. He states that he is more pleased with the prospects of the company than ever before. Sixty men were under his charge all summer at the mines getting the plant in order.

The miners he describes as a very rough class of men.

A murder was almost committed in his camp last summer. One miner deliberately attempted to kill another with an axe. He struck his victim with the weapon felling him to the ground. The man lay unconscious for several hours. His assailant was held in the camp until a party was sent 380 miles to the nearest magistrate and had a warrant sworn out for his arrest.

THEY HAVE DONE WELL

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies for Canada

IN THEIR WASHINGTON MISSION.

Canada's Premier and His Colleague Have Upheld the Dignity of the Dominion and Have Retained a Firm Hold on Our National Possessions — Back to Ottawa.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(Telegram special).—"I leave Washington satisfied that more friendly relations exist between the United States and Canada than before. Of course, there are lines of cleavage, but a disposition has been shown to treat all questions of international concern on an amicable basis."

This much said Sir Wilfrid Laurier of his visit here, before taking train for Canada. He would part with none of the details of the conference with Hon. J. W. Foster. Sir Louis Davies was equally reticent. Only one general statement they were prepared to make. Four hours were spent at the house of Mr. Foster. The proposition that the seal question should be considered in connection with other international differences by a joint commission, was submitted by Premier Laurier and Sir Louis Davies. It was discussed from both countries' standpoint. The result is that the Canadian Government is to reduce its proposition to writing.

No better representatives of Canada could have been chosen for the Washington mission than Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies. In the informal talks with members of the United States Cabinet and other officials, they asserted their side of international differences in such a way as to win the greatest respect. Whether or not good to Canada will result from their visit, it will be no fault of either Premier Laurier or Sir Louis Davies, both of whom have upheld the dignity of their positions and the dignity of the Dominion Government.

NOT A FAILURE.

Official Denial of the Reports in the Yankee Morning Papers.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The officers of the State Department were very much surprised at the reports of the total failure of the Canadian negotiations which appeared yesterday in several morning newspapers. One of them said to-day:

"That view is not taken by the Government in Washington. The representatives of the Canadian Government who have just left the city, did not come to Washington with an expectation of concluding any arrangement or treaty during their brief stay.

"They entertained views upon the question of the sealing regulations, and hoped to acquire accurate information as to the views of our Government upon the remaining question which their preceding Government in Canada failed to adjust. The only fact correctly stated in the publications referred to is that, under the favorable influences prevailing, the seal experts agreed upon a report. This report will furnish a good basis for further action.

"It goes without saying that Canada is not disposed to make a concession upon the seals without some consideration to Canada. What such reciprocal concession or concessions are is a question not yet disposed of, but continuing under consideration. There has not been the slightest check to the negotiations further than the inevitable delay in the settlement of the sealing question. The Canadian representatives were hospitably received, frankly talked with, and participated in a free and frank discussion."

THE ST. LIBOIRE MURDER.

Quebec's Attorney-General Takes Steps to Extradite Guillemet — The Forging Stenographer Gives Himself Up.

Quebec, Nov. 18.—J. Malenfant, the absconding stenographer implicated in the case of the forged official cheques, in which case one Morissette and one Mailloux were also implicated a couple of years ago, has returned here from the States and gave himself up to the police authorities yesterday afternoon. He is now in jail awaiting the proceedings of the law. His case will very much interest the public of this city, where Malenfant is well known.

The Attorney-General has telegraphed to his substitute at St. Hyacinth, Mr. Blanchett, to take immediate extradition proceedings against Guillemet, the St. Liboire murderer. A telegram has also been sent to Detective Lambert to cross the line and bring back the accused as soon as the necessary extradition formalities have been complied with. The necessary funds to cover all expenses have been placed at the disposal of the authorities.

CAPITAL TOPICS.

Sir Oliver Mowat's Last Act as Minister of Justice.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Sir Oliver's last act as Minister of Justice was to report in favor of the release of W. A. Grenier. Mr. Tarte had been urging the Minister of Justice to give the matter his early attention, and the necessary documents for the release were forwarded to Lord Aberdeen in Toronto.

The increase of homestead entries for the first nine months of 1897 over those of 1896 is shown by the returns of the Dominion lands agents to be 353.

James J. Corbett, who had just commenced a six months' term in the county jail here on a charge of assaulting his wife, escaped this morning while doing some work outside the building.

The jurisdiction of the Mounted Police has been extended to British Columbia and a station will be established at the Crow's Nest Pass.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Mr. J. C. Clark killed 40 head of cattle yesterday, which were suffering from tuberculosis. Mr. Clark's loss is over $2000, and he is certainly worthy of general sympathy, as the sacrifice is for the public good.

Uxbridge Times Burned Out.

Uxbridge, Ont., Nov. 18.—About 1.45 this morning fire was discovered in The Times printing office, and the entire block was burned to the ground, very little of anything being saved. Loss on stock probably $4000 or $5000, on building probably $3000.

THE TURK SUBMITS.

Austria's Threat Evidently Convinced the Sick Man of Europe.

Vienna, Nov. 17.—The Turkish Government, not having yielded to the demands of the Government of Austria for redress on account of the indignities offered to an Austrian merchant of Mersina, Herr Brazzafolh, the Austrian Ambassador at Constantinople, Baron de Calico, will leave the Turkish capital, and an Austrian warship will bombard the port of Mersina, Asia Minor, to-morrow if the demands of Austria are not complied with by noon Thursday.

Turkey Gives In.

London, Nov. 18.—A special despatch from Vienna says that a telegram has been received there from Baron de Calico, the Austrian Ambassador at Constantinople, saying the Sultan has declared his willingness to give Austria full satisfaction for the Mersina incident, and in regard to the disputes in connection with the Central Railroad, growing out of the transportation of Turkish troops during recent war between Turkey and Greece.

THE PAPAL ENCYCLICAL.

On the Manitoba Schools is not Yet Completed Nor Given Out.

Rome, Nov. 18.—The Papal encyclical on the subjec of the Manitoba schools is not yet completed, and it is authoritatively stated that it will not be published for ten days to come. But all accounts agree in saying that it will maintain the rights of the Catholics to denominational schools.

A Joint Labor Question Conference.

London, Nov. 18.—At the preliminary meeting of the representatives of the striking engineers and their employers, just held, it was agreed to hold a formal conference on Wednesday next, Nov. 24. Each side will have 14 representatives. Until then a truce has been agreed upon, on the basis that the employers will suspend the notices not yet carried out, and post no further notices locking men out until further notice. On the other hand the men agree not to interfere during the truce with those engineers who are now in employment.

Glasgow, Nov. 18.—The Joiners' Union has withdrawn all its members who were employed at work on buildings where a contractor was using American joinery.

New Zealand in Line.

Wellington, N. Z., Nov. 18.—A bill has been introduced in the Parliament of New Zealand providing for reciprocal trade relations with Great Britain.

Kruger May be Beaten.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Saturday Review, which has much inside information regarding South African affairs, believes there is a fair working chance of Mr. Rhodes defeating Kruger and electing a Boer, who will not be hostile to the mining interests. Had Mr. Rhodes appeared at Bulwayo, that town would have converted the whole affair into a personal triumph for Mr. Rhodes, which would have antagonized the Boers and have undone all the pacificatory work of the politicians, the sole object of which is to defeat Kruger.

WAS ARSENIC GIVEN?

The First Day of the Sternaman Trial.

FOUR MEDICAL MEN GIVE EVIDENCE

Satisfactory Progress Made — The Symptoms of the Case—Interesting Testimony Given by the Undertaker —The Doctors Corroborated Each Other in Their Evidence—The Defence.

Cayuga, Nov. 18.—If the Sternaman murder trial continues to progress at the rate it did yesterday before Chief Justice Armour and a jury it will be completed this week. B. B. Osler, Q.C., opened the case for the Crown in a lengthy speech, covering the most important points to be brought out by the prosecution, which are familar to the reading public. The Crown will endeavor to show that Mrs. Sternaman caused the death of both her first and second husbands by poisoning, the motive in each case being the securing of a few hundred dollars' life insurance.

Mr. W. German appeared for the prisoner, Mrs. Olive Adele Sternaman. The Provincial analyst found arsenic in the viscera. That point is beyond question. Then the question is, "How did it get there? The Crown's contention, of course, is that it was administered by his wife with the object of murdering him. The defence maintains that the undertaker before burying him injected a quantity of embalming fluid into the carotid artery, and that the principal ingredient in this fluid, in fact the preservative agency, is arsenic.

Mrs. Sternaman, mother of George H. Sternaman, was the first witness sworn by the Crown. She said that her son had always had good health. The first visit she had to Buffalo was three weeks after the death of Ezra Chipman, the first husband of the prisoner. After her son and Mrs. Chipman were married witness made her a friendly visit on a joint invitation from the prisoner and deceased; had no talk at that time about suspicious death of Chipman.

Mrs. Sternaman then identified a letter produced by Mr. German. Her son was married on Feb. 3, 1890. He was 24 years old when he died. Went over to Buffalo four years, off and on, to work. He died Aug. 14, 1896, and had been home one week before he died. When he was brought home he was very thin and perfectly helpless, unable to move hands and legs. He could not pick up even a handkerchief. Heard nothing about a post mortem till after doctors came to perform it. Prisoner said deceased was insured for $700 on being asked. Had no other conversation about him.

The court then adjourned for lunch.

After luncheon the court resumed, and Dr. Clark of Rainham Centre, who attended deceased after he was brought home from Buffalo in a dying condition, gave evidence. He assisted at the post mortem examination, and put the contents of the stomach in jars, sealed them and delivered them to Dr. Thompson, the coroner. He gave it as his opinion that death was due to poison.

The court, on resuming after lunch, called Dr. Park of Selkirk, who attended George H. Sternaman while he was in Rainham until his death. He found the patient partly paralyzed and had a foot and wrist droop, the right side being more affected than the left. He was totally helpless and unable to assist himself in any way. There was a numbness of the extremities. There was no vomiting, and deceased said he had a good appetite. Both prisoner and Mrs. Sternaman seemed to be satisfied with the treatment of Dr. Saltaman of Buffalo. Witness also treated the deceased, but he suspected from the first that deceased's sickness was due to arsenical poisoning. Only the day before he died did the patient vomit at all.

"What did you treat him for?"

"He was suffering from multiple neuritis, brought on from arsenical poisoning."

The Doctor then explained the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, and said that he fervently believed that deceased came to his death by no other means than by arsenical poisoning. He was carried out in his belief in every point by his counselling physician, Dr. Harrison of Selkirk. Dr. Harrison made the post mortem examination, but failed to find any arsenic. They found the spleen, liver and kidneys normal. On the stomach they found patches of inflamed tissue and a marked thinness of some portions of it, the walls having a mossy appearance. At the time of the inquest, when the body was disinterred, he found that the organs were in a remarkable state of preservation. All the parts were the same as Dr. Harrison and he had left them.

Mr. Osler asked the doctor, considering the symptoms of Mr. Sternaman before death, and the condition of the body after death, what would cause death.

"I am sure he was poisoned by arsenic," replied the doctor.

Mr. German cross-questioned him at great length, trying to show that the symptoms of Adison's disease and those of arsenical poisoning were similar. He identified the statement of Dr. Park as to the cause of death in connection with the Metropolitan Insurance Company. On being asked by Mr. Osler he said that Adison's disease is very rare in this country, and deceased told him that in the early part of his sickness he had red eyes and a very sore nose. Arsenic in small quantities would not ordinarily show in our method of testing. He says all the arsenic in the body would be eliminated in about three weeks' time. He talked with Mrs. Sternaman and broached the subject to her and asked if her husband had any enemies in Buffalo. She answered, "No: why, doctor?"

"Because these symptoms showed poisoning." I asked her if I was the only doctor that ever mentioned poisoning. She said yes.

Dr. Frost was then called. He said his name was Edward L. Frost, physician, of Buffalo. Had been practising 5 and 6 years, a regular physician, graduated in Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1897.

HON. WILFRID LAURIER continues to exercise good judgment in the selection of his cabinet colleagues. When Sir Oliver Mowat laid down the portfolio of Justice to accept the Lt. Governorship of Ontario, his successor was found in Hon. David Mills, whose fitness for the position is hardly less than that of his distinguished predecessor. Hon. Mr. Mills is a keen analyist of the law and a most able interpreter of its letter and principles. He comes to the office with this special equipment for his duties and with an excellent experience in departmental work as Minister of the Interior, under Hon. Alex. Mackenzie. It is easy prophecy to predict that Hon. Mr. Mills will make a most capable and satisfactory Minister of Justice. Hon. Mr. Mowat retires from active political life with an honourable and useful career, unprecedented in its high character as it is in uninterrupted length of service. It is idle to speak of the comparative leisure of his new office as a reward for past services. His devotion to the interest of the Province of Ontario for a quarter of a century cannot be measured by the ordinary standard employed to appraise the value of public services.

MR. LOUNT, Q. C., ex-M. P. for Centre Toronto, speaking before an audience of his late constituents, "stated most explicitly that he had resigned his seat for the sole reason that his private practice was suffering terribly, and he had to choose between loss of business and retention of his seat. He had in no way, shape or form, sought a judgeship, nor had he any intention of doing so, notwithstanding all statements to the contrary. The man who approached Sir Wilfred Laurier for a judgeship whould have to be a bolder man than he was."

EXPORT POULTRY TRADE.

The exportation of poultry from Canada is still in the early stages of development, but if energetic efforts on the part of the Department of Agriculture count for anything the trade is bound, in time, to reach satisfactory and paying proportions. Professor Robertson has directed another circular on the trade to the Minister of Agriculture, and those interested in the subject will read it with profit. For a beginner Professor Robertson points out the prudence of sending only small trial shipments in order to feel the ground for additional business when perhaps even better arrangements can be made. But what is of still greater importance is the packing of the stock, and on this point the bulletin lays a great deal of stress. If turkeys be prepared, packed and shipped according to the requirements of the British markets, they will undoubtedly, the bulletin points out, meet with a good demand, and secure prices equal to those of the turkeys imported from France and other Continental countries. A few of the principles laid down for turkeys to be shipped are given as follows:

Fast the birds for twenty-four hours to empty the crop.

Give a small quantity of water just before killing, and to kill wring the neck, instead of using the knife.

Pluck at once while still warm, and twist wings to the back of the birds.

The bird should be thoroughly cooled (not frozen), and they should be cool through and through before packing in cases.

Pack in any case only birds of nearly the same weight, graded to with two pounds.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Has been prescribed over 25 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine Known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, instead price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet free to any address.

For Sale [illegible] by JOHN [illegible]

These and a few other principles the commissioner mentions as the most important, and he promises, if they are strictly adhered to, that the outlook for the trade will be very encouraging. The demand, it is pointed out, is usually good from the 1st of December to the 1st of March. Weather conditions, however, are playing a less important part in Britain than formerly, as the cold storage facilities in the cities of of Great Britain enable the handlers to guard against deterioration from mild or soft weather on the arrival of the birds.

The bulletin also pays some attention to geese and ducks, and observes that these birds are in demand in Great Britain for a longer period after Christmas than is usually the case in markets on this side of the Atlantic. By reason of Canada's limited supply, however, it is not thought that a profitable trade of any great volume can be developed in the near future. Some attention, however, is paid to the subject and if the supply ever increases to large proportions raisers will do well to remember the rules which are laid down. In regard to chickens and fowls the commissioner thinks they should be prepared in much the same way as turkeys.

WARSAW.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The hunters have all returned.

Mr. Earle of Peterborough was in town Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Wasson is visiting friends in Belmont.

Mrs. Albert Cooper is seriously ill at present.

The immigrants from the Northwest are slowly returning with their pockets well lined with Klondyke.

Mr. Thos. Howland, Wm. Miller and John Lowry, jr., have been home for some time, and Tully struck the old town on Tuesday last.

Mrs. A. F. Choate, who has been ill for some time past is recovering.

Mr. Joseph Crowe was in Peterborough one day last week.

Mrs. A. Fletcher will leave for Manitoba in a few days.

Myrtle, the youngest child of Edward and Evaline Kidd, died on November 7th. The remains were interred in the Warsaw cemetery.

We are pleased to note that Mrs. Thos. Wilson, who has been ill for some time past, has recovered.

Again we hear the doleful sound of the deer stories. After a brief respite of two short weeks they come upon us as a rude awakening from the peaceful tranquility which we have enjoyed during that period. The citizens who are yet alive are fearful that the fatigue and wakefulness which necessarily follows will be so much strain that the weary frames will collapse. A public meeting was held in the opera house last week to guard against this evil. It was resolved:

1. That a committee be appointed to watch over the most afflicted and distressed;

2. That another committee be appointed to stand guard in certain parts of the town with loaded rifles, and upon the least mention of deer to fire upon the offender without the slightest warning;

3. That a third committee be appointed for the purpose of the extermination of hounds and other necessaries of a backwood campaign.

The loss of life so far from blood-curdling deer stories has been much less than was expected owing to the vigilant efforts of the citizens.

Miraculously Saved.

A Young Man Rescued From Disease and Death

By Paine's Celery Compound.

A Poisoned System Completely Renewed.

The following case needs but few introductory remarks. Mr. M. D. Arthur, of Chelmsford, Ont., was in terrible agony from blood poisoning; his whole system was run down; he was weak, yes, very nigh unto death. The doctors were defeated in their efforts to get rid of the poison, and hope had almost fled.

The young man's aunt providentially came to his aid at his most critical period, and urged the use of Paine's Celry Compound, nature's cleanser and healer. The medicine was used, and a glorious victory over death was the result.

Mr. Arthur, the cured man, writes as follows:

"With great pleasure I write about your wondrous medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. I was laid up with sores all over my neck, the result of blood poisoning. While in that condition I could not sleep at night, I had no appetite, and could not attend to my work. I tested the skill of all the doctors in the district and used their medicines, but was not benefitted.

"I think I was miraculously saved at last. My aunt came here from Campbellford and brought with her some Paine's Celery Compound which she was then using to advantage. She advised me to use the medicine, and I did so to please her. I bless the day I commenced with Paine's Celery Compound. In two weeks I was so much better that I could go out, and in three weeks I was able to resume work again.

"I cannot say sufficient in praise of the great healing medicine. I would not be without it if I were obliged to pay ten dollars a bottle for it."

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Walton, with Master Fred, of Rochester, after a week's visit here, returned home Monday.

Miss Muchall left last week for British Columbia.

Mrs. G. A. Strickland left this week for Victoria, B.C., to spend the winter with her husband, Mr. G. A. Strickland.

Rev. G. Warren is attending the Archdiaconal Conference in Lindsay.

The hunters have all returned home. The Richardson-Strickland party, who secured their full complement, report deer plentiful. The Casement-Fraser party secured eight deer, and Messrs. W. J. White and W. Sherin captured one deer.

A number of the local hunters will take in the meeting at Heard's Hall, Young's Point, and will narrate their experiences while there.

R. Graham & Son are showing a fine assortment of crockery and glassware. Should you be in need of anything in that line you would do well to call and see them, as they carry a large stock on the second floor.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will have a dinner and concert in town hall on the evening of Thanksgiving Day.

Rev. Mr. Clare, of Bridgenorth, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tanner held their first nuptial reception on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

The Division Court was held here last Thursday before his Honour Judge Weller.

Cattle Dehgo was occupied on Monday night by a tramp.

Mr. Pengally, of Norwood, is one of the timber inspectors on the canal at Lock No. 2.

Phenomenal Success of Diamond Dyes.

They Have Many Poor Imitations.

The phenomenal success of Diamond Dyes in every land has brought forth many imitations, both home and foreign. All these imitation productions are composed of cheap and worthless ingredients, very destructive to the materials operated upon. The crude materials employed by the manufacturers of imitation dyes cost but a fraction of what is paid for the Diamond Dye colour stock.

In the preparation of Diamond Dyes no common soap grease is used; nor is any foreign ingredient used as part of the mixture to increase the bulk. All adulterated dyes are fatal to good materials. Beware of these common dyes if you value money, time and goods.

Diamond Dyes are the only up-to date and fully warranted dyes in the world; they are the acme of perfection in every point that insures success to the women of our country.

DOURO AND OTONABEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Geo. Hamilton has had a new residence erected on his farm on the 5th concession of Douro. It is a fine, large, square building of white brick, standing on a slight slope facing east. Inside it is furnished with furnaces, baths and all other modern conveniences. Mr. Clinkscale, of Peterborough, was the contractor, while the brick-work was done by Mr. Adam Dawson. The plumbing and fitting was done by Mr. Adam Hall.

Mr. John Leary has been making extensive improvements on his house and premises.

Mr. Jas. Hanlon, Otonabee, has had his house rebuilt, adding greatly to its appearance.

A ball was held at Mr. Jas. Christie's Indian River, on the 11th inst. A very large number of guests was present.

A contest for fowl was held at Mr. P. Quinlan's, Otonabee, Tuesday evening. A large number of geese were disposed of.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

Cures Scrofula, Pimples, Ulcers, Abscesses, Boils, Blotches and all other disorders arising from impure blood.

TRADE MARK.

More Curative Power in Sloan's Indian Tonic than in all other Medicines Combined.

Michael Dillon, of Richmond Hill, writes:

My wife bought a bottle of SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC from your agent when he was here. She has been in very bad health for several years and has been treated by three different doctors, and has taken a number of different patent medicines, but she thinks one bottle of your medicine has done her more good than all the other medicines she has ever taken, and she wants you to send her another bottle of your medicine.

Mrs. R. W. Wilson, of Fergus, says:

Having used one bottle of your Tonic, I would like another, as I find they give great results. Would you kindly send one bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic, for which you will find inclosed $1.00, and oblige.

Nelson Page, of Byng P. O., says:

We used your Sloan's Indian Tonic, and found it of great benefit.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT

Will To-day Be Invested as Lieutenant Governor of Ontario- Other Topics of Interest From Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Sir Oliver Mowat will be sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario at 3 o'clock to-day. The oath will be administered by Mr. J. J. McGee, clerk of the Privy Council, before the Governor-General, Lord Aberdeen, at Government House. Premier Hardy and other members of the Government and several of the High Court judges will be present. To-day's ceremony was that in behalf of the Crown; to-morrow that on behalf of the people of Ontario will take place.

Lillian and Ada, the fifteen-year-old twin daughters of Mr. Christopeer Cross of 676 Gerrard street east were found dead in bed yesterday morning, suffocated by gas from the coal stove. Drs. Rowan and Sneath said they had been dead since 2 o'clock. Coroner Greig investigated the case, and, as no one was to blame, did not issue a warrant for an inquest.

The Ontario Government was waited on yesterday by Robert Jaffray and some other Toronto capitalists concerning Russell Square, or as it is popularly known, old Upper Canada College grounds. The deputation asked for the best terms upon which the grounds could be acquired, stating that it was the intention to erect there a large hotel.

Henry E. King, aged 28, a bachelor, living at 80 Esther street, with his parents, attempted to commit suicide at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat with a razor. King lost a large amount of blood, and is in a dangerous condition. King is a moulder employed by Frankel & Co.

Brakeman Alex. McIntosh of London died in the hospital here to-night. Since he took sick his wife died, but he was never informed of her demise.

HAMILTON DIOCESE.

Bishop DuMoulin of Niagara Will Make a Request to the Legislature.

Hamilton, Nov. 18.—Bishop DuMoulin will apply to the Ontario Government at its next session for legislation to empower the synod to acquire and hold lands for a see house, acquire and dispose of real estate and church property, and vest in the synod all property now held by the incorporated synod of the Toronto Diocese or the Bishop of Toronto, in trust for the Niagara Synod, under Vic. 39, chap. 107, sec. 3. There is also a clause to regulate the privileges of superannuated clergy.

Serious Charge Against a Doctor.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 18.—Dr. D. H. Hutchinson, a popular young physician of Ingersoll, has been arrested charged with procuring an abortion. Augustus Fressell, an attendant in the London Asylum, is also under arrest as a party to it. Lizzie Duhan, the girl, is a London Asylum attendant and lies at the point of death. The arrests have been made upon her ante mortem statement. Dr. Hutchison is now in Woodstock jail.

Big Temperance Pow Wow.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of Ontario is to assemble in the Temperance Hall at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 1. The same evening a public reception is to be tendered the visitors by the Mayor and other members of the City Council. The civic fathers invited the order, a year ago, to hold its next provincial session in Toronto, and granted the use of the Pavilion for the grand reception ceremonies. Responses will follow from several gentlemen high up in the order, and no doubt the expected Dominion plebiscite will get a due share of attention. This is the oldest of the temperance secret societies, having had its origin in a gathering of 16 reformed men in Division street, New York City, over 50 years ago. The membership in Canada and the United States is 60,000.

A Jump Which Cost a Foot.

Cobourg, Ont., Nov. 18.—Yesterday about 4.20, as the train from Toronto was pulling out from the depot, William Delargo, a young man from Glen Miller, Ont., ran to jump on, when he slipped and fell under the last passenger coach, the wheels of which passed over and badly crushed his left foot.

WAS ARSENIC GIVEN?

University of Buffalo; was called to attend deceased in Buffalo on June 18, 1896. Deceased was married in February, 1896, somewhere between the 20th and 30th of June I gave Mr. Sternaman some medicine containing arsenic, the whole amount given him would not amount to more than one-thirtieth of a grain, but the administration was not continued. The pulse was practically normal at first, but progressed higher until in the neighborhood of 120. Visited him again on June 10, and he had a backache; my attention was called to a sore on the genital regions, and on the 20th the color was getting darker, having appearance of a man with malaria, and complained of some weakness; the sore on the genital regions disappeared. Called Dr. James R. Whitewell of North Division street, and took him with me on June 26, and we both thought the patient should do well under the prescriptions I was giving him. I called about every other day and the symptoms kept getting stronger. On July 8 I prescribed brandy, because his heart was getting weaker, indicating that he was weaker. On the 10th he complained of a tingling and numbness in the fingers and lower extremities, indicating a disturbance of the nervous system, and about July 12 I had suspicions that possibly the patient had arsenic and called in an older doctor to consult. We examined the patient together and concluded that we would endeavor to remove the patient to a hospital, because there were suspicious symptoms of arsenical poisoning; mentioned it to deceased and prisoner was called in when discussing it. This suggestion was opposed by both Mr. and Mrs. Sternaman. I said he would be better there, where he would have physicians in attendance all the time. On the next day I mentioned the same thing to Mr. and Mrs. Sternaman and he finally agreed to go to the hospital and she objected very strongly and said if he went she would not come to see him. I mentioned that she had one husband die under suspicious circumstances, and asked her how she would like to have another die under suspicious circumstances. It would be better for her own protection that he should go and she replied: 'Doctor, if he dies I will have an autopsy, and that will clear me.'

"The patient continued getting worse, and on July 14 there was partial paralysis. Visited him on the 15th three times, and on the 16th three times, and was discharged on the 17th. I told the prisoner: 'I will say to you now something which I have not said before, that your husband has marked symptoms of poisoning by arsenic, but all these signs may be explained in that other disease.' I also said: 'If this becomes public it was through you and not through me.' She said: 'Is that so, doctor?' She also told me about the letter written to her from his mother, and that something made her believe he might attempt suicide, and said during a spell she asked: 'What would Elean think if she knew I had come to this,' and she thought he had heard that remark, and become despondent and might attempt suicide. On being told that the patient would get better if he got no more arsenic, she replied that she would see that he would get no more."

Mr. German went over this evidence in cross-questioning witness and dwelt at considerable length on his visits to patients while in Buffalo. He tried with Dr. Frost to show that Adison's disease, though not being prevalent, has all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning.

Dr. Phelps confirmed Dr. Frost's statements about the only visit he ever made to the deceased there, and related a conversation he had with Mr. and Mrs. Sternaman about taking him to the hospital, and that she opposed it firmly. He said he administered arsenic to patients on different occasions and found that this case was identical, only much worse.

The Doctor was cross-examined by Mr. German, who attempted to prove that in Buffalo, according to law, a person cannot get arsenic unless he is known, unless he gives his name and address, and also has a witness who gives his name and address.

Mr. Leady, sworn, identified the different applications for insurance in the John Hancock Insurance Company.

Frederick Dodsworthy, superintendent of the John Hancock Insurance Company, also identified these papers.

Dr. Harrison, questioned by Mr. Colter, said he noticed about the same indications that Dr. Parks did, and spoke at great length of the different conditions he found Mr. Sternaman in. He enumerated every little act and almost every word spoken during the post mortem. He spoke uninterruptedly for about half an hour, and concluded that Mr. Sternaman died from arsenical poisoning.

Mr. German questioned him at some length, showing that embalming fluid, if injected in large quantities, would preserve the organs the same as they were found.

Mary Honsinger, sworn, said she saw deceased at his mother's house the night he was brought home. Saw him again the next day and the following Friday, also the next week on Tuesday evening. She remained all of Tuesday night; was in the dining room the fore part of the night, and after midnight went into the sitting room; she says she saw him vomit after midnight in presence of his wife, his sister and herself.

Peter Honsinger was at George's mother's house when deceased came from Buffalo. He was weak and helpless, and was informed it was George's wish to have a post mortem, and I called prisoner and told her this. She said it was her who proposed it at first, but that she didn't wish to see him cut to pieces. I then went into the room with the body, which was very dark, the face not being as dark as other parts of the body.

William Harcourt said he saw him first on Friday after he was brought home, and confirmed the statement that deceased could not move his hands to his chin.

John Snider, sworn, said he was an undertaker, living in Selkirk; buried deceased. I called first on Aug. 19 and simply put the body in the case. I did not embalm the body, and I didnot puncture or open it in any way. I opened the coffin on exhumation, and the body seemed to be in the same position and a little more discolored than when we left it; have done very little embalming in ten years. He denied the evidence taken at Thompson's office before Mr. Thayer, that he had punctured any part of the body.

He got somewhat muddled. When Mr. German concluded with him, Judge Armour adjourned the court until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THE JINGO SPIRIT.

The Voter, the Newspaper, the Preacher and the Patriot Should Rebuke That Evil Thing.

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 18.—The Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, Bishop of Albany, presided at the annual convention of the clergymen and delegates of the Albany Episcopal Diocese, which opened here yesterday.

In his annual address the Bishop reviewed the proceedings of the meeting of Bishops of the Anglican Communion, held this year in London. He referred to a committee report in favor of international arbitration, saying:

"There can be no question but that within the past few years, from various causes and with some fault on both sides, the minds of men have been accustomed to the thought of a possible resort to arms as the settlement of national questions between England and America. We are responsible for the spirit that has been aroused in America, and which has in it inconceivable possibilities of horror. It is unfortunate for us that our public men are by the force of our constant political changes, untrained, either in the art or in the language of diplomacy. It is still more unfortunate when statesmen forget the art and language of courtesy.

"Always in an amalgamated civilization like ours, when we have not yet become one nation, but are a conglomeration of innumerable nationalities only in process of assimilation, there are two dangers—the one of the assertion of old-time prejudices and antagonism, which have no place in our soil, and no reference to our relations to any other country in the world, and the other, the unpardonable political device of pandering to some of these transplanted prejudices in order to secure votes for one or the other of our political parties.

"I am quite sure that the more thoughtful men in England look with amazement and astonishment on what sometimes seems to them, from the unbridled violence of our partisan newspapers, the feeling of hatred and dislike of England in America. I am as sure of the absence of all such feeling among thoughtful people in America. With these extreme expressions of violence the English Government, the English people and the English press have been most patient.

"The theory that the old revolutionary spirit, which regarded England as a tyrant, is kept alive by the study of our school books of history, may have some weight. If it has it is time that the school books were corrected, so that the children shall be taught that the England of one hundred years ago is as different from the England of to-day as the America of this century is different from the America of the revolution.

"No greater outrage, it seems to me, can be conceivable, and no more lasting and serious injury to all the best interests of humanity throughout the world than the severance or even the straining of the close tie which binds America to England. A war would be only less fraticidal war than our unfortunate rebellion; but the prevention of it must not be by the machinery of statecraft and cabinet counsel, but by the cultivation of the true spirit and temper of the peoples of both nations."

Winter's First Act.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 18.—Sir James Winter and his colleagues in the new Cabinet formally assumed office at noon yesterday. The first act of the Government was to cancel all the appointments made by Sir William Whiteway and his colleagues, in immediate anticipation of their resignation.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 59, St. Henri, Que.

At the Nicholls Hospital.

On Thursday, says the Hastings Star, Mrs. J. H. Scriver took her infant daughter, Beatrice, to Peterborough for examination and treatment of a lump that was growing over the left eye. On examination it was found necessary to place the child in the hospital for treatment. On On Thursday forenoon the tumor was removed, which proved to be a sack attached to the skull and filled with growing hair. About a year ago a small lump was noticeable, but lately the growth has been so rapid that it caused alarm. Mrs. Scriver returned to Peterborough on Saturday and brought the child home. So far it seems to be doing well.

The Cheese Industry.

To show the importance of the cheese industry, the following figures are submitted as showing the business transacted by a single buyer, Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald. During the season Mr. Fitzgerald bought 19,217 boxes, totalling 1,448,203 pounds of cheese, and paid therefor the large sum of $120,636. And Mr. Fitzgerald is only one, if one of the largest, of the half dozen buyers that operate on the Peterborough and Lindsay boards. If we had the figures of all the other buyers, we could get a fuller idea of the great importance of the cheese making industry. Mr. Fitzgerald goes to Montreal to-morrow to close up the cheese business for the season.

THE GREAT CHARITY ENTERTAINMENT.

Gorgeous and Effective Jubilee Tableaux—Strikingly Beautiful of of the Coronation and Royal Wedding Scene of the Queen—All in the Name of Sweet Charity.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Her Majesty's reign, is, as far as Peterborough is concerned, not to end with the effervescence of the June festivities. An entertainment in the Opera House on Friday night with its beautiful Jubilee tableaux vivants and musical and other features, promises to be as excellent as the excellent objects—to provide for the distribution of winter charity under the auspices of the King's Daughters in which all will share—not creed but need; not nationality, but necessity—are the grounds of claim upon which charity will be dispensed. The objects of the entertainment are in keeping with the beneficent character of a reign in which the royal solicitude for the welfare of the humblest, was a prominent feature.

And judging from a view of a dress rehearsal of the Jubilee tableaux had last night, the entertainment will be of a royal character befitting the King's Daughters. It is proposed to present three tableaux vivants, reproductions of three important eras in the early years of Her Majesty's reign.

The first tableau is the announcement to the Queen by Dr. Howley, Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Marquis of Conyngham, the Lord Chamberlain, of her uncle's death and her accession to the throne.

The second is the imposing tableau of the coronation, and

The third is the tableau of the royal wedding.

It is remarkable what the half hundred ladies and gentlemen have been able to accomplish.

The several tableaux were rehearsed with great success. Especially in the coronation and royal wedding tableaux was the gorgeous and brilliant character of the scenes brought out. The group around the throne, the court ladies in brilliant and beautiful costumes, the rich robed ecclesiastics, the knights and lords in their dazzling full court costumes of the period, the pages and the attendant "Beefeaters" in their quaint costumes, the glitter of the jewelled crown and the impressive scene of placing it on the royal brows, formed a picture of unusual brilliancy, and when in full presentation in the opera house, with the blare of trumpets, the roll of martial music, the distant thunder of artillery, and the ringing of the joy bells, the scene will be of a delightfully beautiful character. Of equal brilliancy and of even greater interest will be the royal wedding tableaux.

The costumes of the ladies are particularly brilliant and striking, the effects have been industriously studied out and the reproduction of the several scenes will be faithful replicas in costume, grouping and tout ensemble of the scenes they represent.

Among the features are the stately court minuet and the magnificent court ball scenes, which go beyond the tableau stage and are actually presented with astonishingly fine effects. The butterfly dance, by an octette of beautiful and graceful young ladies, is something entirely new and as bewitchingly pretty as possible.

Besides, the tableau will be interlarded with excellent music, recitations, etc, the whole forming one of the most strikingly effective entertainments that has ever been presented under local management in the town.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL

TO APPOINT A NOMINATING OFFICER FOR THE LAKEFIELD DIVISION.

Resolution of Condolence With the Widow and Family of the Late John Moloney—Mr. Wm. O'Brien Appointed Nominating Officer.

A special meeting of the County Council was held at the council chamber this morning. Present—the Warden, in the chair, and Messrs. Burnham, Casement, Pearce, Middleton, Eastland, Brown, Fitzgerald and Shaw.

After the reading of the minutes the Warden stated that the meeting had been called to appoint a nominating officer to act in the election to fill the vacancy in the County Council caused by the death of Mr. John Moloney, one of the representatives of the Lakefield Division. He, the Warden, was sure that all felt deeply grieved at the sad event and that all would agree with the proposition of passing a resolution of condolence and in so doing he was sure they would be only carrying out the wishes and feeling of the people of the county.

Mr. Burnham agreed with the Warden's suggestion as to the propriety of passing a resolution of condolence in connection with the death of Mr. Moloney, who had rendered such important and valued services to the county in his capacity as councillor, and he moved, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald,

That the Warden and Clerk be a committee to prepare and have engrossed and signed by them under the seal of the County, a memorial, in suitable terms, expressive of the regret of the council at the death of John Moloney, Esq., late member of the Lakefield division of this council, and of the sympathy of this council with the widow and family in their bereavement.—Carried.

A bylaw was duly passed appointing Mr. Wm. O'Brien, clerk of the township of Douro, nominating officer for the bye-election in the Lakefield division of the County Council.

A motion by Mr. Casement, seconded by Mr. Eastland, was passed granting the use of the court room for the annual meeting of the High Court Canadian Order of Foresters in February next.

Mr. Geo. Cochane, High County Constable, was heard in connection with the payment of a balance of account, in connection with peddlers, licenses, and on his explanation the account was ordered to be paid.

Council adjourned.

Mr. Leeson Nominated.

At a meeting held to-day at S S. No. 3, Douro, Mr. Wm. Leeson was requested, and consented, to be a candidate to contest the representation of the vacancy in the Lakefield Division in succession to the late Mr. John Moloney.

THE DIVISION OF THE DIOCESE.

Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., Deals with the Financial Aspect of the Question.

As mentioned in yesterday's EXAMINER, the question of the division of the Diocese of Toronto, and the erection of a new diocese, was discussed yesterday at the Archdiaconal conference, Lindsay. In the discussion of the subject several addresses were made.

John Burnham, Q. C., came forward to introduce the financial aspects of the matter. He strongly advocated a new diocese. $3,000 a year was required for the episcopal stipend. There were 42 parishes altogether in the proposed district. Each parish should guarantee so much a year for five years in order to create an endowment of $10,000, and also take out a policy of insurance on the 15 year plan so as to create a sum of $40,00 by the end of that term. The estimated value of a thousand dollar policy at the end of 15 years is $1,215, therefore $1,200 a year would be required for insurance. According to this, $3,300 a year must be collected for the first five years; at the end of that period the bishopric might be established. This would necessitate the raising of $2,800 a year for the ten following years. In the above way the scheme could be worked without counting on grants from England.

Mr. W. Grace differed with Mr. Burnham's plan, proposing rather to raise $10,000 in cash within the next six months. This sum should be assessed equally to the five counties, each one to raise $2,000 by means of a committee formed in each county. He estimates that there are now 33,000 churchmen in the new district, making about 5,500 families. If each family gave $2 we would have $11,000 at once. He thought that sum could be collected within three months.

From the discussion it seemed clear that the scheme for the new diocese will be pushed forward.

Of Local Interest.

Next Saturday's issue of the EXAMINER will contain an exceedingly diverting and realistic romance, which will be of particular local interest, inasmuch as several of Peterborough's most prominent citizens are to figure conspicuously in the cast of characters. Mr. W. S. Guthrie, who holds Canadian copyright on the main subject matter for this story, will personally prepare the same and make the local application. Don't miss the local story in next Saturday's issue.

NOVEMBER WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss E. K. Plummer and Mr. Martin Last Evening.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening at half-past eight o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Alfred R. Plummer, No. 274 Sherbrooke street, when his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Kathrine, was united in marriage to Mr. Albert Martin, foreman of THE EXAMINER news room.

The bride was prettily attired in a green and white checked robe, trimmed with white figured silk and green braid. She carried a handsome bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Minore, who was gowned in fawn, trimmed with white, and carried pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. Alfred Plummer, of Toronto, brother of the bride.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, performed the ceremony, the bride being given away by her father.

The presents which were received were very handsome, including a china dinner set, china clock and fruit dish, from the bride's uncle in New York; silver, from an aunt in Nebraska; silver cake dish and set of nut picks from the young ladies in J. C. Turnbull's store; china tea set, from a brother in Toronto; cutlery set from aunts in London; chair, inlaid with pearl, from Robert Martin; silver teapot from an uncle in London; Bible and address from the teachers and friends in the Murray street Baptist church Sunday school; handsome gold watch and chain, from the groom; onyx top table and mirror from the EXAMINER staff, accompanied by the following address:

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 18th, 1897.

Mr. Albert Martin:

DEAR SIR,—Your associates on the staff of the EXAMINER desire on the occasion of your marriage to offer you the most cordial congratulations.

During your eight years' connection with the EXAMINER office, where your career as an exponent of the art preservative began and in which by your industry, and attention to your work, you have merited promotion to the charge of an important department, your satisfactory discharge of your duties, as well as your courtesy and obliging demeanor has won our respect and regard.

In order to mark our appreciation of your good qualities and to show our interest on an important occasion in your life, we ask your acceptance of this onyx table and mirror coupled with the wish for a wedded life of prosperity and happiness, in which, of course, the future Mrs. Martin is cordially included.

Signed on behalf of the staff of the EXAMINER:

J R STRATTON,
F J JAMESON,
F H YOKOME,
W MEREDITH,
WM COWIE,
H DONNELLY,
B D JONES.

The groom's present to the bridesmaid was a pretty gold breast pin.

At the conclusion of the ceremony an informal reception was held, after which Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for their new home on Reid street.

LUCKY SPECULATION

The Richest Scoop of the Year!

Another Mighty Montreal Purchase.

$22,588 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING BOUGHT AT UNHEARD OF PRICES.

"Better to be born Lucky than Rich"—so the old aphorism goes. Just when we were running short of Heavy Winter Suits and Overcoats, and on the look-out for a big purchase for the Grand Opening of our New Toronto Store, along comes a lucky offer from the stalwart McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY—the Staunch and Trusty Clothing Manufacturers of Montreal.

WAS IT LUCK OR FATE? or WAS IT A COINCIDENCE? No matter—"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." The McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY were looking for an outlet for the balance of their Winter Stocks, in order to start on their work for next spring's business. GOUGH BROS. had the pull, and the Private offer was reserved for them to "clean them out at 33⅓ PER CENT. LESS THAN THE COST OF MANUFACTURE!" Here was the golden opportunity of the year, and the WIDE AWAKE GOUGH'S promptly staked their claim on the spot, and cleaned them out! Was that buying goods right or not? Well-posted merchants know that Gough Bros. invariably buy their goods right. We have been pre-eminently successful in distributing DRIVES in Clothing, because we are known to every manufacturer in the land as having an outlet for dependable goods AT LESS THAN THEIR REGULAR PRICES. Here is a Case in point: Study out the figures for yourselves, and get an old-fashioned hustle on. "As we buy, so we sell." To-day, we inaugurate the most brilliant sale of the year:—

THE McKENNA-THOMPSON SALE

—OF—

800 WINTER SUITS
DOUBLE AND SINGLE BREASTED—

550 HEAVY OVERCOATS

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting Adjourned Until St. Andrew's Day, 30th Inst.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Society was held in the Morgan House parlour on Wednesday evening. The attendance was small, owing no doubt to a number of other meetings being held.

The President, R. W. Bell, M. D., took the chair at 8.30 o'clock and called the meeting to order.

The secretary read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were on motion confirmed.

A communication was received from the American agent of Mr. Durward Lely, the popular Scottish tenor, offering an engagement for one night in Peterborough.

The treasurer, Mr. Gibson, submitted his annual statement of the receipts and expenditures for the year, showing a balance on hand of $6.06.

A discussion took place in reference to the outstanding liabilities of the society, amounting in all to about $12.

On motion an order was drawn on the treasurer for Mr. A. P. Morgan's account of $1.75 for board, etc., and the treasurer was authorized to pay off the remaining liabilities of the society as the funds would permit.

A number of membership fees were paid during the evening, and Mr. John Cunningham, the society's collector, was authorized to continue his work.

On motion it was decided to adjourn the meeting until St. Andrew's Day, 30th inst.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Patrick Brick—A Venerable Resident of Ennismore.

One of the oldest residents of Ennismore, Mrs. Patrick Brick passed away Tuesday night, at the ripe age of 83 years. Her death was rather sudden as she has recently been enjoying excellent health for her years. On Tuesday she was about the house as usual and almost immediately on retiring for the night passed peacefully away. Mrs. Brick has been a resident of Ennismore for nearly 70 years. Her surviving children are Mrs. Peter McAuliffe, Emily; Mrs. Simon Perdue, Emily; Mrs. Thos. Hogan, Douro; Mr. Patrick Brick, Verulam, and Mr. John Brick on the homestead.

ARCHDIACONAL CONFERENCE.

Further Report of the Proceedings in Lindsay.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

This morning the proceedings were commenced with a celebration of the Holy Communion in St. Paul's church at 9 a.m. The Ven. Archdeacon administered, assisted by the Rector of Lindsay.

The Archdeacon stated that the conference had a larger representation of both clergy and laity than any previous conference.

Rev. C. B. Kenrick then read the report of the committee on the Williams' property in Port Hope. The committe recommended the acceptance of the property; that the property be conveyed to the Archdeacon and Judges Ketchum and Benson in trust; that a committee of management be formed; that the home be used either for the aged, for widows of clergy, or for hospital purposes; that every clergyman present should make its existence and aims known, and those present pledge themselves to do what they can in their parishes towards its maintenance. This report was adopted.

Rev. C. H. Marsh brought in a resolution to authorize the Archdeacon and secretary-treasurer to receive subscriptions towards the new diocese and Williams' Home Fund, and to deposit same in some bank. The resolution was accepted.

The secretary informed the meeting that Rev. Dr. Pearson had offered $100 towards the new diocesan fund.

The morning programme was commenced with an address by T. R. Clougher, Esq., of Toronto. He spoke about "The Work of the laymen in the church."

R. Max Dahnistoun's appointed paper was read, owing to family bereavement by Mr. Belcher. Each layman must find out his place and work in the church, and should make themselves acquainted with the position and aims of the Church of England. Then, having perceived the soundness of his position, he should press steadily forward with some definite work on her behalf. There are many spheres of work open to him. Casual attendance at church is not the sum of his duty. Where the underlying work of the church is faithfully done, there also will its financial affairs be faithfully attended to. Although the funds of the church are not in good condition a very large sum is given annually by this diocese for all purposes. He thought that churchmen should be urged to leave bequests to the general fund of the church, as other bodies do.

Canon Spragge read a paper on work of laymen in the services of the church. Messrs. Knight and Belcher spoke of the music of the services.

At one o'clock the conference adjourned for luncheon, after which Rev. W. J. Creighton returned the thanks of the conference to the ladies of Lindsay for their hearty entertainment.

A MISSIONARY TALK.

Miss Veasey Speaks on the Work as it is Conducted in Japan.

Last evening Miss Abbie Veasey, a returned missionary from Kanasawa, Japan, gave an informal talk about her work in that country, in the George street Methodist church. Miss Veasey is a very fluent speaker and her address was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. James Kendry, who introduced the speaker of the evening, stated that Miss Veasey had been labouring in the missionary field in Japan since 1892.

In opening, Miss Veasey said that if the audience expected to hear a missionary address they would be greatly mistaken, as she only intended to tell them of the "little things" which happen in the Japan missionaries' lives. The public, who has never been to Japan, expect to hear of great results which any returned missionary may have accomplished, or else they expect to hear of some thrilling adventures which had befallen him. In Japan the missionary's life is not in danger, as it is China, owing to the excellent police supervision of the country. The missionary cannot tell of any great results, as there have not been any accomplished through strict attention to the little things. Whenever a person who has never been to Japan thinks of that country one usually pictures a small country where flowers are always blooming and where the people go about in picturesque costumes, and, taken altogether, one views the bright side of Japanese life, without looking on the dark side. All the books about Japan are inclined to make one believe this also.

Those who write these books, in a great many cases, are persons who have only made a very short sojourn in the country. Consequently they have only touched at the ports and know nothing of inland city life. There are only four districts in which the missionaries can work. In Kawakanie there is what is known as the "Carlisle School." It is named thus, because Mr. Carlisle, of Peterborough, sent the first donation towards its erection or maintenance.

There is an orphanage in Kanasawa, and also two other industrial schools, besides the evangelistic works. A missionary cannot go into Japan and make it known openly that he or she came there for the sole purpose of teaching them Christianity. One has to begin some school or factory, employ the boys and girls to work, and in this way talk to them and tell them of the true religion. Some of the girls have learned English well enough to translate it from some ordinary book into Japanese. In opening a missionary enterprise in new cities and towns, these girls prove invaluable to the American missionaries.

Kanasawa, where Miss Veasy has been stationed for some time, has a population of 90,000 inhabitants. It used to be a very wealthy city, but is now very poor. The Presbyterian church has a girl's school here. The Methodist missionaries made a pretext to stay there by starting a school for poor children. The Pagan priests caused the downfall of this a short time after it was opened. Then they started envelope making and paid their employees from a half cent to five cents a day. As the employees have good hours and get as much pay for working six days for the American missionaries as they did for working seven for their heathen employers, and are anxious to work for the Christians. Some twenty or thirty are employed in these works. Then a night school was opened under the management of a native Christian, who was paid to run the school.

The Industrial School is a comfortable looking building with glass windows and doors and stands on a nice plot of ground. We would have called it the Carlisle Industrial School, but there was no such name in the Japanese language. It has six rooms and a kitchen. There are between thirteen and fifteen pupils attending this school. They also have a Sunday School with forty regular pupils; also weekly night preaching services, when quite a few come to hear the Gospel. Now they are running an "embroidery" school. They hire the girls to work and give them singing and Scripture lessons while the girls are at their work. The Bible women do the teaching. Then they have a fine orphanage where the daughters of parents who are in destitute circumstances and who would sell their daughters to lives of shame, are taken in and cared for. In some wealthier places the girls' parents would pay you for taking their daughters but here they think it is enough to give them to you. You are bound to support them. "Altogether," concluded the speaker, "a great work is being done in Japan."

After singing "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," Rev. Mr. Shorey closed the meeting with the benediction.

HANGED AN INNOCENT MAN.

Coudat, Lynched in Dakota, Said to Have Taken no Part in the Spicer Murder.

GRAND FORKS, N.D., Nov. 17.—"An innocent man was hanged by lynchers at Williamsport" was the startling statement made yesterday by Chief Justice Corliss of the Supreme Court. "I have ample documentary evidence to the statements," continued the judge. "The Supreme Court ordered a new trial in Coudot's case because it appeared he was convicted on the uncorroborated evidence of Holytrack and Ireland, both of whom confessed to taking part in the murder of the Spicer family, and whose statements were refuted by the strongest testimony given by Dr. Ross, the resident agency physician at Standing Rock. Dr. Ross' veracity is unquestioned and his testimony is supported by notes from his memorandum book. Another fact is that Holytrack and Ireland made two other previous confessions, in neither of which did they implicate Coudot. Holytrack and Ireland were sure to have expiated their crime on the gallows, as there was no question of their guilt, but the mob made no distinction and hanged the innocent with the guilty. The lynching of Coudot is a foul crime and a blot on the fair name of the state, and his murderers should not go unpunished."

"KILL THEM."

Mexican Populace Shout Nasty Things at the Lynchers of Arroyo.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 17.—Great crowds surrounded the prison at Belen and the vicinity of the Palace of Justice yesterday, when 18 prisoners, mostly ex-police officers, implicated in the lynching of Arnolfo Arroyo, were taken through the streets in wagons and coaches for trial. Shouts of "Kill them" were heard from the populace, but the prisoners were well guarded by mounted and foot police.

The public prosecutor asks for the death penalty on Villavicencio, ex-inspector, and the man who suggested the murder to his chief, Velasques, the inspector-general of police, who committed suicide in prison. Villavicencio expects to escape with life imprisonment. The public prosecutor also asked for capital sentences upon the other lynchers.

Verdict for $10,000 for Libel.

UNDER STAR SHELLS.

British Forces Repel the Tribesmen's Attacks—Submission of a Tribe—Haddah Mullah's Letters Found.

SIMLA, Nov. 17.—Official despatches from the British camp in the Maidan Valley announce that General Kempster's brigade, while coming in yesterday evening, was attacked by the enemy in force. The tribesmen were driven off with the assistance of star shells, which illuminated the scene of the encounter.

The British officers found in the residence of the Mullah Said Akbar, letters from the Haddah Mullah saying: "The Turks have beaten the Greeks and have seized the approaches to India, and as the British reinforcements are cut off, now is the time to strike a blow for Islam."

The British officials have accepted the submission of the Maddakhels, on the surrender of the property and rifles looted at Maizar and on the payment for such property that is not forthcoming. This tribe also has to pay a fine of 10,000 rupees and has to surrender twenty hostages for their future good conduct.

Advices from the Maidan Valley Camp say that while a British force was foraging in the western part of the valley, a body of the enemy, concealing their rifles, sauntered up in an apparently friendly manner. The Britishers were suspicious and retreated, whereupon the tribesmen opened fire, wounding six. This brought a company of Ghurkas to the rescue and they succeeded in getting away.

A Royal Residence in Ireland.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The National Union of Conservative Associations elected Earl Cadogan president and adopted a resolution in favor of the establishment of a royal residence in Ireland and its occasional occupation by a member of the royal family. The resolution says this would tend to increase the sentiments of loyalty to the Crown and attachment to constitutional government.

A resolution was also passed demanding countervailance duties equal to the sugar bounties paid by foreign countries. A delegate announced that he had received a letter from a celebrity in the West Indies, the substance of which was that before long the West Indies would seek annexation to the United States.

A Fair Trail.

"I was troubled with a very bad headache last winter and decided to give Laxa-Liver Pill a fair trail. One box of them cured me and I have not had a headache since. They are a long way ahead of any other remedy I ever tried."

Miss Janet Munroe,

PRIVATE LAUFER.

"Yes, sir." Carswell saluted and led my good timber away to obey that order, from which there was no appeal.

"Rather a bad beginning for a man I had picked from the batch to make a corporal," I smilingly said when we were alone again.

"Oh, you can't tell," the colonel replied, and then we talked about the Wint saddle and the new carbine we were trying and other post subjects until he left my stables.

Knowing that his order would be obeyed, I paid no attention to it and really forgot all about it among the details of life more affecting my welfare. I wondered if we would get scouting orders just as my next year's leave of absence became due; if there was really any chance to get back that half month's pay I had dropped in the little game last night; if she meant what she said—she was laughing so I could not make out at the time; if the mail would bring me the check which my kind old dad sometimes sent.

Meantime the day was done and another was begun. In the semidarkness of morning stables I saw Laufer lying on his straw in the stall. I believe I did wonder if he was cold, but knew if he had been I could not in any way remedy it, and so two or three days and nights passed, one very like the other.

Again I walked down to afternoon stables with the colonel. He had not been in my stables since he had ordered Laufer tied up. We slowly sauntered down the long side—opposite the one the new horse was in—asking questions here and there of the men, the "noncoms" and the farrier and looking over the horses. Then crossing over we wandered up the other side in the same way till we came to the last stall.

"Sergeant, how is your new horse coming along?" said the colonel as he passed into Laufer's stall, where the private was eating the supper which had been chucked into the feed box. He was apparently oblivious of our presence and paid no attention to the old man as he brushed his hand along his back.

"Seems well groomed, serg-uh-nt-uh-h-oh!" grunted the colonel as he fell all doubled up out of the stall.

Lightning was not quicker or more astonishing. That youngster had placed both hands on the rail of his hayrack and with that springy foundation had planted both feet with electric vigor fairly in the old man's stomach.

Sergeant Carswell had Laufer flat on his back in a second, probably to beat the life out of him. I helped the colonel up, when he quickly called: "Sergeant, sergeant! D—n it man, don't you hear me? Get away from there and let that man alone!"

"But he kicked the colonel, sir," said Carswell, who started as if to repeat the operation on Laufer.

"Sergeant Carswell, go to your quarters!" roared the colonel, an order which saved the lucky Laufer from further trouble. As it was he had not been punished at all, and I was utterly dumfounded when the colonel promptly ordered his release. Taking me to one side, he said, "Captain, you said you had intended this man should be a corporal?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, have his warrant made out and send it into the adjutant." Saluting, he went into the next stable while I dismissed my men. I noticed the men all gathered about Laufer and was pleased that he, waving them aside, went at once to his bunk and his books, where he had spent all of his spare time that first day before he was tied up. The next day his corporal's stripes and chevrons were issued to him. He was constantly kept on some special duty which prevented his being at stables.

After a time I needed a sergeant, and at the colonel's suggestion sent in Corporal George Laufer's warrant. In less than a year afterward I received "the compliments of Colonel and Mrs. Gregory, who request the pleasure of your company at dinner, Saturday, Aug. 16, 1878, at 5 o'clock p. m., to meet Second Lieutenant (late sergeant) George Laufer of the Tenth cavalry, U. S. A."

I attended the dinner with pleasure. Lanfer never groomed his horse.—Russell Francis in Brooklyn Eagle.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

Wan by a Story.

Soon after President Cleveland was first inaugurated Private John Allen saw him several times in behalf of one of his constituents who was anxious to become a United States marshal in one of the Mississippi districts. On each occasion the president had refused to consider the application at that time, giving as a reason that he had not reached the Mississippi appointments. The applicant became so importunate that Congressman Allen decided to make at least one more effort. He went to the White House and made a stronger plea than ever, but succeeded in accomplishing nothing, but before leaving obtained the president's permission to tell an anecdote.

"When I commenced practicing law, one of my first clients was a young man whose father had recently died and left a large property. Some legal complications had arisen which delayed, until the decision of the court of these questions, the settling up of the estate. In the meantime this young man, in anticipation of an early dividend, had gone heavily into debt, and his creditors, seeing no money coming, had become very pressing. After repeated postponements the day at last came when I felt certain our case would be decided. My client came to my office, and together we went to the courthouse. One or two cases were quickly disposed of, but when ours was called the judge announced that he would not decide it until the next term. As we left the room the young man, with tears welling up in his eyes, said, 'Mr. Allen, I am almost sorry the old man died.'"

Private Allen's man was appointed without further delay.—Detroit Free Press.

HER INTERESTING STORY.

A well-known Brighton lady tells what she thinks regarding Heart Trouble, and how to cure it.

Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp tells what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for her.

Mrs. Clapp says, "I have been a sufferer from extreme nervousness for years, and for the last two years my heart has troubled me greatly. I could not sleep soundly, and would often awaken with a start, together with a curious feeling as if my heart had stopped beating, and it would be some time before I could recover myself. At times I became very dizzy, and a mist gathered before my eyes. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, but could get nothing to relieve me. Finally I received a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and am glad to say that they gave me relief in a very short time. I now sleep well, my nerves are steady and strong, and I am better in every way than I have been for years.

I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills very highly to those suffering from any trouble affecting the heart and nerves, for I know that they have been a great boon to me."

(Signed) Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp,

SONNET.

Change—change is death. The forms we trees are here
Slip, wraithlike, weeping, into pallid night,
To bless, ah, never, never more, our sight,
And leave each heart to hold an empty bier.
Listen. A babe was born. With its first tear
The mother slept, life's sweet, warm lettered light
Dead in her eyes. The child grew, fair and white,
To make rare music for my youth's love year.

She, too, has gone. I loved her. Had she staid
She might have known a son, who, closing down
The wearied lids, had cried with sobbing breath,
Kissing the brow where age its lines had laid.
O mother soul, your babe! O youth! O son!
Can she be yours? I tell you, change is death!

—Post Wheeler in New York Press.

MY INVINCIBLE FOE.

At the close of the memorable year of 1871 I found myself quartered at Fort Mont Valerin under General Noel. We had been shut up inactive for several days, and very trying it was, knowing, as we did, that those cursed Germans were making a steady advance on our beloved Paris. At last an order came that a reconnoitering party was to be sent out in the direction of Longboyeau, a small village some six miles distant. The prospect of a possible skirmish raised our spirits very considerably. No one was more excited than myself, hearing, as I did, shortly afterward that I was to be put in command.

We started the following morning at break of day. For more than an hour we tramped along with eyes and hearing alert, but saw no sign of the enemy until we arrived at a point where the highroad branched off into innumerable pathways through a large wood.

I had paused to consider which was the most advisable route to follow when I heard coming toward us the sound of horses' feet, the unmistakable tramp, tramp of cavalry.

It was the work of a moment for me to post my men behind the shelter of a hedge, and there we waited. Parbleu! How my comrades' eyes gleamed when out of the depths of the forest there filed two by two some 20 Prussians, headed by an officer! I can shut my eyes and see that young man now as, pausing, he gave the word to advance in fours. He was a magnificently built young fellow, with steely blue eyes and long, fair mustache—a typical looking soldier.

God knows that during the last few months enough French blood has been spilled to make us all burn for vengeance. Nevertheless, as I raised my musket to my shoulder my hand shook. I was not an old soldier in those days. I had never shot any one before at such close quarters, and this seemed to me almost like murder, for he was so ignorant of all danger. Yet I knew it behooved me to be steady, for they outnumbered us by some half a dozen.

I gave the signal, and we all fired in unison, every bullet going straight home. In the stampede of horses which ensued only four out of the 20 of the enemy escaped death, and they, unnerved by their loss, turned tail and galloped back into the depths of the forest. Their leader lay his full length on the ground, staring up into the cold winter sky with wide open, rapidly glazing eyes, one hand still grasping the bridle of his charger. The poor beast stood piteously looking down at his dead master. As I tried to seize him he reared, and in doing so the corpse moved. Could it be possible, I asked myself, that he was still alive?

Kneeling beside him, I tried to force some brandy down his throat, but found it was useless. He was dead—stone dead.

* * * * * * *

Some few days later, in one of our many sorties, I received a slight scratch, which was followed by a bad attack of fever. On recovering a week's leave was granted me in which to recruit. My regiment was at that time quartered in Paris, a circumstance I determined to take advantage of in looking up an old comrade who, I had heard, had been badly wounded at Bondy.

My inquiries led me to the Val de Grace ambulance, where I found Legras. The poor fellow was delighted at seeing a familiar face, and I staid and talked to him for some time. In his rambling account of how he had received his wound my attention strayed to the occupants of the other beds. One in particular fascinated me. It was the inert figure of a man lying in a cot facing Legras'.

I asked Legras if he knew who the poor fellow was. He answered in a tone of mingled pity and satisfaction:

"A Prussian officer. He was brought in some two days ago. The doctors marvel how he has lingered for so long, but they say now he is dying. The sooner the better, say I."

Hardly were the words out of Legras' mouth when the sick man suddenly raised himself, gave one choking sob and fell backward. In that brief moment our eyes met. What I saw there made me shrink back in my chair with a sense of bewilderment—I may say terror. That motionless figure was the same young German officer whom a week ago I had shot down with my own hand on the road to Longboyeau.

Trembling like a leaf, I bent over him. He was dead.

Before leaving I learned what particulars I could. He was a Prussian officer who had been mortally wounded when leading the attack on the neighboring village of Bondy.

This information restored my nerves somewhat to their proper balance, or, to my more truthfully, I tried to think it did. Of course it could only have been a chance resemblance, and yet—

But in those days one had little leisure in which to puzzle out mysteries. Following this event came the battle of Montretout.

It had rained almost incessantly the night before, and the early morning gave no promise of any cessation of the heavy showers which had fallen for the previous four and twenty hours. The fog and vapors of drifting rain were so thick as morning broke that one could scarcely see a yard in front of one. At length the fog lifted and a pale, watery looking sun shone out, disclosing to our view the Germans' strongly intrenched position. Our orders were to support our leading column. The bugles had just sounded the advance when, without any warning, three German squadrons of cavalry, led by an officer, made a sudden furious descent on our left flank. Under cover of the fog they had crept up unnoticed close to our lines. Had not the clouds lifted when they did we should have been taken completely by surprise.

It was an exciting moment as, quickly forming a square, we received them with fixed bayonets. A breathless ten minutes ensued as we fought desperately for our lives.

I saw two of our officers fall mortally wounded, but the enemy's leader seemed to bear a charmed life.

His repeated attacks made our men waver. Seeing them beginning to fall back filled me with a sudden frenzy of rage. Calling on my comrades to follow, I tried to fight my way to his side, an effort which brought a cruel smile to his lips as he grimly awaited my attack.

But what was the meaning of that sudden overwhelming feeling of terror? Why did my bayonet fall from my nerveless fingers? Those steely blue eyes glaring into mine with such deadly hate were the same that I had seen closed in death once on the road to Longboyeau and again in the Val de Grace ambulance.

With a howl I staggered back, only to recover myself as I saw that terrible sword flash once again in the sunlight. What mysterious power made me raise my pistol and fire it full in his face God only knows, but the act saved my life. With a hoarse cry he fell backward. At the same moment his horse, swerving, caught me a violent blow, which sent me head over heels. On rising I rushed to his side. He was still alive. The sight of those familiar features excited afresh my superstitious fears. It is my only excuse for what followed. I was mad with terror. Seizing my bayonet with both hands, I plunged it with all my force not once, but thrice, into his quivering body.

In due time the campaign came to an end. The day before the signing of the armistice—that fatal day for poor France—I was doing outpost duty when a bugle suddenly rang out, followed by the appearance of a German trumpeter, accompanied by an officer bearing a flag of truce. As the latter advanced toward me the same feelings of deadly fear overpowered me as had seized me on a former occasion.

It was he—my ghostly enemy—who eight days ago had writhed in agony under the repeated blows of my bayonet. As he came within speaking distance my feeling of terror changed to one of passive despair.

Beyond all doubt our enemies bore charmed lives. Parbleu! What chance had French bullets against such an invincible power?

On our exchanging salutes he courteously begged in a strong German accent that his presence might be made kown to the senior officer in command—a request I at once forwarded by an orderly.

His attitude as he stood warming himself by the campfire enabled me, unperceived, to have another good look at my ghostly visitant. Ghostly he must be, I said to myself tremblingly, for I had made no mistake. It was the same manly figure which on three different occasions I had seen extended in death.

Suddenly he looked up and our eyes met.

"We may congratulate ourselves, monsieur," he said slowly, "that the campaign has come to an end. Your splendid resistance has cost my country many lives. Out there"—and he pointed to the distant plain—"four brothers took part in the struggle. Of those four I am the sole survivor."—Mrs. Brooke Murray in New York Journal.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

OBITUARY.

WM. L. McILROY.

The Hastings Star speaks as follows concerning the death of Mr. Wm. L. McElroy, a brother of Mrs. J. A. Mabee, of Peterborough:

It is with great regret that we announce the demise of our old friend, Mr. Wm. L. McElroy, a well known and most highly respected resident of the Township of Hope. He was a man for whom everyone had a good word, and of whom it may safely be said that, though firm and tenacious of his beliefs and his opinions, he never made an enemy during the whole course of his life. It was not strange, therefore, that when death ended his sufferings on the 2nd of the present month, universal regret was expressed as the sad intelligence was received by those who knew him. He was born on the Braes o' Doon farm, where his whole life was spent, entering the world on May 10th, 1840. He was educated at Stoney Batter school, near Canton, and was an apt pupil. As he grew up he exhibited a bright and cheerful disposition and was a favourite among his fellows. In 1856 he joined L.O.L., No. 75, and during the long period which has elapsed since that time he had been a constant attendant at its meetings and an enthusiastic worker in its interests, his labours being rewarded by the utmost confidence of his fellow members, having filled all the offices within the gift of his lodge. During the exist of the Good Templars lodge at Canton he was an active and consistent member and did much for the cause in which he had enlisted. In the musical circles of the township he was also a favourite and for a number of years he taught a singing school at Knoxville—on all occasions, giving his services and knowledge free of cost to all who cared to avail themselves of them. He was also a valued member of the Durham Light Cavalry, under Lieut.-Col. Smart, Capt. Chas. Williams and Volney V. Ashford, and he stood high as a drill instructor in his corps. A year ago last February he was taken ill with liver trouble and has been a constant sufferer ever since that time, his disease developing steadily and with fatal persistency until the angel of death stepped in to relieve him but, notwithstanding the painful nature of his illness, he withstood it all with a Christian fortitude that was characteristic of his temperament. In religion he was a Presbyterian, and he died in the full hope of meeting with his Saviour in that land where trials and tribulations are unknown. In politics he was a consistent and staunch Conservative. His father, who settled on the homestead some 65 years ago, preceded him in death some 17 years ago, and two sisters have also gone before. He is survived by his mother, his brother, Mr. John McElroy, and two sisters, Mrs. Robinson Haw, of Canton, and Mrs. J. A. Maybee, of Peterborough. The funeral took place on the 4th inst., under the auspices L.O.L. No. 75, and was largely attended by members of the Order and sorrowing friends and acquaintances. The beautiful ceremony of the Orange Order was read at the grave by Bro. Robinson Haw and District Master John Peacock, interment taking place at Knoxville cemetery.

FRANCIS KILLORAN.

Just one year, one month and six days from the death of the beloved partner of the subject of this sketch passed to her reward and on the 5th inst., she was followed by her sorrowing husband, who for that time with bowed head and a submissive spirit, awaited the call. Francis Killoran was a native of Ireland, born in 1811, in the county of Sligo.

In 1837 he married Bridget Mulhern, and in 1841 left the land of his birth and came to Canada and settled in the township of Seymour, where he resided for 24 years, and from there to the township of Percy, where he has since resided on lot 13, concession 10. He was a man of few words, and of a quiet inoffensive disposition, industrious, honourable in his dealing and a consistent member of the R. C. church.

The remains were taken to Campbellford where they were interred by the side of his partner. Five girls and four boys mourn his loss, namely: Mrs. E. Coveney, of Seymour; Mrs. T. Kennedy, of Peterborough; Mrs. M. Keating, Ann, Honora, John and James of Percy, Francis of Marmora, and Lawrence, of Hastings.

HOCKEY.

The 5th annual meeting of the Belleville Hockey club was held Monday evening and there was a very large attendance of those interested in the game. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—H. Corby, M.P.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—W. H. Biggar, M.P.P.
Pres.—M. M. Thompson.
Vice-Pres.—Robt. Fenwick.
Mgr.—F. M. McKeown.
Sec.-Treas—H. F. C. Kelso.
Rink Committee—Dr. P. G. Goldsmith, G. G. Hulme, L. H. Hamilton, C. E. Kenrick, H. F. C. Kelso.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

In the reports in the Toronto papers of yesterday's match between the Dentals and School of Science men Andy Scott's playing is very highly spoken of.

A meeting of the Rugby players was held last evening, when it was decided that the team should go to Kingston on Thanksgiving Day, although there is no guarantee and the game is to be called off if the weather is unsatisfactory. The Granite team offers all the gate with the exception of ten dollars to meet their own expenses, but make the condition that they get a percentage of all over $100 taken at the gate.

If anything goes wrong the Peterborough boys will have the small end of it, and the chances which they are taking are big ones.

At present the club is in debt to the extent of forty or fifty dollars, and there seems no easier way of making up the deficiency than of giving the citizens of Peterborough a game in town on a holiday when there is nothing else going on. The match would certainly draw a big crowd if the Osgoode or T.A.C. I teams were brought down from Toronto. By leaving town on the only day when they could hope to draw a big gate the boys leave room for the impression that they are not trying the best means to put the club in funds.

At the recent game at Cambridge, Mass., between Harvard and Yale, only 30,000 were in attendance, and tickets sold from $1.50 to $2 each. Scalpers bought up all the tickets the could get their hands on and sold them at advanced prices, from $5 up, one gentleman paying $100 for four seats in the centre. Fully 15,000 could not gain admittance to the grounds.

Alderman Plotke, the opponent of football in Chicago proposes to introduce yellow journal methods into the city council. In support of his prohibitory measure he will produce a man who has been maimed for life by football. I will undertake, says a writer to the Toronto Sunday World, to introduce men who have been maimed for life in nearly every manly outdoor game excepting quoits and lawn tennis, and even at the latter a man in England received such hurt the other day that he died. Men are so frequently drowned while bathing that little heed is paid to such cases. Men are drowned while yachting, and men often go to their graves through being two venturesome while skating. Any of these sports is more dangerous than football-playing, but they do not maim—they kill. Still it is desirable that the game should be made as reasonably harmless as possible, and if the penalty for brutality, for fighting with fists, for slapping, and for foul language were made expulsion, football would speedily become as genteel a game as cricket, baseball or lacrosse. I shall be laughed at for mentioning the latter, but in 30 years until this year no lacrosse player had a leg broken in Toronto. There have been cuts and bruises galore, but a fatality has yet to be chronicled anywhere from injuries received in the game. Alderman Plotke says: There is another bad feature to the sport which is seldom thought of, but which should appeal to every parent. The excitement is so intense that it affects morals and induces the use of profane language in an immoderate degree. Small boys, and even large boys, play the game in open lots, and their presence is contaminating to children in the neighbourhood. Then there is a grave danger of injury to the passers by, and I shall give the council at least one instance in which a baby was knocked out of its mother's arms by a kicked ball." Great heavens! Shall we suppress the festive perambulator because a careless rattle headed nurse neglected her child? Or shall we cease to talk because other people use their mouth wrongfully?

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—A "vag" was allowed to go this morning at the police court.

—Foresters are nominating their officers for the annual election.

—Aylmer street is being cleaned up by the sewer contractors.

—The steamer Eclipse brought up 65 passengers from Harwood yesterday.

—Residents of Harwood and other points on the south side of Rice Lake find the Peterborough markets superior to that of Cobourg.

—The milk vendors who are doing business in Ottawa are up in arms against the proposal to have their animals tested with tuberculin.

—Harwood is very sadly wrecked, the big chimney being torn down and the recent fire having made a considerable change in its appearance.

—On Sunday last in the Eastern Methodist church, Napanee, five brothers of the McKim family occupied one pew, the youngest of them being seventy years of age.

—Mr. Joseph Theobald shot a fox which measured 4 feet 9½ inches from the nose to the tip of the tail last week. This is one of the largest foxes ever shot in this district.

—Mr. R. M. Roy, Photographer, Hunter street, is open for engagements for Stereopticon Lime Light entertainments for churches, schools, societies, etc. Send for descriptive pamphlet. sodw —Calcutt's brewery is doing a tremendous business. Yesterday morning he received orders from points east of Ottawa for cased goods. The aggregate will be over one hundred dozen ales, porter and lager.

—There was a large attendance at the meeting of Court Forest Queen, C.O.F., last evening. The team from Court Peterborough was present in full regalia and initiated a candidate, after which refreshments were served.

—Mr. W. A. Stickles, whose horse was stolen while attending church at Warkworth, has recovered the same. William Webber, who is not considered any too wise, took it for a drive and returned it the following day.

—Greater New York embraces 359 sq. miles, has 1,200 miles of streets, 700 miles of sewer, 54 theatres, 112 hotels, 218 banks, 63 libraries, 30 art galleries, 1,993 churches, and 73,336 acres. It had a bonded debt of $217,000,000.

—The steamer Eclipse arrived in port yesterday well laden with passengers from Harwood, their mission being the purchase of provisions, etc., for the winter months. This in all likelihood will be the last excursion of the season.

—Suit was brought recently against the Grand Trunk Co., for the sum of 10c., but the shareholders need not be alarmed—the case is likely to be thrown out. A man named Clarry bought a ticket to a certain point, and was obliged to change at Galt to a branch line. The 'bus fare was 10., and Clarry claims that he should have been transferred free of charge.

THE BOYS' WORK

At the Young Men's Christian Association.

To-morrow evening the boys' room will be opened, the furnishing of the same now occupying much attention.

When it is complete it will present an attractive appearance.

In the Bible class room, where the boys' gospel meetings are held, there will be a "Story-Song Service," commencing at 7.30 p.m. The programme will be interesting to all boys.

In connection with the opening of the boys' room, which will commence after the other meeting, a debate on "City vs. Country Life" will take place. The champion of the city is H. Woods, and A. Frowde for the country.

Mr. Pepler will sing and Mr. S. Hall will preside.

All boys over 12 years of age are welcome.

CHASED WITH A CARVING KNIFE.

A Wife Charges Her Husband With Threatening to Take Her Life.

A family quarrel was aired in the police court, this morning, where the chief had corraled a trio from the south end. The head of the family did not show up and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $10.10. His betterhalf gave a luridly vivid description of the life which she had to lead, stating that her husband had tried to smother her, and had at times chased her with the carving knife. She and her sister were dismissed with a warning.

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

FIGHTING VERY HOT.

Determined Attack Upon the British Forces.

A DESPERATE BAYONET CHARGE.

General Kempster's Brigade Suffered Heavily at the Hands of the Tribesmen—27 Killed and 41 Wounded—Austria's Mission—Landing of German Troops in China.

Simla, Nov. 18.—Details to-day from the Maidan Valley show that the loss of General Kempster's brigade is quite serious. The force consisted of the Dorsetshire regiment and regiments of Sikhs and Ghurkas. The insurgent tribesmen made their usual attack on the rear guard, but were brilliantly repulsed by the Sikhs. The Dorsetshires lost their way in the darkness and were cut off by the enemy. Lieuts. Hales and Crook and nine men were killed. The rest of the Dorsetshires attached themselves to the Sikhs and arrived in camp in safety. Lieut. Wylie of the Ghurkas and Lieut. Wrenn of the Sikhs and fourteen Sikhs and Ghurkas were killed. Colonel Abbott, Capt. Custance and Lieut. Munn were wounded, and 23 Sikhs and Ghurkas were wounded. This shows that 58 men were placed hors de combat in this affair, namely, 27 officers and men killed and 31 officers and men wounded.

Two companies of Sikhs, holding the spur of the hill, were so fiercely assaulted that they had to call for reinforcements. Col. Haughton, with the balance of the Sikh Regiment, rushed to their support. The whole force withdrew gradually, fighting every step, to the valley. Dusk had now set in, and the enemy was crowding the British on all sides. Col. Haughton determined to camp for the night, and sent five companies to storm a couple of block-houses. The Sikhs drove out the enemy at the point of the bayonet. Six were killed and as many wounded during this charge. The wounded were then brought in, under the enemy's unceasing fire, and the force finally reached headquarters the next morning without further casualties.

London, Nov. 18.—A despatch to The Times from Maidan says: During the afternoon's fighting on Monday the Sikhs were most seriously pressed on the northern side of the ridge by a large body of Afridis. Hard and close fighting ensued in the thick woods. The Sikhs defended themselves with splendid gallantry, and in one desperate bayonet charge killed and wounded fully sixty of the enemy. Their commander, Col. Abbott, was painfully wounded in the neck and face, and Capt. Warne was shot through the heart.

THE OATHS OF OFFICE

Sir Oliver Mowat and Mr. Mills Sworn In.

A VERY INTERESTING CEREMONY.

The New Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Ontario and the New Minister of Justice of Canada —The Ceremony is Witnessed by High Officers of State.

The ceremony of administrating the oaths of office to the new Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the new Minister of Justice of Canada was performed at Government House yesterday afternoon in the presence of the high officers of State. The occasion marked the transition of one of Canada's greatest statesman from the position of a responsible adviser of the Crown in the Federal arena to that of the representative of the Crown in the province which for a quarter of a century he governed wisely and well.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT.

It also saw the elevation to the Ministry of a statesman whose long experience in public life and ample knowledge of affairs qualify him in an eminent degree to fill the position to which he has been called.

The simple ceremony appointing them, was performed in the private chamber of His Excellency the Governor-General at Government House at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Following precedent, Lord Aberdeen made the function a very private one, and aside from the officials participating in the ceremony, only a few friends of Sir Oliver and Mr. Mills were present. Those who stood in the chamber while the oath was administered were: Lord Aberdeen, Sir George A. Kirkpatrick, Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. David Mills, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Hon. George W. Ross, J. J. McGee, Clerk of the Privy Council, Chief Justice Burton, Mr. Justice Osler, Mr. Justice Maclennan, Mr. Justice Moss, Hon. William Mulock, Commander Law, Capt. Kirkpatrick, Thomas Hodgins, Q. C., Capt. Wilberforce, A.D.C., H. M. Mowat, Dr. Hewitt, Secretary to His Excellency, and three representatives of the press.

As the oaths were administered Lord Aberdeen, Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Mr. Mills and Mr. McGee stood in a group [illegible] side a round table in the middle of the room, the others present being ranged in a circle around the chamber

Since Confederation the oaths of office have been administered to eight Lieutenant-Governors in Ontario. The first to fill this high place was Lieutenant-General Henry William Stisted, C.B., but his tenure only lasted one year, from July, 1867, until July, 1868.

Following him were Hon. W. P. Howland, from July 15, 1868, to Nov. 11, 1873; Hon. J. W. Crawford, from Nov. 12, 1873, to May 13, 1875; Hon D. A. Macdonald, May 18, 1875, to June 30, 1880; Hon. John Beverley Robinson, from July 1, 1880, to May 31, 1887; Sir Alex. Campbell, from June 1, 1887, to May 24, 1893; Sir George Kirkpatrick, and now Sir Oliver Mowat.

Sir Oliver Mowat will return to Ottawa this morning to settle his affairs at the capital, preparatory to removing to Toronto. Mr. Mills will at the same time go to Ottawa to assume the duties of his new office. They will be accompanied by Mr. McGee.

At Government House yesterday afternoon Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, signed the appointment of Thomas Robert McInnes as Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and of William Templeman as Senator for British Columbia.

General Toronto Topics.

The Conservative machine has found a candidate for the Centre in Mr. Oliver A. Howland, M. P. P., and he will get the nomination on Saturday.

According to the constables, there is reason to doubt Stewart Paisley's story of his being sandbagged and robbed near his home at Mount Albert. His clothes, which have been brought here, do not show knife stabs corresponding in coat and shirt. Other little points are likewise corroborative of doubt. There is $400 reward offered for the capture of his alleged assailants.

Got Free With a Nail.

Bowmanville, Nov. 19.—George Hall, captured by Chief Jarvis and committed for trial by Magistrate Haines, on a charge of stealing a horse and buggy from Mr. Snure of Jordan, Ont., picked the lock of the jail here with a crooked nail and was on his way out of the jail when Chief Jarvis happened in and captured him.

Chrysanthemum Colors.

Guelph, Nov. 19.—The experiment of producing different colored chrysanthemums by different kinds of plant food is being tried by Ontario Agricultural College experts. The results already obtained are highly satisfactory, and it is believed that many new shades of bloom will be produced.

Five Years for Criminal Assault.

Perth, Ont., Nov. 19.—John Watson, convicted of criminal assault, was sentenced by His Lordship to five years in the penitentiary. The remaining civil cases were settled. The court then closed.

Struck by a Falling Tree.

Pembroke, Nov. 19.—George Smith of Wilberforce, while working in the woods at Petewawa, was struck by a falling tree. His thigh was crushed to a jelly, and fatal results are feared.

BAD FOR THE FRENCH.

How a Palaver With Treacherous West African Chiefs Ended.

Cape Coast Castle, British West Africa, Nov. 19.—The Governor of the Gold Coast colony reports that there has not been any collision whatever between the British colonial forces and Chief Samory up to the present. An eye-witness of the fight between the followers of Chief Samory and the French force on August 20 last, says it occurred near Bonta. The French numbered about 100 men and were cut to pieces.

Another account of the affair says the French officers were invited to a palaver and were seized by the Sofas, who captured the rifles, reserve ammunition and eight horses belonging to the French expedition.

Sending Two Expeditions.

Paris, Nov. 19.—The Depeche Coloniale announces that it has received news of the active advance of two expeditions from Ubanga towards the Upper Nile, under Captains Liotard and Marchand. The French, it is added, expect to have a flotilla of gunboats on the Upper Nile by midsummer, 1898, and will distribute 2,500 rifles to local recruits.

NANSEN AND JOHANNESSEN.

The Fram Will Have Company on Her Coming Voyage to the Arctics.

Christiania, Nov. 19.—Hjalmar Johannessen, the Norwegian army officer who was with Doctor Fritdjof Nansen, in the latter's recent Arctic expedition, referring to the plans for the doctor's next trip north, says arrangements have already been made for a sojourn hut on Franz Joseph land. The Fram, Nansen's ship, will be accompanied by a large vessel called the Starkodder. There will be many more dogs, more scientific men, and one of the ships will advance through the ice until ice bound. From their sledge expeditions will start north. The other ship will go along the ice border, making scientific researches in the ice, in the water and at the bottom of the sea.

To Take Over Kassala.

Cairo, Nov. 19.—Parsons Pasha starts for Suakin on Tuesday next, from which place he will embark a battalion of infantry and detachments of artillery, engineers and camel corps, altogether about 1500 men, for Massowa, from which place this British force will go to Kassala, in order to take over that place from the Italians, according to the agreement on the subject arrived at between Great British and Italy.

Death of Sir Henry Doulton.

London, Nov. 18.—Sir Henry Doulton, head of the firm of Doulton & Co., Lambeth Potteries, is dead. He was born in Vauxhall July 25, 1820, and began training for a potter at the age of 15. He initiated the manufacture of sanitary pipe making in 1846, and commenced art pottery and Doulton ware in 1870. Sir Henry was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor and received the Albert medal of the Society of Arts.

ARSENIC WAS FOUND.

The Important Question in the Sternaman Trial.

WAS IT FROM THE EMBALMING FLUID?

Or Was It Administered by the Prisoner Now Standing Her Trial for Murdering Her Husband for the Insurance on His Life?

Prof. Ellis Will Testify To-day.

Cayuga, Ont., Nov. 19.—The Crown evidence in the Sternaman murder trial will in all likelihood be completed this morning, and if the testimony for the defence is not lengthy, and it will not be unless Mrs. Sternaman, the prisoner, goes on the witness stand, which is hardly probable, the case may be concluded at a night session. In any event a verdict may be expected on Saturday afternoon. The prosecution has only three witnesses left, and they arrived late last evening.

One of them is Prof. Ellis, the provincial analyst, and another is his assistant, Miss Curson. Their evidence is regarded as very important, and more so in consequence of the contention of the defence that the body was embalmed. In case the embalming fluid had been introduced into the remains it is possible that traces of other chemicals than arsenic might be discovered under analysis and so this disputed point placed at rest. Light might in the same way be turned on other points now dark.

Long before 9 o'clock yesterday crowds poured into the Court House, and by that hour the room was crowded. The first witness called was A. Snider, son of the undertaker who prepared the body of George H. Sternaman for burial. He swore that they did not embalm the body nor did they puncture it in any part. If they had embalmed the body that fact would have been entered in their books and the process charged for. This witness became puzzled somewhat in his cross-examination by Mr. German. Brigham and Avery Sternaman, brothers of the deceased, were next called, and testified to the effect that the prisoner had always administered medicine to the deceased except on one occasion, when the mother gave him some tea and toast. They did not take enough interest in the suspicion of foul play to enquire into it.

J. E. Dew of Buffalo, insurance agent for the John Hancock Mutual Company, testified that he saw the prisoner on Dearborn street, Buffalo. She was in mourning, and he stopped and asked her about her husband's death. She told him not to say anything about the one thousand dollar policy on his life as she did not want her relatives to know, as, if they heard of it, they would get it from her in a short time.

Mr. Fairchild, United States Commissioner, swore to the evidence given by the prisoner while the extradition proceedings were going on at Buffalo. He identified the following letter written by George H. Sternaman, exonerating his wife from all blame or suspicion in the event of his death:

The Deceased's Letter.

Buffalo, June 10th, 1896.

To all whom it may concern:—I, Geo. H. Sternaman, having had very peculiar attacks at times during the past six months, and of which no one but my wife and a few of her relatives know anything, I write this to state that if I should die whilst in one of them that no person can say that it was by her hands that I died. The only cause or reason of me having these is when I get down-hearted or worrying about anything that does not go to please me. I would have written and told my mother, but I knew that she would only worry and fret about it and probably not do any good either. That is the reason that I write this, that it may be read and shown at any time, providing I die whilst in one of these peculiar spells. I have never had a doctor, because I always come out of them all right. I hope by what I have written will convince all that they may not think that my wife had anything to do with such an uncommon death. (Signed by me this 10th day of June, 1896.) George H. Sternaman.

Dr. Saltsman said he visited deceased in Buffalo, and he was very ill when Mr. and Mrs. Sternaman mentioned to him about moving deceased to Rainham, because they said they were in arrears in rent and had to do something. He told them that it would be the patient's death, and was not surprised when he heard about his death after removal to Canada. Dr. Saltsman said that arsenic injected in the abdomen would naturally find its way into the stomach in the course of five or six weeks, and also find its way into the brain. He says that when he was attending deceased he never suspected arsenic; he had Addison's disease in mind, and says that if there had been any arsenic used it must have been after the patient had left him. He said that the condition of the patient when he was called was consistent with arsenic poisoning, and that the condition of the body after death, if it had not been embalmed, would indicate that arsenic had been given within 48 to 72 hours before death.

Mr. Medlicott is the residence claim inspector for the insurance company. He said he visited the prisoner's house and had a conversation with her as to the death of her first husband, Mr. Chipman. At first she said he died of typhoid fever, and afterwards, when I mentioned about the rumors that were around about her getting away with Mr. Chipman, she said she had heard that there were suspicions of her murdering him and that she ordered an autopsy to be held on George H. Sternaman, on account of the report that was around about her first husband.

Mr. B. B. Osler then read the evidence by Mr. Charles R. Roberts at the magistrate's hearing. This was allowed on account of Mr. Roberts being confined to his bed at home and not able to be out. Dr. Rich of Buffalo was put on the stand to testify as to the last illness of the prisoner's first husband.

Mr. German, counsel for the defence, strongly objected to digging up the first husband at this stage of the proceedings, and gave it as his opinion that the illness and death of the first husband had nothing to do with the present case.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. MARTER seems to be the only martyr in Toronto. No good Conservative is disposed to set himself up for martyrdom in the centre division.

THE London News says: "Mrs. Margaret L. Shepherd is playing in hard luck in the Maritime Provinces. She doesn't seem to know that her cause is as dead as Julius Cæsar's grandfather, and wonders why the crowds don't come. Someone would be doing Margaret a kindness by calling her in.

IN London, Ont., municipal contests, including the mayoralty, are run on political lines. The Londoners are making a mistake. A man might as well buy a suit of clothes or a bag of potatoes on political grounds, and lose money by the transaction, as for a municipality to elect a man as mayor or other representative because he or his father was of a certain political stripe.

THE journalistic opponents of the Dominion Government profess to see lurking treason in the visit of the Canadian ministers to Washington, though the visit is made in the interests of Canada and the Empire. What will these newspaper naggers say to the statement of Sir Charles Tupper to an American newspaper reporter, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier went to Washington because he (Sir Charles) told him to go. Can there be any lurking treason in following the great political physician's prescription. Sir Charles Tupper's heart must be as big as his head when he thus volunteers to steer a political opponent through the breakers.

A few Mail and Empire whoppers observed by the Globe: "That the Globe has abandoned the statement that Mr. Chamberlain insisted on a zollverein as the basis of a preferential trade; that the Globe condemned the plan of utilising the Drummond County Railway to bring the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal; that the Laurier Government insisted on getting the opinion of the Pope on the Manitoba school settlement. These are from one day's issue. They are all equally untrue." The Mail and Empire seems to be lost to the influence of public opinion. It is pursuing a very short sighted policy. In regard to: especially, provincial politics it seems to think that the temporary advantage resulting from the publication of libellously untrue statements is a good policy. In a word its policy appears to be to tell a plausible lie and stick to it. No matter how often a false statement is refuted and disproved the dogged Mail and Empire adheres to it. Truth is proverbably deposited in a well and the esteemed Mail and Empire has lost the bucket.

The union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian church this year.

The open missionary meeting held in the Presbyterian church on Tauraday last was, owing to the stormy weather, not as well attended as it might have been, but those present enjoyed a very pleasant evening. The meeting opened by singing part of Hymn 434—"Jesus shall reign," after which the pastor lead in prayer.

A paper was then read on "The Duties of Officers and Auxiliaries," by Mrs. Richard Nicol, in which she pointed out clearly what each officer and member should do.

Mrs. John Davidson then took up the subject of "Object of Missions," in which she contrasted our own land with the heathen nations, showing very forcibly the need of missions.

After singing part of Hymn 447—"Hark! the Voice of Jesus Crying"—Mrs. Mathieson gave in a very pleasing manner an account of the W.C.T.U. convention held in Toronto, at the close of which collection was taken up, while the choir sang an appropriate hymn of almsgiving.

Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh then read a paper on "The sin and sorrow of the heathen world," in which she took us for a brief visit to each of the heathen nations, showing the great need of the gospel of Christ. Mrs. M. Nicol followed with an excellent paper on "Systematic giving." The president, Mrs. J. F. Somerville, then read a paper on "Why we should keep up our Auxiliaries," which was very interesting.

The pastor, Rev. J. F. Somerville, then brought the programme to a close by a short address on "Miracles of Missions," in which he referred briefly to the work of Dr. Moffatt in Africa, Thos. Bridges in South America and others.

Refreshments were then served and a social talk enjoyed,

The Methodists intend holding their annual Christmas entertainment on Tuesday 28th. The programme will consist of recitations, solo, etc.

A thanksgiving service will be held in the English church on the evening of Nov. 25th, when the Rev. Herbert Symonds, of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, will deliver an address.

On Wednesday last word was received that Mr. Geo. Grover, brother of Mr. Thos. Grover, of this village, and Superintendent of the American Express Company, London, England, had passed away. Mr. Grover was well known around here and his death will be much regretted by all.

The Executive Committee of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute, composed of Messrs. F. Birdsall, President, E. Hawthorne, Vice-President, and Chas. O'Reilly, secretary, met in the town hall on Saturday, 13th, for the purpose of arranging and making proper distribution of the subjects for the meetings to be held in Norwood Town Hall, Dec. 17th, 1897, town hall, Keene, Dec. 18th, and supplementary meetings to be held in Warsaw, Jan. 11th, 1898, and Westwood, Jan. 12th. The subjects selected for H. H. Dean B.S.A., of the Ontario Agricultural College, for the afternoon meeting at Norwood, were: "How to divide money among Patrons of creameries and cheese factories equitably," "The value of dairy products," "Whey, buttermilk and skimmed milk," for Mr. J. McMillan, M.P., of Seaforth, "Breeding and feeding cattle," and "Silos, are they beneficial?"

For the evening meeting, Norwood, J. McMillan, M. P., "Our Boys and Farm Life"; H. H. Dean, B. S. A., "Dairying in Europe."

Meeting at Keene, afternoon, J. McMillan, M. P., "Draining Land and Buying and Care of Implements"; H. H. Dean, B. S. A., "The Dairy Cow, how to know her and how to get her," and "Dairy Farming, How Milk is made by the Cow and how milking should be done."

Evening—J. McMillan, M. P., "Some hints to Young People on How to Succeed."

Westwood, Jan. 12, afternoon, J. Hugo Read, V. S., "How to prevent what is commonly called Milk Fever in the cow," and "Breeding Horses for Profit"; A. McGill, Walkerville, "Every Farmer his own Mason or how to use concrete in Farm Structure," (illustrated with plans) and "Apple Culture"; A. P. Ketchin, "Breeding, Feeding and Handling Beef Cattle."

Warsew, Jan. 11, afternoon:—J. Hugo Read, V. S., "Tuberculosis in cattle" and the "Ordinary diseases of the stomach of the Ox, which a farmer should understand"; A. McNeil, "Every Farmer his own Mason or how to use concrete in farm structure" (illustrated); A. P. Ketchin, of Brucefield, "Fruit Growing as a specialty or with general farming."

Evening—J. Hugo Read, "Culture of Corn, Field Roots and Potatoes and Keeping Hogs for Profit"; A. P. Ketchin, "Making the most of Ourselves"; A. McNeil, "Some Insects, Friends and Foes," illustrated with charts and specimens.

The secretary was instructed to invite a number of gentlemen to assist at the meetings. Committees were also nominated to assist in preparing programmes at each place of meeting. The names will be given later on.

KIAO-CHAN OCCUPIED.

Satisfaction Demanded by Germany for the Recent Murder of Missionaries.

London, Nov. 18.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that the commander of the German cruiser Division, Admiral Von Diedrich, landed troops at Kiao-Chau (not Kiaochan) on Monday morning Nov. 15. The three forts were held by 1500 Chinese, and their guns commanded the fleet. Admiral Von Diedrich placed his four cruisers immediately opposite, ready to fire, and sent an ultimatum, ordering an evacuation of the forts within three hours.

Six hundred German troops and six guns were landed and began to march forward. The Chinese hesitated for a few moments, and then the whole 1500 bolted helter-skelter across the hills behind the forts. The Germans quietly entered the fortifications, hauled down the Chinese flag, hoisted the German standard, which the warships saluted immediately. The Chinese general, who had his family with him, did not fire but claimed German protection.

The forts are now held by the Germans, who, it is believed at Shanghai, intend to remain permanently. In official Chinese circles, Germany is considered to have committed an act of war, but it is regarded as improbable that China, on account of her weakness, will take action upon it as such.

American and British warships have been ordered to Kiao-Chau, to watch developments.

AUSTRIA'S MISSION.

Emperor Francis Joseph Affirms the Alliance With Germany and Italy.

Vienna, Nov. 18.—Emperor Francis Joseph, in receiving the Hungarian delegation yesterday, made a speech in which he said:

"The situation in the East during the present year has filled us with many anxieties, which, thanks to the unanimous action of the great powers, now, happily, appear to be removed. It will now tax the concert of the powers to proceed to the settlement of the affairs of Crete, whereby that island, while the sovereign rights of His Majesty are safeguarded, will receive a large measure of autonomy. We enjoy the best relations with all the powers and our alliance with Germany and Italy forms, as it has done in the past, the unalterable basis of our policy. To maintain and strengthen this basis is the constant endeavor of my Government, and to the guarantees of peace hitherto existing is now added the friendly shaping of our relations with Russia."

Continuing, the Emperor said: "The repeated meetings I have had with the Czar have convinced me of the agreement of our views and have laid the foundation for a relation of mutual trust between our States."

After alluding to the satisfaction caused him by the visit of "My friend and ally, the German Emperor," Emperor Francis Joseph concluded with remarking: "The safeguarding of the interests of European peace will continue to be the chief mission of my Government."

We know that Cod-liver Oil is a fat-forming food because takers of it gain rapidly in weight under its use and the whole body receives vital force. When prepared as in Scott's Emulsion, it is quickly and easily changed into the tissues of the body. As your doctor would say, "it is easily assimilated." Perhaps you are suffering from fat starvation. You take fat enough with your food, but it either isn't the right kind, or it isn't digested. You need fat prepared for you, as in Scott's Emulsion.

ARSENIC WAS FOUND.

Judge Armour, however, ruled that this evidence is admissible. The doctor testified to having attended Chipman in his last illness. His symptoms were gastritic vomiting. He did not consider it a case of poisoning at that time.

The court resumed at 1.15. The reading of the evidence taken at Buffalo during the extradition proceedings were first taken up. It occupied a considerable time, there being some 400 pages of type-written copy. It details the life, sickness and death of Chipman, the prisoner's first husband, and also that of George H. Sternaman. During the reading the prisoner was seen to smile very frequently, and appeared to be almst totally unmindful of her grave position.

In her evidence before the Commission ers she told all the incidents of her first husband's death; those of George H. Sternaman's courtship; of their married life and his ultimate death. During his last illness she was almost his sole attendant. At one period she was for four weeks without going to bed, not even having her clothes off except to change them. This was about the time of George's removal to his mother's place in Rainham. The reason she did not want George taken to the hospital was because she thought it was no fit place for a human being, but all right for a cat or dog. At George's bedside the last night of his life she told him that she wanted to have a post mortem, and she called his mother into the room, and George told his mother that if he should die he wished a post mortem held on his body. His mother said she thought it would be awful to see George's body cut up. Deceased's brother, Avery, said: "Why, Ollie, that would be all right; it will be for your own good and George will not feel it." She paid $10 for the post mortem examination. She had a little dispute about pecuniary matters with his mother after his death, and his mother said it was rather peculiar that two husbands should die within two years and both from the same cause, paralysis, and she (the prisoner) said: "Why, mother, do you mean to insinuate that I had anything to do with their deaths?" The mother replied "Yes," and that she would blame her for poisoning them until she proved herself innocent. After the prisoner left Rainham and went to Buffalo George's mother wrote a letter to prisoner asking for some money: she thought about $95 would be reasonable enough, considering all the trouble she and the boys had during George's illness. Prisoner was advised not to reply to this letter, and did not. She received $770 from the John Hancock Insurance Company, and with that paid $107.76 for a lot in Forest Lawn Cemetery to bury both husbands in; also paid $90 on a monument which is still unfinished, and spent some money for clothing and other necessaries.

In explanation of her visit to Dunnville she said that Chipman, Sternaman and herself went there, and Chipman said he would have to return to Buffalo, but that she might stay and finish her visit. She was so sick that she could scarcely stand up. They all went to the hotel, and had supper, and then Sternaman drove up the river to her cousin's, but she could not tell what time they arrived there. She remained over night and all next day, and went home that night. She was also sick all that day. The reason she said that if George went to the hospital she would never go to visit him was simply because whenever she left him he worried himself, and she thought that if he was taken to the hospital she would only be allowed to visit him and then go away, and she know he would fret and worry.

Tye reading of this evidance lasted until about 6.45, and at its conclusion Mr. Osler asked that the letter of the prisoner to Mrs. Sternaman, her mother-in-law, dated Aug. 9, 1896, be put in as an exhibit. This letter is as follows:

Buffalo, Aug. 9, 1896.

Dear Mother,—George has made up his mind to come home Wednesday on the evening train at Cayuga, and I and the children are coming with him, and if my service is needed I will stay and I will take the children to my aunt at Rainham. She will keep them for a while until I come home, and if I am not needed I will come home; but George wants to come, as we are not able to do as we have been, as I cannot take care of him alone and I izzie cannot stay. Our income will not keep us anyway, as it takes it nearly all for him. There is nothing left for the rest to live on, and my folks have helped me a great deal, and they begin to feel as if they would not any longer. So there is nothing left but to have George go to the hospital, and he does not want to go, and I don't want him to either, if there is any way out of it. Well, mother, George said I should tell you he would rather run his chances and come home than go to the hospital. He asked the doctor to-day, and the doctor said it was quite a big ride from Cayuga home, but as circumstances is as they are, he would not say he should not go. Well, mother, can you meet us and have a rig that the cot can stand in, as he cannot sit up? If it should rain we will be there on Thursday. George said it might rain there and not in Buffalo.

Mrs. Annie Franklin's evidence, as taken previously, was read by Mr. Osler, on permission of the judge, on account of that lady being ill and unable to attend court.

At the conclusion of her evidence, which was unimportant, Dr. Harrison was recalled, and said there was no shrinkage of the liver, as suggested by Dr. Saltzman, and as to embalming, there certainly was none by the arterial system, because there was no incision; and as to the other system, there certainly was no fluid in the abdomen, as it was perfectly dry, and he would say as a result of his examination that there was no embalming.

Dr. Thompson, coroner of Cayuga, was then called, and stated that he was present at the inquest on the body of George Sternaman and also at the post mortem. He received certain jars from doctors who held that post mortem. There were six jars in all—four ordinary green jars and two others. Four were airtight and two were not. He tied them in presence of the jury and sealed them with sealing wax with his seal, which has a monogram and which he could identify. He addressed the jars to Dr. Ellis, Toronto, and delivered them to the Canadian Express Company for shipment on Oct. 28. The jars contained the stomach, liver, kidneys, spleen and a portion of the intestines and brain.

Cross-examined by Mr. German, witness stated that he took John Snider's (the undertaker) evidence down according to his own words. When Snider said he punctured the intestines and injected some fluid he put it down, and if it was down he must have said it.

John Snider, undertaker, was recalled and swore that he did not remember having had any conversation with John Chevalier one night in Selkirk regarding the embalming of Sternaman's body.

Court then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

Prof. Ellis on Hand.

Prof. Ellis, provincial analyst, of Toronto and his assistant, Miss Curzon, arrived in town last night. Prof. Ellis brought with him the packages containing the organs of Sternaman's body submitted to him for analysis. It is expected that his evidence will greatly strengthen the Crown's case.

SIR WILFRID HOME.

He and His Colleague, Sir Louis Davies, Say That Reports in Washington Morning Papers Were Very Fair.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies, who returned from Washington yesterday, were present at the Cabinet meeting and reported the result of their visit. Sir Louis said that the interview with him, reported in to-day's papers from Washington, fully represented the position of affairs.

Mr. McArthur, one of the staff of Dominion surveyors, is in the city, and having travelled over the Dalton trail, speaks most favorably of that route. He says that it is much shorter than any other trail, and can be made passable at a small expenditure of money. During the past year Dalton took in cattle by that route and on 125 head cleared $30,000. The cattle gained 2000 pounds on the trip up, the grass being principally bunch grass and highly succulent.

The Department of the Interior has received a report from Major Walsh at Skaguay. He says he has all his supplies over the pass and is now on the way to Selkirk. All the party were well and in the best of spirts.

Dr. H. S. Perley, V.S., stated to-day that from present indications dairy cattle will be scarce in the Ottawa district soon. Owing to the number of cattle infected with tuberculosis, it is estimated that a scarcity in the supply of milk will follow, with the result that a milk famine will be added to the danger of disease now affecting the city. Dr. Perley states that he estimates that 20 per cent. of the cattle in the district are infected, and that is a conservative estimate. If this proves to be right and milk becomes scarce the price will go up.

Engineer Alex. McCuaig must answer before a jury to the charge of being responsible for the death of Brakeman James Hastey in the recent C. P. R. wreck at Stittsville. Conductor Harry Hawes is dismissed. County Magistrate Smith gave his decision yesterday as stated above.

GRENIER IS A FREE MAN.

He Will Not Eat His Thanksgiving Dinner in Jail - He Was Released Yesterday.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—W. A. Grenier, sentenced to 6 months' imprisonment for libelling Hon. Mr. Tarte, yesterday afternoon received his pardon and will be released as soon as bonds for his good behavior for a year are provided.

The contract with the Bertram Engine Company of Toronto for the building of the new Richelieu and Ontario boats for the Montreal-Toronto route was signed yesterday afternoon by the R. & O. directors.

It is announced here to-day that the I.C.R.-Montreal extension will be opened Dec. 1, and that the road will be then in good running order. In spite of this announcement the I. C. R. agent here stated this morning that he did not know when the opening would take place.

It is stated that Mr. E. A. D. Morgan, solicitor for the Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway, will be a candidate for the vacant seat in Nicolet. Charles Langelier will also be the Government candidate in Bonaventure, and it is said he will be returned by acclamation.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

Mr. Thos. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes:—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oilfor bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost evrything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

What People Who Have Been Cured by the Munyon Remedies Have to Say About Them.

Mrs. F. J. Dawson, 67 Augusta avenue, Toronto, Canada, says:—"I have the most implicit confidence in Munyon's treatment for catarrh and grippe. Both my husband and myself were suffering and my experience has been most satisfactory. When I began using Munyon's Grippe Cure I had been confined to bed for several days and suffered all the pangs of that disease. I had taken lots of quinine with the hope of getting better, but did not receive any benefit. Munyon's Remedies quickly cured me. I have used Munyon's Remedies for the catarrh and the results were indeed marvellous. I have not been troubled since. Both Mr. Dawson and myself can certainly recommend Munyon's Remedies."

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Thanksgiving Turkeys.

Parties wishing to make sure of having prime turkeys for Thanksgiving Day (November 25th), can secure well fed birds, properly killed and carefully assorted for the best trade, by leaving their orders as easy as possible at J. B. OKE & Co's, 418 George street. 6p

Cut by a Scythe.

"I have used 'Quickcure' for many accidents this summer," writes Dr. J. S. Andrea, of Montreal. One very bad cut from a scythe was healed in a wonderfully short time—in one week the cure was complete. For burns and sores, it is really far better than any other remedy I know of."

New Dried Fruits.

In buying raisins and currants it is more economical to procure the fruit that has been cleaned and perfectly free from stems and dirt. We have selected the several grades of raisins and currants, with an eye to the size and quality, and have them thoroughly cleaned by machinery. It is a pleasure to show goods. E. F. MASON & Co.

Fruit Spraying.

The Department of Agriculture is daily in receipt of letters from fruit-growers in various parts of Ontario testifying to the beneficial results of the spraying experiments undertaken by the department during the past season. Many of the letters contain facts and figures that are quite surprising, and it is understood that all the information thus gained is to be issued shortly in bulletin form.

Christmas Turkeys Free.

No fake or quibble about this. You can secure a plump ten-pound turkey free, all right. Don't all come at once, but all come quickly, for we have free turkeys for all who care to accept them.—J. B. For the Mines.

The Cordova Exploration Co. which purchased the Carscallen gold mine in Belmont township, lately gave an order to Dickson Bros. Campbellford, for three skip and ore cars to be used at the mine. One was delivered last week and the other two yesterday. They have done other work for the same company. The mine is situate about three miles from Belmont Lake. It is predicted that next spring operations in mining will be conducted on an extensive scale in that section of the gold region.

Horsemen. Take a Pointer.

The approaching cold, wet weather, should not find you unprepared to protect your horses. Kingscote makes all kinds of waterproof horse covers, lap covers, hoods, etc. They are strictly waterproof, and when Kingscote says "waterproof" he means it. Leave your orders early if to be made specially. A good stock kept on hand. Hunters requiring tents, waterproof covers, etc., can be fitted out by Kingscote to their entire satisfaction at 344 Water street.

Bridal Gifts.

The Peterborough Bookstore is offering special inducements in wedding and birthday gifts during our ante-Christmas reduction sale. We show some of the brightest, rarest novelties suitable for those interesting occasions. Being short of room for displaying our immense Christmas stock, we have marked all our art and fancy goods at less than they cost us, purchases can be put aside if desired and delivered when wanted. One lady picked out 12 gift books, another selected a very elegant dressing case, and another a writing portfolio and a fancy work basket.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

FOUND DEAD.

The Sudden Death of Little Fergus O'Brien Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. O'Brien, of No. 87 London street, will have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in connection with the sad loss with which with which they met last evening in the very sudden death of their eldest boy, Fergus.

The little lad was but eight years of age and was at school yesterday as usual, returning at noon yesterday in the best of spirits. After school he was playing around in the snow with his companions until tea time, but when he came in complained of not feeling very well and refused to eat any tea. Shortly afterwards he laid down on a sofa in the room and apparently fell asleep. No one went to arouse him until his bedtime at halfpast eight, when his father attempted to awaken him. His horror and grief can be imagined when he found his boy quite cold, having been dead, apparently, for over an hour.

An examination by a physician resulted in ascertaining that an attack of epilepsy was responsible for the little fellow's death, which, however, must have been comparatively painless, as his parents were seated all evening within a few feet of him and noticed nothing unusual, merely thinking that he was enjoying a sound sleep.

It seems that when a baby he was somewhat subject to convulsions but had gradually outgrown them, only having two or three attacks in the last several years. That the epileptic seizure returned suddenly with fatal violence is the cause to which the sad death is attributable.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at 9 a.m. to-morrow.

HAVELOCK BURGLARS.

They do not get Much Booty, but Break Into Several Stores.

On Monday morning when Mr. Fuller's store was opened up in Havelock, the back window was discovered to have been pried up, and on examination a number of blacksmith tools were found lying around. Shortly afterwards Mr. Maidens' store was also found to have been broken into by boring holes through the side doors, thereby gaining entrance. It seems that the burglars first broke into T. H. Cummings' blacksmith shop, and secured a heavy steel hammer and bar, a wood and cold chisel and a brace and bit. Armed with these implements, they proceeded to Mr. Maidens' shop, when after gaining access, they got two pairs of boots, a quantity of soal mon, tobacco, pipes, etc., a gold ring, which had been left in the till, and between $3.50 and $3.00 in coppers. Then they appeared to have been alarmed as they left a big bag of cakes on the floor. Not being satisfied with this extent of plunder, they broke into Mr. Fuller's store, by prying up the window. Here they secured two overcoats and $3.00 in coppers. Suspicion centres on tramps, as on that afternoon Mr. James Laing, while coming from Norwood, met one one the road with a new overcoat and a new pair of boots. No clue has as yet been obtained to lead to any results, although they are supposed to be the same parties who tried to break into the Norwood post office on Saturday morning last.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman will conduct anniversary services in the Lindsay Baptist church on Sunday next. He will also lecture on Monday evening on "The Model Man."

Mr. W. L. Allen has returned from his home at Bowmanville, where he has been doctoring up a sprained knee. Although able to be around the injured joint is still wrapped in a plaster of paris bandage. The injury was received whilst playing basket ball at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium.

The retirement of Sir George Kirkpatrick from the office of Lieut. Governor of Ontario, on the expiry of his five years term of office, during which he has discharged his duties with an impartiality and ability that has met with universal approval, has, besides its general, a local interest. He is socially more intimately associated with the town from the fact of his having relatives here and the citizens will remember with pleasure his official visit to the town in connection with the opening of the Central Exhibition. Sir George retires from office with a record of faithful and efficient discharge of the duties of his office, both in respect of his administrative functions and the maintenance of the dignity of the position. What is known of his future movements indicates that he will for some time continue to reside in Toronto in a private capacity. His state of health, it is to be regretted, is not as robust as could be wished and a prolonged rest will doubtless be grateful.

A YOUNG MISSIONARY.

Who Was Sent Out From Peterborough to the Indians in British Columbia.

At a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary in the Methodist church of Campbellford, on Wednesday, Miss Minnie Spence, of Peterborough, who has lately returned from mission work among the Indians at Fort Simpson, British Columbia, where she was stationed five years, gave a short but interesting account of what is being done there by the society.

She explained, says the Campbellford Herald, that Fort Simpson, 600 miles north of Vancouver, has a population of 750 Indians, 50 whites, and a floating population of 200, made up of Japanese, French, Chinese and white people. There is a Boys' Home in charge of a lady and gentleman; a Girl's Home in charge of three ladies and one nurse; and a hospital that will accommodate 11 patients, superintended by a doctor and two nurses. These institutions receive a small government grant, but beyond that the expenses are made up by private subscription. They have a band of workers there like the Epworth League, who hold prayer meetings every Sunday, and the greater number of the civilized Indians take part in them. The Indians carry their Bibles with them and frequently ask for an explanation of certain verses in the Bible. They are fond of music, and often gather when the mission band engage in singing and playing hymns. Miss Spence spent three months at Skeena. At this place there are nine canneries, each employing about a thousand hands, and while they are in operation the Indians come from the interior and bring with them their aged and infirm and sick, and it is then that a great amount of mission and hospital work must be done, and the mission workers have to deal with all classes from the Christian Indian down to the most degraded being one could imagine. The Indians spend Sunday in drinking, gambling, working and doing all kinds of wicked things.

Miss Spence resided in Campbellford some years ago, and at the close of the meeting, there were many of her old acquaintances who gathered about her to greet her once more with kind words and a hearty shake of the hand.

LACROSSE.

Although the Executive of the C.L.A. ordered that Peterborough's protest money be returned in connection with the Markham affair, the secretary-treasurer has failed to forward it, and will not answer any enquiries concerning it. A draft drawn on him for the amount due was refused without any reason being assigned. This is just another evidence of the rottenness of the C.L.A. The Peterboroughs can ill afford to lose the $35.

THE RING.

Martin Costello and his trainer, J. J. O'Connor will arrive in town on Tuesday next and take up quarters here for the winter. The sparring academy will be opened immediately after their arrival. In a letter to the EXAMINER O'Connor states that in the course of a week or so Costello and a well known Peterborough athlete will give an exhibition in the opera house at a smoker which will probably be held under the auspices of the lacrosse club.

THE UNION MAY GET YOU.
M. E. W., Montreal Herald.

When you chase the slippery pigskin
On the cheerless, murky green,
And you give a man the elbow
With a chance of being seen,
Do not rouse the field officials,
But stop to think and doubt,
Or the Union'll get you
If you don't watch
out.

When you jump upon a player,
With intent to maim or kill,
And you think it not unlikely
That he's had about his fill,
Do not get too gay or saucy,
Nor the umpire's judgment flout,
Or the Union'll get you,
If
you don't watch
out.

When you scrag a man in scrimmage,
And you gaily pull his hair,
Or just yank him by the collar,
Oh around just anywhere,
You should keep the fact before you,
That there's scarcely any doubt,
But the Union'll get you,
If
you don't watch
out.

Better be a little careful,
And perform the best you can;
Try no fancy interference,
Do not aim to kill your man;
Play on side and rules remember,
If you know what you're about,
'Cause the Union'll get you
If
you don't watch
out.

POULTRY AND DOG SHOW.

The Interest in the Coming Exhibition Continues to Increase.

The Poultry and Dog Show people held another largely attended meeting in the council chamber last night.

It was resolved that a distinct set of books be kept in connection with each of the two departments of the show, and as the work will be too burdensome for Secretary Collins, Dr. Poole will look after the bench show and conduct the correspondence connected therewith.

The prize list for the bench show, including twenty-six classes, was presented and the prizes were fixed at $4, $2 and $1 in each class.

Mr. Alf. Terrill's name was added to the Printing Committee.

The following committee was appointed to view suitable accommodations and report thereon to the Associations: Messrs. Pratley, Robinson, Poole and Terrill.

The Dog Show Committee will be composed as follows: Messrs. Dr. Poole, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Pigeon and Messrs. John McKee, James, Terrill, McCormick, Head and White.

A prize of a dozen photos has been added to the bench show list as a special for the lady exhibitor showing the best animal, owned by herself. It is understood that a large number of the pet dogs owned by the ladies of Peterborough will be placed on exhibition. The building secured will be kept especially warm for these little fellows.

Another meeting of the Association will be held on the evening of Friday, Nov. 26th, in the town council chamber.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Progress of the Work on the Big Waterway.

A gentleman who holds a position on the Peterborough-Lakefield section of the Trent Valley Canal, has sent the Campbellford Herald the following facts as to the progress of the work in this locality:—

As is well known, there is already at present steamboat navigation from Healey's Falls to Peterborough, a distance by water of nearly sixty miles. From Lakefield steamers now run to Kirkfield, on the western shore of Balsam Lake, a distance of about 125 miles. Therefore the interruption of nine miles between Peterborough and Lakefield constitutes the only break in a stretch of navigation of over 160 miles.

From Lakefield to Nassau there is a fall of about 75 feet in the five miles. This fall is to be overcome by five locks with the accompanying dams. Three of these locks are already about completed, with the exception of the gates and a few minor finishing touches, and the excavations are out for the others. Three dams are also in place. This section is under contract by Brown, Love & Aylmer.

From Nassau to the Little Lake at Peterborough the route of the canal is to the east of the river and is "canal" in the true sense of the word, that from Nassau upwards being rather improved river navigation. In the four miles that constitute this section there is also a fall of 75 feet. This is overcome by one lock of ten feet lift at the entrance to the Little Lake, and another, about one-half mile north, of sixty-five feet. The latter is known as a hydraulic lift lock, and when completed will be one of the sights of the town. Several locks on this principle are in operation in Belgium, but this will be the first on this continent. The excavating for the canal on this section is considerably over half done; some of the banks have already had their facing of broken stone.

A swing highway bridge in Ashburham is already in use, whilst the C. P. R. swing bridge is almost finished. A high level bridge and a swing bridge to the north of these are in daily use. At Nassau the G. T. R. has a swing bridge, while there is another one for the use of the public. All these bridges are solid iron structures, on concrete piers. The locks are also made of this material—a mixture of Portland cement, broken stone and sand—and present a beautiful white smooth finish.

It is believed that the section between Peterborough and Lakefield will be open for traffic in the fall of next year.

HUNTING NOTES.

One of the finest deer that ever bounded over the rocks was brought into Campbellford last week by the hunting party composed of R. H. Bonnycastle, John Givens, T. S. Tate, Thos. Rainie, Frank Bonnycastle, jr., and Chas. Kellar. It was a magnificent buck, weighing 351 pounds, and measuring six feet from the root of its tail to the nose, and its head is ornamented with a set of four pronged antlers. It was laid low by young Bonnycastle, who from a favourable point as the animal was running towards him, put two bullets into him, one in the nose and the other in the forehead, just above the eyes. The third time he fired the bullet entered the hind quarter and penetrated the body till it lodged near the shoulder. It was the largest deer that has been seen by the hunters of this locality except one that was on exhibition at the Rathbun Co's storehouse three years ago, and which for size and weight seemed to be the king of the forest.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The business meeting of the Conference was resumed at 2.15, when lay help in the church was taken up, in which Revs. E. Baynes Read, Otonabee, E. Daniel, Port Hope, W. E. Cooper, Campbellford, Rural Dean Allen, Millbrook, and Messrs. Vance, McConachie and T. R. Clougher, offered many valuable suggestions as to the mode of carrying out the object. Rev. E. Daniel, Rural Dean Webb and Mr. J. H. Knight were appointed a committee to report thereon.

Rev. Mr. McMillan, pastor of St. Andrew's church, was welcomed to the conference, and invited to a seat in the assembly.

Papers on Christian Unity were read by Rev. Canon Farncomb, Newcastle, and Rev. Herbert Symonds, Ashburnham, the former considering the attitude that should be assumed by the Anglicans towards other Christian communions, the latter taking up the subject of Promotion of Christian Unity, both subjects being presented in a very able and interesting manner.

On invitation Rev. Mr. Macmillan, of St. Andrew's church, addressed the conference, on the lines travelled by the previous speakers.

Rev. W. Farncomb, Fenelon Falls, said that Mr. Macmillan had struck the keynote in connection with Christian unity. Rev. E Daniel, Port Hope, and Mr. J. H. Knight, also contributing helpful suggestions on the subject.

On motion votes of thanks were tendered to the choir of St. Paul's, the ladies for kind hospitality, to the rector and wardens for the use of church and schoolroom, and the arrangements made for comfort of delegates. Votes of thanks were also heartily tendered to and gracefully acknowledged by Rev. H. Symonds, the efficient secretary of the Archdeaconry, and Rev. G. Warren and Mr. E. Flood, recording secretaries. On further motion a vote of thanks was tendered members of the congregation for hospitalities extended visiting members of the conference.

The Ven. Archdeacon Allen, the chairman, closed the meeting with some suitable remarks, and the fourth and most largely attended and representative conference was brought to a conclusion with prayer by Rev. E. Daniel, the singing of the doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction by the chairman.

A missionary meeting was held in St. Paul's school room Wednesday evening, a very large and interested assembly being present, the Ven. Archdeacon Allen in the chair. Proceedings began with the singing of that grand old missionary hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," followed by prayers by the rector, Rev. C. H. Marsh.

The Archdeacon in a few introductory remarks on missions in general, introduced Rev. F. H. DuVernet, Toronto, who delivered a most able and interesting address on Northwest missions amongst the Indians, and was followed by Rev. Rural Dean Allen, Millbrook, in another interesting address on Domestic Missions.

During the evening a chorus was rendered very agreeably, "What will it be when the King comes?" by St. Paul's choir. Miss Leary contributed a song, "The Star of Bethlehem." The collection taken up was in aid of diocesan missions. A most enjoyable evening's entertainment was brought to a close about 10 o'clock.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Many a little ad. has been a little adder up the steep slope of success.

—Snow has fallen in a shy tentative style, three nights in succession.

—People are beginning to ask when arrangements for snow ploughing will be made by our city fathers.

—The two convicts who escaped from the Kingston Penitentiary on Tuesday evening last, have not been captured. It is thought they came west.

—Mr. Geo. Stevens, of Ashburnham, probably enjoyed the first sleigh ride of the season. He was over town on the front half of a bobsleigh about ten o'clock.

—Close upon 200 deer have been shipped out of the Haliburton district during the past two weeks, and there are more to follow, as hunters will have to the 22nd to ship out game.

—The young man who has been deriving so much amusement from poking fun at Waddell's gray mare, would have been glad-like to have had a ride behind it yesterday afternoon when he had to walk home from Fraserville on the ties.

—Crossley and Hunter have issued an appeal for subscriptions towards the building of the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist churches at Windsor, Nova Scotia, which were destroyed by fire on the 17th of October.

—The Cobourg council is reaching for a loan of $70,000 for the purchase of water works, electric light plant, etc., and also for new debentures to meet the $150,000 six per cent. debentures maturing in 1899, on which a reduction of one-third the interest is expected.

—Knowlson Bros., of Lindsay, have purchased 300 acres of maple wood on the shore of Dear Bay, below Buckhorn, and on Monday evening their steamer, Alice-Ethel, left for that point with a gang of men and a large quantity of supplies. Capt. Fred Smith will have charge of the camp, and in a week or two 25 men will be at work. It is expected that the season's cut will be close upon 5,000 cords.

—The Millbrook Reporter says: Mr. Thos. Nattrass, sr., who started out to Burleigh early Tuesday morning to bring back Messrs. John Dawson and George Hetherington, who were back north deer hunting, met with a severe accident from the team running away. No further information is yet to hand as we go to press, Mr. Dawson having telephoned that Mr. Natrass was badly hurt and asked that spring conveyance be sent at once to bring him home.

HON. DAVID MILLS.

The "Scottish Philosopher" the New Minister of Justice.

Hon. David Mills, who was sworn in as Minister of Justice yesterday, is one of the best known public men in the country. He was born in the Township of Oxford, County of Kent, March 13th, 1831. His ancestry is traced to a family in the south of England, who in the time of Charles I, emigrated to Holland and subsequently came with the other Puritan refugees to America. The descendants of these removed from the United States to Nova Scotia at the time of the revolutionary war. Mr. Mills' father came from Nova Scotia to Upper Canada in 1817. David graduated at Michigan University. He was first elected to Parliament at the general election in 1867 and has fought many a hard political battle since. In spite of gerrymanders, which would have crushed a less indomitable man, he was elected again and again. His defeat in the last general election was one of the surprises of that conflict. He was appointed to the Senate soon thereafter. This is not his first experience of the responsibilities of office, as he was Minister of the Interior in Mr. Mackenzie's Cabinet. One of the most important tasks of his life was his definition of the northwestern boundary of the Province, and his subsequent defence of his definition before the Judicial Committee, which gained for Ontario the disputed territory.

THE SHOE THAT'S ENVIED!

—A good shoe is a good friend—to the man who wears it—to the dealer who sells it. But a good shoe is a bad enemy to the shoeman who can't get the right to sell it, and dares not tell his customers so. We are the sole local agents for the genuine-stamped-on-the-sole Slater Shoe, which is the best shoe for men that we know of.

We are the only firm in this city which can buy it at wholesale or sell it at retail.

Now, it is well to remember that George T. Slater & Sons made shoes years before they brought out their registered and stamped on the sole Slater Shoes, every pair of which is priced by the makers.

Some of these old shoes are still on the market, and some dealers who can't get the genuine stamped-on-the-sole Slater Shoes, represent these old shoes, or any other old shoes, to be "Slater Shoes."

But the stamp on the sole was not put there for blind men, and any old $3.00 shoe isn't a $4.00 shoe, just because the dealer chooses to say it is.

One of the most vital points about the genuine SLATER SHOE is that its price, and the dealer's profit, are regulated by its makers through the stamp on the sole.

The play of Hamlet, without the character of Hamlet in it, could not be more farcial than a so-called Slater Shoe without "THE SLATER SHOE" brand on the sole, where the Slater Shoe People advertise that brand will always be found.

Ours are the genuine "SLATER SHOES," stamped on the soles, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, per pair.

We keep every size and width in a multitude of shapes, so that we can fit any man no matter what kind of feet he is addicted to.

Now, don't you think it must be a pretty good shoe that's envied like this, and quibbled about by dealers who can't get it to sell?

And perhaps you should see those shoes that shoemen want so badly. We are the only people here who have them, and we want to show them to you so you'll know the advantages which constitute the genuine "SLATER SHOE."

R. NEILL, Sole Local Agent.

BARNETT SENT BACK.

The Central Bank Wrecker Goes to the Penitentiary for Three Years.

Other Montreal Notes.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—A good deal of sympathy is felt for Lord and Lady Aberdeen on account of the telegram which His Excellency and the Countess sent to the Nulty family before it was known that their son Tom had committed the deed. Some unwise people of Rawdon have issued the following:

"An abominable crime has been committed in our district, and the blood of four innocent victims cried for vengeance. The sanguinary brute is now in Joliette, and the evidence of sympathy coming from high places shows us that the murderer, on account of his nationality, may look for protection in high places and may escape punishment."

The above, of course, is unjustifiable, but all agree that the telegram was unfortunate

Back to Penitentiary.

Roland Gideon Israel Barnett was sentenced Saturday morning to three years in penitentiary. Barnett's offence was the withholding of the proceeds of a note for $750 consigned to him for discount. He discounted the note with James Baxter & Co., and appropriated the proceeds to his own purposes. Barnett was one of the wreckers of the Central Bank in Toronto, and for that offence served seven years in penitentiary in Kingston. He was released about two years ago, his term having been shortened a few monted for good conduct. Since his release he has been engaged in the note-shaving business in Buffalo and Montreal.

UNDER STAR SHELLS.

British Forces Repel the Tribesmen's Attacks—Submission of a Tribe—Haddah Mullah's Letters Found.

SIMLA, Nov. 17.—Official despatches from the British camp in the Maidan Valley announce that General Kempster's brigade, while coming in yesterday evening, was attacked by the enemy in force. The tribesmen were driven off with the assistance of star shells, which illuminated the scene of the encounter.

The British officers found in the residence of the Mullah Said Akbar, letters from the Haddah Mullah saying: "The Turks have beaten the Greeks and have seized the approaches to India, and as the British reinforcements are cut off, now is the time to strike a blow for Islam."

The British officials have accepted the submission of the Maddakhels, on the surrender of the property and rifles looted at Malsar and on the payment for such property that is not forthcoming. This tribe also has to pay a fine of 10,000 rupees and has to surrender twenty hostages for their future good conduct.

Advices from the Maidan Valley Camp say that while a British force was foraging in the western part of the valley, a body of the enemy, concealing their rifles, sauntered up in an apparently friendly manner. The Britishers were suspicious and retreated, whereupon the tribesmen opened fire, wounding six. This brought a company of Ghurkas to the rescue and they succeeded in getting away.

SHOT DURING A QUARREL.

Fred Elliott Killed His Brother—The Coroner's Jury at Bayfield Funeral of Deceased.

Bayfield, Ont., Nov. 10.—The inquest in the shooting case was resumed this morning at 10 o'clock before Coroner Stanbury.

A post mortem examination was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Drs. Sheppard and Grey. The body was found in a healthy condition. Death was shown to have been caused by a shot from a revolver. The course of the ball was from between the first and second ribs, on the left side, passing through the body to the right side, and lodging between the eight and ninth ribs. The jury was empanelled, viewed the body, and proceeded to the Town Hall, when the inquest was adjourned till 10 a.m. on Wednesday before Coroner Stanbury. Mr. Lewis of Goderich appeared for the Crown, and William Proudfoot for the accused.

The first witness called was Albert Woods. He related the story of being at Varna with Harvey Elliott and L. Dumart. They had several drinks while there; started for home about 6, got to Bayfield about 8. Shortly before Lew Dumart and I went to a store to get a lunch. When we got on Elliott's platform, Harvey had hold of Fred. I tried to part them; heard Harvey tell Fred to go into the house, but he refused. I wanted him to keep his overcoat. He pulled it off and tried to get at Fred. I grabbed him and tried to hold him back. Mrs. Elliott and Lilly were on the platform. Do not know where Dumart was. Saw a revolver in Fred's hand pointing toward Harvey. I told him not to shoot. Harvey was struggling to get away from me, with head bent down. He dragged me close to Fred. When Fred fired Harvey was swinging his hands about. They may have struck Fred's hands, causing the revolver to go off. Do not believe Fred had any intention of shooting his brother. I had hold of Harvey around the middle of the body from behind. He said nothing, but groaned. I dragged him towards the pump, and he was then taken into the house.

The inquest was adjourned at 1.30 until after the funeral, which took place at 3 o'clock, and was largely attended. Service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Smith.

The inquest was resumed. Lilly Elliott, sister of deceased, stated that after closing the bar Fred came to the kitchen and gave her the money and said he was going for a walk. She went with him to the hall door and locked it. After returning to the kitchen she heard loud talking. "Mother had gone out to see if the barn was locked. I was some time unlocking the door. They tried to get Harvey into the house. I got hold of him and tried to help them. I called for help. He was determined to get at Fred. Am sure Fred was not again in the house before the shooting. Did not hear or see the shooting; was not on the platform. Harvey was quarrelsome when intoxicated."

Thomas Clark said: "With others, I was in King's store, across the street. Heard quarreling, went across and stood between the pump and flag pole. Heard Harvey swear; saw Fred standing on the platform, with revolver in hand by his side; heard him say, 'Take Harvey away, or I will shoot him.' They were about 12 feet apart. Mrs. Elliott was trying to get Fred round the side of the house. Harvey pulled off his overcoat and, with his head down, made a dash forward. Fred went around his mother; then Fred stepped back, leaned his forearm and fired. Cannot say whether Harvey's hands struck Fred's hand or not. Fred had hold of Harvey when shot. Next saw Fred at the end of the house, crying."

The jury returned the following verdict: "That the said Harvey Elliott came to his death by a bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of his brother, Frederick Elliott, on the night of Nov. 8."

Big Temperance Pow Wow.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of Ontario is to assemble in the Temperance Hall at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 1. The same evening a public reception is to be tendered the visitors by the Mayor and other members of the City Council. The civic fathers invited the order, a year ago, to hold its next provincial session in Toronto, and granted the use of the Pavilion for the grand reception ceremonies. Responses will follow from several gentlemen high up in the order, and no doubt the expected Dominion plebiscite will get a due share of attention. This is the oldest of the temperance secret societies, having had its origin in a gathering of 16 reformed men in Division street, New York City, over 50 years ago. The membership in Canada and the United States is 60,000.

A Jump Which Cost a Foot.

Cobourg, Ont., Nov. 18.—Yesterday about 4.20, as the train from Toronto was pulling out from the depot, William Delargo, a young man from Glen Miller, Ont., ran to jump on, when he slipped and fell under the last passenger coach, the wheels of which passed over and badly crushed his left foot.

THE DEAF HEAR.

DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE

Working Wonders in Toronto.

Gave MRS. BINDON her hearing when Specialists failed.

About 3 years ago, Mrs. Bindon, of 11 Maitland St., Toronto, was attacked with la Grippe, which affected her hearing to such an extent that she was completely deaf. It was a serious affliction and she tried many remedies and consulted a prominent specialist on ear diseases, but derived no benefit. By a happy circumstance she was led to use Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and before she had completed 3 boxes her hearing had partially returned.

She persisted in the application of the remedy, so confident was she of ultimate cure, and by the time 12 boxes had been used her hearing was completely restored. For 3 months now she has been free from deafness, and no emancipated sufferer was ever more delighted than Mrs. Bindon. On Sunday she goes to church and enjoys the service, a thing she was unable to do before Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure gave her back her hearing.

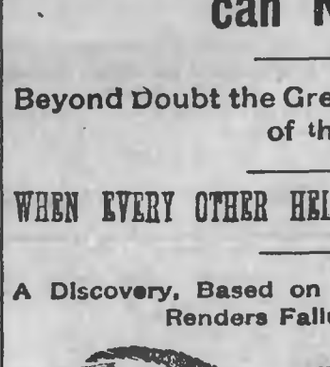
Cures Scrofula, Pimples, Ulcers, Abscesses, Boils, Blotches and all other disorders arising from impure blood.



TRADE MARK.

More Curative Power in Sloan's Indian Tonic than in all other Medicines Combined.

Michael Dillon, of Richmond Hill, writes:

My wife bought a bottle of SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC from your agent when he was here. She has been in very bad health for several years and has been treated by three different doctors, and has taken a number of different patent medicines, but she thinks one bottle of your medicine has done her more good than all the other medicines she has ever taken, and she wants you to send her another bottle of your medicine.

Mrs. R. W. Wilson, of Fergus, says:

Having used one bottle of your Tonic, I would like another, as I find they give great results. Would you kindly send one bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic, for which you will find inclosed $1.00, and oblige.

Nelson Page, of Byng P. O., says:

We used your Sloan's Indian Tonic, and found it of great benefit.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporising measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that last disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The treatment, if possible with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

A WONDERFUL CHANGE.

Mr. R. Wheatley, of the Department of Militia, Ottawa, says in reference to Doan's Kidney Pills that they are the best remedy he ever tried.

Mr. Wheatley makes the following statement:

"I suffered a great deal for a long time with severe pains in my back over the kidneys, restless, headaches, sleepless and general debility also made life a burden.

"Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try them, seeing that no other remedy had succeeded in my case. Well, from the first a wonderful change took place, and I continued to improve rapidly until, at the end of six weeks, I was cured.

"I now eat well, sleep well, have no pain, dizziness or headache, and am in fact all O. K., thanks to Doan's Pill, which it is needless to say I recommend highly."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

One Laxa-Liver Pill every Night for a Month will Cure Constipation.

A SONG OF THE ROAD.

Rain and sun, rain and sun,
Cloud and wind in the sky,
White roads that westward run,
Banks where a man may lie,
Sleep and dream that his tramping's done
And the long, long idleness begun.

Crickets chirp by the fire,
Grasshoppers wild are we,
The white road's our desire
Where foot and tongue wag free,
And kisses grow upon every brier,
And dreams are hanging from every tree.

Cloud and wind, cloud and wind,
These be our friends instead.
Every bush keeps kind
Shade for a vagrant head.
Sweet, let the dull world lag behind.
The beckoning road runs on ahead.

SHIPBOARD FEVER.

I was only 14 years of age, and a puny boy at that, when my Uncle John, who was my guardian, sent me to sea aboard of the brig May Queen of London. He wasn't concerned about my health, as I have every reason to believe, and I am also quite sure that he wouldn't have shed a tear had he heard I was lost at sea. I made the voyage from London to Valparaiso and to escape further ill usage deserted the brig and hid away for two weeks. I then found a good natured captain to take me to Rio, from which port I shipped as cabin boy on an English bark named the Duchess. She had a cargo of green coffee for Australia and New Zealand, carried a crew of 14 men, and few sea captains had a kinder heart than her skipper, whose name was Martin. The bark left Rio with a fair wind and everybody in perfect health, and her run to the east until she had sighted Inaccessible island and left it 100 miles astern was something to boast of. Then came a dead flat calm, which lasted for 11 days, with such hot weather that everybody suffered day and night. On the fifth day of the calm two men were suddenly stricken with a strange ailment. They first lost their sight, then taste and smell departed, then fever seized them and they lost their reason. They were reported sick at 8 o'clock in the morning. By 2 p. m. both were dead. At 5 o'clock a third man was taken down and lived only two hours.

No one was attacked on the sixth day, but on the seventh the captain, second mate and a common sailor all came down at once. The first complaint was dryness of the tongue. That was followed in half an hour by loss of sight and other senses, and before noon all were dead. The bodies were at once shrouded and committed to the deep, and the chief mate ordered the hatches removed to ventilate the cargo, and disinfectants were used in the most thorough manner.

On the night of the seventh day a sailor who had lain down on the deck in perfect health and soundly slumbered for three hours awoke with a parched tongue. Water had no power to quench his thirst. He drank until he must have imbibed a gallon, and as he turned from the water cask his vision left him in a flash. He did not wait to die as the others had done, but groped his way to the ship's side and dropped from the rail into the sea. He was the sixth who had died, and the living were now panic stricken. Some went aloft, some went below—all avoided each other. The only exceptions were the mate and myself. He talked with me very fully about the situation, seeming glad to have me near him, and after the last death he wrote a letter to his wife in England and charged me to see that it reached her in case he should die and I be spared.

We had now lost nearly half our crew, and the ship lay heavy on the glassy sea without sign that the calm was ever to be broken. On the morning of the eighth day there was a better feeling, however. No one had been attacked during the night, and we began to hope that the epidemic had exhausted itself. The bark had, of course, been smugged down long before, but on the forenoon of this day, the sun not being quite so fierce, the hatches were secured, things aloft more closely attended to, and the craft made ready for what might happen to a short handed crew. At noon every man ate a hearty dinner. An hour later four men were taken down almost at the same moment, and the symptoms were more violent than in any of the preceding cases. They were seized with the terrible thirst—they drank quarts of water—they went mad and died. There was no burial of the bodies; they were simply thrown overboard as soon as life had departed. When this had been done, the mate called the living around him and said there was no longer any hope that a man would be spared. The captain's gig could be got at handily, and in case we wanted to take it and pull away from the ship he would help to get her in the water. The two sailors were eager to be off, but my mind was quickly made up to remain with Mr. Merwin. He did not express himself either way on the subject, but we provisioned the boat, got her down, and the men scrambled into her and pulled away as if the ship had been on fire or was expected to go down. They went off to the east, and after rowing a couple of miles gave o'er and raised an awning for shelter.

When the mate and I were left alone, he wrote up his logbook and also prepared two statements, which he sealed up in bottles and cast overboard. We then burned tar and sulphur to disinfect the cabin and forecastle, and he drank a pint of rum with which he had mixed a large dose of common black pepper. I tried to swallow some, but it was too fiery.

That night when I went to sleep the bark was heaving about on the ground swell in the same monotonous way and Merwin sat at the table in the cabin reading a book. I slept the night through without a break, and it was sunrise when I turned out. I looked into the mate's stateroom, but saw that he had not been to bed. I ran on deck, but he was nowhere to be seen. I called him and began a search, and it was a full hour before I gave up and realized that he was not in the ship. What had happened during the night I could only surmise. He was either seized with the dread epidemic and wandered about and fell overboard or the strain on his mind was so great that he deliberately committed suicide. He had not wakened me or left a message of any sort behind.

When I fully realized that I was alone aboard of the ship, I was so terrified that I hid away in the cabin for several hours. It was not until noon that I remembered the men who had pulled away the day before and went on deck to look for them. By the aid of the captain's glass I soon had the boat under my eye. She had drifted down to within a mile of the ship, and by going aloft I could make out that there was no one in her. I was not absolutely certain on this point, however, until about 2 o'clock. By that time she had drifted down to within 100 feet of the bark, and the only relics of the men to be seen were a coat and hat. For two hours the gig remained so close that I could have reached her by swimming, but then a current took her and she drifted slowly away to the north. Aside from the boat I remember very little of what occurred that day or the next. The epidemic had taken away 18 strong and healthy men, and why should I be spared? A dozen times over I felt the first symptoms, or so imagined, and my troubled sleep was full of the most terrible dreams. Things are not at all clear to me until the morning of the eleventh day of the calm. Then I awoke to find myself as well as ever in my life and ran on deck to find signs of a change in the weather. I was ravenously hungry, and, having often assisted the cook, I knew how to get a fire alight in the caboose and prepare food. The nauseating, deathlike smell which had hitherto prevailed over the ship had entirely disappeared, and when my hunger had been satisfied I readily made myself believe that the fever had gone for good.

Although only a lad and my experience as a sailor limited to months, I yet had wit enough to look at the captain's charts and find our position as he had pricked it off. I could tell nothing of distances, but I knew the bark was on the great highway between the South American ports and the cape of Good Hope. I knew how to make a signal of distress of the English flag, and, although there was no wind, I ran the bunting aloft as soon as thought of. During the afternoon I was busy about the decks picking up and coiling down and seeing that everything was secure, and at noon I prepared another meal.

It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon before the first catspaws began playing over the glassy surface of the sea, but in the course of half an hour a steady breeze set in from the north, and the bark went drifting away before it. I marked her drift by compass as east by south. I had heard sailors talk much of wreck and disaster, and before night came on I got out some pieces of sheet iron to lay on the deck and prepared materials for a beacon fire. I remained on deck till half past 10 o'clock, ready to light my beacon in case I saw the light of a craft, and then went to my berth and slept soundly till an hour after sunrise. When I gained the deck, I saw a sail to the south about eight miles away, which must have passed close to me early in the morning. I have always felt certain that this craft had daylight in which to see my signal, and the fact of the bark having all sails furled and being adrift was clearly noticed, but she kept her way without making an investigation. Six times during the long day I went aloft with the glass and swept the sea, but no other sail greeted my vision. When night came, I remained awake until midnight and then lay down on deck, but nothing happened except that the wind changed about to the west and grew somewhat stronger.

Morning came and brought a clear horizon, nor was anything sighted for the next five days and nights. During this interval the breeze blew from every point of the compass except the east, but did not rise to a gale or create a heavy sea. I had little to do except to cook my meals and go aloft to look for sails, but I made as much work for myself as I could and did not permit my mind to dwell on the present or future. On the seventh or eighth day of my loneliness, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and while the bark was drifting to the east under a light breeze, I went aloft and made out a sail to the north, a second to the south and a third to the west. The two first were too far away to hope for assistance. The third was coming up and must pass me close. She was but a speck on the horizon when I made her out, but two hours later I had her in plain view, and at 5 o'clock she was up with me. She proved to be the ship Amason of Liverpool, bound for the Cape with soldiers and emigrants, and a crew was put aboard of the derelict and she was headed for that port in company. Ship and cargo were worth a big sum of money, but I was not entitled to a dollar of salvage. There were those who even said I ought to be thankful for my escape from the epidemic, let alone the question of a reward. I had to tell the story over and over again, make affidavits, go into court and sign papers, and I may tell you that before I got through playing the hero I was disgusted with the whole business and hoping nothing of the sort would ever occur again.

LUCKY SPECULATION

The Richest Scoop of the Year!

Another Mighty Montreal Purchase.

$22,588 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING BOUGHT AT UNHEARD OF PRICES.

"Better to be born Lucky than Rich"—so the old aphorism goes. Just when we were running short of Heavy Winter Suits and Overcoats, and on the look-out for a big purchase for the Grand Opening of our New Toronto Store, along comes a lucky offer from the stalwart McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY—the Staunch and Trusty Clothing Manufacturers of Montreal.

WAS IT LUCK OR FATE? or WAS IT A COINCIDENCE? No matter—"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good" The McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY were looking for an outlet for the balance of their Winter Stocks, in order to start on their work for next spring's business. GOUGH BROS. had the pull, and the Private offer was reserved for them to "clean them out at 33⅓ PER CENT. LESS THAN THE COST OF MANUFACTURE!" Here was the golden opportunity of the year, and the WIDE AWAKE GOUGH'S promptly staked their claim on the spot, and cleaned them out! Was that buying goods right or not? Well-posted merchants know that Gough Bros. invariably buy their goods right. We have been pre-eminently successful in distributing DRIVES in Clothing, because we are known to every manufacturer in the land as having an outlet for dependable goods AT LESS THAN THEIR REGULAR PRICES. Here is a Case in point: Study out the figures for yourselves, and get an old-fashioned hustle on. "As we buy, so we sell." To-day, we inaugurate the most brilliant sale of the year:—

THE McKENNA-THOMPSON SALE

The Manufacture is unexcelled by any other house.
Every garment is a guarantee of superior workmanship, style and fit.
CARE in Manufacture does a part of it.
FINISH and FASHION adds selling strength to them.
QUALITY establishes confidence and the sale is made.
The Price is the only "CHEAP" thing about them.
IN ALL SIZES AND ALL STYLES TO FIT MEN, YOUTHS AND BOYS.

IN MEMORIAM.

LINES INSCRIBED TO THE MEMORY OF OUR DEAR MOTHER, MRS. JAMES CAMERON, OF OTONABEE, WHO DEPARTED THIS LIFE ON THE MORNING OF THE 16TH OF JULY, AGED 88 YEARS.

Our dearest earthly friend, our mother dear,
Now sleeps in death's calm sleep within the tomb;
Life's work well done; the glorious victory won,
While her pure spirit rests safe—safe at Home.

Oh, can it be that we no more shall hear
That gentle loving voice that ne'er did fail,
To comfort give, with loving words of cheer,
To all around when trials did assail.

One less to pray for us—with pleading voice;
One more loved one to wait for us in Heaven.
The circle that oft' met around the hearth,
Again, alas! by death's cold hand is riven.

We gaze upon her picture hanging there;
And the dear loving eyes look softly down—
Those eyes that now behold her Saviour's smile
Who hath bestowed on her a starry crown.

Fond memory lingers over happy years
We spent with her, who knowledge did impart
To all around, for her pure mind was filled
With Him who saith "Blessed are the pure in heart."

But mother dear our hearts are anguish-riven
To view thy silent room—thy empty chair.
Thy well worn books that cheered thy way to Heaven,
All silently proclaim—thou are not there.

Not there—not there, but in yon home above
Thou'rt resting free from sorrow, sin and pain;
And though we mourning miss the form we love,
We feel assured our loss has been her gain.

For sorrows many crossed her pathway here,
Yet still thro' all she trusted in her God;
And in submission bowed beneath His will,
Who in His love, oft sends the chastening rod.

When weak and faint, her whispered word would be,
"Trust in the Lord, and banish all your fears;
Strength is the Lord Jehovah ever dwells,
Eternal as His years."

As yonder glorious sun at close of day,
It's daily journey run, sinks in the west;
So gently did her spirit pass away
We trust to join loved one's among the blest.

Oh deep mysterious sleep! no fond carress
Or pleading voice can wake our dear one now,
Still is the pulse, the loving heart's at rest,
And death's calm impress stamped upon her brow.

Her eyes have now beheld beyond the veil,
The mysteries that on earth she longed to see;
Ann heard the angels sing in joyful strains,
"Another one safe home, eternally.

Oh, sisters, dear, may comfort now be given,
To you that watched o'er her with tender care,
For many a prayer she offered up to Heaven,
That God would comfort you till you meet there.

Now on that hill her precious dust shall sleep;
So calm and still—free from all grief and pain,
And while low o'er her grave we oft could weep,
We hope some day, dear one, to meet again.

We miss her loving words and smile each day,
That all through life to us was freely given;
Her bright example, like a shining ray,
Shall guide us onward on our way to Heaven.

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

FALLS IN DANGER.

ENGLISH CAPITAL MAY BE PUT INTO CANADIAN PROJECT.

Company Formed To Divert the Niagara River Into Canadian Territory—Legal Question to the Front.

Thorold corr. New York Post.

The present activity among the various companies formed for the development of water-power in the Niagara peninsula has given new life to a corporation that by its charter has practical control of the water-supply that now feeds Niagara Falls. In 1894 the Welland Power and Supply Canal Company was incorporated under special act of the Dominion of Canada for the purpose of utilising the water supply of the Welland and Niagara rivers for promoting manufacturing industries. The company is composed chiefly of citizens of St. Catharines, Ont., who will require $5,000,000 capital to put the plan in operation, and the promoters are anxious to have the full amount subscribed before the work is begun. Therefore, they have delayed action until the English capitalists should be more favourably disposed towards Canadian projects. Now, partly through its gold mines and partly through the jubilee, the Dominion has attracted the attention of those looking for good investments, and it is expected that English money will soon enable this power company to begin the construction of its canal.

At Chippewa, about two miles above Niagara Falls, the Welland River or Chippewa Creek, empties into the Niagara. This tributary has so slight a descent that the deepening of its bed would cause the water to flow in the opposite direction. Thus by enlarging its channel it can be made the outlet for all the waters that the Niagara River receives from Lake Erie. This work of enlargement the Power Company proposes to undertake. At Montrose, five miles from the month of the Welland River, this body of water will be emptied into a canal which will flow north to a point on the Niagara escarpment, about three miles east of the town of Thorold. Here a fall of 150 feet will be made, the water being carried through great steel pipes to the wheels below. Then if there be a demand for a greater amount of power, other descents aggregating 170 feet can be made, while the waters of the canal will be emptied into Lake Ontario.

The company proposes making an artificial channel of the same dimensions as the new Welland Canal, which is 14 feet deep, 100 feet wide at the bottom, and 160 feet wide at the surface of the water. Such a watercourse, at a flow of three miles an hour, will give 975 horse-power for each foot of fall, thus producing about 150,000 horse-power at the first descent, while twice the amount will be developed if the total head of 320 feet be utilized. This power will be transmitted wherever necessary, by means of electricity, while the company hopes also to furnish a water supply to the fruit growers of the Niagara district for irrigation purposes.

It will be seen that the whole scheme is merely a plan to harness the falls and rapids of the Niagara River by removing them to a point about six miles southwest of the present cataract. Whether or not the Dominion has power to authorize the removal of the waters of an international boundary may yet prove to be an interesting international question between the company and the United States Government.

WELCOME HIS HONOUR.

Toronto World, Conservative.

Sir Oliver Mowat yesterday bade adieu to political life. To-day he enters upon his new career as Lieutenant-Governor. The ex-Minister of Justice has passed the greater part of his life amid the tumult of political warfare, and he is honestly entitled to a rest. Sir Oliver Mowat is, par excellence, Ontario's most distinguished and most representative citizen. He is the Provincial white-haired boy, and very few there are who will begrudge him the honour and dignity that attach to his new office. For a politician he leaves the arena with a remarkably clean record. He has few enemies and many friends. We trust he will be spared for many years to enjoy the honours he has so faithfully earned.

OTONABEE.

Regular Council Meeting.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At the last meeting of the Otonabee Council all the members were present. A resolution was passed that no compensation or statute labour will be allowed for private crossings from the street or highway to private property. Geo. Mather was allowed a rebate of $6 20 and John Rahally, $7.80, on their 1897 taxes, error in assessment. The following communication was received from F S Spence, Secretary Dominion Alliance, asking the council to sign a petition to the Legislature to enable the majority of the electors in any polling subdivision to prevent by petition the issuing of a license within their division and to give power to a majority of the electors to limit the hours of sale of liquor. A resolution was passed authorizing the reeve and clerk to sign the petition. From Geo. M. Dawson, Ottawa, asking aid and co-operation in purchasing Roache's Point, to preserve the serpent mound. No action taken. Constable Elmhirst requested the Council to erect a lock-up in the village of Keene. Left over for further consideration. The clerk was instructed to write to the Telephone Company to remove their poles interfering with the grading and the winter travel on the side of the road. The following accounts were passed: For gravel—M Londregan, $4.45; C Edwards, 50c; R J H Short, $12.72; W F Graham, $14.40; Jas Nelson, cedar, 50c; Jas Yourex, plank for sidewalks and culverts and work putting in culvert, $40.67; Arthur Elmhirst, cedar, $1.55; F Burnett, plank, $32.85; R A Deyell, cedar for Stewart's bridge, $3 40; Emmerson's culvert, $3 80; John Deyell, cedar for Stewart's bridge, $3; Z M Tucker, repairing bridge and sidewalks, $1.05; Thomas Lynch, drawing cedar plank and spikes, $3; J McLachlan, towing cedar plank to Keene wharf that had drifted, 50c; John Doris, putting in culvert on base line $1.50; Mr Alex Campbell, nails for sidewalks and paint for hall, $1.79; R J McCamus, repairing and painting town hall, $16.1.; Peter Hamilton, 4 road scrapers $90. Dr Pollyblank presented an account for $11 for inspecting and ordering to be slaughtered a cow infected with actinomycosis (lump jaw) which disease was, by the Legislature in 1896, added to infectious diseases. The clerk was instructed to enquire if the council had any right to pay the account.

Council adjourned to December 13th.
